WHAT IS TRUTH!

Men will believe nothing what they cannot understand.

Truth comes to us only by glimpses. There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon persuading themselves that they have it, before they yield assent to anything. Thy will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they say, forgetting that, although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders of the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and starts, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation — of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which uphold them and the forces they obey — these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, give us glimpses of the truth

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surpise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field. It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and instily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stepping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilisers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few likes from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, defacer, crippler, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

Work for Women.

If the harem of Abdul Hamid finds itself out of employment because of the misfortunes of its imperial master, the ladies thereof will find plenty to do in this country where, thanks to a sudden famine in domestic servants, most of us are doing our own housework.

The worst of country society or for the matter of that the society of any community, is that every woman is eligible, but only a man here and there.

AUTHORITIES REPORT ON CROP.

Prospects Good in Canada.

The seeding and growing season for the whole of Canada has opened late this year, and the month of April has been marked by hard frosts. But May has been favorable to cultivation of the land, and the rainfall has been sufficient for healthy vegetation.

Fall wheat, which is grown chiefly in Ontario and Alberta, showed an average condition of 82 per cent. at the end of April, being 89 per cent. in Alberta and 81 per cent. in Ontario. In Ontario, however, the April frosts were destructive in some regions; and from 12 to 34 per cent. of the area sown has been reported as winter-killed. The central countries, North of Lake Ontario, suffered worst, the average loss as reported being 26 per cent. In the Western counties 27 per cent. of the area in crop has been destroyed. In the Southern counties, North of lake Erie, the loss is 10 per cent.; in the Northern counties and districts, 12.6 per cent.; and in the Eastern counties, between the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers, 15 per cent. For the whole of Canada, the area winter-killed is reported to be 18 per cent., and the per cent. condition of the growing crop is 82.

About 12 1-2 per cent. of the clover was heaved out by the spring frosts, and the average condition of hay and clover at the end of April was 89 per cent. Alberta shows better than any other part of Canada, its average being 94 1-2 per cent. Nova Scotia comes next, with 93.75; and in Quebec, British Columbia and Saskatchewan it is 86, and in Manitoba 85 per cent.

MARKET FOR MEAT.

Argentina Finds a New Market for its Meat.

A new market for Argentine meat has been secured in northern Italy. The mayors of Rome and 53 other cities in the northern part of Italy have combined to promote the importation of frozen meat from Argentina. Negotiations in southern Italy have similar arrangements in view for that section. Efforts are being made by the Argentine authorities to have the Swiss regulations modified so as to permit the entry of meat into that country. At present every carcass imported into Switzerland must be accompanied by the tongue, heart, livers, spleen and kidneys. It is thought that a Swiss inspector may be stationed at Buenos Ayres to pass upon carcasses intended for his country and so relieve the trade of this prohibitive order.

ONTARIO FRUIT OUTLOOK.

Ontario's orchards were not in blossom on the 8th May, when correspondents made their return to the Department of Agriculture. The season is said to be later than usual. Fruit buds, however, promise to be plentiful, and after the lean orchard yield of 1910 a liberal yield is expected. War upon scale, codling moth, and other pests is being conducted with more vigor than ever, and several correspondents point to the improved appearance of fruit trees as the result of work done in the last year or two in the way of spraying, pruning, and the better general culture of orchards. A few reports of damage to trees from mice come from some of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa countries.

THE WAY OF CATCHING RATS.

Catching rats with oyster shells is the unique method employed by some dwellers round about Broome, West Australia. They leave a large oyster on the floor of the cabin at night. It opens for a breath of fresh air, and the smell of fresh meat attracts the rats. When the rodent thinks he'll have a little supper, the oyster suddenly decides that he doesn't like fresh air. Next morning the shell is prized open, and the dead rat thrown overboard.

BY-LAW NUMBER 1539

A By-Law to fix the assessment of Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company.

Passed the 6th day of June, 1910.

Whereas Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company have represented to the Council of the City of Peterborough that they propose, if they are granted a fixed assessment on their real estate in the City of Peterborough hereinafter mentioned, that they will purchase an additional fifty feet of land adjoining on the north of their present property at the corner of George and Dalhousie Streets, in the City of Peterborough, and will expend at least the sum of $8,000 in building thereon an addition to their present factory sufficiently large to enable them to employ from fifty to seventy-five additional employees.

And whereas the said firm are manufacturers of harness, horse collars, horse clothing and other articles of a like nature, and are the only manufacturing concern in the City in this line, and the Council of the said City has agreed to pass this By-Law for the purpose of granting such fixed assessment, subject to the confirmation thereof by the Legislature.

The Corporation of the City of Peterborough, by the Council thereof, therefore enacts as follows:—

1. This By-Law shall take effect upon and only upon the confirmation thereof by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, and upon Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company executing an undertaking, agreeing not to oppose the construction of any sewers or sidewalks, as local improvements, abutting or fronting on the property in Section 2 hereof mentioned, or any part thereof, that the Council may desire to construct under the provisions of The Municipal Act relating to local improvements.

2. Provided the said firm of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company shall become the owners in fee simple of all the land hereinafter mentioned, and shall, on or before the First day of December, 1910, have expended at least the sum of $8,000 in erecting an addition to their present manufacturing establishment in the City of Peterborough, situated at the corner of George and Dalhousie Streets, sufficiently large to enable the said firm to employ from fifty to seventy-five additional employees, the assessment of said land being that part of Lot Number One north of Dalhousie Street and west of George Street, in the said City of Peterborough, described as follows, namely: commencing at the south-east angle of said Lot Number One, thence northerly along the eastern limit of said lot one hundred and thirty feet, thence westerly parallel with the southern limit of said lot one hundred and seventy-one feet more or less to a lane, thence southerly parallel with the eastern limit of said lot one hundred and thirty feet to the southern limit of said lot, and thence easterly along said southern limit one hundred and seventy-one feet more or less to the place of beginning, while used exclusively for manufacturing purposes, or the part so used for manufacturing purposes, and the buildings, plant, machinery and fixtures thereon, and the business assessment thereof on which taxes are to be levied, shall be fixed, and remain fixed, while the same are so used at the sum of fifteen thousand dollars for a period of ten years from the first day of January, 1911, and the return and oath of the assessor or assessors in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly, but the same shall, for school purposes, be and remain liable to assessment and the payment of school taxes and rates to as full an extent as if this By-law had not been passed, and the assessment for school purposes and the school rates and taxes shall be made, levied and collected thereon in accordance with the provisions of the general law in that behalf, and the said lands shall also be liable for all frontage and local improvement assessment, rates and taxes that may be charged against the same, and any dwellings erected on the said lands, and the land appurtenant to any said dwellings shall not be included in the fixed assessment hereunder, but such dwellings and land, while used as such, shall be assessed as provided by The Assessment Act then in force; provided, however, that if the said B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company, shall at any time within the said term of ten years fail or neglect to operate and carry on the said manufacturing establishment substantially to its capacity during at least ten months in any year, then such fixed assessment shall cease, and the taxes, rent and rates on said lands, buildings, plant, machinery and fixtures, and the business assessment thereof shall be the same as if this By-Law had not been passed; provided always that if the failure to carry on said business is due to strikes or to the destruction of the said buildings, plant machinery or fixtures by fire or tempest, the time during which the said business shall so cease to be carried on in consequence of such strikes or destruction of the buildings, plant, machinery or fixtures (not exceeding in either case one year), shall not be taken as a failure or neglect to carry on the said business so as to disentitle the said firm to such fixed assessment.

(Sgd.) W. G. MORROW, Mayor.

(Sgd.) S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

NOTICE

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a By-law which has been passed by the Council of the City of Peterborough and will become law in the event of receiving the assent of three-fifths of the qualified freeholders of the said City voting thereon, and that, as required by the Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, passed in the year 1911, intituled "An Act respecting the City of Peterborough," that at the hour, day and places named below for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held, and for the purpose of taking the votes of the qualified freeholders on this By-law the following adjoining polling subdivisions shall be united, namely:

Puffiness Under Eyes—Swelling Feet

These Symptoms are Among the Surest Indications of Real Kidney Disease.

For nearly a year my kidneys failed to do their work, writes William F. Plunkett, a well-known dairyman residing in Britannia. "I had swollen feet so badly that at times I could scarcely walk; my skin grew yellowish, and a general puffiness under the eyes gave my face a very unnatural appearance. My strength failed, and as I am a working man, loss of time and the prospect of serious illness caused me great anxiety. I read of several cures from Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to get five boxes. Now I feel it my duty to testify they are the best kidney, liver and stomach medicine on earth. While my kidneys were so badly affected after all I think it was because the liver and bowels were clogged up. Anyway in less than a month the swelling in my feet ceased—my skin lost its yellowish cast — my eyes grew clear and natural, and, considering my age is nearly sixty, I am as fit as most men. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful medicine that every man can use to advantage."

Don't be misled into using any other pill but Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes at 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

VOTE FOR THE BY-LAWS.

It is up to the ratepayers to do their duty to-day by recording their votes in favor of the fixed assessment by-laws. These by-laws will place the two important industries in a position to develop their business and increase their output, thus increasing the number of their employees. Not only is this so, but it must be remembered that their defeat would cast a chill over all further efforts to secure additional manufacturing industries for the city. Therefore, it is hoped that a united effort will be made to carry the by-laws to-day.

CROSS-TIES PURCHASED 1910.

The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has collected statistics with regard to the cross tie consumption in Canada for 1910.

There were 9,213,962 cross ties purchased in 1910 by the steam and electric roads of Canada at a cost of $3,535,228. This is a decrease of 35 per cent. from the number purchased in 1909. The average cost of these ties at the point of purchase was 38 cents per tie. Three kinds of wood, cedar, jack pine and hemlock furnished 77 per cent. of all the ties purchased. Cedar itself supplied 40 per cent. of the total consumption and its use is increasing yearly in proportion to other species. Oak, which makes an expensive tie, costing 74c each, was used principally by an United States company having mileage in Canada. Of the total number of ties purchased, 70 per cent. were hewn ties. The only important species which has a majority of sawn ties was oak. Sawn ties cost on the average 36 cents per tie and hewn ties cost 3 cents more. The steam railways used 95 per cent. of all the ties and these ties cost them on the average 38 cents. The electric railways used 302,540 ties—an increase of 183 per cent. over 1909. They paid for their ties 41 cents each. Although on the average they use smaller ties, this excess of 3 cents in the cost is due not only to the disadvantages incident to contracts for smaller quantities of materials but also to the fact that the electric roads are more likely to purchase ties at points where the price includes transportation charges.

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing on or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

JERUSALEM'S PUBLIC OVENS

One Cave-like Vaults Running below Street Level.

There are public bakeries in Jerusalem. The dough is kneaded at home and carried in great lumps to the public ovens. These are to be found in almost every street. They are cave-like vaults, running down below the street level. At the back of each vault is the oven, with a sort of well before its open door. In the well stands the baker, with a long paddle in his hand, upon which he puts in and takes out the loaves.

The oven floor is marked out in blocks, so that the baking of each family is put on a separate block. The loaves, which are about an inch thick, are of the size of a tea plate and have a hole in the centre. The baker makes them from the dough, bakes them, and returns them hot from the oven to the customer. He receives two cents for each half dozen loaves, or he may instead take a toll of one loaf for each dozen. Before starting the baking he greases the floor of the oven with olive oil.

NEW PARAGRAPHS.

Electric carpets are the latest invention for the heating of rooms, the cost for one room being estimated at a halfpenny an hour.

In Corea marriage is even more important and essential for a man than it is for a woman, as, until a man be wed, he is a being of no account. If a father has not selected wives for his sons ere they reach the age of twenty he is considered worthless and neglectful.

Mr. Elias Taylor, parish clerk of Felsted, has retired on reaching the age of ninety, after fifty-one years of service. During his term of office he daily ascended the church tower to wind the clock. He discharged that duty 18,500 times, and climbed 100 miles of stairs.

Although, no doubt, every railway company would gladly convey His Majesty and the Queen free of charge, our rulers pay exactly the same price as anybody else for a special train, in addition to the first-class fare of every passenger by whom they may be accompanied in their respective suites.

Mr. Grahame-White has undertaken to deliver cinematograph films of the Coronation by aeroplane to Birmingham, Bristol and Rugby. Immediately the pictures have been taken they will be developed and placed upon aeroplanes at Hendon, whence they will be transported by air to other destination.

CARUSO'S COLD COSTS DEAR.

It is announced that Signor Caruso will shortly leave for Italy, where he hopes to benefit by a complete rest and change of air, the physicians having forbidden him to sing this season. The loss sustained by the great tenor through what was in the first place regarded as an ordinary slight cold is estimated at about $16,000, as he has been compelled to refrain from singing for a period of twelve weeks.

TO STOP HAT LIFTING.

To put a stop to hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

As Done in France.

"Some years ago," writes a well-known motorist, "I was being driven by a French friend of my acquaintance. He is as careful over his personal expenditure as he is reckless on his Panhard. I did not like the combination, but it is best to be tolerant to foreigners. Passing through a village near St. Albans we encountered a hen. She was stalking across the road like a conspirator one moment, and dead the next. She never knew what struck her. Adolphe, which is my friend's name, pulled up.

"'It is useless to go to her assistance,' said I.

"But Adolphe jumped out of the car and went. I thought it very kind of him. He picked up the dead bird and came running back.

"'Helas! she is not young,' he panted. 'But she will do well for se soup, se bouillon de poulet, tres delicat.'

"'Good heavens, you're not going to take her home?'

"'Mais certainement! Here she would be wasted. It is as we do in France. Vive la chasse!'

"I had heard that motorists were not popular in the French villages From that day I have understood."

A Painful Injury.

While playing with some other children on Tuesday evening, on Aylmer street, Little Dorothy Graham, the four-year-old child of Mr. Edward Graham, steward at the Oriental Hotel, ran in front of Ald. Kernaghan's delivery wagon and was knocked down, sustaining a fracture of the right leg and some other minor injuries. The child was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where Drs. Grant and McNulty set the bones. No blame is attached to the driver.

It is said that there are one hundred autos in Peterborough.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Small Heads Dont Mean Small Brains.

The fact that you take a small size in hats does not necessarily mean that you have a small brain. A man with a small head may be much cleverer than a man with a large one. Moreover, the size of the brain is not everything, since, if undeveloped, it is no more likely to produce anything of value than land which is not fertile. There are people with large heads who display so little intelligence that one almost expects to hear their brains rattle when they move, like a shrivelled kernel in a nut.

Too Much Education a Mistake.

It is a mistake to suppose that a good general education will secure success in life. No wise man accepts a general invitation to dinner! it involves no particulars. Only a particular education is of practical use. Let the boys be educated for something particular — lawyers, doctors, clergymen, printers, merchants, tradesmen — only something definite. No hands are so often idle as those which are supposed by the owners — and by no one else — fit to "turn to anything."

Expecting Much.

The sphere of our affections is one in which we are very apt to expect too much from others, and thus to cause bitterness and often estrangement. Where we love we naturally crave to be loved: but this craving if not regulated by reason, is very likely to blossom into a selfish oppression.

A Sewing Machine Wrinkle

A hand sewing-machine is often very apt to slip about on the table. To obviate this, all that is necessary is to place a couple of the old-fashioned gelatine lozenges, slightly moistened, under each corner of the base-board. In a few seconds the machine will be found to adhere to the table and equal a stand-machine in firmness.

Humility Safest Virtue.

Among all the virtues, humility the weed, is pre-eminent. It is the best, because it is always an ancnor that man may be truly said to live most content in his calling who strives to live within the compass of

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Russell Wotten is spending two weeks' holidays with his father, Wm. Wotten, 209 Stewart street.

Rough on Josefa

Dispatches from Berlin say: Rosa Blaschek, one of the Siamese twins, who lately appeared at a Paris music hall, was arrested by the police to-day on a charge of breaking her contract. Her sister, Josefa, was, of course, obliged to accompany her to jail, and complains that though innocent she has to share the imprisonment.

All He Was Fit For.

A forlorn Irishman, reduced to the last stage of poverty and destitution, as the last resource made inquiry at a marine store as follows:

"D'ye buy rags and bones here?"

"Yes," was the reply

"Then, he jabers" said Pat, "ye may put me on the scales."

The Reason.

Benevolent Old Gentleman: "Johnny, why was Damocles afraid to eat his dinner when the sword was suspended over his head by a single hair?"

Johnny (who does not like being patronized): I s'pose he was afraid the hair would fall into his soup."

A Progressive.

"Madame, dat girl of yours make great progress wit her music. Before she come she only know two or three tunes, but now she know ways two or three."

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Department of Railways and Canals.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for construction of Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office, until 16 o'clock, on Tuesday, the 1st of August, for a section of about 185 miles from Pas Mission to Thicket Portage.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after Wednesday, May 31, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind, that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheques for the sum of $200,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order.

POWDER PAPER BOOKS.

A book of powder paper is always a luxury in travelling, and one of these books, which costs but a quarter encased in a dainty linen cover or a cover of ribbon or silk, will immediately find its place among the toilet articles in the dressing bag.

Still another convenience for the traveller is a collection of small chamois lined silk or linen bags, in which to keep when not in use the coin of different countries. A tourist in these days of rapid locomotion will often cross the borders of three or four countries where different money will be needed in each place. The name of the coin should be marked on each bag, as, for example, French, German, Italian, and so on. Instead of the bags a collection of five or six tiny leather purses will make a welcome gift, but these purses should all be stamped or burned with the names of the various countries which the tourist is to visit.

Mark Twain said:

"A beautiful sunset made Berenger a poet; a mother's kiss made Benjamin West an artist, and fifteen dollars a week makes us a journalist."

Risky to Marry Money.

Apropos of a beautiful young wife, worth $40,000,000, who had just divorced her penniless husband in order to marry again, Henry E. Dixey, the comedian, said at a dinner:

"The young man who marries for money has none too easy a time of it. His rich wife is likely to tire of him and throw him out in a few years, or else she is likely to limit his allowance to 25 or 50 cents a day.

"'I married money,' a man once said to me.

"'Wasn't there a woman attached to it?' I asked.

"'Yes, you bet there was,' he exploded. 'So much attached to it that she never parted with a penny.'"

An Insect Gunner.

Many insects have some means of defense from their natural enemies, none of which is more curious than that of a small beetle, which, when closely pursued, discharges a puff of poisonous vapor with a distinct detonation. Undoubtedly in many instances this aids the diminutive gunner in his escape, mainly, in all probability, by startling his pursuer and causing him to abandon the chase. From this peculiar acquirement, this little fellow is known as the bombardier beetle.

BUY

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES HENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have beenpresenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS.in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Mountezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties.

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal" Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly installments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoona River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hoona River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoona River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

So Light that 500 Sheets Go to Make an Ounce.

Of the great army of cigarette smokers there is probably not more then one in a hundred who knows that rice paper, in which the tobacco is wrapped, has nothing to do with rice, but is made from the membranes of the breadfruit tree or more commonly of fine new trimmings of flax and hemp.

So light is this paper that 500 of the tiny sheets go to make an ounce They are perfectly combustible and give off the minimum of smoke. Before being rolled with tobacco they are analyzed to prove that they are free from all deleterious ingredients and that they contain nothing but the purest paper fibre. Only new material—flax and hemp trimmings—is used, and these are thoroughly purified.

Chopped by machinery into minute particles, they are well mixed by a revolving fan and then reduced to a dust, which is placed in a solution of lime and soda. After remaining in solution for some time it undergoes a thorough washing process, the water being the purest kind.

Then the pulp is rolled out into paper. At first it is of a grayish tinge, the pure white of the finished product being obtained by an electric process.

The French manufacturers of cigarette paper practically supply the entire world, the output of Austria and Italy being insignificant.

NAVAL BATTLE WITH HORSES.

How 3000 Cowboys Captured the Spanish Fleet.

Paez, who was the first President of the Republic of Venezuela, was perhaps the only man who ever fought a naval battle on horseback. It is a matter of history that he, to whom more than any other man, apart from Simon Bolivar, Venezuela owes her independence, actually attacked and captured with his cavalry a fleet of ships.

Bolivar was endeavouring to cross the Apure River in the struggle for independence, but was prevented from doing so by some eight Spanish gunboats, which moved up and down the stream as he did. Bolivar was in despair for a while. To Paez, who was second in command, he appealed for counsel, saying that he could never cross the river so long as the Spanish gunboats were there. "If only we could capture them," the revolutionary leader observed, "the rest would be easy."

Paez decided that he would have those ships or die, and he accordingly told his regiment of cowboys to follow him. Paez himself had been a cowboy on the plains of the Orinoco, and was the idol of his men. So when he spurred his horse into the stream, calling on his men to follow, of the 3,000 cowboys and their mounts, which are taught to swim as well as to gallop, there was not a single man to hold out in this unique assault upon the gunboats. It being night, the Spanish fleet were taken quite unawares. The cowboys wriggled from their saddles to the decks of the vessels, letting their mounts swim back to shore. Having thus cut off their own retreat, it was a question of win or die. They fought well, and every gunboat was captured.

THE EDIBLE CRAB

Something of the Curious Life of This Half Fish Half Animal.

The edible crab is obliged to moult or cast off its shell many times during its life. This moulting appears to be an unpleasant ordeal to pass, for the crabs often die during the act. When we see that they are not only obliged to escape from the carapox or shell, but also from the hard covering of their legs, delicate mouth-parts, and even gullet — turning themselves inside out, as it were — it is not surprising that they perish during the ordeal. The crab crawls up into some secluded nook or cove in shallow water to moult, out of th way of its hard-shelled relatives, for the helpless, newly-moulted, or soft-shell crab, if found, is devoured by them, as well as by several species of fishes. Fortunately for the crab, the soft covering hardens rapidly, and in a few hours it has a new and strong armour, and it then goes fearlessly out into deep water.

Boosting.

Things may be coming your way but be careful that they do not come with such force as to carry you away with them. There are tides and tides. Some are natural, some are supernatural and some are dangerous, because they move with a force which is too strong for our character and will. "Beware of uncontroilable circumstances". This was an expression which first fell from the lips of Wellington. The editor of a periodical remarks: —

"Old salts, who are forever yarning about wrecks and their causes, have a theory that what is called a "boosting" sea accounts for more than one of the disasters that have occurred in the long history of shipping. A "boosting" sea is a sea that runs heavily after a steamer, and, if it does not actually "poop" the vessel, yet, by the roll of billow after billow, accelerates its speed to a degree unguessed by the navigator, until finally the ship, having unconsciously overrun its course, brings up upon a rock or hidden reef, and is reported at Lloyds' as "lost."

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are Monuments in all sorts of out-of-the-way places, but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory o. the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

The Emperor Gorges Himself.

The "Hoei Pao" says that an American doctor recently visited the palace at Peking to examine the baby Emperor, who, it was found, had gorged himself with a meal of swallows' nests (a sort of glutinous material), and thus provoked a raging thirst. The indisposition yielded easily to the doctor's treatment. The Emperor sleeps in a gigantic bed, big enough for six people! he rises at six, at once has a meal of rice-gruel or rice, and then goes to pay his respects to the Dowager Lung-yu.

A sculptor recently produced the likeness of a celebrated personage in whose biography it was mentioned that he regarded architecture as a very secondary art. The son of this personage visited the artist's studio for the purpose of examining the bust, when, after considering it with the air of a connoisseur, he inquired "Could you not express more clearly his contempt for architecture?"

A TALENTED ARBITRATOR.

Ralph Connor is a Man with a First-Hand Knowledge of Men.

Rev. Charles W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) of Winnipeg, the famous novelist, who has been appointed Chairman of the Board of Conciliation which will seek to settle the big strike of coal miners in the West, is noted for his tolerance. That quality stands out strongest among his characteristics as a man, a minister, and a writer.

As good an example of this as can be found is an amusing incident in his novel, "The Foreigner."

The Anglican bishop in the story was being driven over the Edmonton trail by Sam Macmillan, a very competent but very profane freighter. Every time the horses became wired in a slough Sam would let loose a string of original oaths which made the bishop's blood curdle. The latter implored the man to desist.

"Just as you say, your reverence," replied Sam. "I ain't hurried this trip, and will do our best."

At the next slough the experiment was tried. Ordinary language was used, but the horses would not budge. Half an hour passed with no results.

"It's getting late, Mr. Macmillan, and it looks like rain. Something must be done," said the bishop

"It does, your lordship," answered Sam. "But the brutes won't pull half their own weight without I speak to them in the way they are used to."

More time passed. Then the bishop gave in.

"Well, well, Mr Macmillan," he said, "we must go on. Do as you think best, but I take no responsibility in the matter."

He retired from the scene and—

Macmillan seized the reins from the ground, and, walking up and down the length of the six-horse team, began to address them singly and in the mass in terms so sulphurously descriptive of their ancestry, their habits, and their physical and psychological characteristics that when he gave the word in a mighty culminating roar of blasphemous excitation, each of the bemired beasts seemed to be inspired with a special demon and so exerted itself that in a single minute the load stood high and dry on solid ground.

A clergyman who will write like this ought to be a man to consider all the circumstances and provocations on both sides of a labor dispute.

MEASURES MINDS WITH MACHINE

Wonderful Apparatus Devised by an English Scientist.

A Mr. John Gray has devised a mind measuring apparatus, and among the persons already tested by him are Lord Avebury, Sir William Crookes, professors and physicians of the West London and Middlesex hospitals, many of the women of the Lyceum Club, and one actor.

Commenting on the results of these tests, he says that, generally speaking, he found the men, with the exception of the actor, came under class V of the scale of persistence, which includes men of thorough and profound thought. What a dramatic critic Mr. Gray would have made!

He found the literary women to be more mentally brilliant, witty and quick of apprehension than the average. Then Mr. Gray takes another whack at the actor by saying he came under class II, which comprises cynics, persons who do not go into the depths of things and only learn superficially.

The apparatus consists of a box, the interior of which is fitted with a revolving mirror, on which powerful colored lights are made to play. The eye of the person to be tested is placed against a whole in the side of the box, the mirror is set in motion, and the length of time taken for the sensation of flickering to disappear from the subject measures his mental persistence, thus giving indication of his intelligence.

A Year Ahead of His Time.

Luxembourg was not so long ago the scene of an incident savoring decidedly of comic opera. When the late ruler of the Grand Duchy was Duke of Nassau he was officially informed of the death of his cousin, the King of the Netherlands, and promptly journeyed from Vienna to Luxembourg, to which state he was next in succession owing to the operation of the Salic law. A ceremonial entry was made into the capital, and the new Grand Duke had already received personal congratulations from many of his most prominent subjects, when he heard that Kink William's physicians had been misled by a cataleptic trance, and that, so far from being dead, he was on the road to recovery. So Duke Adolphus had to return to Vienna, and when, a year later, the King really passed away, several weeks elapsed before the new ruler of Luxembourg assumed the reins of government.

A Trick of the Sun.

Upon a mountain in Andalusia quaint spectral forms are frequently seen. Whenever there is a heavy mist and persons are ascending the mountain they appear in all their ghostly splendor and sometimes so suddenly as to strike dismay into the hearts of those who see them for the first time. Of course it is all a trick played by the sun. When a mist partly shrouds the mountain the sun is naturally obscured, and then he revenges himself by projecting the shadow of any person who is ascending he mountain until it assumes the form of a gigantic spectre.

Returned From Fire District.

Mr. Patrick Killen, a former Ennismore resident, returned on Wednesday from the scene of the late fires in the Porcupine district. He worked in a mill which was burned, and along with many others was compelled to seek the lake as a means of protection. He will return to Porcupine after visiting with friends.

Former Peterborough Man Missing.

Capt. Hugh Anson Cartwright, formerly of this city, and who is at present employed on the Trent Canal works at Hastings, left that place a few days ago for Porcupine, in search of his son, who is a mining engineer, and who was working in the Porcupine district at the time of the fire. Mr. Cartwright has not been heard of since the fire. His friends in Peterborough will be anxious to hear that he is safe, although many of them fear the worst.

Drowned at Victoria, B.C.

Mr. J. L. Wyatt, East City, has received the sad news of the drowning in Victoria, B. C., of his nephew, Fred Wyatt. It appears the young man was upset from a canoe, and was swept down to death in sight of a large number of people. He was the only son of Mr. Fred Wyatt, and was employed on the staff of The Times.

Home From China.

Miss Agnes Dickson, B. A., daughter of Mr. James Dickson, Fenelon Falls, is back from the Chinese Mission field, where she has been laboring for several years. She was formerly secretary of the Y.W.C.A. of Peterborough. The ladies of St. Andrew's Church, Fenelon Falls, served a tea in her honor, at which she delivered an address. Miss Dickson may be induced to come to Peterborough to deliver an address, in which event we are sure she will get a hearty reception.

Warning to Boys.

While the Fire Department were making a dash for East City in response to a fire call, a couple of boys mounted on wheels gave chase and got between the hose wagon and ladder truck, and narrowly escaped being run over by the latter. After the fire had been extinguished Chief Howard took the boys into custody, loaded their wheels on the hose wagon and brought them to the police station. They were given a warning and when they emerged from the Chief of Police's sanctum they were two wiser looking youths.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Stalled at Nassau.

A well-known and popular young business man of the city, took out four charming young ladies for a joy ride on Wednesday evening. When the party reached Nassau the car balked, and no amount of coaxing or effort would induce it to budge an inch. Here was a dilemma. The walking was not too good. Besides the young ladies were not shod for country roads. However, there was a way out of the difficulty. One young friend got next to a telephone, and called up his chauffeur, who happened to be out. Word was left, however, instructing him to hire a horse and get to Nassau with all speed. For fear the chauffeur might not get the message, a hack was also ordered to come at once for the party. The funny part of it was that the chauffeur followed the empty hack out, both arriving together. It took the expert chauffeur about five minutes to start the auto, when the procession set out for town, where they arrived in due course, without further mishap.

OBITUARY

David White.

There passed away at his home in North Monaghan on Thursday last, an old and respected resident of the township in the person of Mr. David White. The deceased sustained serious injuries in getting down from a hay mow in his barn, and was for nearly two weeks confined to Nichols Hospital as a result. He recovered sufficiently to enable him to return home, but suffered a relapse which terminated fatally in three days.

The deceased was well and favorably known in the city as well as in his own township, having carried on a large meat business in this city for some years, before retiring to his farm.

Mr. White leaves to mourn his death three daughters and two sons, Miss Aggie of Milton, Miss Helen of North Monaghan, Miss Annie of Lindsay, Everett of Minneapolis and William of North Monaghan. Two sisters, Mrs. Fred Stinson of North Monaghan and Mrs. A. Lillico of Chelsey, also survive. In religion, Mr. White was a Methodist and attended the Charlotte street methodist church.

His many friends will deeply sympathize with the bereaved family in the great sorrow which has befallen them.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 p.m., from the residence of his son, North Monaghan, to Little Lake cemetery.

The Late Benjamin Walker.

Mr. Benjamin Walker, aformer resident of this city, when he was a member of the staff of R. Neill, shoe merchant, passed away in Perth on Tuesday last, from inflamation of the bowels. On Friday last he was taken ill with inflamation of the bowels, which developed so rapidly that hope for his recovery was abandoned on Monday following. Deceased was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters in Perth, in which organization he carried $1,000 insurance, he was also identified with Fraternity Lodge of Oddfellows in Perth. The funeral took place yesterday and was conducted by the Canadian Foresters.

Eliza Henderson.

There passed away on Wednesday evening, at the family residence, 194 Clifton street, East City, Eliza, wife of Mr. Robert Henderson, aged 62. Her kind and loveable disposition made her a favorite with all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She is survived by a husband and three brothers, Robert, George and Thomas all of this city.

The funeral will take place this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery, the Rev. Mr. Sawers officiating.

Boy Wanted.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Monday, August 14th, is the date fixed for Sturgeon Point regatta.

Cherries and plums will not be a plentiful crop this year. In fact it is stated that cherries are about over already.

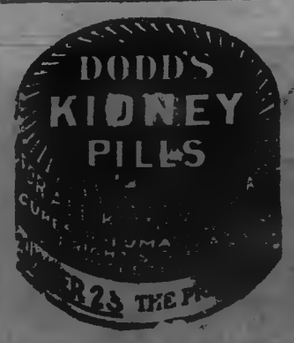
The 3rd troop of Boy Scouts will leave for camp at Chemong Park on Monday. The boys expect to have a most enjoyable outing.

Vote for the by-laws to-day, and thus do your duty in an honest effort to advance the best interests of Peterborough.

Mr. A. C. Hawley, while endeavoring to hold a spirited horse yesterday, was crowded against a barbed wire fence, badly lacerating his leg above the knee. He will be laid up for some days.

Bought Valuable Farm.

Mr. James Kylie, brother of Mr. John Kylie, the well known local shoe merchant, has purchased what is known as the Macfarlane farm, at Mathers' Corners, Otonabee, on the Keene road. This is one of the best farms in the township, and is the third farm that Mr. Kylie has bought and paid for in the last 20 years. Like his brother John, he evidently knows how to conduct a successful business.



BY-LAW NUMBER 1555

A By-law to fix the assessment of The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company Limited).

Passed the third day of October, 1910.

Whereas The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company (Limited) has represented to the Council of the City of Peterborough that it is the only manufacturing concern in the City of Peterborough engaged in the manufacture of locks and other articles manufactured by it, and has to compete with manufacturers in the same line of business in other places who have received and are enjoying Municipal assistance, making it difficult for the said Company to meet such competition, and has applied to the Council for a fixed assessment on the real estate, plant and business assessment of the said Company in the City of Peterborough at the sum of $25,000, and the said Council has agreed thereto and to pass this By-Law for that purpose, subject to the confirmation thereof by the Legislature.

The Corporation of the City of Peterborough, by the Council thereof, therefore enacts as follows :—

1. This By-Law shall take effect upon and only upon the confirmation thereof by the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, and upon the said Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company (Limited), executing an agreement not to oppose the construction of any work as a local improvement abutting or fronting on, or the cost or part of the cost of which might be assessed or charged against the property in Section 2 hereof described, or any part thereof, that the said Council may desire to construct under the provisions of the Municipal Act relating to local improvements.

2. The assessment of the following lands in the City of Peterborough owned, occupied and used by The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company (Limited) and being Lot Number Four north of Simcoe Street and west of George Street, and that part of Lot Number Three north of Simcoe Street and west of George Street described as follows :—Commencing on the western limit of the said Lot Number Three, at a point seventy-seven feet six inches north from the south-west angle thereof ; thence northerly along the said western limit of the said lot to the northern limit thereof ; thence easterly along said northern limit eighteen feet ; thence south and parallel to the western limit of said lot to a point seventy-seven feet six inches north of said Simcoe Street ; thence westerly and parallel to the southern limit of the said lot to the place of beginning while used exclusively for the manufacturing purposes of the Company, or the part so used for such manufacturing purposes, and the buildings, plant, machinery and fixtures thereon, and the business assessment there of on which taxes are to be levied, shall be fixed and remain fixed while the same are so used, and while at least an average of one hundred hands are employed therein for at least ten months of each year, at the sum of $25,000 for a period of ten years from the first day of January, 1911, and the return and oath of the assessor or assessors in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly, but the same shall, for school purposes, be and remain liable to assessment and the payment of school taxes and rates to as full an extent as if this By-Law had not been passed, and the assessment for school purposes and the school rates and taxes shall be made, levied and collected thereon in accordance with the provisions of the general law in that behalf, and the said lands shall also be liable for all frontage and local improvement assessments, rates and taxes that are now or may hereafter be charged against the same, and any buildings on the said lands not used exclusively for the business of the Company, and the land appurtenant to same shall not be included in the fixed assessment hereunder, but such buildings and land, while not used as aforesaid, shall be assessed as provided by the Assessment Act then in force ; provided, however, that if the said Company shall at any time within the said term of ten years fail or neglect to operate and carry on the said manufacturing establishment substantially to the capacity thereof, and therein to employ at least an average of one hundred hands during at least ten months in each year, then such fixed assessment shall cease, and the taxes and rates on the said lands, buildings, plant, machinery and fixtures and on the business assessment thereof shall be and become payable to the same amount and in the same manner as if this By-Law had not been passed ; provided always that if the failure to carry on the said business is due to strikes or destruction of the buildings, plant, machinery or fixtures by fire or tempest, the time during which the said business shall so cease to be carried on in consequence of such strikes, or destruction of the buildings, plant, machinery or fixtures (not exceeding in either case one year) shall not be taken as a failure or neglect to carry on the said business, so as to disentitle the said Company to such fixed assessment.

3. The said Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company (Limited) shall, prior to the first day of March in each year, file with the City Clerk a statutory declaration, made by an officer of the Company, who shall therein state his knowledge of the facts, proving that the said Company has complied with and is observing all the terms, conditions and provisions of this By-Law, and on the neglect of the said Company to furnish such declaration it shall be prima facie taken that such terms, conditions and provisions have not been performed, observed and kept, and the said fixed assessment shall cease, and the taxes and rates shall be and become payable to the same amount and in the same manner as if this By-Law had not been passed.

(Sgd.) S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

NOTICE

Take notice that the foregoing is a true copy of a By-law which has been passed by the Council of the City of Peterborough and will become law in the event of receiving the assent of three-fifths of the qualified freeholders of the said City voting thereon, and that, as required by the Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, passed in the year 1911, intituled "An Act respecting the City of Peterborough," that at the hour, day and places named below for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held, and for the purpose of taking the votes of the qualified freeholders on this By-law the following adjoining polling subdivisions shall be united, namely :

VOL XXXIV NO. 173 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY JULY 29 1911 PRICE TWO CENT

APPLICATION FOR EXEMPTION ON T. A. S. ROOMS REFUSED

A Case in which Considerable Interest was Taken Decided

At a meeting of the Court of Revision held on Thursday afternoon, the application of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society for partial exemption from taxes was taken up.

Rev. W. J. McCull was heard, and said that the portion of the St. Peter's Total Abstinence property used for the purpose of the library and for religious instruction and religious meetings, was exempt by law, and asked that the taxes on this portion be remitted. The matter was laid over.

Yesterday the Court again assembled, Mr. B. Morrow being absent, and after considering the matter the request was refused.

The application was made under two sections of the Statute, but it was quite clear that the premises did not come within the scope of any section. This sustains the action of the City Council respecting societies of this description. The Statute allows of appeal against the decision to the County Judge if desired.

The following applications regarding taxes for 1911 were read:

From Adam Hall for remission of business taxes on No. 407 George street, as he had left the premises. $26.46 was remitted.

From Jas. Dillon for correction of an error in his taxes. No action was taken.

From H. Bradburn, that he was wrongly assessed for lots 61 and 62, plan 120, instead of lots 51 and 52, plan 120, and that owing to the mistake there were arrears of taxes for the years 1909 and 1910 against lots 51 and 52—Laid over.

From A. Grieve, for refund of taxes for 1901 on a house at No. 184 Lisbourn street, which was burned in April, 1910. Council recommended to refund $4.31 to correct the error.

From W. Langford, jr., that he was assessed twice on a lot, lot 9 on London and George streets and on Bethune street. The taxes on the Bethune street property were remitted.

From B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., and from the Auburn Woolen Co., that there was an error in their assessments and that they were greater than their assessment notice showed. The matter was laid over.

From Chas. Grant, for remission of taxes, Granted for whole amount.

THE OFFENSIVE POLES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—Is there no way by which the unsightly poles can be removed from George Street? They spoil the appearance of the city. We talk about creating a "white way" by encouraging the use of electric signs, but these only show up the ugliness of the poles to better advantage. I wish the newspapers would begin a campaign, having for its object the removal of these unsightly poles.

UNIFORMITY OF WORK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see the Council has decided to have something like uniformity in the construction of sidewalks hereafter. This should have been adopted long ago, as nothing looks so bad as to see one block with pavement outside the tree line, and the next block with the sidewalk inside.

But I think, Mr. Editor, the Council should take a map of the city and lay out sections, (to be known as residential sections) where all sidewalks are to be placed outside the tree line, thus narrowing the roadway. By this method a vast amount of money would be saved in keeping the streets in order, as the surface would be so much less. Besides, Mr. Editor, the appearance of the streets would thus be greatly improved, for it must be admitted, I think, that the beautiful grass-covered boulevard adds to the attractiveness of the street.

I understand every member of the Council reads The Times, (if they do not they should) and I hope this feeble letter will be the means of doing some good along the above lines.

"ORANGEMEN AT CHURCH."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you please publish the following editorial entitled "Orangemen at Church," from the Catholic Record of July 22nd, and oblige.

Junius.

Two hundred Orangemen paraded to the Baptist church in this city last Sunday. When the majority were at church before deponent saith not. Rev. Mr. Bingham was the preacher. The selection was appropriate to the occasion. Rev. Mr. Bingham, Baptist does not like the Catholic Church and thinks a robust denunciation of Popery is always timely. As an introductory overture for the preacher who has had a "divine call" (with increased salary) it is ever popular, ever new. The average small boy and the average young man will turn his back upon an orchestra when he

BIG HOTEL FOR PETERBOROUGH?

The Times was informed yesterday that a two million dollar company was in process of formation for the purpose of acquiring or erecting a number of first class hotels at various points in Ontario. It is said that Peterborough, Kingston and Belleville will be chosen. In Peterborough a site will be selected outside the business section, where ample ground room can be had. Just what truth there is in the rumor we are unable to discover.

A TRAGEDY IN NAPANEE

Kingston, July 28.—Hazel, aged 15, and Maude, aged 11, daughter of W. J. Shannon, Newbrough road, near Napanee, are dead of septic poisoning due to defective drainage. They passed away yesterday, within fifteen minutes of each other, and will be buried together to-morrow. It was thought the girls had tonsilitis, but when a specialist came in he detected the disease, but it was too late to stay its ravages.

FIFTY WERE INJURED ON EXCURSION TRAIN

New York, July 28.—The Lehigh Valley Railroad received word to-day from Burdette, on Seneca Lake, in the central part of the State that 50 passengers of an excursion train from western points to Atlantic City had been injured when three Pullmans left the track and rolled down an embankment. The accident was caused by a broken rail.

Most of the injured were able to continue the journey in another train which was made up after the accident. The others were taken to the hospital at Sayre. No deaths have been reported thus far.

Although the train was running 45 miles an hour, and the three Pullmans slid down the embankment, the railroad reported that a woman taken to the hospital at Sayre with an injured spine, was the only passenger unable to continue the journey. Her name is said to be Mrs. W. J. Twenhavel of Cincinnati.

REMOVE THE POLES

In our "Public Opinion" column there appears a letter regarding the removal of the telegraph and electric light poles from George street. The letter, although brief, covers the ground fairly well. These poles do mar the beauty of the street, and we believe are harmful in more ways than one. The Mayor, we think, should take this matter up and see what can be done towards having the business section cleared. It will have to be done sooner or later, and the sooner the better.

THE TRENT CANAL AS A POWER PRODUCER

In the very creditable Guide Book lately issued by E. S. Clarry, much valuable information is given in connection with the Trent waterway, both in regard to the Canal as an artery of commerce and also on account of the large amount of power developed between Fenelon Falls and Trenton. By the construction of dams along the canal between these two points, the water has been conserved to such an extent that 100,000 horse power has been assured. It would cost in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 a year in coal to produce this enormous amount of power, which now turns the wheels of industry throughout and even beyond the canal zone, for some of the power is being distributed to points removed from the district.

The Times congratulates the Hon. George P. Graham, the Minister of Railways and Canals, under whose wise and progressive policy this splendid work is being achieved. He certainly has earned the confidence and good will of the people in this part of Ontario, at all events, as we believe he has also elsewhere, in his administration of this most important department of Government.

J. H. McCLELLAN

WHY PROTESTANTS ARE MORE ACTIVE THAN EVER BEFORE

For some weeks past The Times has been publishing from time to time extracts from the Catholic Register, the organ of the heirarchy of Ontario. In order to be fair, we give below an article from The Orange Sentinel, which speaks for itself:

"For fifty years the Orange Association has been warning the Protestants of Canada against granting concessions to the Roman Church. In the Primary and Grand Lodges resolutions of protest have been passed to which the general public have turned a deaf ear. We have shown the Papacy to be a bigotted and arrogant institution, seeking to dominate political parties and grasp the government of the country, through their agents in the parties. Our warnings have been treated as groundless fears of extremists. But recent events prove that all the Orange Association has said of Rome was well within the facts.

The members of the order have suffered misrepresentation and abuse, not alone from Roman Catholic sources, but from Protestants, who could not be brought to see the Roman Catholic Church is more of a political institution than a religious organization.

"During the last twenty years evidence has been accumulating to prove to the most superficial observer in the country that Rome has designs upon Canada entirely apart, and far beyond, the performance of its religious functions. The Roman Church has learned how to use the ballot, and we find in her colonizing activities in Northern Ontario and the Western Provinces that the leaders of that church are planning to gain such political power that they will be able to control provincial and federal governments.

"Fault has been found with the Orange Association on many occasions because it seemed to accomplish so little. It is a wonder that it has accomplished so much, for it has not only had to watch and fight the great enemy of civil and religious liberty, but from large sections of the Protestant population it has met with indifference and ridicule. It is something to maintain and increase an organization under these circumstances. To carry out its work efficiently could hardly be expected. Nevertheless in annual Grand Lodges, and in County, District and Primary Lodges action has been taken to show the people of the country the dangers that confront them from the papal machine.

"That Orangemen have not been mistaken as to the aims of the papacy is proved beyond question by the proceeding at the Eucharistic Congress, the attempted coercion of Manitoba by the Tupper government, the more successful attempt to coerce Saskatchewan and Alberta by the Laurier Government, and the annulment of marriages celebrated by Protestants ministers by the general application of the Ne Temere decree. Indeed all these accumulating encroachments upon the civil power of the country has made it impossible for any honest Protestant to close his eyes to what are the real and apparent aims of the papacy. The Protestant Church has been aroused. Christian ministers are preaching to-day in a way which twenty years ago they thought would have been unnecessary, and there are thousands of men not connected with the Orange Association throughout the Dominion who experience a feeling of thankfulness that there is such a body thoroughly organized for the work of resisting the political activities of the Roman Church."

ALL THREE BY-LAWS WENT DOWN TO DEFEAT YESTERDAY

NOT ONE OF THE MEASURES SECURED EVEN A STRAIGHT MAJORITY IN ITS FAVOR.

The Day's Proceedings Marked by Extreme Indifference on the Part of Freeholders as a Whole—The Quietest of Quiet Days in the History of Voting.

All three by-laws went down to defeat yesterday. The number of votes polled was very small, and the proceedings of the day were marked by extreme indifference on the part of the freeholders as a whole.

Thus it is not unreasonable to infer that the average ratepayer will not interest himself in one measure involving the expenditure of $24,000 on recreation grounds, and two measures to grant assessment privileges to manufacturing concerns when he has his own tax bill to hand calling for payment within four days of the date of voting.

SUMMARY OF THE VOTING.

The Parks By-law seeking authority to raise $24,000 for the purchase of park property in East, West and South City, required but a straight majority of the number of votes polled, and met its Waterloo in a negative majority of 186. 204 votes were cast for this measure and 390 against.

The two by-laws to fix the assessment of the Lock Works and the Ackerman Company required a three-fifths vote in their favor of the total number of votes polled, and both were defeated even on a straight majority.

The Lock Works measure as a result of the day's voting, required 360 votes for it to carry. The summing up showed by 295 for and 304 against the by-law, which therefore fell 65 votes short of victory.

The Ackerman by-law ran pretty even with its contemporary measure with 281 votes in its favor and 316 negative ballots. This proposition required 359 votes to carry, and thus went down to defeat by 78 votes.

On straight majorities the Ackerman measure was defeated by 35 votes, and the Lock Works by 9.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS BEFORE DISSOLUTION

MR. E. B. OSLER WARNED THE MINISTER THAT FARMERS BANK WAS ROTTEN.

House of Commons Resumes Yesterday—Member for West Toronto Makes an Important Statement.

Ottawa, July 28.—On the opening of the House to-day Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that he had secured the consent of the Imperial Government to the publication of the agreement between the Admiralty and the Dominions. He accordingly laid the document on the table.

Mr. King laid on the table a statement of the comparative prices in Canada and the united States, compiled by Mr. R. H. Coats, for a period of five years.

Dr. Sproule suggested that if the Commons could not investigate the charges made with regard to the cement merger, a Royal Commission might be appointed. Sir Wilfrid Laurier promised to consider the proposal.

FARMERS BANK DOCUMENTS.

Mr. Borden suggested that the Government lay on the table certified copies of all proceedings in the court with regard to the Farmers Bank. The Government had denied a Royal Commission on the grounds that an investigation would take place in the courts.

Mr. Fielding said that any public documents would be brought down. With regard to the proceedings in the courts he saw no reason for departing from the usual custom.

Mr. Emmerson advocated closure by reading a grotesque paragraph from an American newspaper, stating that a certain African tribe, to prevent long speeches being made, obliged the orators to stand on one leg.

"The Government has no leg to stand on," said a member of the Opposition.

MR. FIELDING WAS WARNED.

Mr. E. B. Osler, who has been absent for some time, made an important statement on the Farmers Bank During the debate, Mr. Bprden declared that Mr Osler had warned Mr. Fielding that the enterprise was rotten. Mr. Fielding doubted this. Mr. Osler now confirmed Mr. Borden's statement.

After the deposit had been made, and before the certificate had been issued, Mr. Osler said he met Mr. Fielding and talked about the Farmers Bank. He told the Minister that it was a fraud, that the people connected with it were not worthy, and that the funds necessary for the deposit had been obtained by absolutely illegal methods. He knew this from his own personal knowledge. Mr. Osler told the Minister, because he knew where the application had been made to raise money on notes, though he did not know who had loaned the money.

Mr. Fielding was exceedingly interested and showed a good deal of anxiety. The incident ended there so far as Mr. Osler was concerned. After the certificate had been issued he spoke to Mr. Fielding and said that he was sorry that the certificate had been issued. Mr. Fielding replied that so far as he saw, the law had been complied with, and that if the Government had refused the certificate it would have been assailed on the ground that it favored the big banks against the small ones.

CLOSE SCRUTINY REQUIRED

It was a case, Mr. Osler said in which close scrutiny should have been exercised. It was notorious that the men connected with the bank were unworthy. His information had been given without prejudice against new banks. A few days later, Mr. Henderson and he talked the matter over and Mr. Henderson told him that he had made similar representations to the Minister.

Mr. Fielding said that he agreed that Mr. Osler's statement was made in good faith. Some people showed much confidence as to conversations occurring several years ago. He hesitated to do so. The attitude of his mind with regard to the Farmers Bank was such that if Mr. Osler had given him any substantial reason to withhold the certificate, he would have welcomed it. He had been anxious. He did not recall the conversations but thought that if Mr. Osler had had the information he would have sent a written communication to him. Against mere talk he had Travers' sworn statement and that outweighed casual conversations.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

TEMPER.

"I know I have a temper," I heard a girl say the other day; "but, at any rate, I'm not sulky." And from the tone in which she said it, one would have thought that a temper was something to be proud of, so long as it wasn't a sulky one.

As temper ages people, and leaves more lines on the face than almost any other thing, it isn't very wise to indulge in it at all. And there is another side of the picture, too. The people we live with have to be considered to some extent, and if we could only realise all the pain we give those near and dear to us when we indulge in fits of temper, we should surely try to get out of this bad habit. Life is too short to spend in wounding people unnecessarily, so the sooner we give up doing it, the better.

ABOUT COREA.

Corea is the land of queer customs. One is that the children in school use sand boxes instead of slates. They use the difficult Chinese characters and have to learn them as early in life as we do the alphabet. They make the character in the sand with a stick and then shuffle the box and make another.

There are many "little mothers" in Corea, for babies are mostly given over to older girls to be cared for. A broad sash or strip of cloth is tied around the waist of the little mother, and the baby is tucked snugly within its folds. It keeps its place during all the games of the children and seems as contented and happy as possible

THE VAGRANTS' HOME.

Maxims Used by Loafers to Help Them Out.

"Got any home?" said the judge to a man who had been brought in on the charge of vagrancy.

"Sure I have."

"Where is it?"

The man named a street and number.

"Your Honour," volunteered a clerk, "that ain't a house; it's a mission."

"Well, call them up, anyway," said the judge, "and see if they know anything about him."

They did not know anything, but the missionary said he would come right down and see what could be done.

"It is not an unusual case," he said. "Our mission is 'home' to many a man whom we never even heard of until he gets arrested. If a man who has been run in as a hopeless derelict can mention some address which he can call home his sentence is apt to be lighter. Lots of outcasts have been on the tramp so long that it is hard for them to think of any place they are intimate enough with to call it home, but through an occasional peep in here they remember the number and brazenly sing it out. Court-room attendants communicate with us and ask our advice. Naturally we respond even though the men are perfect strangers. Some of them seem hopeless wrecks, but now and then we discover a man who has good stuff in him still and is capable of developing into a useful citizen."

Work Progressing Slowly.

Work on the addition to the post office is progressing slowly, three or four men only being on the job. At the present rate of progress the building may be ready in a year or two.

Dogs.

Dogs were formerly indigenous to the indigent, but, since the advent of dog licenses, whereby a dog, without a maid or a valet, is presumed to be guilty until it is proved innocent or shot, they have been grafted on family trees, with their own separate heraldry as substitutes for children, thereby furnishing considerable consolation for race suicide.

Dogs are divided into two great classes — pedigreed and verdigreed. Verdigreed are of two kinds — mad dogs and dogs. Pedigreed are of several kinds, chief among which are watch dogs and sheep-dogs. Watch-dogs are so called because they are small enough, and usually cranky enough, to be carried around in the place of watches by people who have plenty of time. Sheep-dogs are so called because they are led around by sheepish-looking people.

Those dogs are considered the handsomest by connoisseurs which look the ugliest to other people.

'Challenge the Judge.

It was a case in an Irish court, and the prisoner seeming hard to satisfy, juryman after juryman was asked to leave the box. However, all things come to an end, even in Ireland, and at last the swearing of the jury was completed. And then the prisoner leaned over the dock and sought the ear of his counsel.

"The jury's all right now, I think," he whispered; "but ye must challenge the judge. I've been convicted under him siviral times already, and maybe he's beginnin' to have a prejudice."

Sophistry of a Sophist.

A certain archbishop, when asked woman to misstate her age, replied: "A lie may be defined as a statement made by one rational being to another rational being, with the intent to deceive. Now, as no rational being would think of asking a woman her age with the expectation of being answered truthfully, one of the elements of the lie is lacking, and the woman's statement cannot, strictly speaking, be defined as such."

Australia has Tallest Tree.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but, while California trees are of gigantic dimensions, they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The Californians are noted not so much for their height as for their girth and diameter. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340ft high Australia's record gum tree can beat this by 140ft.

No: Gratifying.

Some one sent the manuscript of a story to a literary friend, with the request that he would criticise it. The friend returned it, with the following note:

"My dear Blank: Your book contains much that is both new and good; but what is new is not good, and what is good is not new."

It is wicked for us to go about with faces which indicate that life has been a disappointment to us instead of a glorious joy. It shows that we have missed the real object of living, that we have never caught a glimpse of the realities of life, but that we are living in the shadows, in the gloom instead of the sunshine of reality, of truth, of beauty. It indicates that we have not even caught a glimpse of the real glory of life.

FALSE IDEALS

"Grabali Too Often the Height of Ambition.

False ideals of happiness haunt the ways of men and lead them on danger and destruction through the siren song of fantasy. One marks his of wealth. He has enough now for all the purposes of refined living; but he wants that extra, that margin by which enough may be broadened out into excess, and refinement may be made to include frantic luxury and insolent ostentation. "When I have as much, I shall be content," he says to himself. But he is never content. If he gets a hundred thousand pounds he wants two; if two, three; and so on till he covets a million which then when compassed, shall positively be the term and boundary of his desires. But the million spreads out and rolls on, as the hundred thousand had done before it.

Rousing Response.

At a Toronto theatre not long since the curtain rose on an empty stage in the second act of a play, and by and by a meek-looking young man with a dust-coat slung over his arm came on and loudly called, "Uncle! uncle!"

According to the book of the play he should have received no answer to his call, and after an appropriate pause he should have gone on with the monologue. But a graceless "god" in the gallery took upon himself to answer the actor.

"All right, I'm coming in a moment; how much do you want on it?" he shouted.

The effect on the audience may be imagined.

Japan has Cheapest Postal Service.

Japan has the cheapest postal service in the world. Letters are carried all over the empire for two sen, about seven-tenths of a cent. This is the more remarkable when we consider the difficulties of transportation over a mountainous and irregular country that has only about a hundred miles of railway, while only a few of the chief roads can be used for wagons and the steamships connect only a small number of stations on the coast.

We Eat Too Much.

To rise from the table able to eat a little more is a proverbially good rule for every one. There is nothing more idiotic than forcing down a few mouthfuls because they happen to remain on one's plate after hunger is satisfied, and because they may be "wasted" if left. It is the most serious waste to overtax the stomach with even half an ounce more than it can take care of.

Summer Evening Wraps.

Evening wraps are unusually novel this season, the great vogue for sheer materials finding a happy expression in these more elaborate garments. Marquisette wraps are the latest novelties, and while exorbitant prices are asked for them in the smart shops, there is no reason why any woman could not fashion one herself, or at least plan one and have it made at very little expense.

Black, white, Alice blue, gray, gold color and king's blue are good colors for these little wraps. Many of them are cut on extremely simple lines, with the kimono sleeve and plain back and front. There seems to be no attempt to fasten these garments. They are cut so that the front just laps and are apparently designed to flow.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

FIVE ACRES, PLUS

What Boys Were Able to Do on a Small Farm

Near a Maritime Province town a man, his wife, and two sons lived on a five-acre lot. The head of the house ran a carriage shop and paid little attention to the land. The boys paid less attention, and were on the road to nothing in particular. The father died, leaving the place involved. Then the boys awakened, and began to till the five acres. Last year they expected to sell by the end of the season over one thousand dollars' worth of produce from the five acres. Among other things they marketed one half acre of tomatoes and one acre of green beans. The little farm is no longer involved.

The 3rd troop of Boy Scouts will leave for camp at Chemong Park on Monday. The boys expect to have a most enjoyable outing.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c per pound, two or three cents per pound cheaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c. delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the wrist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead scarefully matched, drops for earings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had—retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavari aNinety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of tha country during the insanity of two kings Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Some medical men earn their money by inventing complaints with long names for over-fed society women

Work for Women.

If the harem of Abdul Hamid finds itself out of employment because of the misfortunes of its imperial master, the ladies thereof will find plenty to do in this country where, thanks to a sudden famine in domestic servants, most of us are doing our own housework.

The worst of country society or for the matter of that the society of any community, is that every woman is eligible, but only a man here and there.

PARDONABLE QUACKERY

How a Physician Had to Fake to Cure

As a doctor, one of the English heroes who assisted in the defence of Kars, had special opportunities of studying the habits and character of the degraded races of Asia Minor. He found it necessary to be more of a quack than a physician among them. "As my patients became numerous, and pestered me at all hours, I fitted up," he tells us, "a spare tent to serve as my dispensary, and gave out that I received at the time of afternon prayer (asar). I took my seat at the door of my tent, and soon had a crowd around me, many suffering from real diseases, many from imaginary ones, and many bringing for my inspection the effects of diseases such as palsied limbs and stiff points." One of his patients was an old woman, who came forward, and taking hold of the corner of his cloak, kissed it, and then, kneeling before him, began, in a very wheedling manner, to call his attention to her case. "She went on to describe the most anomalous symptoms, affecting her eyes, ears, limbs, and sometimes every part of her On further inquiry, she confessed to be quite well at that moment; but a year ago, having had these strange complaints, she dreaded the same thing would invade her this year. I then promised to give her strong medicine, but ordered the crowd to stand at a short distance from us. A space is cleared, and all wait in silent admiration for my remedy. I slowly draw forth a bottle of strong liquor of ammonia, or smelling-salts, from my medicine-chest, and, holding it before my patients eyes, tell her to draw in a strong breath when I put it to her nose. I acordingly first hold her nostrils, then, having removed the stopper, I apply the mouth of the bottle to the nose, the fingers are removed, a long sniff is taken, followed by a sort of spasm, and she falls to the ground A hum of horror runs through the crowd; the patient, after a short interval, rises, her eyes streaming with tears; and then breaks from the crowd, 'La ilaha illa 'llahu Mahommed rasulu 'llah!' — 'There is no God but the God, and Mahomed is the Apostle of God!'"

Valuable Information about Taxicab

In reply to many correspondents from the West, it may be said that a taxcab is a lineal descendant of Captain Kidd on its father's side and Jesse James on its mother's. To look at, it is a harmless creature. To read about, it is positively virtuous. But to monkey with, it is the triple concentrated extract of Montreal's Ananias Club, fishermen, real-estate agents, mining promoters, and autobiographers. Whether this is because of sheer willfulness or because it was sick with the scarlet fever at the time the rest of the class studied the tables of linear measurement is not clear, but the fact is that a taxicab can get more miles out or three blocks than a landlady can get pieces out of a single pie, and it can ruffle one's temper more effectually than the most dipsomaniacal Jehu that ever cracked a whip or framed an oath.

For the Camper.

An old mackintosh is full of possibilities to the woman who intends to go camping or fishing or even to one who does gardening and her own laundry work or scrubbing. The circular cape may be cut into two aprons if finished with a waistband. Cut the skirt portion of the coat from the underwaist, form a box plait at the center back, put on a waist band and close at the left front, and it is a splendid water proof skirt. The pocket should be left in if it is placed right. The frayed hem at the bottom may be trimmed and finished with black skirt binding From the remaining parts of the waist a sponge bag or waterproof cuffs may be fashioned.

Monday, August 14th, is the date fixed for Sturgeon Point regatta.

Cherries and plums will not be a plentiful crop this year. In fact it is stated that cherries are about over already.

FENCED IN BY GUSHERS

Property of the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company Limited, surrounded by enormous wells, all flowing several thousand barrels per day.

200 to 500 per cent. profit!

That is what shareholders in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company should realize as soon as well No. 1 is actually brought in.

That is—EVERY DOLLAR INVESTED NOW, WHEN THE STOCK IS ONLY 30 CENTS A SHARE, SHOULD RETURN YOU $2.00 TO $5.00.

It requires neither wit nor wisdom to invest money where it will return four per cent. interest, and be safe. To recognize those opportunities which do now and then present themselves whereby a profit really worth while can be made requires the keenest perception. Who is satisfied with a return of four per cent. a year on his money need not read here. These statements are made for people who are willing to listen to good sound logic and who have wit enough to recognize a genuine opportunity when presented.

Some Profit Precedents

When the Lucile Oil Company of Coalinga brought in its first big well Lucile stock advanced from 10c to $10 per share within a fortnight and the Lucile Oil Company owned only a very small tract of ground.

Within forty days from the time the United Oil Company brought in its first producer in the Midway field the stock advanced from 25c to $1.25 per share, and the United Oil Company's property then comprised only twenty acres.

Some months ago, the Mays Oil Company was operating a tract of only forty acres of ground in the Midway field. The stock of the Mays Company was selling at only a few cents per share. The company brought in one big producing well and the stock advanced to $2.00 per share within a comparatively few days' time.

The three illustrations given above indicate the enormous quick profits that have been made by discriminating investors in the past, due to the bringing in of one big producing well.

Consider the Extraordinary Possibilities of tne Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co. Limited

The lease of the forty acres is in the PROVEN GUSHER BELT OF THE MIDWAY FIELD and practically surrounded by enormous wells all flowing several thousand barrels per day.

This lease is worth $30,000 and is fully paid for.

Improvements have been made thereon to the amount of over $9000), consisting of derrick, boilers and other machinery and camp buildings, all of which is fully paid for.

In addition to this, $25,000 in cash has been subscribed and over two-thirds thereof paid in at this writing, to cover the expense of drilling Well No. 1.

This well is being drilled by a rotary rig under contract with one of the best and most responsible well drilling companies in California at the rate of $6.50 per foot, whereby they absolutely agree and bind themselves to drill a perfect well to a depth of 3200 feet, and set our 8-inch casing, and shut off the water at 2800 feet, and receive nothing for their labor until they have delivered a good perfect well to this depth, and failing to do so, they further contract and agree to drill a second well to this depth, if for any reason they spoil the first well and can not complete it in perfect condition to this depth.

Deposited $15,000 in Cash

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company has deposited $15,000 in cash in the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco, in escrow, towards this contract, and must hereafter deposit each 30 days an additional sum equal to $6.50 per foot for every foot drilled during the preceding 30 days, all money deposited to remain in trust until this well is completed according to contract. The contractors receive nothing until they deliver a perfect well. The company pays for this perfect well when delivered. Until it is delivered the money remains in trust in the bank.

A copy of this contract is printed in full in the Company's prospectus, and is acknowledged by all experienced oil men who have read its terms to be the best drilling contract with a reliable drilling company they have ever seen or heard of.

The property and equipment is paid for and the first well completely financed. All this has been accomplished before a single share of stock was offered for public subscription.

Breaking Records on Well Drilling with Rotary Rig

Well No. 1 is being sunk at the rate of 66 feet per day, breaking all records for fast drilling. $7000 more in cash was deposited by the company with the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco on Monday last to cover our contract with the drilling company. This money with the previous payment—a total of $15,000—is being held in escrow.

The drillers maintain that they will complete this well within ninety days from July 1st, or less, and that it is absolutely necessary that they do this in order to make any money on the contract. If they can do this, it simply means that the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company will be a large producer within three months, and a demonstrated success, with the stock worth many times the small price at which it is obtainable to-day and while this small allotment lasts.

The men behind the guns in this enterprise have started this Company off along right lines, and have formulated a whirlwind development campaign which is going to make Midway Maple Leaf an absolute success and a great big success, and in record time.

Only 25,000 shares are offered at the present price of 20 cents, par value $1.00, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

From present indications this block will be oversubscribed.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

PEACE AND WAR.

One of the most momentous announcements in the history of the world has been made by President Taft in his statement that within a few days arbitration treaties will be signed between Britain, the United States and France, with soon three other powers to join. The consummation is one which must sooner or later result in all the great world powers coming into the pact, as our esteemed contemporary, the Ottawa Journal correctly puts it. Christianity, humanity, common sense, good business, all considerations, must exercise unceasing and irresistible pressure to that end. No matter how ambitious, no matter how arrogant, no matter how narrow minded, the leaders of any great nation may be for long or short, the sensible and honorable principle of umpiring national disputes by peaceful means is receiving now an impetus which in the comparatively near future must banish war between nations, as law has nearly abolished the duel between individuals.

In the comparatively near future, we say. That may mean fifty, a hundred, perhaps two hundred years. The duel still lingers, though in nearly every civilized country against the law. War, and the necessity of preparation for war, will continue so long as a single great power remains outside the pale of arbitration agreement. One single nation's armament must compel the armament of other nations. One great nation thoroughly equipped for war could, in the present condition of such like military and naval armament and training whip the rest of the world if the rest of the world was not prepared for war. Arbitration treaties cannot secure the world's peace, nor freedom from martial preparation on all hands so long as one great power remains out.

While, therefore, the tremendous step just achieved, the splendid start made towards the sure peace of the world, receives the warmest welcome of all of us, let not the mistake be made of imagining that the present generation can dispense any with vigorous equipment for self-defence. A significant hint of the opposite kind is contained in the speech just made by Mr. Lloyd George. At the very moment when the great arbitration treaty is announced to be on the eve of signature, Lloyd-George, a man of peace, is compelled to utter a public warning to other powers that Britain will cross the line between peace and war under certain easily-arriving circumstances. It is conceivable that the great treaty of arbitration about to be consummated may be but a prelude to one of the most tremendous wars on record. And this is not by accident, nor a mere hap-hazard flare-up, but because great national jealousies, perhaps it would be more just to say great national needs and apprehensions, have been operating mechanically. These jealousies, or needs, or fears, will continue to work for a time yet, despite all advances of the angel of peace. Meanwhile, there can be only national folly in the disregard by any great nation of ability of self-defence—and there could be only national meanness in the failure of such a nation as Canada to continue to prepare itself to meet its proportionate responsibility in the scheme of defence of the empire to which it chooses to remain attached. The spirit of national self-reliance is still necessary. Such a spirit here or elsewhere will not retard universal peace. Universal peace will be most retarded by the other thing—by the sight of easy victims of aggression. Universal peace will be most retarded by an easy way being opened to the successful ambitions of any nation or nations possessing little scruple in the line of aggrandisement and designedly waiting until other nations disarm themselves.

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION.

Germany sent a warship to Agadir The Moroccan situation developed. Why a crisis should be precipitated by such an act is only too clear after a study of the international suspicions and jealousies which have been straining around Morocco for years. France, England, Germany, and Spain have been waiting for any move on the part of either of the others which might be construed as an intimation of intention to gain control of the stormy empire on the northwest corner of Africa.

Germany's action is held to be significant because Agadir, the best road stead in Morocco, is not in the immediate neighborhood of the disturbances which are given as the pretext for the Panther's presence. On the other hand, there has been no attempt to land German forces. The country remains as it has been for years, under the immediate protection of France. The insult, if insult there has been, might seem directed more particularly against that nation, yet it is Britain which appears most perturbed, and it is Britain against which the German press directs its comments upon the situation.

At the root of all the trouble is the inability of Morocco's five million inhabitants to live at peace among themselves. Mulai Hafid, proclaimed Sultan in 1907 and acknowledged by the Powers in 1908, does not seem to have succeeded much better than his predecessors in maintaining order. Morrocco is rich in minerals and wheat. It exports cereals, eggs, almonds, olive oil, wool, and cattle. France, Germany, England, and Spain have large commercial interests there. These are imperilled by the continual outbreaks, and Germany declares that the Panther was sent to Agadir merely to protect her subjects and her trade. The responsibility for such protection rests mainly with France. In 1904 an Anglo-French agreement was reached whereby Britain acknowlekn efeoeeer by Britain acknowledged that it appertained to France to keep order, and France bound herself not to interfere with the political integrity of the Moroccan empire. Spain arrived at a similar agreement later in the year, and Germany followed in 1909. In all of these cases France agreed that the commerce of the other contracting parties should be on an equality with her own. It is, however, the international conference of 1906 which is most frequently mentioned in connection with the Moroccan situation. As the result of this gathering at Algeciras, arrangement was made for a police force of 2,500 under Spanish and French officers to assist the Sultan. It does not appear to have been a complete success.

There is a crisis in Morocco, not because of what has happened, but because of what the happenings are taken to portend. Britain's deep concern is due to the belief that Germany is about to interfere with the administration of the African Empire although she would thus be breaking her pledge to France. In Germany such interference would be justified on the ground that France has failed in her part of the agreement by permitting disorders which have imperilled German commerce. The situation, however, is one which is open to peaceful adjustment. A conference of the powers, such as is forecasted by a rumor on the London Stock Exchange, would be the sensible way out of a difficulty which may otherwise result in war.

IRISHMEN ALL BUT CAME TO BLOWS

London, July 28.—There was a lively interlude from the Nationalist benches in the House of Commons this afternoon, in the form of an exchange of compliments, which, had they occurred anywhere else, certainly would have led to a personal encounter. Wm. O'Brien, leader of the independent Nationalists, complained to the Speaker that he had been insulted by questions put by Thos. Lundon, Nationalist for East Division of Limerick, who asserted that O'Brien was the descendant of the most blackguardly informer that ever appeared in Ireland.

When Lundon refused to retract the statement, O'Brien shouted: "You are an infamous liar and scoundrel." Lundon made a dive for the independent leader, but friends seized his coat tails and the incident closed. It had indicated, howeves, how baseless are all reports of a truce between the Nationalists' factions.

WILL NOT FORCE CRISIS.

London, July 28.—It is becoming increasingly evident that the "Die Hards" will not be able to "deliver the goods," or, in other words, to poll their peers to anything like the extent claimed, and the government will not be forced to create a large number of peers. If any, in order to carry the Veto bill.

The effect of last night's rally at the dinner given in honor of the Earl of Halsbury, leader of the insurgent lords, has been to send the whole company of moderates scurrying into the ranks of Lord Lansdowne's adherents, who this afternoon totalled in the neighborhood of 300.

The government is going to give the Unionists plenty of time in which to compose their differences. Premier Asquith, anxious as his opponents to avoid swamping the Upper House with new barons, will not force a crisis so long as matters are tending in his direction. There are even rumors of an early adjournment of Parliament before final action on the Veto bill, and the session in the autumn, by which time it is thought the tension may be entirely abated.

LEADER KILLED.

Lisbon, July 27.—A serious conflict has occurred in a church at Lobrigo, near Regoa, between Royalists and Republicans. Senor Costa, a Republican leader, was stabbed to death in the back, and a fierce fight followed. Revolvers and stilettos were used, amid the shouting of men and the screaming of women. The fray was soon transferred from the church to the street, assuming considerable proportions. Quarter was neither asked nor given. Troops were called out, and finally restored order.

According to the newspapers four [illegible] were killed and [illegible] seriously injured. It is believed that the number is much larger than this. 30 persons were slightly [illegible] ferocious mastiff, Frieda [illegible] low 7 cases to the [illegible]

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now—do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story—contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realised within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

A CAUCASIAN MARRIAGE.

A Piece of Sugar Put to Lips of Bride to Sweeten Tongue.

In the Caucasus the marriage ceremonies everywhere are of the greatest extravagance in regard to length and the amount of feasting. In Mingrelie large tents are erected for the wedding guests, and the smallest number invited comes to two or three hundred. An interesting and pretty ceremony is the going forth of the bridegroom's mother to meet the bride, to whose lips she puts a piece of sugar, wishing her happiness and joy, and hoping that her tongue may always keep the sweetness of sugar. In the marriage procession all the goods and wealth of the family make an appearance. An elderly lady, generally the bride's nurse, plays an important part throughout the ceremonies. She sits by the bride, who neither laughs nor eats during all the merriment and feasting. A meal is served in the nuptial chamber, to which the matron conducts the bride. The bridegroom is refused admission until he buys his entry from the matron. This old lady remains a week in the house, and when she departs the bride breaks into loud lamentations. For a year the young couple are full of respect and attention for their parents, never sitting down in their presence and submitting to their wishes in everything.

REMOVAL OF BIRTHMARKS.

Carbonic Acid Snow Treatment Proving Generally Successful.

In less than a year the carbonic acid snow treatment for birthmarks, warts, and rodent ulcer, first introduced at Charing Cross Hospital, has gained an accepted place in modern therapeutics.

The early experiments with the new remedy, described in these columns last June, have been so successful in suitable cases that now practically every hospital in the country, as well as thousands of general practitioners and skin specialists, is making use of the new medicament.

The snow is prepared by allowing a thin spray of carbonic acid gas, liquefied under pressure, to escape into a felt covering slipped over the tap of the iron cylinder containing the gas. The gas is deposited on the felt as a very fine powdered snow at a temperature of about 100 degrees below zero. The snow is then solidified into an icy pencil by being tightly packed into a hard rubber cylinder with a plunger.

Treatment consists of pressing this intensely cold pencil of carbonic acid ice for a few seconds against the birthmark, wart or rodent ulcer to be removed. The resulting intense cold freezes the part, setting up severe local inflammation, which leads to a breaking down and absorption of the frozen tissues. There is very little pain and the wound heals naturally in a few days, leaving the skin practically normal.

RUSSIAN GRAIN KING.

Was Queer Character, But His Business Integrity Was High.

Of a peculiar stamp was the man of millions, Nicholas Boukhroff, the Russian grain king, who recently died. In his externals he was a mujik merchant. He wore the top boots, the trader's kaftan—coat and overcoat in one, fitting close up to the neck and reaching to the knees—and the embroidered cotton shirt without starched collar, which are the historic garb of the Volga traders, men who carry as much as 50,000 rubles in notes stuck in the leg of a boot and who distrust the documentary machinery of credit. Boukhroff's great fortune compelled him to handle investments and bank paper, but he was in sympathy with the old simple ways. He was in fact an Old Believer and a devout churchgoer who lived his religion.

In his housekeeping he lived on much the same scale as an ordinary hand worker in comfortable employment. He gave away millions of rubles in charity, but was close fisted in personal outlays. The porters at Nijnj-Novgorod and elsewhere avoided him when they saw him step from a train. He would never pay them more than 10 cents for carrying his baggage. When he met great personages he "thoued" them, as he did everybody else, keeping to the Old Believer, Quakerlike form of address. His integrity in business was of the highest.

He would lecture men in his employment if they spent five kopeks needlessly. His patriarchial ways had sometimes a welcome side. He exacted unquestioning obedience to his instructions; but every now and then a man who served him well for some years would receive a draft for 25,000 or 50,000 rubles with no further remark than:

"Thou shalt now be a Man, too. I know that thou wilt make good use of the money."

Canada Buys a Holman Hunt.

The national art gallery at Ottawa has been enriched by a painting by Holman Hunt, of the British Academy. The painting is a portrait of Henry Wentworth Monk, who was born in the Ottawa Valley and who was known as "The Apostle of Peace." He was an intimate friend of the artist, who painted the picture while with Monk in Palestine. The painting was secured from Mrs. Holman Hunt at a moderate price.

"Very clever, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"I'm told that his three older brothers are mentally weak."

"Yes, he's the original sane fourth."

"Shoots Wife Before Children," says a newspaper headline. That's a matter of precedence.

Warning to Boys.

While the Fire Department were making a dash for East City in response to a fire call, a couple of boys mounted on wheels gave chase and got between the hose wagon and ladder truck, and narrowly escaped being run over by the latter. After the fire had been extinguished Chief Howard took the boys into custody, loaded their wheels on the hose wagon and brought them to the police station. They were given a warning and when they emerged from the Chief of Police's sanctum they were two wiser looking youths.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HOW SWINE CAN PAY.

Raising of Pigs Neglected in Canada.

First choose your breed. When your choice is made, purchase pure-bred brood sows. If you cannot afford to buy many, buy one good one, and by saving all the desirable females you will, in the course of a few years, have a good-sized herd. Do not spare a few dollars or a long drive to get a good boar.

The vigor of the constitution of the offspring depends on the dam, but the outward form and limbs depend more on the boar. The boar should be wide between the fore legs, with large girth behind them, that denotes active heart and limbs. Straight, strong limbs and erect hoofs indicate solidity of animal framework. Smooth skin and soft hair denote active liver and general health. Do not trade a long body for a short nose. These same qualities should be found in the female.

During the pregnancy of the sow, she should be allowed plenty of exercise and proper food, and there will be little trouble in giving birth to her offspring. A sow carrying pigs is engaged in a work which demands a full supply of tissue-making foods. Clover, wheat, bran and linseed meal and such foods, rich in protein, should be furnished her. There is a great mistake made by many hog raisers who give their brood sows corn and water for a diet; they think because they look well that such foods are all right, but they wonder why their sows have trouble giving birth to their offspring and many times eat them.

When the pigs are a few weeks old they should be given a creep where they can help themselves to grain. The males should be castrated when about two months old and while they are still with their mothers.

MANITOBA FOR GOOD ROADS.

Representatives of Manitoba Good Roads Association and Manitoba Union of Municipalities met last week in Winnipeg, and after considerable discussion on the financing of road work throughout the province, passed a resolution to the effect that the government be asked to guarantee the bonds of the municipalities. It was proposed that the redemption of bonds be extended over a period of twenty to thirty years and further, that the amount of money to be raised do not exceed four per cent of the total assessment of the municipality.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for the Erection of Wireless Telegraph Station," at Midland, Ontario, will be received at this office until noon, on July twenty-fourth, 1911.

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after July tenth instant, at the office of the Superintendent of Wireless Telegraphs, Department of the Naval Service, Ottawa, the Office of the Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Parry Sound, Ontario, or the Office of the Postmaster at Midland, Ontario.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of the Naval Service, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned. The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

G. J. DESBARATS,

Deputy Minister.

Department of the Naval Service,

Ottawa, July 7th 1911.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-emnt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Vote for the by-laws to-day, and thus do your duty in an honest effort to advance the best interests of Peterborough.

Reason Why Persons Do Not Keep on Growing.

Six pounds and a half is the weight of the average child at birth; at the end of the first year the average weight is eighteen pounds and a half, a gain of twelve pounds; and at the end of the second year the weight is twenty-three pounds, a gain of only four pounds and a half. And with each successive year the gain is less and less until maturity is reached. Why is the gain less each year? And why does it finally cease altogether?

The reason is that the absorbing surfaces inside the stomach and intestine do not, and in the nature of things cannot, grow proportionately to the growth of the body as a whole. During the first year of growth the child's body becomes approximately three times as large as it was at birth, but the interior of the stomach and bowel of the child at the age of one year is not even twice as large as it was at birth, let alone three times as large. Yet all the nourishment which supplies materials for growth has to be absorbed by the membrane which lines the insid of the stomach, and especially the small intestine. It is, therefore, plain that growth of the body as a whole must gradually subside as the tissues to be nourished gradually approach a size at which their demands balance the utmost supply of nutrition taken up by the stomach and intestine.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Department of Railways and Canals.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for construction of Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office, until 16 o'clock, on Tuesday, the 1st of August, for a section of about 185 miles from Pas Mission to Thicket Portage.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after Wednesday, May 31, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind, that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $200,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES,

Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, May 26, 1911.

CAKED UDDER.

Neglected Too Often the Cause, Says Expert.

The usefulness of thousands of milch cows is damaged every year by caked udder. Prompt treatment will generally avert serious trouble, but cases of long standing are very difficult to handle. Many factors act to cause caked udder. It is commonest in heavy milkers at calving time. At that time the udder is naturally swollen and inflamed, and if it is exposed to a cold draft or bruised in any way serious trouble is likely to follow. Although commonest early in the lactation period, caked udder may occur at any time, being due to lying on cold, hard, damp ground, to bruises, to incomplete milking, to exposure to cold, occasionally to changes in food, and sometimes being due to an infectious form of the disease.

There are many forms of udder trouble, which are variously known as garget, mammitis and caked udder. In the most severe forms there is a chill, followed by a fever, and the udder becomes much swollen, red and tender; the milk decomposes into whey and bloody curd; pus forms, and the udder mortifies; it may be completely lost.

Still Susceptible.

He was a nervous, fidgety young man, and he looked with considerable apprehension at the woman next him, who held a baby, its face covered with a thick veil. The baby gave now and then a sharp cry, which the woman evidently tried to suppress.

At last, after many anxious glances, the young man spoke.

"Has—has that baby any—anything contagious?" he asked.

The woman looked at him with a mixture of scorn and pity.

"Twouldn't be for most folks,' she said in a clear, carrying tone, 'but maybe 'twould for you. He's teething.'

He Knew Better.

A Scottish minister was startled by the original views of a not very skilful ploughman whom he had just engaged. Noticing the furrows were far from straight he said, 'John, yer drills are no straucht ;that is no like Tammie's wark'—'Tammie' being the man who had previously ploughed the field.

'Tammie didna ken his wark,' observed the man coolly as he turned his team about. 'Ye see, when the drills is crookit the sun gets well in atween, an' so ye can get extra corns.'

BUY

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES [illegible]RY,
Peterboro, Ont., [illegible]-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around $4c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have beenpresenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Mountezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties.

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal." Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly installments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoona River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hoona River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoona River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

So Light that 500 Sheets Go to Make an Ounce.

Of the great army of cigarette smokers there is probably not more than one in a hundred who knows that rice paper, in which the tobacco is wrapped, has nothing to do with rice, but is made from the membranes of the breadfruit tree or more commonly of fine new trimmings of flax and hemp.

So light is this paper that 500 of the tiny sheets go to make an ounce They are perfectly combustible and give off the minimum of smoke. Before being rolled with tobacco they are analyzed to prove that they are free from all deleterious ingredients and that they contain nothing but the purest paper fibre. Only new material—flax and hemp trimmings—is used, and these are thoroughly purified.

Chopped by machinery into minute particles, they are well mixed by a revolving fan and then reduced to a dust, which is placed in a solution of lime and soda. After remaining in solution for some time it undergoes a thorough washing process, the water being the purest kind.

Then the pulp is rolled out into paper. At first it is of a grayish tinge, the pure white of the finished product being obtained by an electric process.

The French manufacturers of cigarette paper practically supply the entire world, the output of Austria and Italy being insignificant.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SOME REMARKABLE INSURANCE.

Lloyds Underwriters Will Take All Kinds of Risks.

Some remarkable underwriting business in fancy risks have been done by Lloyd's in connection with the coronation. Large insurances have been effected by traders whose interests are bound up with the coronation, and ten per cent has been paid to cover a claim should the ceremony not take place before the end of the year. In one or two cases policies have been taken out on the joint lives of the King and Queen until the end of the year, at the rate of four guineas per cent, whilst a "Royal Family" risk has been accepted, insuring the lives of the King and the Queen and their children for the same period, the premium in this instance being ten guineas per cent. A possible change of route for the coronation procession has also come within the speculative scope, though the premiums are small.

To pay a loss if there is a general election before March 31, 1912, twenty-five guineas per cent is quoted, and five per cent has been accepted to cover the payment of a claim should Mr. Lloyd George become prime minister on or before December 31 next. This risk has been written several times, but the amounts involved are not large.

The next budget has also been the basis of speculative business of this nature at Lloyd's.

The last rate quoted to pay a loss in the event of the duty on sugar being abolished was twenty guineas per cent, whilst several policies to cover a reduction in the tea duty have been taken out at twenty-five guineas per cent, the equivalent premium for coffee and cocoa being thirty-five guineas per cent. The possibility of an increase in the cost of license is apparently considered remote, seeing that a policy for this risk can be got at twenty per cent.

By far the largest amount of speculation has, however, been done in connection with the income tax, and a rate as high as fifty guineas per cent has been charged on a policy to pay a total loss only in the event of no alteration being made in the present charges.

THE CHOICE OF DEATH.

Condemned Murderers Prefer Shooting to Hanging.

Why do condemned murderers prefer shooting in preference to hanging? Since the State of Utah passed a law giving convicts this choice, Arthur Pratt, warden of the Utah State prison, has not had one who would go to the gallows. On one occasion a murderer refused to make a choice, and the judge sentenced him to be hanged.

"Utah has a law which allows a condemned murderer to choose either hanging or shooting as a mode of dying," said Warden Pratt. "This work is done by the sheriffs of each county, but in the penitentiary yard. So far we have not had a man who has chosen hanging. Once a murderer refused to make a choice, and the judge sentenced him to be hanged. Shooting is the more humane. It is painless and instantaneous. The condemned man is led to the prison yard, seated on a chair, and, if he desires, is blindfolded. Five men armed with rifles are then marched to within ten paces of the man. Four of the rifles contain ball cartridges. The fifth has a blank shell. A target is pinned over the heart of the condemned man, all five guards take careful aim, and at a signal the volley is fired. The ordeal is over in a few moments, whereas in hanging the suspense and suffering last for many minutes."

THE VAGRANTS' HOME.

Missions Used by Loafers to Help Them Out.

"Got any home?" said the judge to a man who had been brought in on the charge of vagrancy.

"Sure I have."

"Where is it?"

The man named a street and number.

"Your Honour," volunteered a clerk, "that ain't a house; it's a mission."

"Well, call them up, anyway," said the judge, "and see if they know anything about him."

They did not know anything, but the missionary said he would come right down and see what could be done.

"It is not an unusual case," he said. "Our mission is 'home' to many a man whom we never even heard of until he gets arrested. If a man who has been run in as a hopeless derelict can mention some address which he can call home his sentence is apt to be lighter. Lots of outcasts have been on the tramp so long that it is hard for them to think of any place they are intimate enough with to call it home, but through an occasional peep in here they remember the number and brazenly sing it out. Courtroom attendants communicate with us and ask our advice. Naturally we respond even though the men are perfect strangers. Some of them seem hopeless wrecks, but now and then we discover a man who has good stuff in him still and is capable of developing into a useful citizen."

Young Borup Writes a Book in Slang.

When Commander Peary took George Borup, a graduate of Yale, on his last polar trip, he added a live one to his party. Young Borup, only twenty-three years old, was the laughmaker of the crew. Members of the expedition say that no night was too dark for Borup fun-making.

Since his return to America, Borup has written a book entitled "A Tenderfoot With Peary." He writes mostly in slang, but his story is perhaps the most interesting, popularly, that has ever been written of the arctic regions. Whatever young Borup had to do he did in a spirit of fun.

For instance, when Commander Peary set him to work at photography, Borup made his work doubly interesting by applying a spirit of fun

Were You Missed?

The Times has heard of one or two cases of persons having been omitted from the census list. It is quite natural that there will be some omissions, and The Times would like any such to report to this office. All do not, however, believe that there will be very many found who have been overlooked.

QUEEN MARY.

Simplicity in Training of Children.

From the time of Her Majesty's birth until her marriage her life was just that of the fairly well-to-do English girl, hardly that of the modern English girl, perhaps, but nearer the old-fashioned ideal. This was her mother's plan:

"A child," she said, "has quite enough to do to learn obedience and attend to her lessons and to grow without many parties and late hours, which take the freshness of childhood away and the brightness and beauty from girlhood—and then children become intolerable. There are too many grown-up children in the present day."

A writer tells how the Queen's many high qualities were developed—her interest in charity by the frequent visits made in her mother's company to the poor around her Richmond home at White Lodge; her religious convictions, bred by the daily life of her home; her musical accomplishments and her artistic talents, fostered by her stay in Florence, Italy, where her parents lived for two years.

"The Queen has a sweet voice," says Sir Charles Kinloch-Cooke, "a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor (now Sir Paolo) Tosti. * * * She is a good judge of a picture and an excellent critic, and while at Florence made several pretty sketches of landscape scenery. She rarely misses any good exhibition of pictures in London, is particularly fond of the old masters and prefers their more finished style of painting to the impressionist school.

"Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance or that have attracted public attention during the last two decades she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce.

"The Queen is greatly attached to the historical past of her country. Ancient monuments of every kind have a fascination for her, and her acquaintance with different kinds of architecture must have entailed much study and close observance.

"She is particularly fond of visiting cathedrals, and knows the interior of most of the old city churches, besides being well versed in the countless treasures contained in the other historic buildings of our great metropolis.

"Her Majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important parliamentary debates.

"Punctuality is a household word in the royal establishment, and when the Queen makes an appointment it is always kept.

"In business matters Her Majesty is clear and expeditious, methodical and systematic. Her mornings are generally taken up with attending to the voluminous correspondence that arrives by every post.

"Her secretary and lady in waiting submit their letters and the Queen gives instructions concerning them. She quickly grasps the main issue of a question and soon makes up her mind, and has never been known to lay aside a matter on the ground that to express an opinion thereon is irksome or difficult."

PORCELAIN POODLES.

At One Time Very Fashionable Ornaments.

The day of the china and faience poodle may be said to have been the closing years of the eighteenth century and the twenties and thirties of the last century, a period when the poodle was the favorite pet animal of the contemporary lady.

In the old English china works the dog was a sort of potter's standby, says the Queen, and hardly one firm but turned to the manufacture of this delightful ornament from Bow to Rockingham. In size they vary from about six inches down to one inch.

Commonest of poodles are the Staffordshire examples, sitting bolt upright, and very much rarer are the recumbent dogs reposing on royal blue cushions. Porcelain poodles were produced at Bow, but unlike their cousins of Rockingham the Bow canines were lean and scraggy specimens of their race, with legs of an almost impossible thinness. They were modelled prior to the year 1776.

The finest porcelain poodles were produced at the celebrated Rockingham works, and they were manufactured between the year 1830 (or thereabouts) and the closing of the works in 1842—in fact, during the "Brameld period," when the factory was carried on by Thomas, George, Frederick and John Wager Brameld. The Rockingham works were situated at Swinton, near Rotherham, Yorkshire, on the estate of the aMrquis of Rockingham. The animals themselves are nearly always plain white in color, but sometimes their bases or stands are of a rich royal blue enriched with a gilt line. Occasionally the bases are ornamented with green and gilt foliage, and still more rarely red decoration is to be found.

The Staffordshire faience poodles were intended to ornament the cottager's humble mantlepiece, not the are much more roughly modelled than their Rockingham relatives, for they drawing room of the lady of fashion, and they were retailed at the trifling sum of sixpence each, so that careful modelling and delicate glaze were not to be expected. These glazed earthenware dogs are squat in figure, with large ears, bushy tails, and a decorative note is introduced by the addition of a gilt collar with an elaborate padlock hanging from it.

China and earthenware poodles are now extensively imitated by the unscrupulous German manufacturer, but his fakes are fairly easy to detect. These Teutonic forgeries are characterized by a dead white glaze, while the authentic early nineteenth century examples are coated with a cream white glaze, which is frequently a good deal crackled.

NERVOUSLY DEPRESSED

A CASE OF RAPID CURE.

"Only for a few weeks did I experience the misery of duodenal indigestion," explains Miss Puckhard, the well-known school teacher of Burtonsville, "but it taught me the need of conserving one's nervous strength. I am a teacher, and the close of the school year imposes a great strain upon those teaching advanced work. The trouble first manifested itself by occasional diarrhoeas, especially if new vegetables were used, then heart burn and feelings of depression followed two or three hours after meals. At first my physician said he feared structural changes in duodenum, liver and pancreas. Happily, a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I had to use in one of the many severe attacks of constipation, which occasionally developed, proved this view was incorrect. But it shows how bad I was. Well, Dr. Hamilton's Pills caused natural evacuations and permitted the inflamed condition, causing all the trouble to subside. Perseverance finally removed the cause which I am sure was in the liver and lower bowel and by school opening in September I was actually well enough to work effectively.

See if your symptoms are like those above described—if so, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will cure. Price 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Memorial to be Dedicated.

At St. John's Church this evening at 7.30 o'clock, a memorial in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wallis, of "Mereno," will be dedicated. All friends are invited to be present.

A Painful Injury.

Mr. George Maitland, of this city, received a telegram yesterday stating that his mother, who is 74 years of age, and who lives in Ottawa, fell and fractured her hip. She was a former resident of this city, where she has many friends, who will regret to hear of her misfortune.

The Raspberry Crop.

The raspberry crop is said to be exceptionally good this year. Local gardeners are shipping berries to outside points, where owing to the heat the crop is a failure. The wild raspberry and huckleberry crops are also very good, and the local markets will no doubt, be well supplied.

Mr. Hawthorne a Candidate.

Mr. Edward Hawthorne, of Warsaw, has written a letter to the press announcing that he is in the field as a candidate of the Liberal party of East Peterborough for the Ontario Legislature. It was almost forgotten that Mr. Hawthorne had been nominated.

The Morning Paper.

The morning paper is a fact paper—not a rumor paper—eliminating mere guess and more sensationalism alike, it is not edited hysterically to appeal to people who live and think hysterics. It selects from news of the day that which has real significance and human interest. It cuts out the morbid, the unfit.

Exchanging Pulpits.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church and Rev. Dr. Marsh, of the Springville Presbyterian church, will exchange pulpits tomorrow. Rev. Mr. Henderson will preach morning and evening in the Springville church, while Rev. Dr. Marsh will occupy the pulpit of the Charlotte street church at both services.

A Large Excursion.

Yesterday about 300 excursionists passed through the city on their way from Oshawa to Jubilee Point, per steamer Stoney Lake. The excursion was under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday School of that village. A very pleasant day was spent.

County Police Court.

At a session of the County Police Court yesterday, bail was taken in the case of Silas Nichols, who flourished the revolver. He paid $500.00 and there were two sureties of $250 each, making in all $1,000. He will appear on Tuesday for trial.

Magistrate Edmison did not go to Norwood yesterday as the case had been settled. The peddler paid the necessary fee and the charge was withdrawn.

Further Entrance Results.

In the published list of successful candidates who wrote on the entrance examinations for the city, the names of A. Frost, who obtained 439 marks and that of M. Duncan, who obtained 415 marks were omitted. Miss Winnie Connor, who was under quarantine on account of illness was provisionally admitted. The number of marks have already been mailed to the successful candidates.

Golden Jubilee Celebration.

The celebration of the golden jubilee of Bishop O'Connor, of St. Peter's rectory, Peterborough, commemorating his fiftieth year in the priesthood of the Roman Catholic church will take place on August 2nd, 1911. All the bishops of Canada will be invited to be present and also the clergy of the neighboring diocese. Bishop Fallon, of London, is expected to be present to preach the special sermon at the pontificial high mass at 9.30 in the morning.

A New Bridge Necessary.

The condition of the floating bridge over Pigeon Creek is so bad that an entirely new one is necessary. This bridge was built 47 years ago, and is now so water soaked that it will hardly float. If it is to be retained in use it will require to be thoroughly rebuilt. It has been suggested that the best thing to do is to fill in the reach from shore to shore, as the water is shallow. No doubt a joint conference of the representatives from the city, county and county of Victoria will be held to discuss the matter.

Well Known in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kilbourn, who are well-known in Peterborough, on Thursday of last week, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Kilbourn is known in this section of the province as the cement king, four of the big cement mills in Owen Sound, Montreal, Lakefield and Calgary being in the merger of which Mr. Kilbourn is Vice-President. Mrs. Kilbourn was Maria A. Bishop, and they were married July 20, 1861, at Invermay, Ont., by Rev. Mr. Wilmot. All their children are here from their homes in all parts of the Dominion.

Had a Delightful Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Campbell arrived home after a three months' trip abroad, a month of which was spent in England, during the coronation festivities. They also visited France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland, stopping at the important places and seeing what was to be seen. They are enthusiastic over the many pleasant features and incidents connected with their trip, and the kindness extended to them by the people of the Old Land. Perhaps, best of all, they returned home in perfect health and vigour.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The People's Chimes.

Rev. Canon Davidson has made a statement through the columns of the evening papers regarding the chimes. He did not see fit to furnish The Times with a copy of the statement, although many of our readers are subscribers to the bells. From what appears in The Examiner we learn that alterations are being made by which it is hoped that better results may be obtained. The bells have not given entire satisfaction, owing, it is said, to conditions which are to a certain extent, exceptional in Peterborough. The committee has arranged for a programme of music on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. It has also been arranged that at weddings, etc., the bells may be rung on payment of a fee of one dollar.

OBITUARY

Muriel Bournes.

A bright young life went out yesterday morning, when Muriel, the six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bournes passed away, from heart trouble.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, from the family residence, 500 Park street, to Little Lake cemetery.

Harold R. Roach.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Roach, 769 Water street, deeply sympathize with them in the death of their darling little son, Harold, who passed away on Thursday evening after a brief illness.

The funeral takes place at 3 o'clock this afternoon to St. Peter's cemetery.

THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Meet and Transact Some Very Important Business.

The Police Commissioners met on Thursday afternoon, with the following present: Judge Huycke and Mayor Morrow.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, after which a letter was read and received from W. A. Bailey, regarding his arrest.

A letter was received from W. J. Middleton, tendering his resignation, to take effect August 1st.

It was moved by Mayor Morrow, and seconded by the Chairman, that it be accepted.—Carried.

An application was read from Alex Kidd for the appointment of Constable. Chief Thompson recomended that Alex Kidd be engaged on probation.

It was then moved by Mayor Morrow and seconded by the Chairman, that the Chief Constable be authorized to make temporary arrangements for a constable in constable Middleton's place, and that the City Treasurer be authorized ta pay the man whom the Chief engages on the Chief's certificate, at the rate of $500 per year.

A letter was then read from S. Newhall, constable, asking for six weeks' vacation in addition to the usual two weeks. This was granted.

A letter from E. H. D. Hall in regard to licensing scavengers, was laid over.

The accounts were then read and moved to be paid.

The Chairman then moved, seconded by Mayor Morrow, that the Chief be authorized to purchase capes for the members of the police force.—Carried.

FOUR HUNDRED BIBLES.

One Will Be Placed in Every Bedroom in Each Hotel.

The Gideon Bible Movement, as it is known by, has undertaken to place a bible in every room in each of the local hotels. Yesterday Mr. A. H. Patience, secretary of the Movement, calling on the hotel proprietors and gaining their consent, which it is needless to say, was cheerfully given in each instance, so far as we can learn.

The Gideons are an association of Christian travelling men pledged to carry the Gospel with them seven days in the week and stand in their places as Gideon did in Judges 7: 21.

Although the movement in Canada is hardly five months old, they have placed 5000 Bibles, since the association was organized in Canada on March 4 of this year.

A FREE FIGHT.

Squabble Results in a Couple of Black Eyes and Cut Faces.

A row occurred last night between a couple of shantymen, on the bank of the river, near Auburn, during which heavy blows were exchanged. The fight attracted two or three others, who in trying to separate the belligerents were themselves roughly handled. The fracas finally became general, one man being knocked down and was either unable or unwilling to rise.

After a time the two who were the originators of the trouble, fearing arrest, made off.

PUBLIC OPINION

hears it playing classical productions, but will go into ecstacies at the sound of rag-time music. So it is with some congregations when they hear the old familiar moth-eaten dia, tribes against the church of the ages. A little thought will bring to us a realization of a certain amount of humor in it all. Little sects like the Baptist organization—little sects that come and go like the latest brand of breakfast foods—little sects, many of whose preachers are continuously flirting with the truth—and jilting it—assume inordinate airs of importance and a doughty militant attitude at thought of the Vatican and its aged and saintly occupant. Rev. Mr. Bingham, Baptist, tells us that Rome is on the decline. This in face of the fact that accessions to the Catholic Church are frequently reported of men who are noted as the best and greatest in the land. This very day comes to us the intelligence of the conversion of Miss Knox-Little, daughter of Canon W. J. Knox-Little of Worcester, (England) Cathedral. She was received into the Church on June 10th by Rev. Father Maturin. A Protestant Episcopal Minister, Rev. R. M. Edwards, was received into the Church by Bishop McDonald of Brooklyn three weeks ago. Cold statistics tell us, however, that the Baptist and other sects are on the down grade. To make up for these losses the governing bosies, especially of the Presbyterians, have adopted new methods which bring them no little dishonor. Their enterprise is known as "soul stealing," and missions to the Catholics and the Jews has now become a specialty of their work, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars. This, too, in the face of the fact that thousands of people who are known as nominal Protestants never enter a place of worship of any kind. We could give these people the names of districts in the Province of Ontario where the people live lives of such a character as would bring a blush to the cheek of a Zulu. But these people are entirely neglected because the "missionaries" are too busy attending to the spiritual wants of the Catholics and the Jews. This is truly an age of gigantic hypocrisy—pandering to prejudice that the treasuries may be kept overflowing. Rev. Mr. Bingham, Baptist, is a curious sort of person. He has ideas which run counter to those accepted by studious people. We always thought that in union there is strength. Rev. Mr. Bingham, Baptist, thinks otherwise. He says our different sects, if we have the spirit of Christ, is a form of strength. Let us whisper in his ear that if we have truly the spirit of Christ there would not be any different sects. "It breeds freedom," says the reverend gentleman, "and gives room for different traits." We take it, then, that a man may be a Christian of the first class and believe anything or everything he pleases. The diversity of the sects calls to our mind the advertisement of a country store keeper who advertises that he keeps on hand a well assorted stock of goods to supply the wants of his patrons. So it is with some of the preachers. They have a well-assorted stock of opinions on doctrinal matters and they are ready at all times to supply the news with that particular brand which is to their taste.

MR. TED CAVANAGH'S LICENSE.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the letter published in your paper July 28th, regarding the refund of license money I would say that in paying my license, I had made payment for the full year, instead of dividing into two payments, one every six months. In doing so, I paid for, and expected to receive, the right to sell liquor for 12 months. If the government saw fit to cancel my privileges, why should they make me pay for that part of the time unused.

Is it justice that I should have to pay my money for nothing. Will you be kind enough to print this in your "Public Opinion" column.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am,

T. Cavanagh.

VOL XXXIV NO. 174 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY JULY 31 1911 PRICE TWO CENT

GERMANY TO SCORE HEAVILY IN THE DISPUTE OVER MOROCCO

WILL LIKELY COME OUT OF THE AFFAIR WITH DECIDED GAINS.

Including Territorial Advantages and an African Naval Base—William II. Playing Great Game.

London, July 29.—(Special)—War over the northwest African antagonism will doubtless be averted but Germany, in the opinion of astute observers in all the capitals, will not be foiled now as she was at the Algeciras conference. She will succeed in driving an extremely hard bargain with the members of the triple alliance.

That she will secure immensely valuable territorial advantages—though possibly not all of them in Africa—is regarded in Berlin as a moral certainty. It is felt also that her chances of getting a West African naval base are increasing. London is trying to get the Washington view of that possibility.

William II. the most brilliant monarch in Europe since Napoleon, is playing the greatest diplomatic game the last eighty years have witnessed, and cool-headed Britons and Frenchmen concede that he is bound to score heavily in "compensation."

Two controlling considerations of the activities of the German foreign office, according to a London publicist in close touch with Sir Frederick Pollock, have an American end.

First comes the desire of the emperor and his advisers to find somewhere a sure future arena for Germany's expanding commerce and colonizing enterprise. President Taft's arbitration propaganda provides the other factor influencing the Kaiser to get a "pied de terre" in Africa at almost any cost forthwith.

The German sovereign perceives that if he ever is to submit to arbitration particulars with a European power possession will be nine points in the case.

M. Deselves, French foreign minister, is conducting the vitally important dispute between France and Germany with a resourcefulness surprising to all the Chancelleries, not one of whom has ever heard of him when he sprang into the limelight on the recent formation of the Caillaux cabinet. Caillaux cannot count upon French patriotism to quite so high a degree as Mr. Asquith can rely on the backing of men of all parties in the United Kingdom.

Goaded to madness by their recent failure to bring his ministry to its knees at the Palais Bourbon in the matter of the reinstatement of discharged railway employees, French socialists are declaring that Caillaux is "bent upon war."

London, July 28.—The Moroccan situation seemed less sultry to-day, and it was generally conceded that Premier Asquith's statement had helped to clear the air, and to that extent, to ease the tension.

It is the hope of the British Government that the Algeciras Act now having been shown to be mere diplomatic patchwork, some more lasting settlement will be effected which will tranquilize the European situation as well as the Moroccan difficulty.

Mr. Asquith's announcement that Great Britain has not the least disposition to obstruct a Franco-German agreement in West Africa, it is hoped by the officials here, will dissipate the German belief that British Government is pursuing a policy of endeavor to thwart Germany's desire for territorial expansion.

It is considered a hopeful sign that King George is making definite arrangements to attend the Cowes regatta to-morrow, while the members of the Cabinet are preparing to leave town for the week-end.

BERLIN HOPEFUL, TOO.

Berlin, July 28.—It is believed in official circles that France and Germany will be able to untie the African knot by direct negotiations, and without opening the doors to the participation of Great Britain and the other powers. Rosy optimism, however, is not manifested. Chancellor Von Bethmann and probably Foreign Secretary Baron Von Kiderein Wateben, leave to-day to join Emperor William, who will arrive at Swinemunde from his cruise in northern waters to-night.

Definite predictions would be misplaced until after this meeting. The Foreign Office was fully prepared for Premier Asquith's statement, and now confirms that it had earlier assurances that Great Britain would not intervene so long as Germany and France were trying to settle the matter directly, and also that Chancellor Lloyd George's speech was not meant as a veto of the Franco-German agreement, on the basis of a French Congo understanding, as a section of the British press has intimated.

FRENCH WAR OFFICE BUSY.

Paris, July 28.—That the Government is preparing for any eventuality in connection with the Moroccan situation is shown by the military preparations. While the Foreign Office insists that the troubles with Germany are almost certain to be peacefully settled, the activity of the War Office indicates that the Government does not intend to be caught napping should the negotiations take a disappointing turn. All the cavalry troops have been ordered held in readiness for active service, while arms ammunition, and supplies have been sent to the forts along the frontier. In addition, the troops have all been ordered to withhold leaves of absence for the present.

Rambouillet, France, July 28.—At the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting to-day, when President Fallieres presided, two official announcements were made. The first was that Foreign Secretary DeSelves, in explaining to his colleagues the internal political situation, he said that the pourparlors between France and Germany were proceeding normally.

The second announcement was that the Cabinet had decided upon the reorganization of the army, which represents "the crowning of the military work pursued by the refublic for the last forty years."

DR. STINSON FACES CHARGE

Totonto, July 28.—After nearly two hours' deliberation yesterday afternoon, the Medical Council for Ontario decided to leave over until to-day the case of Dr. Albert V. Stinson of Cobourg, whose name the Discipline Committee had recommended stricken from the list of licensed practitioners.

The report of the committee was supported by Drs. Klatz and Hart, who moved that his name be expunged from the register on the ground that he was guilty of "infamous and disgraceful conduct in a professional respect, and in that he did perform a criminal operation upon the wife of Adam Johnston, and also attempted to perform a similar operation upon Edna Dale, in September, 1909."

C.G.E. EXCURSION TO COBOURG A BIG SUCCESS

Big Crowd Take in the Trip—Good Programme of Sports.

The excursion by G.T.R. to Cobourg on Saturday was a big success. It was given under the auspices of the Canadian General Mutual Benefit Society, and the management spared no pains or expense in giving all who patronized it the time of their lives. Special trains made up of about ten or a dozen coaches pulled out at 1.30, and after a pleasant run of little over an hour, reached Cobourg, where most of them went to the park, where a splendid programme of sports were put on.

Reciprocity Goes to the People Two Months' Campaign on Pact

ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD ON SEPTEMBER 21—NOMINATIONS ON SEPT. 14

Ottawa, July 29.—(C.P.)—The Liberal government decided at noon today upon the immediate dissolution of parliament. To a full conference of his cabinet Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced the governor-General had granted permission to appeal on the reciprocity question.

The ministry fixed upon Sept. 14, as nomination day, with elections to follow one week later, Sept. 21.

The decision, which has been trembling in the balance for the past two weeks, was reached after seeing that the Conservative opposition would block reciprocity indefinitely, and, as Sir Wilfrid announced repeatedly in parliament, that the one matter before the house was the ratification of the Washington agreement, government business was at a standstill. The premier told his colleagues that the only way out of the present impasse was a general election, allowing the people to decide for or against reciprocity.

The government made September 21 election day, as being the earliest possible date that would be convenient for Western Canada. The ministry was reluctant to bring on the election before the harvesting movement had been completed.

By the compromise agreed upon between the Conservatives and the Liberals before the two months' adjournment to allow the premier and parliamentary contingent to attend the coronation of King George, the government had supplies until Sept. 1st. Consequently there will be but three weeks' interval after the money voted by parliament is all expended, and for this short period the minister of finance can readily negotiate a temporary loan with the Bank of Montreal, as is customary.

One of these factors entering into the decision for immediately dissolving parliament was the departure last night of some scores of members, who announced that they would not return, despite the Speaker's adjournment until Monday only. It was feared that too few members would be left to carry on even the routine business. Knowing that elections was in the air, every member was anxious to get into his own constituency to make his calling and election sure.

A red hot campaign is now launched upon the Dominion, and, by agreement of both parties, reciprocity will be the one and only issue.

The News in Peterborough.

The news of the date of the election was received in Peterborough about 3 o'clock and caused considerable flurry. The Conservatives were very jubilant over the news which was quickly passed around.

There was little comment in Liberal ranks, owing to the fact that no candidate has yet been placed in the field, and will not be until Saturday, when the Liberal convention takes place. There is considerable speculation as to who the candidate will be. It is rumored that Mr. R. R. Hall refuses to allow his name to go to the convention.

A rumor current round the city the last few days is that Mr. Dan O'Connell may be the candidate.

TWO HUNDRED DESTITUTE

North Bay, July 28.—Late advices received from the townships of Hanmer and Capreol, north of Sudbury, reveal distressing conditions among settlers there. Twenty-nine families were burned out in the recent fire and lost everything. The families are all large and mostly French-Canadians.

Supplies have been sent in from Sudbury, but the people are destitute and in urgent need of assistance as the women are sleeping on bare boards with only one blanket to cover them.

About two hundred human beings are in need of immediate assistance.

EIGHT KILLED AND 13 INJURED IN COLLISION

Grindstone, Maine, July 29—Eight persons are dead and fourteen seriously injured as the result of a head-on collision which occurred at the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad station here shortly after nine o'clock last night. The trains were a special of three light coaches containing about 150 excursionists, and a regular passenger express.

Five of the dead were passengers on the excursion train. The other three included the two firemen and the engineer of the special. The five passengers killed and all of the injured were in the smoking car directly behind the engine of the excursion train. Both trains were moving slowly at the time, one of them just pulling out of the station and the other was slowing down for a siding where the trains were to have passed. The accident appears to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders. None of the cars left the rails, and the passengers on the regular train escaped with a slight shaking up.

Grindstone is a small settlement of not more than 50 persons, with no facilities for the care of the injured. They were cared for temporarily by the physicians on board the trains, and early to-day were placed on a special train to be taken to Millinocket.

2ND SHORTEST PARLIAMENT

Canada's Second Shortest Parliament.

The parliament dissolved Saturday was the 11th in the history of the Dominion, and was elected on October 26, 1908. It has, therefore, been less than three years in session, the shortest on record except the second which opened on March 5, 1873, and was dissolved on January 2, 1874. The late parliament opened on January 20, 1909, the position of parties being 137 Liberals, 83 Conservatives, 2 Independents and 1 Labor. Three constituencies were vacant and Sir Wilfrid Laurier represented two constituencies.

At its dissolution the position was:

Six-Year-Old Child Loses Its Right Leg in Knives of Mower.

London, Ont., July 29.—The six-year-old daughter of Chas. Zavitz, a farmer of Lobo, had her right leg severed at the knee yesterday. She was handing a whip to her sister, who was driving the machine, when the horses suddenly moved, the knives catching the child at the knee. The knives cut clear through the limb, leaving the foot and leg in the boot.

ARRESTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Winnipeg, July 29.—The ramifications of the wholesale robbery of freight cars, covering a period of two years, attributed by the C.P.R. secret service to a number of grain weighers of the Dominion Government, reached new proportions to-day when Jake Movane, the proprietor of a north side store, was arrested, charged with receiving loot. Seven Dominion Grain Weighers are now under arrest and the detectives assert that a number of other men employed in a similar capacity are to be taken into custody, twenty in all.

FIVE KILLED INSTANTLY, 75 WERE BADLY INJURED.

In the Wreck of an Excursion Train in North Carolina.

Hamlet, N.C., July 28.—An excursion train from Durham, N.C., on the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, bound for Charlotte, rushed head on into a freight train in the yards at this place to-day, instantly killing five people and wounding between fifty and seventy-five. Many of the injured will die.

BEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD

London, July 29.—Speaking at a colonial conference arranged by the Girls' Friendly Society, and held at Prince's Galleries, Piccadilly, Lord Robert Cecil said it seemed to be one of the most obvious tasks of civilization to transfer the overplus of women in this country to those portions of the Empire in which they were most urgently and properly needed. He thought it was particularly their duty to do this, because he was profoundly convinced that the English woman was not only the most beautiful, but the best of all the women in the world.

Just Escaped Jaundice

Shows How Important It Is To keep Liver and Kidneys Active.

When you read of the growing yellowness of the skin extending to the whites of the eyeballs, as described by Mr. J. P. Van Nostrand, a well-known grocer in Manchester, you will realize that jaundice is nothing to be sniffed at. "Despite the best medical skill my face grew more yellow every day. It is no fun," he writes to be given a lemon and find its hue reflecting itself from every part of the body. My physician informed me that a catarrhal condition had resulted in a plugging of the bile ducts and the absorption of bile into the blood. I had some knowledge of the remarkable, stimulating and healing qualities of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and started in using them. At first I felt better, had more appetite and entire freedom from headaches. Then came an easier feeling in the region of my stomach and I saw an almost imperceptible fading away of the yellow tinge in my skin. I persevered; used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for twelve weeks. My reward was cure—to-day I am healthy, happy and well."

Nothing ever discovered has such an influence on liver diseases as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Refuse any substitute. Price 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

EDITOR GOES UP FOR TRIAL

Judge Constantineau Objects to Criticism in Vankleek Hill Review.

Vankleek Hill, July 29.—Editor Jones, of Vankleek Hill, was committed to stand his trial on a charge of publishing acriminal libel about Judge Constantineau, senior Judge of Prescott and Russell County. The cause of the action was an article published in The Review, Vankleek Hill, severely censuring Judge Constantineau for saying in a public speech in Montreal that he, as a French-Canadian was living in Ontario in armed peace. The defence offered no evidence and intimated an intention of fighting the case and pleading justification in the public interests.

A MURDER REPORTED FROM A SMALL QUEBEC VILLAGE.

Quebec, July 28.—News of a murder in a small parish of the county of Temiscouta reached Quebec last night, when it was known that a man named Dion had been killed. A neighbor named Plourde is accused by the police.

It is stated that yesterday Plourde went to Frazerville to market and met Dion, with whom he had an altercation, in the course of which Dion made threats, saying he would "get" Plourde. In the afternoon Plourde left for home in his rig, but was overtaken by Dion and a brother of his. An altercation followed, and it is alleged, Plourde, in self-defence, loaded a gun he had just bought and shot one of the Dions dead.

Plourde has been taken into custody by a bailiff, and was brought to Frazerville, where he will be arraigned to-day.

A PLAIN GIVE-AWAY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, The latest Catholic Register has the following editorial paragraph which throws a flood of light on its Ne Temere utterances. If one adds to the words "in law" the words "by law" the mystery is solved. But there's the rub. Protests are of no use on the part of The Register in the face of such a plain give-away of its whole case as is contained in the quotation.

Some time ago the Anglican bishops of Canada published a pastoral on the "Ne Temere" decree which was somewhat of a curiosity. The document attracted the attention of Anglicans at headquarters who had the merit to be heartily ashamed of the production. One of their leading papers, the Churchman, publishes a severely critical letter for which we are indebted to that fine specimen of high er Catholic journalism, America, and from which we take the concluding sentence: "The manifesto seems to take the popular but untenable view that it is a scandal that a marriage once solemnized should ever be null and void 'in law.' Oh, well! It is not surprising that some good Anglicans are a little ticklish on the marriage question. There's a reason.

Observer.

THE BY-LAWS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—That the by-laws which were voted on on Friday should have been turned down, is not surprising. Every body is figuring out how they can raise their tax money just now, and on the top of this along comes a proposal to have them increased. It was most unfortunate that this was not foreseen, and a later date arranged. There are enough people ready to vote against anything that is intended to promote the advancement of the city, provided it costs a few dollars to ensure defeat. So that it seems to be necessary, when by-laws for worthy objects, such as the three above referred to, are to be voted on, an organized effort should be made to carry them.

If the by-laws are submitted again in January, when the municipal vote is taken, they will carry without a doubt. The trouble on Friday was, the vote was not polled.

OUR ASSESSMENT SYSTEM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice a letter in the Examiner a few days ago, signed by "Journeyman," which is all right, as far as it goes. But as long as the present assessment system is in vogue, just so long will the evils complained of continue.

"Journeyman" says that he put in a cement floor in his cellar and a cement walk, and other improvements, and as a result had his assessment raised $150. He asks if it is fair to have his assessment raised at all. Then he says further that by making these improvements, the vacant lots adjoining become more valuable. Exactly. They are assessed for more, as a consequence. He is not therefore, benefitting the owners of the vacant lots any more than they are benefitting him. As the section becomes more valuable the assessments will naturally increase, so that owners of vacant lots will be obliged to put buildings on them.

When Canada adopts the land tax plan, then it will be different so far as improvements to buildings are concerned.

NAVAL BATTLE WITH HORSES

How 3000 Cowboys Captured the Spanish Fleet.

Paez, who was the first President of the Republic of Venezuela, was perhaps the only man who ever fought a naval battle on horseback. It is a matter of history that he, to whom more than any other man, apart from Simon Bolivar, Venezuela owes her independence, actually attacked and captured with his cavalry a fleet of ships.

Bolivar was endeavouring to cross the Apure River in the struggle for independence, but was prevented from doing so by some eight Spanish gunboats, which moved up and down the stream as he did. Bolivar was in despair for a while. To Paez, who was second in command, he appealed for counsel, saying that he could never cross the river so long as the Spanish gunboats were there. "If only we could capture them," the revolutionary leader observed, "the rest would be easy."

Paez decided that he would have those ships or die, and he accordingly told his regiment of cowboys to follow him. Paez himself had been a cowboy on the plains of the Orinoco, and was the idol of his men. So when he spurred his horse into the stream, calling on his men to follow, of the 3,000 cowboys and their mounts, which are taught to swim as well as to gallop, there was not a single man to hold out in this unique assault upon the gunboats. It being night, the Spanish fleet were taken quite unawares. The cowboys wriggled from their saddles to the decks of the vessels, letting their mounts swim back to shore. Having thus cut off their own retreat, it was a question of win or die. They fought well, and every gunboat was captured.

THE EDIBLE CRAB

Something of the Curious Life of This Half Fish Half Animal.

The edible crab is obliged to moult or cast off its shell many times during its life. This moulting appears to be an unpleasant ordeal to pass, for the crabs often die during the act. When we see that they are not only obliged to escape from the carapox or shell, but also from the hard covering of their legs, delicate mouth-parts, and even gullet — turning themselves inside out, as it were — it is not surprising that they perish during the ordeal. The crab crawls up into some secluded nook or cove in shallow water to moult, out of th way of its hard-shelled relatives, for the helpless, newly-moulted, or soft-shell crab, if found, is devoured by them, as well as by several species of fishes. Fortunately for the crab, the soft covering hardens rapidly, and in a few hours it has a new and strong armour, and it then goes fearlessly out into deep water.

Boosting.

Things may be coming your way but be careful that they do not come with such force as to carry you away with them. There are tides and tides. Some are natural, some are supernatural and some are dangerous, because they move with a force which is too strong for our character and will. "Beware of uncontrolable circumstances". This was an expression which first fell from the lips of Wellington. The editor of a periodical remarks: —

"Old salts, who are forever yarning about wrecks and their causes, have a theory that what is called a "boosting" sea accounts for more than one of the disasters that have occurred in the long history of shipping. A "boosting" sea is a sea that runs heavily after a steamer, and, if it does not actually "poop" the vessel, yet, by the roll of billow after billow, accelerates its speed to a degree unguessed by the navigator, until finally the ship, having unconsciously overrun its course, brings up upon a rock or hidden reef, and is reported at Lloyds' as "lost."

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are Monuments in all sorts of out-of-the-way places but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory o. the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

The Emperor Gorges Himself.

The "Hoei Pao" says that an American doctor recently visited the palace at Peking to examine the baby Emperor, who, it was found, had gorged himself with a meal of swallows' nests (a sort of glutinous material), and thus provoked a raging thirst. The indisposition yielded easily to the doctor's treatment. The Emperor sleeps in a gigantic bed, big enough for six people! he rises at six, at once has a meal of rice-gruel or rice, and then goes to pay his respects to the Dowager Lung-yu.

A sculptor recently produced the likeness of a celebrated personage in whose biography it was mentioned that he regarded architecture as a very secondary art. The son of this personage visited the artist's studio for the purpose of examining the bust, when, after considering it with the air of a connoisseur, he inquired, "Could you not express more clearly his contempt for architecture?"

The heart of a man is divided into many compartments, mostly isolated Sometimes there is a door between two of them, or even three may be joined together, but usually each one is complete in itself.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of the Naval Service, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned. The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

G. J. DESBARATS,
Deputy Minister.

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are :—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario ; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario ; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around $16.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 174 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY JULY 31 1911 PRICE TWO CENT

FENCED IN BY GUSHERS

Property of the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company Limited, surrounded by enormous wells, all flowing several thousand barrels per day.

200 to 500 per cent. profit!

That is what shareholders in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company should realize as soon as well No. 1 is actually brought in.

That is—EVERY DOLLAR INVESTED NOW, WHEN THE STOCK IS ONLY 30 CENTS A SHARE, SHOULD RETURN YOU $2.00 TO $5.00.

It requires neither wit nor wisdom to invest money where it will return four per cent. interest, and be safe. To recognize those opportunities which do now and then present themselves whereby a profit really worth while can be made requires the keenest perception. Who is satisfied with a return of four per cent. a year on his money need not read here. These statements are made for people who are willing to listen to good sound logic and who have wit enough to recognize a genuine opportunity when presented.

Some Profit Precedents

When the Lucile Oil Company of Coalinga brought in its first big well Lucile stock advanced from 10c to $10 per share within a fortnight and the Lucile Oil Company owned only a very small tract of ground.

Within forty days from the time the United Oil Company brought in its first producer in the Midway field the stock advanced from 25c to $1.25 per share, and the United Oil Company's property then comprised only twenty acres.

Some months ago, the Mays Oil Company was operating a tract of only forty acres of ground in the Midway field. The stock of the Mays Company was selling at only a few cents per share. The company brought in one big producing well and the stock advanced to $2.00 per share within a comparatively few days' time.

The three illustrations given above indicate the enormous quick profits that have been made by discriminating investors in the past, due to the bringing in of one big producing well.

Consider the Extraordinary Possibilities of the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co. Limited

The lease of the forty acres is in the PROVEN GUSHER BELT OF THE MIDWAY FIELD and practically surrounded by enormous wells all flowing several thousand barrels per day.

This lease is worth $30,000 and is fully paid for.

Improvements have been made thereon to the amount of over $9000, consisting of derrick, boilers and other machinery and camp buildings, all of which is fully paid for.

In addition to this, $25,000 in cash has been subscribed and over two-thirds thereof paid in at this writing, to cover the expense of drilling Well No. 1.

This well is being drilled by a rotary rig under contract with one of the best and most responsible well drilling companies in California at the rate of $6.50 per foot, whereby they absolutely agree and bind themselves to drill a perfect well to a depth of 3200 feet, and set our 8-inch casing, and shut off the water at 2800 feet, and receive nothing for their labor until they have delivered a good perfect well to this depth, and failing to do so, they further contract and agree to drill a second well to this depth, if for any reason they spoil the first well and can not complete it in perfect condition to this depth.

Deposited $15,000 in Cash

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company has deposited $15,000 in cash in the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco, in escrow, towards this contract, and must hereafter deposit each 30 days an additional sum equal to $6.50 per foot for every foot drilled during the preceding 30 days, all money deposited to remain in trust until this well is completed according to contract. The contractors receive nothing until they deliver a perfect well. The company pays for this perfect well when delivered. Until it is delivered the money remains in trust in the bank.

A copy of this contract is printed in full in the Company's prospectus, and is acknowledged by all experienced oil men who have read its terms to be the best drilling contract with a reliable drilling company they have ever seen or heard of.

The property and equipment is paid for and the first well completely financed. All this has been accomplished before a single share of stock was offered for public subscription.

Breaking Records on Well Drilling with Rotary Rig

Well No. 1 is being sunk at the rate of 66 feet per day, breaking all records for fast drilling. $7000 more in cash was deposited by the company with the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco on Monday last to cover our contract with the drilling company. This money with the previous payment —a total of $15,000—is being held in escrow.

The drillers maintain that they will complete this well within ninety days from July 1st, or less, and that it is absolutely necessary that they do this in order to make any money on the contract. If they can do this, it simply means that the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company will be a large producer within three months, and a demonstrated success, with the stock worth many times the small price at which it is obtainable to-day and while this small allotment lasts.

The men behind the guns in this enterprise have started this Company off along right lines, and have formulated a whirlwind development campaign which is going to make Midway Maple Leaf an absolute success and a great big success, and in record time.

Only 25,000 shares are offered at the present price of 20 cents, par value $1.00, fully paid and forever non-assessable.

From present indications this block will be oversubscribed.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir,—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd.

Still Susceptible.

He was a nervous, fidgety young man, and he looked with considerable apprehension at the woman next him, who held a baby, its face covered with a thick veil. The baby gave now and then a sharp cry, which the woman evidently tried to suppress.

At last, after many anxious glances, the young man spoke.

'Has—has that baby any—anything contagious?' he asked.

The woman looked at him with a mixture of scorn and pity.

'Twouldn't be for most folks,' she said in a clear, carrying tone, 'but maybe 'twould for you. He's teething.'

He Knew Better.

A Scottish minister was startled by the original views of a not very skilful ploughman whom he had just engaged. Noticing the furrows were far from straight he said, 'John, yer drills are no straucht ;that is no like Tammie's wark'—'Tammie' being the man who had previously ploughed the field.

'Tammie didna ken his wark,' observed the man coolly as he turned his team about. 'Ye see, when the drills is crookit the sun gets well in on a' sides, an' so ye can get early

TEMPER.

"I know I have a temper," I heard a girl say the other day; "but, at any rate, I'm not sulky." And from the tone in which she said it, one would have thought that a temper was something to be proud of, so long as it wasn't a sulky one.

As temper ages people, and leaves more lines on the face than almost any other thing, it isn't very wise to indulge in it at all. And there is another side of the picture, too. The people we live with have to be considered to some extent, and if we could only realize all the pain we give those near and dear to us when we indulge in fits of temper, we should surely try to get out of this bad habit. Life is too short to spend in wounding people unnecessarily, so the sooner we give up doing it, the better.

ABOUT COREA.

Corea is the land of queer customs. One is that the children in school use sand boxes instead of slates. They use the difficult Chinese characters and have to learn them as early in life as we do the alphabet. They make the character in the sand with a stick and then shuffle the box and make another.

There are many "little mothers" in Corea, for babies are mostly given over to older girls to be cared for. A broad sash or strip of cloth is tied around the waist of the little mother, and the baby is tucked snugly within its folds. It keeps its place during all the games of the children and seems as contented and happy as possible.

THE VAGRANTS' HOME.

Missions Used by Loafers to Help Them Out.

"Got any home?" said the judge to a man who had been brought in on the charge of vagrancy.

"Sure I have."

"Where is it?"

The man named a street and number.

"Your Honour," volunteered a clerk, "that ain't a house; it's a mission."

"Well, call them up, anyway," said the judge, "and see if they know anything about him."

They did not know anything, but the missionary said he would come right down and see what could be done.

"It is not an unusual case," he said. "Our mission is 'home' to many a man whom we never even heard of until he gets arrested. If a man who has been run in as a hopeless derelict can mention some address which he can call home his sentence is apt to be lighter. Lots of outcasts have been on the tramp so long that it is hard for them to think of any place they are intimate enough with to call it home, but through an occasional peep in here they remember the number and brazenly sing it out. Courtroom attendants communicate with us and ask our advice. Naturally we respond even though the men are perfect strangers. Some of them seem hopeless wrecks, but now and then we discover a man who has good stuff in him still and is capable of developing into a useful citizen."

CAKED UDDER.

Neglected Too Often the Cause, Says Expert.

The usefulness of thousands of milch cows is damaged every year by caked udder. Prompt treatment will generally avert serious trouble, but cases of long standing are very difficult to handle. Many factors act to cause caked udder. It is commonest in heavy milkers at calving time. At that time the udder is naturally swollen and inflamed, and if it is exposed to a cold draft or bruised in any way serious trouble is likely to follow. Although commonest early in the lactation period, caked udder may occur at any time, being due to lying on cold, hard, damp ground, to bruises, to incomplete milking, to exposure to cold, occasionally to changes in food, and sometimes being due to an infectious form of the disease.

There are many forms of udder trouble, which are variously known as garget, mammitis and caked udder. In the most severe forms there is a chill, followed by a fever, and the udder becomes much swollen, red and tender; the milk decomposes into whey and bloody curd; pus forms, and the udder mortifies; it may be completely lost.

"Rough on Jos—"

Dispatches from Berlin [illegible] Blaschek, one of the Sta[illegible] who lately appeared at a Pur[illegible] ball, was arrested by the police today on a charge of breaking her contract.

Her sister, Josefa, was, of course, obliged to accompany her to jail, and complains that though innocent she has to share the imprisonment.

SWINE CAN PAY.

Raising of Pigs Neglected in Canada.

First choose your breed. When your choice is made, purchase pure-bred brood sows. If you cannot afford to buy many, buy one good one, and by saving all the desirable females you will, in the course of a few years, have a good-sized herd. Do not stint a few dollars or a long drive to get a good boar.

The vigor of the constitution of the offspring depends on the dam, but the outward form and limbs depend more on the boar. The boar should be wide between the fore legs, with large girth behind them, that denotes active heart and limbs. Straight, strong limbs and erect hoofs indicate solidity of animal framework. Smooth skin and soft hair denote active liver and general health. Do not trade a long body for a short nose. These same qualities should be found in the female.

During the pregnancy of the sow, she should be allowed plenty of exercise and proper food, and there will be little trouble in giving birth to her offspring. A sow carrying pigs is engaged in a work which demands a full supply of tissue-making foods. Clover, wheat, bran and linseed meal and such foods, rich in protein, should be furnished her. There is a great mistake made by many hog raisers who give their brood sows corn and water for a diet; they think because they look well that such foods are all right, but they wonder why their sows have trouble giving birth to their offspring and many times eat them.

When the pigs are a few weeks old they should be given a creep where they can help themselves to grain. The males should be castrated when about two months old and while they are still with their mothers.

MANITOBA FOR GOOD ROADS.

Representatives of Manitoba Good Roads Association and Manitoba Union of Municipalities met last week in Winnipeg, and after considerable discussion on the financing of road work throughout the province, passed a resolution to the effect that the government be asked to guarantee the bonds of the municipalities. It was proposed that the redemption of bonds be extended over a period of twenty to thirty years and further, that the amount of money to be raised do not exceed four per cent of the total assessment of the municipality.

Rang himself to Death.

Extraordinary circumstances attended the suicide of a church sexton at the Hungarian village of Koros-Bajany recently. The inhabitants were alarmed by the violent ringing of their church bell, and thought a fire must have broken out. As, however, none could be seen, some of them went to the belfry to discover the reason, and there found the body of the sexton dangling from the bell-rope, with which he had hanged himself.

The Sixth Sense?

It is frequently the case that we meet people who antogonize us the moment a glance or a handshake is exchanged, while our inner consciousness offers no explanation for that [illegible] on the other hand Fate brings us [illegible] contact with personalities which at [illegible] appeal to a sixth sense which [illegible] indefinable, but which seems to comprehend more than the combined educated and trained sensibilities. What is that sixth sense?

Women Formed for Love.

Women are formed for attachment. Their gratitude is unimpeachable. Their love is an unceasing fountain of delight to the man who has once attained it and knows how to deserve it. But that very keenness of sensibility which, if well cultivated would prove the source of a man's highest enjoyment, may grow to bitterness and wormwood if he fails to attend to it or abuses it.

A Little Economy.

A Northern lady with philanthropic symptoms was trying to instil a little economy into her husband's colored tenants. One of them, Mary Kinney, an anti-race-suicidist, kept a colored girl as nurse to her group of ten growing American citizens. "Mary," remarked the lady, "do you think a woman in your circumstances can afford a nurse?" "I dunno 'm, as I kin, but I don't pay her but twenty-five cents a month, an' I pays dat in ole clothes, and" — with a wide smile — "she don't git dem!"

Nothing Like Politeness.

It is much easier to be polite and neighbourly than to fly into a passion when things do not suit you. Take this note as an instance, addressed by a lady to a neighbour next door: "Dear Madam—Your children, who are numerous, and appear to be disorderly, no doubt deserve the frequent floggings you give them; but, as my nerves are weak, I write this to say if you can't do something to deaden the sound!"

Some people... have such admirable command over their feelings that one is tempted to believe they have no feelings to command.

System in Salesmanship.

"Young man," says the automobile manufacturer to the new salesman who has astonished the organization by the rapid-fire sales he has made in the two months of his employment, "I must congratulate you on your work."

"Thank you, sir," replies the new salesman modestly.

"I know we build the best auto in the market," says the manufacturer, "but even at that I cannot understand how you can sell ten times as many machines as the very best men we have had prior to you. How do you do it?"

"Well, sir," explains the new salesman, the light of honest pride in his eyes, "I always ask the customer to take a ride in one of our machines as the first move toward getting acquainted with its riding qualities. Of course he accepts the invitation I then take him out on the boulevard and get arrested and fined for fast running. After that there is no argument."

Ten minutes later the new salesman leaves the private office with a block of preferred stock tucked away in his inside pocket.

Prestige and Irishmen.

A well known Railroad president, in his study of all classes of men who are under him, entertains a great admiration for the Irish foreman of a gang of laborers who went to any lengths to show his men that he was the real boss. One morning this foreman found that his gang had put a hand car on the track without his orders.

"Who put that han' car-r-r on the track?" he asked.

"We did, sor," one of the men answered respectfully.

"Well," he said shortly, "take it off ag'in!"

The laborers did so with some difficulty.

"Now," said the foreman, "put in on ag'in!"

The Eucalyptus of Australia.

While the eucalyptus, or Australian blue gum tree, destroys malaria and keeps off mosquitoes in marshy soil, it has no such effect on dry soil. The difference is ascribed by a German scientist to the fact that the tree is constructed to act as an evaporating machine, and only does its work in marshy land. A feature of the tree is its daptability to different climates, it being now grow in almost every civilised country where frosts do not occur.

Don't Talk Too Much.

When we are in the company of sensible men, we ought to be doubly cautious of talking too much, lest we lose two good things — their good opinion and our own improvement; for what we have to say we know, but what they have to say we know not.

Eminent Toronto Physicians

Failed to Cure Rheumatism.

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure with "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what yout wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION.

The difficulty in dealing with the Moroccan situation is in part due to the fact that Germany demands a more efficient protection for her commercial interests there, but would be sure to object to the extension of French power which would make such protection certain. Sir H. H. Johnston, writing in the Nineteenth Century, expresses the opinion that "Far and away the best thing for Morocco and the people of Morocco at the present day would be the distinct and clear establishment of a French protectorate, and the reduction of the Sultan to the same position as that now honorably occupied by the Bey of Tunis." It is apparent that Germany is not likely to get her fair share of Moroccan trade until some such arrangement is made. The Germans, however, already grudge France her supremacy in that section of North Africa.

Sir Henry Hamilton Johnston is an authority on African questions. He is connected with an imposing list of geographical and anthropological societies in England, Europe, and America, is vice-president of the African Society, former Consul-General Regency of Tunis and the Uganda Protectorate, has explored North Africa, Portuguese, West Africa and other sections of the dark continent. His article, written before the Agadir incident had aroused British feeling, is therefore of paramount interest. That Germany has a grievance, he frankly admits. Noting that the Franco-British agreement of 1904 recognized the privileged position of the United Kingdom in Egypt and the Egyptian Sudan, as well as the supremacy of France in Morocco, he states that "So far as Great Britain is concerned, she has, for a very apparent compensation elsewhere, surrendered any claims she may possess to the free trade in North Africa," and adds:

"Great Britain has received compensation for any harm which may come to her commerce by the establishment of French rule over Morocco while Germany has not; and the plea of previous articles of mine in this review has been that, for the sake not only of the world's peace, but of the development of the world's resources in barbarous countries, the position of Germany and German commerce should receive the most careful attention at the hands of the other great powers, in order that Germany might receive fair play and be deprived of any inducement to disturb the world's peace by assertions of fair or of unsatisfied claims."

If Sir Harry Hamilton is correct in his view of the situation, any international agreement which may be arrived at will probably concede something to Germany in the way of further commercial privileges, to secure which, the country may be made even more subservient to France than it is at present. The future status of the inhabitants remains to be considered. The writer in question describes them as "the Sultan's unruly and unwilling subjects, who are madly fanatical against the Christian European, pitilessly cruel, tribe against tribe, warped and spoilt by twelve centuries of civil war." He believes that under a French protectorate "Morocco's incalculable natural riches would be thrown open to commerce while science would gain prodigiously by the examination of wonderful monuments of the past, stretching back into far-distant ages of pre-history. There would be revelations of paleontological fauna, which would almost rival that of the Himalayan foothills; there would be fresh discoveries in botany, in living zoology, and the evolution of human races, which would exceed in interest anything yet made known by the French in Algeria and Tunis. Yet," he adds, "Germany not only bars the way, but is said to have incited Spain to claim more than her fair proportion of intervention in Northern Morocco, and possibly even to forestall the French in opening up railway communication with Fez, the real capital of the Moorish Empire. Meantime, and until Germany and France can come to an understanding, the good days of Morocco are delayed."

We trust the recently overworked electric fans and ice cream fountains are enjoying their vacation.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt—would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

COAL FAMINE.

Winnipeg, July 28.—The coal famine continues acute over Saskatchewan and Alberta. Even if the mines were opened to-morrow the famine could not be relieved by winter. Practically no coal in the past has gone into those two provinces from any field outside of that in which the strike prevails. All railway officials agree that there are no adequate facilities for getting fuel in via the lakes. It is a physical impossibility. Any relief must come from across the line, and this is only possible through the suspension of the tariff.

CAMERON HIGHLANDERS.

The Sergeant's Story.

The Cameron Highlanders fought at Waterloo throughout the three glorious days of June, and they were "particularly mentioned" by Wellington in his famous despatch of June 19, addressed to Lord Bathurst. Fortunate in their opportunities, they have been fortunate also in winning the praise of poets. Byron, in "Childe Harold," has consecrated their immortality in a famous stanza:—

And wild and high the "Cameron's gathering" rose.

Here sounds the high note of romance, and bravely the Highlanders could echo it. But war does not always rest at the lofty plane of glory, and we can sometimes realise it most clearly in homelier touches.

After the battle it is said that the 79th stripped the cuirasses off the dead Frenchmen and used them for cooking its rations. They were good enough frying-pans, though the bullet-holes let something escape. But some Belgian soldiers who passed by while the cooking was in progress, and seeing the cuirasses, went off with the legend that the Highlanders were cannibals, and no doubt the legend, which it is a pity to disturb, is repeated unto this day.

One other piece of comedy is worth remembrance. When the allied armies were in Paris Sergeant Campbell of the 79th was taken with others to the Elysee to be shown to the Emperor Alexander, and it is thus that he tells the tale himself. "The Emperor made a very minute inspection of us," he writes, "and his curiosity led him to call upon me, as being the most robust of the party, to step to the front. . . . As soon as I stepped to the front I was surrounded by the astonished nobility, and the emperor commenced his inspection and questions as follows:—First, he examined my appointments and drew my sword. . . . Second, he examined my hose, gaiters, legs, and pinched my skin, thinking I wore something under my kilt, and had the curiosity to lift my kilt up to my navel, so that he might not be deceived. The questions were:—If I was present at the actions of June 16, 17, and 18? How many officers and men the regiment lost? . . . Whether I was in Egypt? If I wore the kilt in winter, or if I did not feel cold in that season? If I was married? If my parents were alive?" Thus it was that the Highlanders seemed beyond the general experience of mankind.

MIRIAM WATCHES OVER BABY MOSES.

Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Mariam. The bible does not tell us how old she was when she watched over her baby brother, Moses, but tradition says she was less than ten. When the mother of Moses heard that Pharaoh would kill all the little boys of the Israelities, she made a little boat of a basket and placed the baby therein and permitted it to float down the Nile among the reeds near the edge of the river.

And his sister, the bible says, stood afar off to see what would be done to him.

And so little Miriam ran along the river bank as her baby brother floated along the stream. She was on hand as though by mere accident when the king's daughter discovered the boat and the tiny sailor.

Miriam asked the princess: "Shall I go and and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?"

The princess agreed and Miriam brought her own mother.

By and by Miriam grew to young womanhood. Her brother had become the leader, the emancipator of his people and following the destruction of Pharaoh's mighty host in the Red Sea, with timbrel in hand, she led the jubilant women of Israel in song and dance.

Mr. Waring and go to live with your mother"

"Leave Mr. Waring! Are you mad, John?"

"Sweetheart"—she spoke to Bubbins—"will you run into the garden and see if you can find me some white roses? You know the ones I love"

As the little girl flew off in delight, Mrs. Chalmers faced her husband.

"You mean to say you think I have been living with Hugh Waring since I left you?"

He took a step forward and caught roughly at her hand.

"Isn't it true?" he demanded.

The stern grasp of his fingers hurt, but his wife did not wince.

"How dare you ask me such a question?" she answered proudly. "Do you suppose that, even had I loved him, Hugh would ever have wronged me? Can you believe that I would ever wrong Bubbins?"

"Beatrice!"

She started to find her husband kneeling at her side. Before she could speak he had taken her hands in his with remorseful tenderness

"Oh, my darling! What a brute I have been! What a fool, from the very beginning! Pity and forgive—forgive, Beatrice. I am sorry, little girl, sorry with all my soul I have never ceased to love you in spite of all I believed to be true. Come back to me.

She looked down at him with sad, tender eyes. Then, rising, put her hands in his and drew him to his feet.

"You will—you will come back?" passionately "Dear, my dear, I want you so," and he folded her unresisting form in his arms.

• • • • •

"Mumty," came a little voice, five minutes later, "Tere's the white woses. Why, you're laughin' again. How quick Daddy's made you well. I knowed he could."

"Godd bless you, Bubbins," said Daddy.

PARDONABLE QUACKERY

How a Physician Had to Fake to Cure

As a doctor, one of the English heroes who assisted in the defence of Kars, had special opportunities of studying the habits and character of the degraded races of Asia Minor. He found it necessary to be more of a quack than a physician among them. "As my patients became numerous, and pestered me at all hours, I fitted up," he tells us, "a spare tent to serve as my dispensary, and gave out that I received at the time of afternon prayer (asser). I took my seat at the door of my tent, and soon had a crowd around me, many suffering from real diseases, many from imaginary ones, and many bringing for my inspection the effects of diseases such as palsied limbs and stiff joints." One of his patients was an old woman, who came forward, and taking hold of the corner of his cloak, kissed it, and then, kneeling before him, began, in a very wheedling manner, to call his attention to her case. "She went on to describe the most anomalous symptoms, affecting her eyes, ears, limbs, and sometimes every part of her. On further inquiry, she confessed to be quite well at that moment; but a year ago, having had these strange complaints, she dreaded the same thing would invade her this year. I then promised to give her strong medicine, but ordered the crowd to stand at a short distance from us. A space is cleared, and all wait in silent admiration for my remedy. I slowly draw forth a bottle of strong liquor of ammonia, or smelling-salts, from my medicine-chest, and, holding it before my patients eyes, tell her to draw in a strong breath when I put it to her nose. I accordingly first hold her nostrils, then, having removed the stopper, I apply the mouth of the bottle to the nose, the fingers are removed, a long sniff is taken, followed by a sort of spasm, and she falls to the ground. A hum of horror runs through the crowd; the patient, after a short interval, rises, her eyes streaming with tears; and then breaks from the crowd, 'La ilaha illa 'llahu Mahommed rasulu 'llah!' — 'There is no God but the God, and Mahomed is the Apostle of God!'"

Valuable Information about Taxicab

In reply to many correspondents from the West, it may be said that a taxcab is a lineal descendant of Captain Kidd on its father's side and Jesse James on its mother's. To look at, it is a harmless creature. To read about, it is positively virtuous. But to monkey with, it is the triple concentrated extract of Montreal's Ananias Club, fishermen, real-estate agents, mining promoters, and auto-biographers. Whether this is because of sheer willfulness or because it was sick with the scarlet fever at the time the rest of the class studied the tables of linear measurement is not clear, but the fact is that a taxicab can get more miles out of three blocks than a landlady can get pieces out of a single pie, and it can ruffle one's temper more effectually than the most dipsomaniacal Jehu that ever cracked a whip or framed an oath.

For the Camper.

An old mackintosh is full of possibilities to the woman who intends to go camping or fishing or even to one who does gardening and her own laundry work or scrubbing. The circular cape may be cut into two aprons if finished with a waistband. Cut the short portion of the coat from the underwaist, form a box plait at the center back, put on a waist band and close at the left front, and it is a splendid water proof skirt. The pocket should be left in if it is placed right. The frayed hem at the bottom may be trimmed and finished with black skirt binding. From the remaining parts of the waist a sponge bag or waterproof cuffs may be fashioned.

Monday, August 14th, is the date fixed for Sturgeon Point regatta.

Cherries and plums will not be a plentiful crop this year. In fact it is stated that cherries are about over already.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c. per pound, two or three cents per pound chaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter.

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in hue from darkest green to pure white. Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead scarefully matched. Drops for earings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street.

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavari aNinety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the insanity of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Some medical men earn their money by inventing complaints with long names for over-fed society women.

Work for Women.

If the harem of Abdul Hamid finds itself out of employment because of the misfortunes of its imperial master, the ladies thereof will find plenty to do in this country where, thanks to a sudden famine in domestic servants, most of us are doing our own housework.

The worst of country society or for the matter of that the society of any community, is that every woman is eligible, but only a man here and there.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

WHAT IS TRUTH!

Men will believe nothing what they cannot understand.

Truth comes to us only by glimpses. There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon persuading themselves that they have it, before they yield assent to anything. Thy will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they say, forgetting that, although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders of the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and starts, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation — of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which uphold them and the forces they obey — these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, give us glimpses of the truth.

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surpise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then ,at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and lustily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilisers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, defacer, crippler, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

A Busy Season.

The Steamer Stoney Lake is having a record season. The boat has been running almost day and night ever since May last, having handled nearly all the societies not only in Peterborough, but all along the route. The Company will probably be adding several steamers to its fleet in the very near future.

Excursion to Peterborough.

The lawn bowlers of Bowmanville, are running a big excursion to Peterborough by special train on Monday next, August 7th. A large crowd is expected. Many of those who come will take in the trip to Rice Lake per Steamer Stoney Lake, and will also do the lift lock stunt before heading for the lake.

The Morning Paper.

The morning newspaper is a complete paper, covering the news of the world for 24 hours for each issue. To do less than that is to make a piece-meal newspaper—a sort of bulletin, prepared merely to appeal to people who have time obly to read head-lines. Such readers are about apt to be influenced by advertising as an Eskimo. It always pays to advertise in The Times.

Saturday's Market.

There was a fairly large marke Saturday, considerable garden produce being offered. The following were the prevailing prices: Potatoes 40c to 50c peck; chickens per pair from 80c to $1.20; Eggs 18c and 20c; Butter 25c; Raspberries per quart 15c, per pail $1.25; Harvest Apples 30c peck.

Work on the new Murray street Baptist Church is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible just now. The stone work is being done by Messrs. Rees & Hawley, of Toronto, while Messrs. McIntyre Bros. have the carpentry.

Boy Was Released.

Word has been received in Peterborough by Mr. G. N. Gordon, to the effect that Bruce Roy who up to the present time has been serving a sentence of two years less a day in the Central Prison, has been released on ticket of leave by the order of his Excellency the Governor-General. This course of action is due in no small measure to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Gordon to secure his release. Bruce Roy was mixed up in a chicken-stealing case some time ago and received the above sentence at the hands of Magistrate Dumble.

Overcome by Their Charms.

Lindsay Post: A young Peterborough man, who was at the G.T.R. station in that city last night when the Lindsay excursionists had gathered, had quite an interesting experience. He entered one of the coaches, and was hypnotized to such an extent by the charms of certain Lindsay young ladies that he did not notice the train pulling out andawoke from "loves young dream" when the conductor shouted "Lindsay." He returned to the Electric City this morning.

Corralling the Power.

Lindsay Warder: Messrs. W. L. Ainley and R. Roberts of Toronto, in the employ of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, are taking observations along the Gull river near Minden, and the representatives of Lindsay town council and board of trade also visit Minden as soon as sent for by the Hydro-Electric gentlemen. In conversation with Mayor Beal, he stated that he had instructed the Hydro engineers to investigate the water power at Kinmount, along Gull river, Stinson's Mills and also above Minden on the north water.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

To-morrow will be Civic Holiday in Millbrook.

The noise made by The Times of Saturday re the Chimes has not a pleasant sound.

John Montgomery, who was gathered in by the police on Friday evening, appeared before Magistrate Dumble Saturday morning. He was let off with a warning.

Heavily Fined.

On Saturday at the Police Court, Magistrate Dumble administered severe punishment to two young Ennismore hoodlums who annoyed the passengers on the auto-bus recently. For this offence they were found guilty, and were fined $21.75, which included costs. The second offence charged was stealing articles from a local livery stable. For this they were fined $13.50, making a total of $35.25, or 30 days in jail. They paid the fine, and doubtless returned to their Ennismore homes sadder and wiser young men.

Earle Weller's Death.

Further to the drowning of Earle Weller in Lake Wabamum on Friday last it is now ascertained that he was in a canoe with a friend, a young man named Bradburn, when he (Weller) dropped his pipe into the water. Bradburn jumped into the lake to recover the pipe and Earle, in turning round to pick up his friend, overturned the craft. The two companions held fast to the canoe for the space of three hours, and though they shouted lustily, no one seemed to hear them. At length, however, a person on the banks of the lake, discovered them by means of a telescope. He with others set out to rescue the unfortunate pair, but before they could reach the canoe, Weller sank. Bradburn too was in an awful predicament and despite the efforts of his rescuers to revive him, he was unconscious for the space of one hour. Attempts have been made to recover the body, but as yet without success. The water at that portion of the lake is said to be forty feet deep.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. A "BLACK HAND" MURDER IN TORONTO ON SUNDAY

Toronto, July 31.—The shadow of stay the blood, but their efforts were the dreaded "Black Hand" spread useless. Once the man tried to speak over the Italian colony of Toronto, to them, but the flow of the blood Sunday afternoon, when the life of stopped his words, and he died with-Frank Sciarone was deliberately tak- out making any statement.

en as a result of what the police be- LOST MAN BY SUICIDE STORY.

lieve was a carefully laid and well carried out plot.

The dead man was murdered at the corner of Church and Wellington streets at 4.15 o'clock by a man who fired four bullets into his body in full view of a number of spectators, and then made a successful and sensational escape. The man suspected is Frank Girio.

FIFTY TELEGRAMS SENT OUT.

This morning the whole headquarters staff of the Detective Department are scouring the city for the murderer. Already inspector of detectives Duncan has sent out over fifty telegrams to neighboring cities and towns notifying the police of those places of the affair, and will this afternoon have circulars printed with the picture of Girio, and probably offering a reward for his apprehension.

AN ARSENAL AT 165 YORK ST.

Following the murder, Frank and Jennie Sennett, of 165 York street, were arrested on a charge of vagrancy. This is the place where the two principle figures in the Sunday tragedy boarded. The house, on being searched, yielded to the police a number of loaded revolvers and daggers, and it is the intention of the authorities to lay further charges.

The shooting affray brings to light the existence of the "Black Hand" Society in Toronto. It is claimed by some Italians that the organization has been operating among the residents of the colony for the past two years. The police previously knew of its existence, but so carefully have all traces of incriminating evidence been eliminated that it was impossible to prosecute successfully any of the members.

LOOKING FOR "BLACK HAND" MEMBERS.

It is alleged that the Sennett man and woman know something of the society and its affairs in the city. The police are also securing evidence against a number of others claimed to be members, and more arrests are expected to follow shortly. Owing to the fear with which the society is held by the Italians, it will be extremely difficult for the Crown to secure witnesses, and it is probable that the members will be prosecuted for having in their possession weapons.

It appears that Sciarone was followed from the house by Girio yesterday afternoon and shot after he had been absent about half an hour. The former was walking with a friend talking. When they came to Church street Girio stepped to the right side of his victim and quickly drawing a revolver fired four shots. Three of them penetrated Sciarone. He threw up his hands and then turned to follow his murderer.

Meanwhile the latter turned and fled. In the excitement he dropped his revolver. The dying man made a vain effort to grasp it, but his fast ebbing strength prevented him, and with a slight groan he turned over and died. Miss Laura Fenwick and Mrs. Hattie Winger, 97 King street east, who witnessed the affair, rushed to the dying man's aid. They propped up his head, and attempted to

LOST MAN BY SUICIDE STORY.

The sound of the shots created a profound sensation in the neighborhood, and people came rushing from all sides. Notwithstanding this however, the murderer managed to effect an escape. Policeman Craig was at the corner of Front and Jarvis at the time and heard the report of the shots. He saw the man rushing down the street. He started to follow, but was told that it was a case of suicide. In this manner he lost the man.

In the lane to the rear of Church street was found two more revolvers fully loaded, of the Ivor Johnson make, and two stilettos. This was the lane by which the prisoner escaped, and it is thought that he dropped them while running. Besides the two women four boys also saw the shooting. They gave their names as William McLean, 11 Emily street, James Agnes, 247 Wilton avenue; George Robinson, 17 Bellshaw street; and James Ellis, 368 King street east.

DESCRIPTION OF MAN WANTED.

Although no definite information has been secured regarding the whereabouts of the fugitive it is believed that he has been assisted by friends to escape from the city. Yesterday the officials visited a number of his haunts but could not discover him. He is known to the police, and on one occasion was in custody for receiving stolen property. His description is as follows:

Twenty-five years old, five feet nine inches in height, black hair, brown eyes, and sallow complexion. He was attired in a dark blue suit, with low tan shoes.

The dead man was about 23 years old. He was unmarried, and made a living by peddling jewelry about the country. He had been living in the city for some months. At the time of the shooting he was unarmed and had no chance of defending himself.

The inquest will be opened by chief coroner A. J. Johnston at the City Morgue this evening at 8 o'clock. This morning the autopsy was performed and it is probable that a verdict will be returned by the jury. The body was officially identified by a brother last night, although by some error the name was given as Frank Tarro.

STORY OF AN EYE WITNESS.

According to the description given of the tragedy by Miss Fenwick the shooting was cowardly and deliberate. "When we first saw the dead man," she said, "he was walking down the street. Suddenly the other turned and drew out a revolver from his pocket, placing it over his victim's heart, and fired rapidly. The other could not move a hand to save his life. He staggered back, and with this his murderer threw the revolver at his victim's feet and drawing another one from his pocket ran up a lane. The dying man picked up the revolver, faced around and tried to follow his assailant. He was too weak, however, and after tottering a little sank down, with the revolver under him. He was too weak to fire a shot at the man escaping."

EXPECT AN AGREEMENT IN MOROCCAN SITUATION

FRENCH AMBASSADOR AND GERMAN FOREIGN SECRETARY HOLD A CONFERENCE.

What Will England Do?—If Agreement Does Not Prove Acceptable Situation Would Be Complicated.

London, July 31.—It was learned unofficially through the Foreign Office that at a conference in Berlin to-day between M. Jules Cambon, French Ambassador to Germany, and Foreign Secretary Kinderlen Waechter, it was expected an agreement on the Moroccan question would be concluded between France and Germany. It was said that France is prepared to accept Germany's demand for "compensation" for giving the French a free hand in Morocco, but the exact extent of the final demands is not yet known.

Indications point to an early settlement of the German-Franco dispute, but there still is considerable uncertainty whether the agreement will be agreeable to England, which is most particular, on account of her own interests about the readjustment of territorial boundaries in Africa. It is pointed out that if England vetoes the agreement, a fresh strain is inevitable.

Numerous indications to-day that there may be some truth in a story published here that Germany demanded the dismissal of Chancellor Lloyd George for his Mansion House speech, have tended still further to embitter Anglo-German sentiment.

A quiet movement of English troops toward the east coast of England, likened in some quarters to the mobilization of American troops on the Mexican border, and declared to be "test manoeuvres," has been progressing since Saturday. It has attracted little attention, and is said to be a part of the manoeuvres that were scheduled some time ago.

All the torpedo-destroyers of the second flotilla of the Home Fleet, lying off Portland, were ordered to sail at four o'clock this afternoon. Sealed orders, it was learned, which the officers are not to open until two hours later, were given.

CURED OF ACHING WEARINESS

Had Gouty Pain, Flushings, Palpitations and General Feeling of Depression.

Mr. C. J. Stonewall, who for years has been a most respected citizen of Pemberton, writes interestingly and convincingly of a very serious sickness extending over almost two years. Through the marvellous curative power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills he made rapid and permanent recovery.

"It was a puzzle to my doctor, because the symptoms seemed almost as numerous as the days of the month. But one thread ran through them all, and that was utter weariness morning, noon and night. I felt flat—pain changed from one part of the body to another—seemed at one time rheumatic, at others it affected the extremities like gout. Little exertion, such as going upstairs, caused breathlessness and palpitation, and at times I had vague numb feelings and prickling. After Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me, my doctor saw it was not the nervous system, but bowel and kidney disorders. I believe there is no pill on earth that can compare with Dr. Hamilton's, and in diseases that have their cause in thin or white blood, cure is inevitable with Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Messrs. Beck and Sothman Secured Valuable Pointers Through Europe—In Fire Brigades Also.

Toronto, July 31.—Hon. Adam Beck, Minister of Power, has returned from his European trip, brimful of enthusiasm for the future of the Hydro-Electric policy in Ontario, and with his eyes opened to even wider fields of usefulness for electricity than he had dreamed of.

He was accompanied by P. W. Sothman, Chief Engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and the two praise the genius of the Germans, Swiss and Italians in the advance of electrical science. They attended the Electric Exhibition at Munich where an interesting exhibit was a model farm, fully equipped with electricity, and a practical demonstration of electric ploughing, where from 25 to 30 acres was being ploughed per day with one plough.

"In practically all the European countries," said Mr. Beck, "electricity is largely and extensively used on farms of from 25 to 1,000 acres, for light and power purposes, threshing, cleaning grain, cropping, root-cutting wood-sawing, pumping water, milking, cream separating, and butter making, warming and lighting houses stables and barns.

"While we found that the cost of power and light for the farm was higher on the whole than it will be with us, the cost of distribution for delivery to the farmers was less," said Mr. Beck. "The reason is that they do not live on their farms, but are grouped in villages. Electricity from an economic standpoint should be of great value to our farmers, as wages are from 50 to 100 per cent. higher here and farm labor more difficult to secure.

"The city of Berlin," continued Mr. Beck, "has adopted electricity as the motive power for the fire department, four stations being already equipped with it, and are dispensing with the horses and gasoline motors now in use. The Imperial Fire Director gave us a most interesting demonstration at one of the newly equipped stations. Among the many advantages is the saving of one-half the cost when horses were used, also a wonderful saving of time, it taking but twelve seconds from the time the alarm is sounded until the department is fully underway on the streets."

Mr. Beck will now follow out vigorously his policy of providing the Ontario farmer with white coal.

CABINET CHANGES ARE QUITE LIKELY AT OTTAWA

HON. MR. BRODEUR MAY NOT BE A CANDIDATE—DR. BELAND WOULD TAKE HIS PLACE.

Sir Frederick May Run—And Sir Allen Aylesworth Will Announce a Definite Decision Very Shortly.

Ottawa, July 31.—Whether or not there will be any changes in the personnel of the Cabinet, before the election is still uncertain. Had parliament ran its usual course, and had the election been delayed until next year there would have been, as already forecasted, two or three Cabinet changes.

Sir Allen Aylesworth's attitude, as announced to his constituents in North York some weeks ago, that only in the event of an immediate election on the reciprocity issue would he reconsider his decision to retire from Parliament after the present term had expired, expresses the feeling also of others of his fellow-members. Sir Allen, who is being strongly urged to continue his invaluable services to the Government, will announce his decision shortly.

Sir Frederick Borden, who was slated for the Commissionership at London, may also run again in King's County, Nova Scotia, on the reciprocity issue, although in any event there is doubt as to the seat going Liberal.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur, whose serious illness last year gave rise to the well founded report that he would leave the constant strain of administering two large and important departments of the public service to take the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench, for which his legal training well fits him, may remain for another fight, but the probabilities are that he will accept the Supreme Court Judgship before the election. In that event it is understood that Dr. Beland, the young, able, and popular member for Beauce, will be called to the Cabinet as Post-Master-General. Hon. Mr. Lemieux being transferred to the portfolio of marine and naval affairs.

It is known that the present Cabinet is weak in material and the blunt of the work has fallen on one or two shoulders, with the result that the Opposition has been able to practically tear the workings of the different departments to pieces.

GREAT WEALTH IS A BURDEN

Cleveland, O., July 31.—John D. Rockefeller admitted yesterday that great wealth is somewhat of a burden. He confessed it to the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, of Oklahoma City, following the latter's sermon at the Euclid avenue Baptist church. Dr. Jones was supplying the pulpit in the absence of the regular pastor, the Rev. W. W. Bustard.

"The coronation crown of Kings are all too heavy," said Dr. Jones, in his sermon. "This is evidenced in Royalty throughout Europe. In like manner the crown of wealth is much too burdensome; in fact, it is so heavy that all who wear it complain of its weight, and eventually find that its burden takes the real satisfaction out of life and banishes peace from the heart."

FINE SERMON DECLARED ROCKEFELLER.

"That was one of the best sermons I have ever heard in my life," said Mr. Rockefeller to the minister at the conclusion of the service. "Your words were full of solemn truth; indeed, I was deeply interested."

THE LEADERS ARE BESIEGED

Ottawa, July 31.—There is a scene of unwonted activity savoring of excitement around the Parliament building to-day. Both the leaders were besieged with callers and the members of parliament who remained were hustling about preparatory to leaving.

Hon. Robt. Rogers, of Manitoba, and Hon. Frank Cochrane, of the Ontario Cabinet, conferred with Mr. Borden. It will be a few days before the campaign plans are definitely outlined, meanwhile wires are coming from all over to arrange for public meetings. A feature which may exert a decided influence on the contest is the fact that twenty thousand harvesters from Eastern Canada will be in the West at election time. If not all of this number will be there at least a majority will be, and the vote in scores of constituencies will be affected one way or another. Undoubtedly both sides will be affected.

Hon. Clifford Sifton's strong denunciation of reciprocity has caused dismay in the opposite camp. On the stump the ex-Minister is formidable and his influence on the result will loom large.

Run with the Hair and Hunt with the Hound

LAURIER AND BORDEN WILL VISIT ONTARIO

Ottawa, July 31.—No definite plans of campaign have been decided on by either Sir Wilfrid or Mr. Borden as yet, but an announcement may be expected at any time. The time of campaign is so short that neither side will be able to waste any of it.

It is reported that Sir Wilfrid will open his campaign on the 8th, a week from to-morrow, at St. Thomas, Ont., and will cover that province pretty thoroughly, as he did in 1908. There is said to be a possibility that Mr. Fielding will make a flying trip to the West if his health permits, confining himself, of course, to the small route of the Prairie Provinces which time would permit him to visit.

Mr. Borden has not yet made his plans public, but it is likely that he will go right into the enemies' camp and wage a vigorous campaign, much after the plan covered in the West that met with so much success.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

SHOULD BE ENFORCED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Is there an anti-spitting by-law in existence in Peterborough? If so, why is it not enforced. The other night, on a certain corner, a number of men congregated, and covered the pavement with tobacco juice, that was disgusting to see. Ladies, or men either, could scarcely pass without getting besmirched. The police should make an example of some of these hoodlums, so as to put a stop to the filthy habit.

Citizen.

THE PEOPLE'S CHIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I had a talk with a prominent architect the other day regarding alterations in the tower of St. John's Church, and he said that there would be no satisfaction in the sound of the bells in the present tower. What would make a complete job would be to have the top of the tower levelled off and a frame built there, projecting far enough all around to hold the full set of bells, on the same level. This cupola should have a sounding board above, but open on the four sides. Then the bells would be heard for miles in every direction. He said this should not cost more than $1000.

I thank you dear Mr. Editor in advance for publishing the above. It can be taken for what it is worth.

Newark defeated Toronto.

Peterborough vs. Lindsay.

In all probability the fast team representing the West End Athletic Association, of Peterborough, which played a game in Lindsay last year, will play here again on Saturday next. August 5. Manager Oldham was in town to-day and made arrangements for the game, stating that the Petes will run an excursion and figure on bringing between two and three hundred people to town. The games between Lindsay and Peterborough will be looked forward to by the Lindsay fans.

A SURE ROAD TO A HAPPY OLD AGE.

This describes in a few words the Canadian Government Annuities Scheme. That this "sure road" is available to all residents of Canada who are over 5 years of age irrespective of sex, health, age or worldly position, is worthy of consideration. Parents may begin the purchase of Annuities for their children, or children, who have prospered, may find in this scheme a safe way to provide an income for fathers and mothers who have not been so fortunate in life as they. On the other hand, people who have a limited income can increase that sum substantially by the transfer of their capital to the Government for the purchase of an Annuity.

Full particulars may be obtained concerning this Scheme by addressing the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa. Postage free.

ELEVEN LIVES WERE LOST

Hurricane Did Much Damage to Shipping Along the Atlantic Coast.

Boston, July 31.—Grim tales of loss of life and disaster to shipping by the West Indian hurricane which swept the New England coast, continue to come in.

Eleven lives are known to have been lost, and a long list of fishing and coasting craft and yachts wrecked or disabled is constantly growing.

NOT SENDING A CONTRIBUTION

London, July 31.—The Tariff Reform Association has issued a denial of the story that they are sending a contribution to the Canadian Conservative campaign fund to fight reciprocity.

THE POPE'S CONDITION

He Had a Fainting Spell Yesterday, But Rallied Quickly Afterwards.

Rome, July 31.—The Pope is very weak to-day. He had a fainting spell yesterday, but rallied quickly. It is his extreme weakness that is causing anxiety, but official reports from the Vatican continue to say that his condition is not critical. Professor Marchiafava, the specialist, visited the Pontiff twice yesterday.

AN OLD-AGE PENSION BILL

Washington, July 31.—Government pensions for the aged were provided in a bill introduced in the House to-day by Rev. Victor L. Berger, the Wisconsin Socialist.

The measure proposes to grant every person who brings proof that he or she is more than sixty years old, has been a citizen of the United States for more than sixteen years, and, if a husband, has not without just cause failed in the maintenance of his wife, a weekly pension of $1 to $4 a week, depending upon their income.

Berger estimated that this measure would cost the government about $347,000,000 annually. The resolution is unique in that it contains a clause specifically forbidding the United States Supreme Court from passing on its constitutionality.

The Wisconsin Congressman also introduced a resolution for the appointment of a commission "composed of members of the three parties in Congress" to compile data on old age pensions.

DANCING ACT.

This is one of the best Singing and Dancing Acts on the Griffin circuit. The Dumonts come highly recommended from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, where they have just finished a week's engagement. All lovers of good dancing and good singing should not miss this big show.

MOTION PICTURES.

To-night the new licensed service of Motion Pictures begins at the Royal. None but the best maker's productions: Pathe's, Lubin's, Biographs, Vitagraphs, Kalem's, etc., will be shown. Two specially good ones among others can be seen to-night, "A Society Girl and the Gypsy," by Pathe Freres, and "Her Son," by Kalem Co.

Dogs.

Dogs were formerly indigenous to the indigent, but, since the advent of dog licenses, whereby a dog, without a maid or a valet, is presumed to be guilty until it is proved innocent or shot, they have been grafted on family trees, with their own separate heraldry as substitutes for children, thereby furnishing considerable consolation for race suicide.

Dogs are divided into two great classes — pedigreed and verdigreed. Verdigreed are of two kinds — mad dogs and dogs. Pedigreed are of several kinds, chief among which are watch dogs and sheep-dogs. Watch-dogs are so called because they are small enough, and usually cranky enough, to be carried around in the place of watches by people who have plenty of time. Sheep-dogs are so called because they are led around by sheepish-looking people.

Those dogs are considered the handsomest by connoisseurs which look the ugliest to other people.

Challenge the Judge.

It was a case in an Irish court, and, the prisoner seeming hard to satisfy, juryman after juryman was asked to leave the box. However, all things come to an end, even in Ireland, and at last the swearing of the jury was completed. And then the prisoner leaned over the dock and sought the ear of his counsel.

"The jury's all right now, I think," he whispered; "but ye must challenge the judge. I've been convicted under him siviral times already, and maybe he's beginnin' to have a prejudice."

Sophistry of a Sophist.

A certain archbishop, when asked woman to misstate her age, replied: "A lie may be defined as a statement made by one rational being to another rational being, with the intent to deceive. Now, as no rational being would think of asking a woman her age with the expectation of being answered truthfully, one of the elements of the lie is lacking, and the woman's statement cannot, strictly speaking, be defined as such."

Australia has Tallest Tree.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but, while California trees are of gigantic dimensions, they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The Californians are noted not so much for their height as for their girth and diameter. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340ft high. Australia's record gum tree can beat this by 140ft.

Not Gratifying.

Some one sent the manuscript of a story to a literary friend, with the request that he would criticise it. The friend returned it, with the following note:

"My dear Blank: Your book contains much that is both new and good; but what is new is not good, and what is good is not new."

It is wished for us to go about with faces which indicate that life has been a disappointment to us instead of a glorious joy. It shows that we have missed the real object of living, that we have never caught a glimpse of the realities of life, but that we are living in the shadows, in the gloom instead of the sunshine of reality, of truth, of beauty. It indicates that we have not even caught a glimpse of the real glory of life.

And He Was Fit For.

A forlorn Irishman, reduced to the last stage of poverty and destitution, as the last resource made inquiry at a marine store as follows:

"D'ye buy rags and bones here?"

"Yes," was the reply

"Then, be jabers," said Pat, "ye may put me on the scales."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR THROAT.

Necessity of Rigid Precaution Emphasized.

Necessity of rigid precaution and the skilled care of a specialist in all cases of serious illness and especially in the case of communicable diseases is emphasized in the following clipping from the publication of the Board of Health, the "Sanitary Bulletin," for May:

"Every member of a certain family had a sore throat four weeks ago, which was diagnosed as follicular tonsilitis or quinzy. Two of the girls served as maids in other families, in each of which one of the children took diphtheria and died. Cultures were then taken of members of the first family with sore throats and each showed diphtheria. As they were able to be around, and apparently getting better of their local trouble, constitutional treatment was neglected. They persisted in refusing to believe that they had diphtheria, until Laby could no longer stand the strain —and died! Three deaths from 'quinzy sore throats,' and all this happened in Buffalo."

HOMELY WISDOM.

Pull together, said Abraham Lincoln, or Upset the Boat.

A recent biographer of Abraham Lincoln has some interesting things to say of "Honest Old Abe's" views on the dependence of the different classes on society on one another. "The farmer and the manufacturer" the president once said, with his characteristic shrewdness, "are both in the same boat and I reckon they've got to learn to navigate the craft together or they'll upset." He compared the case of a Pennsylvania farmer", continues the historian in question, "and a Pennsylvania iron implement maker whose properties adjoined. Under a protective policy the farmer supplied the ironmaker with bread, meat, vegetables, fruit, fodder for horses, etc., and the ironmaker supplied the farmer with all the iron, iron implements, etc., which he needed. Assuming that a change is made and the Protective policy abandoned, the farmer then discovers that he can buy his iron implements cheaper from Europe than from his neighbor, assuming that he sells a sufficient quantity of flour in Europe to enable him to effect the purchase of the iron. He ultimately discovers that the cost of carriage to the coast, transportation by sea to England, insurance and cartage on arrival, does not enable him to receive such a good reward for his labor as he formerly did when selling his flour to his neighbor, the ironmaker. He, therefore, determines to sell his flour as before to his neighbor. But meantime the farmer discovers that while he has been purchasing his iron implements from Europe his neighbor, the ironmaker, has been compelled to stop his works and dismiss his employees, not having sufficient work for them. The farmer, therefore, now finds that he has more wheat than he knows what to do with, also, that he is no longer able to sell his fruit, vegetables fodder meal, horses, etc., to his neighbor, the ironmaker, as he has gone out of business.

DANGEROUS TO USE "ESQUIRE."

How One Writer Was Cured in Germany.

The recovery of a letter which had been sent to a little town in Germany and never delivered to the person addressed, cured the writer of the custom of adding "Esquire" to a name on the superscription of mail matter. The letter in question would probably have been promptly delivered had the address read simply, "Mr. John Brown." But the sender had addressed it, "John Brown, Esquire," and the communication rested comfortably in the "E" compartment of the post restante department, waiting to be called for by "Mr. Esquire." One of the popular guide books warns against the use of "Esq.," saying that it might be mistaken for a name.

ON A GRAIN OF WHEAT.

A Prayer Containing 286 Letters Inscribed and Four Figures.

Prayers have been written and engraved on many very small objects, but only one person ever has been patient and painstaking enough to inscribe a complete prayer on a grain of wheat. One day Sir Moses Montefiore, the great Jewish financier of England, received a small tin box in the mail. On the cover of the box was written, "A prayer for Moses Montefiore, by Bauch Mordecai, son of Zebi Hirsch Scheinemann, of Jerusalem." The box contained a single grain of wheat, on which was inscribed, in characters so small that they could only be read with the aid of a powerful microscope, the 286 Hebrew letters of the prayer, and the date of the year (Hebrew reckoning), 5645. Sir Moses kept the prayer in his desk until he died, and it is now preserved with religious care by one of his friends.

One per cent. of the water of the oceans would cover all the land to a depth of 280 feet.

If the flour mills of Canada were operated to their capacity, they could produce flour enough for 30,000,000 people.

Canada's Post Office.

A Devonshire lady once sent to her son a pair of trousers by book post, which is, of course, cheaper than parcel post.

The postal officials wrote to her: "Clothes cannot be sent by book post. If you look in the 'Post Office Guide,' you will see under what conditions articles may be sent by book post."

After a few days the lady replied: "I have looked in the 'Post Office Guide' and find that articles which are open at both ends may be sent by book post. And if trousers are not open at both ends I should like to know what is."

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

TWO OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PARTIES IN THE DOMINION HAVE RECOGNIZED IN A PRACTICAL MANNER THE SUPERIORITY OF THE PRODUCTS MANUFACTURED BY

The Kootenay Jam Company Ltd.

The Canadian Naval Department have given us REPEAT orders for the supply of our products to the Navy and we have a valuable contract from the Canadian Pacific Railway for the supply of their extensive system.

In addition to these, we have numerous contracts from large wholesale dealers in the North West.

Our business is established and permanent, and the demand for our products is increasing rapidly every day.

This is an unusual opportunity to join in an established enterprise whose future is assured.

The amount of stock we are offering for public subscriptions is limited to 30,000 shares at $1.00 each, and if you are interested, we would suggest that you fill out this coupon and return it to us immediately.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

THE VANISHING FORESTS.

Timber Resources of the United States Showing Signs of Exhaustion.

Commissioners and commissions have been appointed in various parts of the United States to make reports on what should and could be done to stem the destruction and prepare for the restoration of timber supplies, but wherever actually a response to the recommendations was secured the means employed were too feeble to prevent the former and too inefficient to secure adequate results in the latter direction. For instance, the latest State to move in the matter of taking care of its important timber interest, Alabama (whose annual lumber output is valued at $5,000,000), appropriates $500 for carrying out the provisions or the act providing a commission with various duties. The great State of Minnesota whose forest products in one year approach in value $45,000,000, devotes less than $12,000 to its forest interests, and $20,000 on prairie planting. The State of Maine, which still cuts a round one billion feet, and is indebted to the forest for a product of $18,000,000 in value, keeps within the modest sum of $25,000 to pay for the protection against fire and the support of a commissioner. Examples of such picayune and inadequate measures are found in many other States.

The only two States which have not hesitated to spend money for forestry purposes are New York and Pennsylvania. The former, in purchasing forest lands for a preserve, which now comprises about one and a half million acres only, has expended millions of dollars, and is annually appropriating money for further purchase, besides liberal provision for its Forest, Fish and Game Commission. But, alas! the policy of forest reservation which had begun on economic grounds, has degenerated into providing a pleasure ground—a park—for the wealthy, and there is little consideration to economic forest questions given by the State or the Commission.

Pennsylvania is the only State which can be said to have started on a true policy of recuperation, buying up waste lands, protecting them, and in a small way beginning to reforest them, an appropriation of about $500,000 being at the disposal of the Forest Commission.

NEED OF THE HOUR.

Major George Washington Stephens Talks on Canadian Transportation.

Not long ago Major Stephens, the President of the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, delivered a masterly address before the Empire Club of Toronto on the development of the St Lawrence route. "In the possession of this great national asset, the St. Lawrence waterway," said Mr. Stephens, "into which has gone the genius, the courage and the money of the Canadian people, Canada unquestionably has within her midst the cheapest and most efficient national trade route on the Continent.

"The St. Lawrence River to-day carries to and from the port of Montreal one-third of the country's national trade.

"In this enterprise there are just 6,000,000 Canadian shareholders, all equally interested.

"At her present rate of increase Canada will, during the twentieth century, contribute to the Empire a population exceeding that now occupying the British Isles, and will produce from one-quarter of her available areas in the West more wheat than now comprises the total wheat crop of the United States.

"There are two methods of providing for the handling of this new business, not to mention the concurrent industrial production of the country: First, by increasing transportation and terminal facilities on Canadian soil; second, by allowing business to be taken care of by transportation routes and sea terminals not within the limits of this Dominion.

"I like to regard this system extending from Fort William to the sea, a distance of 2,500 miles, as a great national undertaking, into which are going the money, the genius and the patriotism of the Canadian people, and out of which are coming year by year privileges and powers to the transportation interests of Canada, instead of diversity of control and authority."

Unappreciated Sympathy.

The Soda-fountain clerk was engaged in vigorously shaking up a chocolate and egg, says a writer in the Bellman, when suddenly the glass broke in his hands, and the ensuing deluge made him look like a human eclair. The horrified customer leaned over the counter and tried to be sympathetic. Not knowing exactly what to say, he finally burted out consolingly:

"Oh-er-too bad! Did the glass break?"

Dripping from head to foot, the clerk looked at him witheringly.

"Did the glass break?" he repeated. "Did the glass break?" And then with freezing sarcasm, "Oh, no, not at all! You just happened to stop in while I was taking my morning shower."

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."

"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.

"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself.

QUICK PROFITS

Present Offer of Stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, Gives Exceptional Opportunity for Quick and Large Profits on a Small Investment

A judicious investment made now in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company may give you a START TO FORTUNE that you could never obtain any other way.

Can you close your eyes and mind against this opportunity to invest a few dollars, in the greatest of all industries, that in a short time may mean a fortune for you?

Look what $100 invested in oil in the following oil companies of California has produced:

$100 invested in the Monte Cristo Oil Company has since had a value of $1500.

$100 invested in the American Oil Fields Company has since had a value of $2000.

$100 invested in the N. Y. Oil Company has since had a value of $2500.

$100 invested in the Hume Oil Company has since had a value of $40,000.

$100 invested in the Union Oil Company now has a value of $150,000.

Oil has made more millionaires quicker than any other industry, and California produces more than one-quarter the entire output of the world.

Oil is conceded to be the giant among power-producers. Where oil has displaced coal, coal never come back.

WILDCATTING FEATURES ELIMINATED.

In advising my clients to buy stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, I am basing that advice upon several sound reasons. First, the property is located in the great Midway field. It is literally fenced in by producers. The company has a small capitalization. The lease is fully paid for. $25,000 has been subscribed and is now deposited in the bank to cover the expense of drilling Well No. 1. The property and equipment is paid for. All stock sold is for the benefit of the company and the money received goes into new development. The field management of the company is an experienced and capable one. The directorate is composed of clean, reputable, well-known business men who have demonstrated their faith in the Midway Maple Leaf by investing in the company $60,000 of their own money.

DIRECTORS WELL-KNOWN SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN.

Thomas Allan, capitalist, Vancouver, B. C.

George L. Kavanagh, Montreal, P. Q., proprietor "The Fair," wholesale millinery.

Wm. Savage, Vancouver, B. C., McLellan, Savage & White, solicitors.

Don C. Aldridge, San Francisco, Calif., secretary and treasurer Sutcliffe Investment Co.

H. V. Hinsdale, Vancouver, B. C., stock broker.

P. L. J. LeFeuvre, Vancouver, B. C., real estate broker.

LITERALLY FENCED IN BY GUSHERS.

The Midway Maple Leaf's property is right in the center of a triangle, formed by three big gushers namely, the "Standard" on section 20 to the west, the "Honolulu" on section 10 to the north and the other "Standard" on section 28, almost directly south, three of the largest flowing wells in the entire Midway field, while a mile and a half further, directly south, lies the famous Lakeview gusher, the largest oil well in the world.

The chances for bringing in a gusher on section 22 are just as good, with proper depth, as they ever were on sections 10, 20 and 28, referred to above.

No one has a monopoly on gushers.

THIS IS CERTAINLY PROVEN GUSHER TERRITORY.

A "HONOLULU" or "STANDARD" GUSHER, SIMILAR TO THOSE ON SECTIONS 10, 14 and 28, would mean a fortune for every stockholder owning a thousand shares or more.

Even if we only develop a 1000-barrel well of 26 gravity, this production will not only be sufficient to pay a good dividend on the par value of the outstanding stock BUT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CAPITAL TO CONTINUE THE DRILLING OF WELLS.

In this connection it must be remembered that the oil developed in this section of the Midway field IS WORTH ABOUT TWICE THE PRICE OF THE OIL DEVELOPED ELSEWHERE IN THIS PART OF CALIFORNIA.

STOCK NOW ONLY 30 CENTS A SHARE.

Only 25,000 shares are offered at the present price of 30 cents, par value $1.00, fully paid and forever non-assessable. From present indications this block will be over subscribed.

An advance in price may be announced any time.

Get your order in to-day for the amount of stock you want. Send your remittance in by the first mail possible, or wire and let your remittance follow by mail.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir,—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd.

THE WAR TALK.

The Ottawa Journal thinks that between Germany and Britain no war will take place at present, not for at least two or three years to come, if for no other reason that that Germany is not prepared to fight Britain yet. At all events, no war would occur unless Germany could see some gain possible by her land forces to more than compensate her for the destruction of her commerce and the loss of her colonies. She is not yet a match for Britain on the sea. Her navy would be smashed, or cooped up in port. Her ocean trade, which is great, would be swept away, and tremendous business and financial disaster would follow. Her colonies, which are considerable in Africa, would be captured by British forces.

Germany has more sense than face such loss needlessly. If some great German interest on the continent were at stake she might do it. If even there appeared a probability of a compensating territorial gain on the continent, such as the seizure of Holland, or the acquisition of another large slice of French territory, Germany might risk it. But Holland is now in question, while as to France, the result even of the land war for Germany would be dubious if the army of France were backed up by British land forces.

It is the fashion with some to assume that the British army would be a neglected quantity in a continental war. Germany knows better. By itself, the British army would certainly not count for much in the field alone against Germany. Nevertheless, the British army is a pretty positive factor. At the time of the Boer war the effective British strength stood at 430,000 men in 1901. Seventy-five thousand of these were in India and could not in any measure be safely taken away; considerable other force is necessary in Egypt and elsewhere; thirty-five thousand colonials were included in the 1901 total; some part of the rest of the establishment in that year consisted of newly recruited or poorly trained troops—but it is safe to say, making all allowances, that Great Britain could at present promptly put into a war on the continent of Europe 200,000 first-class regulars. And assuredly she would do that or better in a struggle in which she had a continental ally against Germany. For all in Britain recognize that a war with Germany involves the position of the British Empire; nothing would be spared to render the contest decisive.

British capital with two hundred thousand British regulars backing the army of France would render so problematical the outcome of even the best organized war between Germany and a Franco-British coalition that Germany assuredly cannot yet see in such a contest a prospect of compensation for the sure destruction of her maritime and colonial interests by the British fleet. So, no war is imminent.

But nothing could better justify than Mr. Lloyd George's ominous speech the outcry and demand—the successful demand—three years ago of the so-called jingoes in England for an increase in the British naval estimates because of the German peril. The outcry in 1908 resulted in four Dreadnoughts being added to the British naval programme. But for that addition and the effect in other directions then and since of the determination of these level-headed patriots not to see the sea power of Britain at the mercy of any foreign combination Mr. Lloyd George would not be able to talk the way he does to-day, nor would the peace of the world be still secure as it is.

HALL'S BRIDGE

Weather very warm and dry at present.

Harvesting is the order of the day now. Hay and fall wheat is saved throughout this community, and have proven to be a fairly good yield. Oats in some places might be a lot better, and the potato crop is going to be a poor one.

Mrs. Nelson Montgomery entertained company on Friday.

Mr. Geo. Hendren brought a load of furniture up to Buckhorn on Wednesday, disposing of part of it at the True Blue Hall, and the rest at the Windsor Hotel.

The many friends of the proprietor of the Windsor House will be pleased to learn that he is able to be around again, as his leg was not so seriously hurt as was supposed.

Autos are getting to be an everyday occurrence now, the fine roads through the community, encouraging the pleasure seekers.

Mr. Charles Ivey and family of Campbellford, were the guests of Mrs. W. N. Blewett last week.

A young man from Selwyn, with a couple of young ladies, had a serious time the other night while going home from a party at Buckhorn. Quite unfortunately the horse struck a telephone post, shattering and twisting the buggy up, but the occupants escaped unhurt. It would be a wise plan for party goers to keep awake, until they get to their respective homes.

Mrs. Taylor and Miss Richmond have returned home from visiting friends in Peterborough and Bobcaygeon.

Miss Stella Ivey of Peterboro, is the guest of her sister, Miss Elva Ivey.

How all the pleasures of Society pale before practising the art of making the truth appear a lie, which is called intrigue.

The agriculturist's idea of a lady is someone who has had nothing to do with farming all her life, just as his ideal gentleman is a retired shopkeeper.

It is a wise woman who refrains from inducing her husband to bring the atmosphere of his club home with him.

"From the vulgarity of notoriety good Lord deliver us," should be your morning and evening prayer.

Nothing is more garrulous than an old woman, except a Company Promoter's wife after her first drawing-room.

QUEEN MARY FROWNS.

Order about Hobble Skirts was Disobeyed.

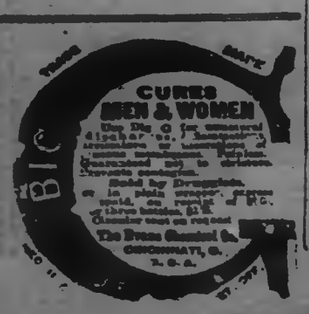
Queen Mary's order about hobble skirts was disobeyed at the two courts by all except the actual court ladies. All the rest wore tight skirts, but their trains covered them. They say they didn't see why they should make themselves unfashionable because the queen herself is abnormally large around the hips and unsuited to tight dresses.

Nevertheless everyone was staggered by the costume of the Marchioness de la Vill Urrutia, the wife of the Spanish ambassador. Her dress was so tight that her whole figure was sharply outlined and she had great difficulty in walking. As she belongs in the diplomatic circle she is independent of the queen's wishes and fortunately had no courtesy to make with consequences which might have been indescribable.

The queen only smiled when she saw her trouble and seemed wisely obvious of how her order was generally obeyed. Indeed, the queen was the surprise of the court, she was so smiling and bright, with a word for everybody.

The Importance of the Beard.

The importance of the beard was fully recognized in the middle ages. Here is a passage from a letter of the writer, Bartolomeo Catena: "It is well that those who have to lead and govern should have a long and fine beard. And I can assure you that the government of cities and provinces has been given to more than one prelate because he had a long and fine beard; otherwise he were not worthy that honor."



Australia has Tallest Tree.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but, while California trees are of gigantic dimensions, they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The Californians are noted not so much for their height as for their girth and diameter. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340ft high. Australia's record gum tree can beat this by 140ft.

Offhand Definitions.

A limony.—The price of peace.

Laughing stock.—An amateur actor making an attempt at high tragedy.

Political rainbows.—The kind usually seen just before the November deluge.

Human nature—Something to blame your eccentricities on if you are not like other people.

Becoming pride—Setting a proper valuation on your own abilities and accomplishments — and never cutting prices.

Hung himself to Death.

Extraordinary circumstances attended the suicide of a church sexton at the Hungarian village of Koros-Bajany recently. The inhabitants were alarmed by the violent ringing of their church bell, and thought a fire must have broken out. As, however, none could be seen, some of them went to the belfry to discover the reason, and there found the body of the sexton dangling from the bell-rope, with which he had hanged himself.

The Sixth Sense!

It is frequently the case that we meet people who antagonize us the moment a glance or a handshake is exchanged, while our inner consciousness offers no explanation for that reasonless antipathy. On the other hand Fate brings us in contact with personalities which at once appeal to a sixth sense which is indefinable, but which seems to comprehend more than the combined educated and trained sensibilities. What is that sixth sense?

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Uxbridge, Ontario," will be received at this office until 4 p. m. on Monday, August 21, 1911, for the erection of a Public Building at Uxbridge.

Plans, specification and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, clerk of works, postal station F, Yonge street, Toronto, Ont., and at the post office at Uxbridge.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

COAL FAMINE.

Winnipeg, July 28.—The coal famine continues acute over Saskatchewab and Alberta. Even if the mines were opened to-morrow the famine could not be relieved by winter. Practically no coal in the past has gone into those two provinces from any field outside of that in which the strike prevails. All railway officials agree that there are no adequate facilities for getting fuel in via the lakes. It is a physical impossibility. Any relief must come from across the line, and this is only possible through the suspension of the tariff.

THE POWER OF SYMPATHY.

Mothers Too Often Form a Habit of Constant Reproof.

Although conscious of the power of sympathy, many loving but overtired mothers not only forget to show affection but form a habit of constant reproof. Naturally enough, the children, unless exceptionally callous to their surroundings, become sullen and resentful. How can they realize that the nagging is an expression of anxious affection?

When Johnny comes rushing into the house full of enthusiasm over some new play or new idea, and eager to tell his plans, such a mother exclaims, "How many times have I told you to wipe your feet before you enter the door?" The greetings kills his enthusiasm, and, hurt and wounded, he draws back into himself, and will not again expose himself to such a snub. He confides in her less and less as he grows older, and she wonders way.

There is sound psychology in the statement that if you believe a man is honest he will be honest; that if you trust a young man he will prove trustworthy; that if you praise a child he will deserve praise. Benjamin West's mother kissed her boy when he showed his drawings to her; and the boy, when grown to manhood, said that her kiss made a painter of him

A RAVENOUS INDUSTRY.

How the Paper Makers Are Destroying the Forests of the United States.

The forests of the United States now cover 550,000,000 acres, or about one-fourth of the area of the country. Forests publicly owned contain one-fifth of all timber standing. The timber privately owned is not only four times that publicly owned but it is generally more valuable.

Forestry is not practised on 70 per cent. of the forests publicly owned and on less than 1 per cent. of the forests privately owned, or on only 18 per cent. of the total area of the forests.

The original forests of the United States contained timber in quantity and variety far beyond that upon any other area of similar size in the world. They covered 850,000,000 acres with a stand of not less than 5,200,000,000,000 board feet of merchantable timber, according to present standards of use. There were five great forest regions—the northern, the southern, the central, the Rocky Mountain and the Pacific.

The present rate of cutting is three times the annual growth of the forests of the United States. The great pineries of the Lake States are nearing exhaustion and great inroads have been made upon the supply of valuable timber throughout all parts of the country.

The heavy demands for timber have been rapidly pushing the great centres of lumber industry towards the South and West. In consequence, the State of Washington has led for several years in lumber production, followed in order by Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Wisconsin and Arkansas. In 1908 the production of yellow pine lumber amounted to eleven and one-quarter billion feet; the Douglas fir of the Northwest held second place, with three and two-thirds billion feet; while white pine came third, with three and one-third billion feet.

The annual cut from the forests, including waste in logging and in manufacture, is 20,000,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

There is used in a normal year 90,000,000 cords of fire wood, 40,000,000,000 board feet of lumber, 118,000,000 hewn ties, 1,500,000,000 staves, over 133,000,000 sets of heading, nearly 500,000,000 barrel hoops, 3,000,000 cords of native pulp wood, 165,000,000 cubic feet of round mine timbers and 1,250,000 cords of wood for distillation.

In 1909 4,002,000 cords of wood were used in the manufacture of paper, of which 794,000 cords were imported from Canada. The demand for pulp wood is making a severe drain on the spruce forests, which furnish the principle supply. The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations to determine what other woods, such as scrub pine, white fir, tupelo and the like, can be successfully used.

A larger drain upon forest resources is made by the demand for railroad ties, of which 123,754,000, equivalent to three and three-quarters billion board feet, were used in 1908. White oak, hitherto the chief source of supply, is not plentiful enough to meet this demand indefinitely, and in many parts of the country the supply of chestnut, cedar and cypress is dwindling; however, seasoning and treating methods are being found, largely through the work of the Forest Service, by which cheaper and more plentiful woods, such as lodgepole pine in the Northwest and loblolly pine in the South, are made fit for use as ties. Timber to the amount of two and one-half billions feet was used in 1907 for mine timbers. A great saving has been effected in the naval stores industry, also largely through the work of the Forest Service, by the introduction of the so-called "cup" system of turpentining in place of the old destructive system of "boxing." The new systems insure a larger product of better quality and prolong the life of the longleaf pine forests upon which the industry depends.

A CAUCASIAN MARRIAGE.

A Piece of Sugar Put to Lips of Bride to Sweeten Tongue.

In the Caucasus the marriage ceremonies everywhere are of the greatest extravagance in regard to length and the amount of feasting. In Mingrelie large tents are erected for the wedding guests, and the smallest number invited comes to two or three hundred. An interesting and pretty ceremony is the going forth of the bridegroom's mother to meet the bride, to whose lips she puts a piece of sugar, wishing her happiness and joy, and hoping that her tongue may always keep the sweetness of sugar. In the marriage procession all the goods and wealth of the family make an appearance. An elderly lady, generally the bride's nurse, plays an important part throughout the ceremonies. She sits by the bride, who neither laughs nor eats during all the merriment and feasting. A meal is served in the nuptial chamber, to which the matron conducts the bride. The bridegroom is refused admission until he buys his entry from the matron. This old lady remains a week in the house, and when she departs the bride breaks into loud lamentations. For a year the young couple are full of respect and attention for their parents, never sitting down in their presence and submitting to their wishes in everything.

REMOVAL OF BIRTHMARKS.

Carbonic Acid Snow Treatment Proving Generally Successful.

In less than a year the carbonic acid snow treatment for birthmarks, warts, and rodent ulcer, first introduced at Charing Cross Hospital, has gained an accepted place in modern therapeutics.

The early experiments with the new remedy, described in these columns last June, have been so successful in suitable cases that now practically every hospital in the country, as well as thousands of general practitioners and skin specialists, is making use of the new medicament.

The snow is prepared by allowing a thin spray of carbonic acid gas, liquefied under pressure, to escape into a felt covering slipped over the tap of the iron cylinder containing the gas. The gas is deposited on the felt as a very fine powdered snow at a temperature of about 100 degrees below zero. The snow is then solidified into an icy pencil by being tightly packed into a hard rubber cylinder with a plunger.

Treatment consists of pressing this intensely cold pencil of carbonic acid ice for a few seconds against the birthmark, wart or rodent ulcer to be removed. The resulting intense cold freezes the part, setting up severe local inflammation, which leads to a breaking down and absorption of the frozen tissues. There is very little pain and the wound heals naturally in a few days, leaving the skin practically normal.

RUSSIAN GRAIN KING.

Was Queer Character, But His Business Integrity Was High.

Of a peculiar stamp was the man of millions, Nicholas Boukhroff, the Russian grain king, who recently died. In his externals he was a mujik merchant. He wore the top boots, the trader's kaftan—coat and overcoat in one, fitting close up to the neck and reaching to the knees—and the embroidered cotton shirt without starched collar, which are the historic garb of the Volga traders, men who carry as much as 50,000 rubles in notes stuck in the leg of a boot and who distrust the documentary machinery of credit. Boukhroff's great fortune compelled him to handle investments and bank paper, but he was in sympathy with the old simple ways. He was in fact an Old Believer and a devout churchgoer who lived his religion.

In his housekeeping he lived on much the same scale as an ordinary hand worker in comfortable employment. He gave away millions of rubles in charity, but was close fisted in personal outlays. The porters at Nijnj-Novgorod and elsewhere avoided him when they saw him step from a train. He would never pay them more than 10 cents for carrying his baggage. When he met great personages he "thoued" them, as he did everybody else, keeping to the Old Believer, Quakerlike form of address. His integrity in business was of the highest.

He would lecture men in his employment if they spent five kopeks needlessly. His patriarchial ways had sometimes a welcome side. He exacted unquestioning obedience to his instructions; but every now and then a man who served him well for some years would receive a draft for 25,000 or 50,000 rubles with no further remark than:

"Thou shalt now be a Man, too. I know that thou wilt make good use of the money."

Canada Buys a Holman Hunt.

The national art gallery at Ottawa has been enriched by a painting by Holman Hunt, of the British Academy. The painting is a portrait of Henry Wentworth Monk, who was born in the Ottawa Valley and who was known as "The Apostle of Peace." He was an intimate friend of the artist, who painted the picture while with Monk in Palestine. The painting was secured from Mrs. Holman Hunt at a moderate price.

"Very clever, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"I'm told that his three older brothers are mentally weak."

"Yes, he's the original sane fourth."

"Shoots Wife Before Children," says a newspaper headline. That's a matter of precedence.

ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest mone makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament. President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around $16.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 175 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY AUGUST 1 1911 — PRICE TWO CENT

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION.

The difficulty in dealing with the Moroccan situation is in part due to the fact that Germany demands a more efficient protection for her commercial interests there, but would be sure to object to the extension of French power which would make such protection certain. Sir H. H. Johnston, writing in the Nineteenth Century, expresses the opinion that "Far and away the best thing for Morocco and the people of Morocco at the present day would be the distinct and clear establishment of a French protectorate, and the reduction of the Sultan to the same position as that now honorably occupied by the Bey of Tunis." It is apparent that Germany is not likely to get her fair share of Moroccan trade until some such arrangement is made. The Germans, however, already grudge France her supremacy in that section of North Africa.

Sir Henry Hamilton Johnston is an authority on African questions. He is connected with an imposing list of geographical and anthropological societies in England, Europe, and America, is vice-president of the African Society, former Consul-General Regency of Tunis and the Uganda Protectorate, has explored North Africa, Portuguese, West Africa and other sections of the dark continent. His article, written before the Agadir incident had aroused British feeling, is therefore of paramount interest. That Germany has a grievance, he frankly admits. Noting that the Franco-British agreement of 1904 recognized the privileged position of the United Kingdom in Egypt and the Egyptian Sudan, as well as the supremacy of France in Morocco, he states that "So far as Great Britain is concerned, she has, for a very apparent compensation elsewhere, surrendered any claims she may possess to the free trade in North Africa," and adds:

"Great Britain has received compensation for any harm which may come to her commerce by the establishment of French rule over Morocco while Germany has not; and the plea of previous articles of mine in this review has been that, for the sake not only of the world's peace, but of the development of the world's resources in barbarous countries, the position of Germany and German commerce should receive the most careful attention at the hands of the other great powers, in order that Germany might receive fair play and be deprived of any inducement to disturb the world's peace by assertions of fair or of unsatisfied claims."

If Sir Harry Hamilton is correct in his view of the situation, any international agreement which may be arrived at will probably concede something to Germany in the way of further commercial privileges, to secure which, the country may be made even more subservient to France than it is at present. The future status of the inhabitants remains to be considered. The writer in question describes them as "the Sultan's unruly and unwilling subjects, who are madly fanatical against the Christian European, pitilessly cruel, tribe against tribe, warped and spoilt by twelve that under a French protectorate "Morocco's incalculable natural riches would be thrown open to commerce centuries of civil war." He believes while science would gain prodigiously by the examination of wonderful monuments of the past, stretching back into far-distant ages of pre-history. There would be revelations of paleontological fauna, which would almost rival that of the Himalayan foothills; there would be fresh discoveries in botany, in living zoology, and the evolution of human races, which would exceed in interest anything yet made known by the French in Algeria and Tunis. Yet," he adds, "Germany not only bars the way, but is said to have invited Spain to claim more than her fair proportion of intervention in Northern Morocco, and possibly even to forestall the French in opening up railway communication with Fez, the real capital of the Moorish Empire. Meantime, and until Germany and France can come to an understanding, the good days of Morocco are delayed."

A MURDER REPORTED FROM A SMALL QUEBEC VILLAGE.

Quebec, July 28.—News of a murder in a small parish of the county of Temiscouta reached Quebec last night, when it was known that a man named Dion had been killed. A neighbor named Plourde is accused by the police.

It is stated that yesterday Plourde went to Frazerville to market and met Dion, with whom he had an altercation, in the course of which Dion made threats, saying he would "get" Plourde. In the afternoon Plourde left for home in his rig, but was overtaken by Dion and a brother of his. An altercation followed, and it is alleged, Plourde, in self-defence, loaded a gun he had just bought and shot one of the Dions dead.

Plourde has been taken into custody by a bailiff, and was brought to Frazerville, where he will be arraigned to-day.

Earle Weller's Death.

Further to the drowning of Earle Weller in Lake Wabamum on Friday last it is now ascertained that he was in a canoe with a friend, a young man named Bradburn, when he (Weller) dropped his pipe into the water. Bradburn jumped into the lake to recover the pipe and Earle, in turning round to pick up his friend, overturned the craft. The two companions held fast to the canoe for the space of three hours, and though they shouted lustily, no one seemed to hear them. At length, however, a person on the banks of the lake, discovered them by means of a telescope. He with others set out to rescue the unfortunate pair, but before they could reach the canoe, Weller sank. Bradburn too was in an awful predicament and despite the efforts of his rescuers to revive him, he was unconscious for the space of one hour. Attempts have been made to recover the body, but as yet without success. The water at that portion of the lake is said to be forty feet deep.

We trust the recently overworked electric fans and ice cream fountains are enjoying their vacation.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction poin for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Overcome by Their Charms.

Lindsay Post: A young Peterborough man, who was at the G.T.R. station in that city last night when the Lindsay excursionists had gathered, had quite an interesting experience. He entered one of the coaches, and was hypnotized to such an extent by the charms of certain Lindsay young ladies that he did not notice the train pulling out and awoke from "loves young dream" when the conductor shouted "Lindsay." He returned to the Electric City this morning.

The Morning Paper.

The morning newspaper is a complete paper, covering the news of the world for 24 hours for each issue. To do less than that is to make a piece-meal newspaper—a sort of bulletin, prepared merely to appeal to people who have time only to read head-lines. Such readers are about apt to be influenced by advertising as an Eskimo. It always pays to advertise in The Times.

Roy Was Released.

Word has been received in Peterborough by Mr. G. N. Gordon, to the effect that Bruce Roy who up to the present time has been serving a sentence of two years less a day in the Central Prison, has been released on ticket of leave by the order of his Excellency the Governor-General. This course of action is due in no small measure to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Gordon to secure his release. Bruce Roy was mixed up in a chicken-stealing case some time ago and received the above sentence at the hands of Magistrate Dumble.

Excursion to Peterborough.

The lawn bowlers of Bowmanville, are running a big excursion to Peterborough by special train on Monday next, August 7th. A large crowd is expected. Many of those who come will take in the trip to Rice Lake per Steamer Stoney Lake, and will also do the lift lock stunt before heading for the lake.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Are You Using An Oily Liniment?

Beware of Any Thick, Greasy Liniment That Contains Acids and Strong Ammonia.

No doctor would think of prescribing a greasy, thick, ammonia liniment—they can't penetrate and in consequence are unable to reach the source of pain. The best liniment for general household use is "Nerviline," which is sold under positive guarantee to cure pain.

Nerviline is sure to cure pain because it is immensely stronger than other liniments, because it is more penetrating, because it relieves the congested condition that excites pain, because it restores circulation of the part. Now you understand why one person in three throughout the Dominion of Canada uses Nerviline. These people have tasted it. They know how good it is, because in the hundred and one minor ailments that afflict us at all times they found Nerviline always cured. Nerviline is an absolute antidote to pain, powerful, soothing, and certain in its action.

Nerviline is inestimably the finest remedy for pain found in the world. Not an ache or pain anywhere that Nerviline does not cure.

Try Nerviline for neuralgia, headache, sciatica, lumbago, stiffness, rheumatism—wherever there is a soreness or pain, rub on Nerviline and you'll be cured. Refuse anything offered you instead of Nerviline, large 25c bottles, five for $1.00. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Fishing Is Excellent.

Fishing is said to be excellent this year at Burleigh, Buckhorn and down the river. Yesterday The Times was presented with a fine maskilonge from an enthusiastic nimrod.

Massive Music Cabinet.

Lindsay Post: A handsome new music cabinet has been placed in the J. M. Greene Music Co's store, William street. It is made of oak, is seven feet high and will hold 5,000 copies.

Boy Scouts at Camp.

The 3rd Troop of Boy Scouts went out to Chemong yesterday, where they have gone into camp. The boys will have the time of their lives without a doubt. They will be taught to swim, to cook and to do many other things, that will be of the greatest value to them in after life.

The Tourist Trade.

Lindsay Post: As an illustration of what the tourist trade means to Lindsay, a local merchant has stated that he received an order amounting to $150 from a family summering in this district. This is only one instance.

The Strathconas.

The well known camping party, known as the Strathconas, will go into camp this year on Pigeon Lake, near Bobcaygeon. Messrs. Clarence Wilson and (Pte.) Weatherstone, the advance guard left Peterborough on Saturday, in order to break ground for camp. They are also instructed to break anything else that may crop up that is likely in any way to jar their outing, which has always been of a most delightful nature. Bobcaygeon being on the prohibited list the Strathconas are likely to quench their thirst during the dog days with real wet Pigeon Lake water only.

New Cafe.

Mr. N. Douros has taken a lease of China Hall premises, and will open out an up-to-date cafe. For eleven months Mr. Douros has conducted the Boston Cafe, and finds that his business has grown so rapidly that larger premises are required. He proposes to spend about $5000 in fixing up the old China Hall store, which will make it in line with modern Peterborough.

Were Greatly Disappointed.

The Times is in receipt of a letter from a resident of Fenelon Falls, stating that a Sunday School in that village made a contract with one of the large steamers on our lakes, to carry their annual excursion. The boat failed to show up on the date appointed, and there was much disappointment as a result.

Firemen Wanted.

The Times is requested to state that two men are wanted to fill vacancies on the Fire Department. Men 5 feet, 8 inches, or over and weighing 160 pounds, who desire an opportunity to qualify for the positions are asked to apply to Chief Howard at the Fire Hall. Steady, industrious men of good reputation are the kind of men looked for.

Boats Very Busy.

Mr. Frank J. Young, manager of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, was in the city yesterday booking another excursion or two. He reports the best season's business they have ever experienced, every boat being worked to its utmost capacity. The "Stoney Lake," the "Flagship" of the fleet, is as well known in Peterborough now as any boat that ever docked at the Wolfe street wharf.

A Successful Old Boy.

Mr. E. W. Hoist, formerly connected with the G.G.E. Co., of this city, is here on a visit. Mr. Hoist is now superintendent of equipment with the Boston and Northern and Old Colony Street Railway Companies. These enterprises control and operate over 1,000 miles of road, all electrical, situated in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island. From Peterborough Mr. Hoist will go down the St. Lawrence and stay for a short time at Quebec before going back to his duties.

To Fight the White Plague.

The Peterborough Health Association has been incorporated, the provisional directors being as follows: W. H. Moore, K.C., Rev. Father McColl, J. W. Bennett, Drs. Boucher, Cameron, McPherson, McNulty, Halliday, Neal, Mr. T. F. Matthews, E. V. Macleod, R. C. Braund, Judge Huycke, E. A. Peck and W. G. Morrow. The formation of the Association is the outcome of the meetings held some time ago regarding tuberculosis, and how best to fight it. The Association will work along sanitary lines.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. C. H. Clement is in Lindsay on business.

Miss Maud Staunton, Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Dr. Malcom McEachren, Montreal, is spending a few weeks holidaying at Fenelon Falls.

Miss Beatrice Clarkson, of Lakehurst, is visiting her sister, Miss Ethel Clarkson, 697 Water street.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Keith, are spending a month on the Rideau Lakes, near Smith's Falls.

Mr. E. P. Carr, of the head office of the Quaker Oats Co., Chicago, is home for vacation.

Mrs. J. Murray of New Liskeard, a former resident of this city, is visiting friends in East City.

Miss Eva Noyes, who has spent a month at Rochester, has returned to Peterborough.

Miss Mattie B. Robertson, B.A., is visiting with her friend, Miss Etta Henderson, B.A., Kingston, at the latter's summer home, Wolfe Island.

Mrs. Jack Dawson and two children of Youngstown, O., arrived in Peterborough last night and are visiting Mrs. Dawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, 480 Aylmer street. Mr. Dawson will also come to Peterborough in a few weeks, to join his wife, and will take up their residence here.

Mr. Jas. Bellwood, of Richmond, Virginia, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Geo. J. Chalmers, 587 Homewood avenue, likewise his half brother, Mr. Benj. Matthews, 199 London Street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Archer and their little son, Master Staunton, of Campbellford, are the guests of Mrs. Archer's sister, Mrs. S. Touchbourne Benson street.

WEDDING BELLS.

Stephens—Makepeace.

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Mr. Albert Stephens was united in marriage with Miss Wilhelmina Makepeace. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Riddiford, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wells, 49 Bolivar street. The young couple will reside in the city.

Hickey—Armstrong.

Miss Hazel May, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Massey Armstrong, of Peterboro, was united in marriage to Mr. John P. Hickey, of Kansas, at Lawrence, by the Rev. Dr. G. B. F. Hallock, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church. The bride, who is a member of the Brick Church Sunday school and Endeavor Society, has a large circle of friends. One so popular will be much missed. The young couple are to live in Kansas, where Mr. Hickey is professor of Kansas University at Lawrence.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Oswald Armstrong, while Miss Florence, sister of the bride, and Mr. T. Homan, were in attendance.

OBITUARY

The Late Mrs. Chalmers.

Mrs. James Chalmers, an old and highly esteemed resident of this city, passed away yesterday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Hutchinson, 578 Stewart street.

Born in Port Hope, the deceased lady came to Peterborough when about 23 years of age, and resided here ever since, excepting a few years spent at Young's Point. She has thus lived in Peterborough for about 60 years. Mrs. Chalmers was a consistent and esteemed member of Murray street Baptist church and through her kindly and charitable disposition won the regard of a wide circle of friends. Her illness was only of short duration, as it is not more than ten days ago since she was walking in the city.

Deceased is survived by two sisters Mrs. Hutchinson, above mentioned, and Mrs. Benjamin Matthews, of London street. She is also the stepmother of Mr. Geo. G. Chalmers, the employee agent and real estate man of the city.

The funeral announcement will be given in to-morrow's issue.

After Many Years.

Mr. Leslie and Miss Leslie, former residents of this city, were in town on a brief visit [illegible] way from the lakes last w[illegible] Leslie was for 16 years a resident of Peterborough, but has not lived here for about 15 years. He is now a resident of Toronto, wh[illegible] his daughter, Miss Leslie, is a professional nurse, in Chicago. They were both agreeably surprised to notice the progress made by the city during his absence. It was like a new town to them, old landmarks having passed away. They both expect to return next season again for a longer visit.

236TH BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT— The GRESSMAN Company Limited WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1911.

67 Wash Dresses in the Annex Wednesday at $1.69

Our sale of $1.69 Wash Dresses of 3 weeks ago was a record maker. We had prepared liberally, but the forenoon practically cleared out the entire offering; and, as it was large, we have been trying to secure another lot equally good. We have just succeeded in getting from a large Montreal manufacturer about 50 excellent garments; and have added, from our regular stock, enough to make up the 67 garments. The lot includes Muslins and Ginghams, etc., in colours and white; some are factory samples and as such are somewhat soiled and mussed. Not a garment worth less than $3.50, quite a sprinkling of $4.50 and $5.00 Dresses in the lot. These Dresses will be displayed in our large centre window TUESDAY AND TUESDAY EVENING. About 30 different styles to choose from; a great many single garments—only one of a kind. Sharp at 8.15 they go on sale in the "Annex." We must decline to accept telephone orders for these. No limit of number to a customer—you can buy for your friends if you desire. Sold only in the "Annex" Wednesday at $1.69

MAYOR MORROW MAY BE CHOSEN BY THE LIBERALS

For some days great interest has been taken in the selection of a Liberal candidate to contest the riding It is said that the Hon. J. R. Stratton has definitely decided to retire from politics, although strongly urged not to do so by his many friends. Mr. R. R. Hall also refused, it is said, to become a candidate. It is rumored that Mayor Morrow is being urged to stand and may accept the nomination of the party, if tendered to him. Mr. Morrow has made an excellent chief magistrate, and would doubtless also make a good candidate. He has a clear record and has nothing to fear in this regard. Rumor has it, however, that he does not seek political honors, and has so far refused to even consider the matter. Pressure may be brought to bear, however, that may induce him to change his mind.

TRACING HOME PURCHASE OF WEAPON TO GRIRO

POLICE SAY REVOLVER FOUND IN LANE WAS BOUGHT BY THE MAN THEY SEEK.

Woman Friend's Story—She Says the Murdered Man and the Suspect Turned From Friends to Enemies.

Toronto, August 1.—A fresh piece of information came into the hands of the police officials this afternoon, in connection with the murder of Frank Sciarone, Italian, when they ascertained the name of the man who had purchased the knife which was picked up in the lane off Front street and which had apparently been thrown away by the fugitive. Inspector Duncan states that at the pawnshop where this was bought on Saturday night at 11.30, he was given the name of the man against whom the warrant has been issued. Frank Griro.

Before this, he had ascertained that Griro had withdrawn his deposit of $100 from the bank, which was there under an assumed name. When the photograph of Griro was shown to the bank manager, it was identified as the same person. It is also known that Griro came under the police attention a few years ago, bearing the name of Frank Rossaro, at which time he was sentenced to the Central.

The inspector is sparing no pains to secure the return of Griro, and in the circulars which are being sent out has given marks which should enable any official to identify him. These are scars on his face, one on the left jaw, one in the centre of the chin, and another on the right wrist.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Interesting statements made at the opening of the inquest called last night to inquire as to who might be the secret enemy of Frank Sciarone, the Italian shot to death on the street on Sunday afternoon, have led the authorities to believe that the tragedy was the outcome of a quarrel, which had originated over a woman. Any facts brought out have not changed the attitude of the police in their belief that the warrant issued yesterday was for the proper party, Frank Griro. Their confidence is further established by the fact that Griro has not been seen at his boarding house since Sunday forenoon, up to which time he was thought to be on terms of friendship with the murdered man.

PURCHASE OF REVOLVER.

In addition to the warrant charging Griro with murder, a batch of circulars, giving minute description of the man, have been issued and will be sent all over the country. The police state that they have proof to the effect that one of the discarded revolvers found in the lane was purchased by the man who has disappeared.

The chief evidence given last night was that of Rosa Burnett, a French woman, who stated that for the past two years she had been living with Griro at a Jarvis street address and that Griro had been carrying a weapon because he was continually afraid that somebody would shoot him in the back.

The police also claim that Griro has been connected with the white slave traffic, and one clause mentioned on the circular states as much, going as far as to say that he is likely to be found around the factory districts or where a large number of young girls gather. The marriage certificate found in the dead man's pocket, they also assert, was used for the same purpose, that of passing questionable girls across the border from the States into Canada under the disguise of a wedding license. The document, it is alleged, was to show to Immigration officers, and it was in this traffic that the men may have quarrelled.

THE GIRL'S STORY.

Rosa Burnett stated that Griro had carried his revolver for the sole purpose of protecting himself against the dead man. The girl told that for two years the men had lived on very friendly terms, that their friendship became less intimate, and gradually grew into fear of each other, from the knowledge each had of the life of the other.

"About three weeks ago he had some words with Sciarone, but nothing to fight about. Then I thought they were friends again. The last I saw of Griro was at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning. He went to the restaurant on York street, and that is the last I have seen of him."

When he left here in the morning, he had taken a revolver with him, stating that he had enemies in town, and was afraid that some one of them might try to shoot him. Griro had not mentioned any names, but she had seen the dead body of Sciarone and identified him as the man with whom Griro had once quarrelled.

The girl herself is being kept in custody on a charge of vagrancy, as the police believe they may get some other information from her which will aid them.

The other witnesses called were the two women, Miss Laura Fenwick and Mrs. Hattie Winger, who saw the shooting. They repeated their statements that the men were walking along peacefully enough when one suddenly swung around and shot the other, then threw down a revolver and ran.

Griro is a barber by trade. He has spent a little less than two years in Toronto, part of which time was passed in the Central Prison on a charge of receiving stolen property. The authorities state that though the man had not worked for some time, he had shown signs of being well off, dressed well, gave the woman plenty of money, and had a deposit in one of the banks. This money was drawn out on Saturday. The inquest will be resumed on Thursday.

THE PEOPLE'S PLATFORM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Times recently published a "platform" a few days ago that all candidates—Grit and Tory—should subscribe to. It provides for a fair deal as between Protestants and Catholics, as well as Grit and Tory. The candidate who refuses to subscribe to such a platform should not be elected.

Equal Rights.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I happened to be sitting in a smoking car on the line between Battle Creek, Mich., and Detroit, and I was very much surprised to hear one man say to a man near him: "I have seen some pretty fine bridges in my day, but the Smith street bridge in Peterborough, knocks them all out. It is a credit to the city." As I was an old resident of Peterborough, I at once became interested, and upon enquiry I found that the man who made the remark was a well-known civil engineer, who has handled many bridges in his day. He got off the train before I had a chance to speak to him as I intended to do.

I at once decided to drop The Times a line, so that residents of the dear old town will know that the place is no back number, so far as, bridges at least, are concerned.

A Knight of the Grip.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—We have a Board of Health in Peterborough, whose functions do not appear to be very well defined. As far as I can see, the Board meets now and then and passes a number of accounts for payment. As regards the public health, that is a matter for the Medical Health Officer, who is the great mogul in all matters pertaining to this department.

I always understood that the duties of a Board of Health is to see that proper sanitary regulations are enforced, and that disease-breeding places are not permitted to exist. We know how poorly this is being done in Peterborough. I can name a dozen places where the law is violated, and where no inspection is apparently made.

MASS MEETING TO BE HELD TO DISCUSS RECIPROCITY

The Canadian National League Will Hold Big Meeting in Peterborough at an Early Date

The sudden dissolution of Parliament finds the Canadian National League in the thick of the fight. Its campaign is being carried on in many parts of the Dominion, but nowhere with more success than in this province. Meetings are being held in every important center and the enthusiasm of the people in fighting the reciprocity measure appears to be on the increase.

A big meeting will be held in Peterboro at an early date, and several leaders of the movement, including Mr. Arthur Hawkes, of Toronto, have promised to speak.

It must be clearly understood that the National League is in no sense a party organization. Its work is purely educational, and its objects are to foster the spirit of Canadian nationality and to oppose any meddling with the national policy.

Full details of the coming meeting will appear in The Times in due course.

$20,000,000 MERGER PLANS NOW COMPLETED

Duluth, Minn., July 31.—Plans for the consolidation of some of the largest shipping corporations on the Canadian side of the Great Lakes, which have been in progress for nearly a year, have been completed, it was announced here to-day. Working arrangements have also been entered into between the merger and the Manchester Liners, Limited, of which Lord Christopher Furness is chairman.

The Canadian companies concerned are among the largest of the navigation companies on the Great Lakes, and include the Northern Navigation Company, the Richelieu & Ontario, the International Transportation Co. the Niagara Navigation Co., the Hamilton Steamboat and the People's Mutual of Toronto.

These companies represent a capital of $20,000,000. The merger will have a fleet of about fifty steamers plying on Lakes Erie, Superior, Michigan, Ontario and Huron, with Montreal as the point of transshipment to ocean ships.

MAN WEIGHED OVER 650 TONS

Baltimore, Aug. 1.—Wm. Filtz, said to weigh 650 lbs., died last night from kidney trouble in a hospital here.

Early in the evening he was removed in a furniture van to the hospital, about seven miles from the suburban resort where he had been on exhibition. Filtz was born in Eastern Pennsylvania 19 years ago.

TO MARRY BY CABLE ROUTE

London, August 1.—The registrar of a Dorsetshire town has received a letter from a naval officer at Gibraltar in the following terms:

"I would be glad if you would tell me the best means of being married by cable. What will it cost? Will it be necessary to have a minister and a registrar at both ends? Of course, I should have witnesses at both ends."

A reply was sent to the affect that the proposal was impossible, but the would-be bridegroom has just written again, expressing his surprise at the inconvenience he is put to "just to get married."

INVITED HIS FRIENDS TO SEE HIM SUICIDE

Wheatland, Wyo., Aug. 1.—"Come up to the shop and see me commit suicide," said John Jesse, a local blacksmith, to his friend, Eugene Saum, yesterday.

"I'll go you," answered Saum, thinking it all a jest.

Reaching the shop, Jesse drank a quantity of chloroform, while Saum still taking it as a joke, looked on in laughter. Not until Jesse fell at his feet did he realize that his friend was in earnest. He rushed for a physician, but Jesse was dead before help arrived.

LITTLE HEROINE SACRIFICED LIFE IN SAVING HER SISTER

Wingham, Ont., Aug. 1.—Edith Jarvis, 12 years old, lost her life yesterday in saving that of her baby sister and little brother.

The three were in the middle of the road, when a runaway team bore down on them at a terrific speed.

It seemed impossible that any of them could escape.

Without any thought of saving herself, the girl gave the baby carriage a push and threw her brother back just as the team bore down on them. She was knocked and trampled by the horses, the wheels of the heavy waggon passing over her body. Medical aid was secured at once, but she died in a few hours.

ARTIST ABBEY PASSED AWAY

London, August 1.—Edwin A. Abbey, the American painter, died here at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Edwin Austin Abbey was born in Philadelphia and was long identified with notable art movements, but in 1878 he moved to London, where he has since lived.

The artist was a son of Wm. Maxwell and Marjorie Anne (Kiple) Abbey. In 1890 he married Mary Gertrude, the daughter of Frederick Meade, of New York. Some of his most notable works include an official picture of the coronation of King Edward VII., executed in 1903-4. Mr. Abbey was an author as well as an artist, and has written a large number of books on art and kindred topics.

EIGHT PATIENTS PERISHED IN HAMILTON ASYLUM FIRE

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 1.—The eight male patients who perished in the fire at the Hamilton Asylum at 1.15 this morning, went to their horrible fate without a cry, without a turn of the hand to ward off the destruction, without even changing their positions in the row of cots crowded into the little room of the fourth storey. Every one of the eight died by asphyxiation.

It is altogether probable that in the grip of a sound sleep, most of them passed out of life scarcely knowing of the tragic process. Their bodies when found were lying straightened out upon the small iron bedsteads. Charred hands were raised towards sightless eyes as though trying in the last moments of consciousness to ward off the black fumes of burning blankets and woodwork.

A FIRESWEPT ROOM.

When a reporter by permission of Dr. English, the hospital superintendent, climbed across a hundred feet of debris to the top of the burned east wing, and looked into the chamber where five of the victims gave up their lives, the picture was one of indescribable confusion and the very epitome of death and disaster.

Long since had the eight bodies been removed to the morgue in Hamilton city, only with the aid of strong attendants had the remains been cleared of the falling timbers, the piles of slate roofing, the charcoal dust heaps and the other confusion of a fireswept room.

RETIRED ON HANDS AND KNEES

The white iron beds lay in regular alignment like pale tombstones in a mass of black. Through the hacked and crumpled roof a fissure of light streamed upon the remnants of the night's tragedy. No sound was heard except the drip, drip, of water passing from ceiling to floor and to the floors below. An attendant stood nearby relating an account of the horror in hall a whisper. "I tried," he said, "to reach the men in this room by my own strength, but when half way here the dense smoke filled with nauseous gases, drove me back, and on my hands and knees returned by the passage way to seek further help"

STORIES AGREE.

His was only one story of a score listened to, and strangely enough all agreed in the essentials of the catastrophe.

A fire of such an extent in an insane asylum is of necessity a calamity of which no human power can successfully guard. Insane patients, as was shown this morning, have very little power of self control.

They do not recognize danger when they are face to face with it. Of the one hundred patients, all men, who were removed from the burning section in safety, not half a dozen showed any desire to escape death or to assist in getting away. Willing and courageous attendants, working heroically with personal recklessness, had to seize men bodily and throw them from the third storey windows in to the nets held out by the firemen.

SEVEN SHOVED OFF LEDGE.

Seven are known to have come to the ground in safety after this manner, but not one was willing to attempt to leap until shoved from the window ledge by firemen. Then with screams of fright they fell with waving arms and legs into the corded rescue nets held out by strong arms below.

What made the destruction of life on the top floor easy to accomplish was the fact that the patients placed there were idiots. They were the most advanced and hopeless cases in the institution. Many of them were bedridden, incapable of moving from their rooms, even though everything was favorable. And it was to such a hopeless, helpless bundle of humanity that the fire fiend paid his first visit.

The only plausible theory of the cause was a defective electric wire in the laundry room adjoining that occupied by the five victims. The smudge of the burning clothes was really what seems to have suffocated the patients. The fumes passed into the hallway and thence into another room where three more men lay sleeping. The entire eight died, it is believed before the flames actually reached them.

CHOKED CHIEF ENGINEER.

Chief Engineer Ironside of the Institution, who made the first attempt to get a line of hose into the hospital, said that he had succeeded in reaching a short distance from the hallway leading to the rooms when a burst of heavy thick smoke descended upon him. "I could not get my breath," he said, "it choked my throat fearfully. I turned quickly and by keeping to my hands and knees got out of its reach."

WATCHMAN AT DINNER.

His efforts were then directed to getting a stream of water through the roof and the wall, which he eventually did, but not before the harvest had been well reaped.

COMPROMISE COMING IN MOROCCAN AFFAIR

Paris, Aug. 1.—Paris newspapers in general express the opinion that the danger point in the Moroccan situation has passed, and that a compromise will be arrived at very soon.

With the arrival of the German Emperor at Swinemunde, the French press has become decidedly hopeful. Whether well, or ill-founded, this change of front reveals a strong belief in the Kaiser's Pacific intentions. The Radical in this connection says "Happily William II. is less impulsive than some of his speeches would lead one to imagine. If, as we believe will be the case, his power will be used on the side of peace and moderation, it will not be the first time that he will have repaired the blunders of his Ministers."

The Rappel says: "It is evident the powers are negotiating for a reasonable rectification of the frontiers in Africa in order to facilitate the occupation of their respective colonies. Regarding from such a standpoint, the question is capable of a peaceful solution."

DYSPEPSIA CURED

WAS WEAK, NOW STRONG.

"For nearly three years," writes Mrs. Ferris Joye, of Sarnia, "I suffered the untold misery of dyspepsia. I was brought up in the United States and attribute the weakened condition of my stomach to hasty eating and excessive ice water at meals. The morbid condition of my stomach affected my liver, and also affected my system in other ways. I suffered distress after eating, burning sensations after the food had passed from the stomach. My appetite would vary for days, having little, then it would seem as if I could not eat enough. Tonics and bitters failed and very severe constipation led me to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Can you imagine the joy after repeated failures to find a remedy that actually will cure. They are a wonderful pill in their action upon the stomach liver and kidneys, and their mild action makes them all the more suited to people that are sick. I am well because of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I owe you a debt of gratitude for them."

Don't fail to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—for general family use, no medicine compares with them. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

SIFTON TO TAKE AN ACTIVE PART

Montreal, Aug. 1.—Hon. Clifford Sifton was at the Windsor Hotel last night but stated that he had nothing to add nor anything to retract from the statement given out at Ottawa as to his position regarding the reciprocity pact.

As to his future plans, Hon. Mr. Sifton made it plain that he intended to continue taking a lively part in the anti-reciprocity campaign.

He stated that he would return to Ottawa to-day and would probably go West later on to join in the fight.

BODY OF JOHN CARROLL.

Found in Stable Near Springville—75 Years Old.

A report from Springville yesterday to the effect that the body found was that of John Carroll, an old man aged 75 years. For some time passed he has been wandering about the country, and told a resident of Springville about six weeks ago, when he was last seen, that his money had run out, and he was in hard circumstances. Constable Archie Moore is in charge of the remains at present. An inquest will be held at the town hall next Wednesday night, at 8 o'clock. It is thought, however, that he took a weak spell and fell in to the manger, where he expired from weakness and his advanced age.

REAL GOLD BRICKS.

Kiln Erected on Ancient Gold Mine in India.

Gold bricks, real ones, may be the means of restoring the ancient frame of Golconda, near Hyderabad, in southern India, once known all the world over for its gold mines, but now a decayed city. The natural pits from which many centuries ago the precious metal was extracted have in course of time filled up with water. A contractor recently obtained permission to make bricks near the place and ten kilns were erected. The first finished bricks aroused curiosity by their yellowish tint, and analysis proved that they contained gold dust. On the basis of the yield of the sample bricks, the ten kilns will aggregate in weight about 12,857 pounds of gold worth over $50,000,000. The site of the find belongs to the Nizam, or native ruler.

IF!

A credulous man was the census enumerator.

When Brawney the blacksmith declared he was 60, he believed him, despite the blacksmith's robust appearance, for robust blacksmiths seldom show their age.

When Susan the spinster declared she was 33, he believed her also, despite her crowmarks and greying hairs(for spinsters do not care to show their age, either.

But when Isaac the idiot wrote the figures 120 under the heading "Father, if living," the Census enumerator rubbed his nose doubtfully, and thought this was a little too much.

"You don't mean to say," he exclaimed, "that your father is really 120 years old?"

"No o' course 'e ain't!" retorted Isaac complacently. "But 'e would 'a' been if livin'."

Her Habit.

"What do you think the young wife of old Moneybags has developed into? She is always crossing or recrossing the ocean. She certainly keeps the transatlantic line busy."

You know, she was formerly a telephone girl.

Swat That Fly.

The transmission of disease by the fly is no longer a mere theory, but is a truth that has been scientifically established.

Keep the flies out of your house. Get screens for the doors and the windows. Be on guard all the time.

Keep screens over articles of food. Don't let flies get near the pantry, kitchen or dining room.

Be doubly careful about keeping flies out of the sickroom. They are likely not only to bring complications of new diseases, but to carry the invalid's disease to many others.

Those who put in their screens promptly will be taking the best precaution against having disease germs introduced into their homes by flies.

There is more health in a house well screened than in many a doctor's visit.

About 50 metals have been discovered in the last 200 years by chemist explorers, but uses have been found for only a few of them.

Recent explorations indicate that China has coal fields containing more fuel than those of all other countries in the world combined.

All He Was Fit For.

"Have buy rags and bones here?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then he jabers," said Pat, "ye may [illegible] on this scales."

NAVAL BATTLE WITH HORSES

How 3,000 Cowboys Captured the Spanish Fleet.

Paez, who was the first President of the Republic of Venezuela, was perhaps the only man who ever fought a naval battle on horseback. It is a matter of history that he, to whom more than any other man, apart from Simon Bolivar, Venezuela owes her independence, actually attacked and captured with his cavalry a fleet of ships.

Bolivar was endeavouring to cross the Apure River in the struggle for independence, but was prevented from doing so by some eight Spanish gunboats, which moved up and down the stream as he did. Bolivar was in despair for a while. To Paez, who was second in command, he appealed for counsel, saying that he could never cross the river so long as the Spanish gunboats were there. "If only we could capture them," the revolutionary leader observed, "the rest would be easy."

Paez decided that he would have those ships or die, and he accordingly told his regiment of cowboys to follow him. Paez himself had been a cowboy on the plains of the Orinoco, and was the idol of his men. So when he spurred his horse into the stream, calling on his men to follow, of the 3,000 cowboys and their mounts, which are taught to swim as well as to gallop, there was not a single man to hold out in this unique assault upon the gunboats. It being night, the Spanish fleet were taken quite unawares. The cowboys wriggled from their saddles to the decks of the vessels, letting their mounts swim back to shore. Having thus cut off their own retreat, it was a question of win or die. They fought well, and every gunboat was captured.

THE EDIBLE CRAB

Something of the Curious Life of This Half Fish Half Animal.

The edible crab is obliged to moult or cast off its shell many times during its life. This moulting appears to be an unpleasant ordeal to pass, for the crabs often die during the act. When we see that they are not only obliged to escape from the carapox (or shell), but also from the hard covering of their legs, delicate mouth-parts, and even gullet — turning themselves inside out, as it were — it is not surprising that they perish during the ordeal. The crab crawls up into some secluded nook or cove in shallow water to moult, out of th way of its hard-shelled relatives, for the helpless, newly-moulted, or soft-shell crab, if found, is devoured by them, as well as by several species of fishes. Fortunately for the crab, the soft covering hardens rapidly, and in a few hours it has a new and strong armour, and it then goes fearlessly out into deep water.

Boosting.

Things may be coming your way but be careful that they do not come with such force as to carry you away with them. There are tides and tides. Some are natural, some are supernatural and some are dangerous, because they move with a force which is too strong for our character and will. "Beware of uncontrolable circumstances". This was an expression which first fell from the lips of Wellington. The editor of a periodical remarks: —

"Old salts, who are forever yarning about wrecks and their causes, have a theory that what is called a "boosting" sea accounts for more than one of the disasters that have occurred in the long history of shipping. A "boosting" sea is a sea that runs heavily after a steamer, and, if it does not actually "poop" the vessel, yet, by the roll of billow after billow, accelerates its speed to a degree unguessed by the navigator, until finally the ship, having unconsciously overrun its course, brings up upon a rock or hidden reef, and is reported at Lloyds' as "lost."

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are Monuments in all sorts of out-of-the-way places but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory o. the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

The Emperor Gorges Himself.

The "Hoei Pao" says that an American doctor recently visited the palace at Peking to examine the baby Emperor, who, it was found, had gorged himself with a meal of swallows' nests (a sort of glutinous material), and thus provoked a raging thirst. The indisposition yielded easily to the doctor's treatment. The Emperor sleeps in a gigantic bed, big enough for six people! he rises at six, at once has a meal of rice-gruel or rice, and then goes to pay his respects to the Dowager Lung-yu.

A sculptor recently produced the likeness of a celebrated personage in whose biography it was mentioned that he regarded architecture as a very secondary art. The son of this personage visited the artist's studio for the purpose of examining the bust, when, after considering it with the air of a connoisseur, he inquired, "Could you not express more clearly his contempt for architecture?"

The heart of a man is divided into many compartments, mostly isolated. Sometimes there is a door between two of them, or even three may be joined together, but usually each one is complete in itself.

Canada's Post Office.

A Devonshire lady once sent to her son a pair of trousers by book post, which is, of course, cheaper than parcel post.

The postal officials wrote to her: "Clothes cannot be sent by book post. If you look in the 'Post Office Guide,' you will see under what conditions articles may be sent by book post."

After a few days the lady replied: "I have looked in the 'Post Office Guide' and find that articles which are open at both ends may be sent by book post. And if trousers are not open at both ends I should like to know what is."

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD.

By Constance Romanne-James.

John Chalmers was finishing [illegible] portrait of a child, the best [illegible] had ever done, when his wife [illegible]ed the studio. That he was conscious of her entry was attested by the frown which darkened his face as she closed the door. Yet he neither spoke nor loked round, but drawing a thin silk curtain over the picture proceded leisurely to scrape the paint from the palette in his hand.

Mrs. Chalmers stood for a moment by the door, watching him, then moved one step forward and stopped again.

"Jack."

He turned to look at her with a grave face.

"So you have come back?"

She clasped and unclasped two thin white hands nervously. It was so difficult to explain he errand. If only her husband would storm and rage. Instead of which he stood calm, unruffled, apparently not very much interested in her re-appearance.

"Will you not sit down?" he asked presently, with cold politeness. "You seem a little upset."

"Upset!" with an angry flush that dyed her pale cheeks scarlet. "A little upset! That is so like you, John Chalmers."

A faint smile played over the man's handsome face.

"I have not altered much in six months, Beatrice. But what can I do for you? You have left Mr.—er—Mr. Waring?"

"For the moment, yes."

"How very interesting." Each word came deliberately. "And if one may venture to inquire, what do you intend to do now?"

His words stung her pride into expression. "You need have no fear," she said bitterly. "I did not come here to-day to propose that you should take me back again."

"I must confess," he answered blandly, "that the idea never occurred to me. You make for happiness, at whatever cost. And we discovered, did we not, that our union was not conducive to happiness?"

"But it might have been." The words came quickly, almost before she realised she had spoken.

Chalmers looked at his wife sharply. "It might have been?"

"Yes yes, yes," she cried passionately, leaning forward in her eagerness. "It might have been. If you had been more human——it might have been. People worship you for your art's sake. If you had been a little less self-sufficient, a little more attentive to me, your young wife—it might have been. Above all, if you had not taken me to live with your stern, Puritanical sister, Isabella, who misjudged me as only a soured, middle-aged woman can hate and misjudge the high-spirited vivacity of a young girl—I tell you again, it might have been."

"And was it to point out my faults you condescended to honour me with a visit to-day?"

Mrs. Chalmers gave a miserable little laugh. "I forgot. Pointing out faults is your prerogative, yours and Isabela's. No, John, I did not come to upbraid you. I came to ask you—to talk about—Bubbins."

"The child."

"Our child."

"She is well looked after in every way. Isabella——"

Mrs. Chalmers put her hands to her ears "No! For God's sake not that. Don't tell me Isabella is a second mother to her, John." She crossed over to where she sat beside the easel playing indiscreetly with palette and brushes, and bent her tall, girlish figure down to his level. "John, the child is nothing to you. Though only three, it's already plain to see how unlike you she is in every way. She has all my characteristics. Every day you are reminded of the unfortunate fact. You must hate her——"

"Won't you give me credit for any fatherly feeling?" he interrupted.

"It is not your fault." The full gaze of her sad eyes was turned upon him. "When the gods endowed you, they decided you could do without anything as commonplace as affection. There was a time once—long ago—when you seemed to be alive. I thought to have married a flesh-and-blood man, and I found him only a thing of stone, feelingless—cold." She gave a little shiver.

"And did you find what I lacked in the man of your maturer choice? Did he understand you as no one else could? I am curious to know."

"You speak in enigmas. I have no idea what you are driving at. Don't you understand? I have come to ask you to let me have Bubbins."

"Bubbins? Let you have the child?" He was startled out of his pose.

"Why do you speak like that? I did wrong in leaving you, and I have suffered. If I am a foolish woman, I am not a bad one. Let me have her, for pity's sake. I can't"—a little sob—"I can't live without her. Rise above yourself, Jack. Mrs. Chalmers laid her hand pleadingly on her husband's arm. "Will you?"

"No," shaking off her hand roughly. "No, no; it is impossible."

"Why? Will you tell me why?"

"You know why. When you left this house as—as you did you forfeited the right to——"

"Daddy!" cried a small imperative voice.

"Daddy!" She pulled his sleeve to attract his attention. "Daddy, somefinks the matter wif Mummy. She's crying. I 'spect you'd better kiss her and make her well. Come!

The big man reluctantly allowed himself to be led to his wife, who still sat with her face hidden in her hands.

"Beatrice!"

A hand was laid on the bowed head. At his touch she looked up, and Bubbins climbing on to the settee, laid her cool cheek against her mother's tear-stained one with a sigh of relief.

"Listen, Beatrice. After all, I am only human. I cannot deny you what you ask. You shall have the little one, provided you let me see her sometimes."

Eminent Toronto Physicians

Failed to Cure Rheumatism.

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure with "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

CURED 3 YEARS.

A UNIVERSITY AT NIGHT.

Columbia University of New York is working toward the establishment of a complete plan of education to be carried on at night. For the year 1911-12 there will be 150 courses, conducted by 100 teachers. By means of these courses, says the Post, men and women who are busy during the day can devote part of their late afternoons and evenings to the pursuit of any particular study. Those who have an academic degree in view may also, after matriculating, take these courses and have them count towards their degree. Of the college course, all but one year's work may be done in these classes. One of the features of the plan will be a full three years' course in commerce and finance, including instruction in accounting, practical auditing, costs accounts, executors' accounts, commercial geography, industrial history, economic history, European banking, insurance, agency, bankruptcy, etc.

Five thousand requests for information show the wide-spread interest that is taken in this scheme of education. There is no reason why a boy or girl who leaves school at fourteen years of age should be debarred from benefits of higher education. The actual experience of the battle of life tends to make the night students earnest and appreciative of the benefits of education. The drawback is that the student who has been working at earning his living during the day is apt to be wearied, and not fitted for hard and long study. But this can be met by modifying the character of the teaching. The evening sessions will be short, and it may be that it would be necessary to compensate for this by making the course longer.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Why Irish Millionaires Are Scarce

In a classification of millionnaires by nationalities it will be found that Irishmen are very far down on the list. Why this should be so may seem hard to understand at first. The Irishman, generally speaking, possess more than average intelligence.

He is an excellent workman and a capable business man. But the fact remains that he rarely becomes a millionaire.

The Rev. Francis X. McCabe, President of a great university, has offered an interesting solution. He says the fault, if it can be called a fault, is in the Irishman's heart, not in his brain or business acumen. The Irishman is so generous toward his fellow man that he has little chance to accumulate millions for himself.

"Irish generosity is a bar to the 'Irish millionnaire' is the way that President McCabe puts it. That is why there are not nearly so many millionnaire Irishmen as there are millionnaires of other individual nationalities.

"The Irish are always looking on the bright side of things to come, not only for themselves but for others as well. They have carried with them always a spirit of optimism. They are, moreover, a people of deep religious convictions and faith. They have done an important work in the building up of the civilization of the world.

And, after all has been said and done, this may be better than becoming more millionnaires.

Verdi Played Many Hours

It is related of Verdi that in early youth he went to the instrument at all hours, early and late, playing scales and discovering chords and harmonious combinations. Sometimes he would forget or lose one of his favourite chords, and then there was an outburst of genuine native passion which was quite contrary to his usually quiet demeanor. Once, when labouring under one of these fits of temper, he seized a hammer and began to hit the keyboard with it. His father, attracted by the noise, rushed in and by administering prompt chastisement, stopped further efforts of a similar sort in the direction of piano hammering.

Coops in Fields for Babies.

That necessity is the mother of invention is shown by the hundreds of little buildings resembling chicken coops which are scattered over the wheat fields of Weld county to provide daytime homes for the babies of the Russians who work in the wheat fields.

The Russian mothers are obliged to take their babies to the fields and have built these little structures of wood, covering them with canvas. At noon and once in the morning and in the afternoon the mothers visit their children, leaving them alone for the remainder of the day.

The youngsters are apparently contented and remain in their little coops without a cry, gazing through the slats at the passerby.

When they begin to study elocution they're never happy until they learn to recite, "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

The man who gets away with it is the man who lies clumsily to his wife about little things. She never suspects him of the big ones.

SELF-DEPRECIATION NOT ALWAYS GENUINE.

Partakes of the same Character as Self-Assumption.

Self-depreciation partakes of the same character as self-assumption. Both come from over-thought of self, and both vanish when self is merged in something else. Just as soon as we are earnestly anxious for some result we begin to work for it, without stopping to gauge our powers or to think anything at all about them. The mother who ardently loves her child and desires his best good does not spend her time in bewailing her unfitness to take care of him. She begins at once, and does her best, and her power grows with every effort. The business man with a family depending upon him does not delay providing for the members because he distrusts his ability to do so; he forgets to consider that, and simply pursues his work as well as he can. So in every instance, if the self-depreciative will cease thinking about themselves at all, and devote all their thought and energy to the duty in hand, they will find their strength and fitness for the work grow with exercise, and the fears which have stood in the way of success will melt away.

THE CANADIAN FLAG

How One Mother Teaches Patriotism To Her Boy.

Here is an excellent plan tried by one mother for teaching patriotism and a high regard for his country's flag, and an equally high regard for truth and square dealing, to her small son. In this boy's room a Canadian flag hangs on one wall, serving as the principal decoration of the room.

But sometimes the flag does not hang in its accustomed place — now and then the flag comes down from the wall and is furled and carried into mother's room, for, says this mother to her small boy, "The cross of St. George is not to shield and protect and wave over any but the brave and true," therefore when a boy strikes a smaller boy, or when he misrepresents things or shields himself at the unjust expense of one of his playmates, when boyish arguments and tarrels arise, the flag comes down.

Not very often is it away from its accustomed place on the wall of the boy's room, the occasions are growing more and more infrequent.

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

296TH BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT— The CRESSMAN Company Limited WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1911.

67 Wash Dresses in the Annex Wednesday at $1.69

Our sale of $1.69 Wash Dresses of 3 weeks ago was a record maker. We had prepared liberally, but the forenoon practically cleared out the entire offering; and, as it was large, we have been trying to secure another lot equally good. We have just succeeded in getting from a large Montreal manufacturer about 50 excellent garments; and have added, from our regular stock, enough to make up the 67 garments. The lot includes Muslins and Ginghams, etc., in colours and white; some are factory samples and as such are somewhat soiled and mussed. Not a garment worth less than $3.50, quite a sprinkling of $4.50 and $5.00 Dresses in the lot. These Dresses will be displayed in our large centre window TUESDAY AND TUESDAY EVENING. About 30 different styles to choose from: a great many single garments—only one of a kind. Sharp at 8.15 they go on sale in the "Annex." We must decline to accept telephone orders for these. No limit of number to a customer —you can buy for your friends if you desire. Sold only in the "Annex" Wednesday at $1.69

Peterborough vs. Lindsay.

In all probability the fast team representing the West End Athletic Association, of Peterborough, which played a game in Lindsay last year, will play here again on Saturday next. August 5. Manager Oldham was in town to-day and made arrangements for the game, stating that the Petes will run an excursion and figure on bringing between two and three hundred people to town. The games between Lindsay and Peterborough will be looked forward to by the Lindsay fans.

New Cafe.

Mr. N. Douros has taken a lease of China Hall premises, and will open out an up-to-date cafe. For eleven months Mr. Douros has conducted the Boston Cafe, and finds that his business has grown so rapidly that larger premises are required. He proposes to spend about $5000 in fixing up the old China Hall store, which will make it in line with modern Peterborough.

Programme of Sports.

The trades and Labor Council have mapped out a splendid programme for their big demonstration on Labor day as follows:

THE POWER OF SYMPATHY.

Mothers Too Often Form a Habit of Constant Reproof.

Although conscious of the power of sympathy, many loving but overtired mothers not only forget to show affection but form a habit of constant reproof. Naturally enough, the children, unless exceptionally callous to their surroundings, become sullen and resentful. How can they realize that the nagging is an expression of anxious affection?

When Johnny comes rushing into the house full of enthusiasm over some new play or new idea, and eager to tell his plans, such a mother exclaims, "How many times have I told you to wipe your feet before you open the door?" The greetings dims his enthusiasm, and, hurt and wounded, he draws back into himself, and will not again expose himself to such a snub. He confides in her less and less as he grows older, and she wonders way.

There is sound psychology in the statement that if you believe a man is honest he will be honest; that if you trust a young man he will prove trustworthy; that if you praise a child he will deserve praise. Benjamin West's mother kissed her boy when he showed his drawings to her; and the boy, when grown to manhood, said that her kiss made a painter of him

A RAVENOUS INDUSTRY.

How the Paper Makers Are Destroying the Forests of the United States.

The forests of the United States now cover 550,000,000 acres, or about one-fourth of the area of the country. Forests publicly owned contain one-fifth of all timber standing. The timber privately owned is not only four times that publicly owned but it is generally more valuable.

Forestry is not practised on 70 per cent. of the forests publicly owned and on less than 1 per cent. of the forests privately owned, or on only 18 per cent. of the total area of the forests.

The original forests of the United States contained timber in quantity and variety far beyond that upon any other area of similar size in the world. They covered 850,000,000 acres with a stand of not less than 5,200,000,000 board feet of merchantable timber, according to present standards of use. There were five great forest regions—the northern, the southern, the central, the Rocky Mountain and the Pacific.

The present rate of cutting is three times the annual growth of the forests of the United States. The great pineries of the Lake States are nearing exhaustion and great inroads have been made upon the supply of valuable timber throughout all parts of the country.

The heavy demands for timber have been rapidly pushing the great centres of lumber industry towards the South and West. In consequence, the State of Washington has led for several years in lumber production, followed in order by Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Wisconsin and Arkansas. In 1908 the production of yellow pine lumber amounted to eleven and one-quarter billion feet; the Douglas fir of the Northwest held second place, with three and two-thirds billion feet; while white pine came third, with three and one-third billion feet.

The annual cut from the forests, including waste in logging and in manufacture, is 20,000,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

There is used in a normal year 90,000,000 cords of fire wood, 40,000,000,000 board feet of lumber, 118,000,000 hewn ties, 1,500,000,000 staves, over 122,000,000 sets of heading, nearly 500,000,000 barrel hoops, 3,000,000 cords of native pulp wood, 165,000,000 cubic feet of round mine timbers and 1,250,000 cords of wood for distillation.

In 1909 4,992,000 cords of wood were used in the manufacture of paper, of which 794,000 cords were imported from Canada. The demand for pulp wood is making a severe drain on the spruce forests, which furnish the principle supply. The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations to determine what other woods, such as scrub pine, white fir, tupelo and the like, can be successfully used.

A larger drain upon forest resources is made by the demand for railroad ties, of which 123,754,000, equivalent to three and three-quarters billion board feet, were used in 1906. White oak, hitherto the chief source of supply, is not plentiful enough to meet this demand indefinitely, and in many parts of the country the supply of chestnut, cedar and cypress is dwindling; however, seasoning and treating methods are being found, largely through the work of the Forest Service, by which cheaper and more plentiful woods, such as lodgepole pine the Northwest and loblolly pine in the South, are made fit for use as Timber to the amount of two one-half billions feet was used in for mine timbers. A great saving has been effected in the naval industry, also largely through the work of the Forest Service, by the abolition of the so-called "cup" system of turpentining in place of the "box" system. This system insure a larger proportion of quality and prolong the life of the longleaf pine forests upon which the industry depends.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

COAL FAMINE.

Winnipeg, July 28.—The coal famine continues acute over Saskatchewan and Alberta. Even if the mines were opened to-morrow the famine could not be relieved by winter. Practically no coal in the past has gone into those two provinces from any field outside of that in which the strike prevails. All railway officials agree that there are no adequate facilities for getting fuel in via the lakes. It is a physical impossibility. Any relief must come from across the line, and this is only possible through the suspension of the tariff.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have beenpresenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Mountezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties,

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal" Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly installments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction poin for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate ?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

A SURE ROAD TO A HAPPY OLD AGE.

This describes in a few words the Canadian Government Annuities Scheme. That this "sure road" is available to all residents of Canada who are over 5 years of age irrespective of sex, health, age or worldly position, is worthy of consideration. Parents may begin the purchase of Annuities for their children, or children, who have prospered, may find in this scheme a safe way to provide an income for fathers and mothers who have not been so fortunate in life as they. On the other hand, people who have a limited income can increase that sum substantially by the transfer of their capital to the Government for the purchase of an Annuity.

Full particulars may be obtained concerning this Scheme by addressing the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa. Postage free.

FINE SERMON DECLARED ROCKEFELLER.

Cleveland, O., July 31.—John D. Rockefeller admitted yesterday that great wealth is somewhat of a burden. He confessed it to the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, of Oklahoma City, following the latter's sermon at the Euclid avenue Baptist church. Dr. Jones was supplying the pulpit in the absence of the regular pastor, the Rev. W. W. Bustard

"The coronation crown of Kings are all too heavy," said Dr. Jones, in his sermon. "This is evidenced in Royalty throughout Europe. In like manner the crown of wealth is much too burdensome; in fact, it is so heavy that all who wear it complain of its weight, and eventually find that its burden takes the real satisfaction out of life and banishes peace from the heart."

"That was one of the best sermons I have ever heard in my life," said Mr. Rockefeller to the minister at the conclusion of the service. "Your words were full of solemn truth; indeed, I was deeply interested."

ELEVEN LIVES WERE LOST

Hurricane Did Much Damage to Shipping Along the Atlantic Coast.

Boston, July 31.—Grim tales of loss of life and disaster to shipping by the West Indian hurricane which swept the New England coast, continue to come in.

Eleven lives are known to have been lost, and a long list of fishing and coasting craft and yachts wrecked or disabled is constantly growing.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

QUICK PROFITS

Present Offer of Stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, Gives Exceptional Opportunity for Quick and Large Profits on a Small Investment

A judicious investment made now in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company may give you a START TO FORTUNE that you could never obtain any other way.

Can you close your eyes and mind against this opportunity to invest a few dollars, in the greatest of all industries, that in a short time may mean a fortune for you ?

Look what $100 invested in oil in the following oil companies of California has produced :

$100 invested in the Monte Cristo Oil Company has since had a value of $1500.

$100 invested in the American Oil Fields Company has since had a value of $2000.

$100 invested in the N. Y. Oil Company has since had a value of $2500.

$100 invested in the Hume Oil Company has since had a value of $40,000.

$100 invested in the Union Oil Company now has a value of $150,000.

Oil has made more millionaires quicker than any other industry, and California produces more than one-quarter the entire output of the world.

Oil is conceded to be the giant among power-producers. Where oil has displaced coal, coal never come back.

WILDCATTING FEATURES ELIMINATED.

In advising my clients to buy stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, I am basing that advice upon several sound reasons. First, the property is located in the great Midway field. It is literally fenced in by producers. The company has a small capitalization. The lease is fully paid for. $25,000 has been subscribed and is now deposited in the bank to cover the expense of drilling Well No. 1. The property and equipment is paid for. All stock sold is for the benefit of the company and the money received goes into new development. The field management of the company is an experienced and capable one. The directorate is composed of clean, reputable, well-known business men who have demonstrated their faith in the Midway Maple Leaf by investing in the company $60,000 of their own money.

DIRECTORS WELL-KNOWN SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN.

Thomas Allan, capitalist, Vancouver, B. C.

George L. Kavanagh, Montreal, P. Q., proprietor "The Fair," wholesale millinery.

Wm. Savage, Vancouver, B. C., McLellan, Savage & White, solicitors.

Don C. Aldridge, San Francisco, Calif., secretary and treasurer Sutcliffe Investment Co.

H. V. Hinsdale, Vancouver, B. C., stock broker.

P. L. J. LeFeuvre, Vancouver, B. C., real estate broker.

LITERALLY FENCED IN BY GUSHERS.

The Midway Maple Leaf's property is right in the center of a triangle, formed by three big gushers namely, the "Standard" on section 20 to the west, the "Honolulu" on section 10 to the north and the other "Standard" on section 28, almost directly south, three of the largest flowing wells in the entire Midway field, while a mile and a half further, directly south, lies the famous Lakeview gusher, the largest oil well in the world.

The chances for bringing in a gusher on section 22 are just as good, with proper depth, as they ever were on sections 10, 20 and 28, referred to above.

No one has a monopoly on gushers.

THIS IS CERTAINLY PROVEN GUSHER TERRITORY.

A "HONOLULU" or "STANDARD" GUSHER, SIMILAR TO THOSE ON SECTIONS 10, 14 and 28, would mean a fortune for every stockholder owning a thousand shares or more.

Even if we only develop a 1000-barrel well of 26 gravity, this production will not only be sufficient to pay a good dividend on the par value of the outstanding stock BUT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CAPITAL TO CONTINUE THE DRILLING OF WELLS.

In this connection it must be remembered that the oil developed in this section of the Midway field IS WORTH ABOUT TWICE THE PRICE OF THE OIL DEVELOPED ELSEWHERE IN THIS PART OF CALIFORNIA.

STOCK NOW ONLY 30 CENTS A SHARE.

Only 25,000 shares are offered at the present price of 30 cents, par value $1.00, fully paid and forever non-assessable. From present indications this block will be over subscribed.

An advance in price may be announced any time.

Get your order in to-day for the amount of stock you want. Send your remittance in by the first mail possible, or wire and let your remittance follow by mail.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir,—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd.

The Proposed Hat Factory.

Mr. M. Mannist, the promoter of the proposed hat manufacturing industry, leaves for New York this morning in connection with this matter. He will return about the middle of next week.

A Cow Case.

A breach of a civic by-law was charged against a resident of the north ward, at the Police Court yesterday, for allowing his cow to run at large. It was shown, however, that some small boys left a gate open through which the animal escaped. The by-law will be rigidly enforced hereafter.

Charge Withdrawn.

The charge made by a man named Cullen against Nicholls, of Bobcaygeon, of pointing a revolver at him, was to have been heard by County Police Magistrate Edmonson yesterday, but was withdrawn. As usual there is a woman in the case, and Nicholls and his wife, it is said, have agreed to separate.

Mrs. Chalmer's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Chalmers will take place this afternoon from the residence of her sister, Mrs. D. Hutchinson, 578 Stewart street, at one o'clock p.m., and proceed to the English church cemetery, 3rd concession Cavan, 2 miles west of Centreville. Service at 12.30.

Circulation Booming.

The circulation of The Times is booming these days. Yesterday we received nine paid subscribers from Harvey township, Ewan Post Office. It will thus be seen that the north is swinging into line with the more southerly sections of the district, in widening the circulation and thus increasing and strengthening the power of The Times.

The Harrison Inquest.

The inquest on the body of Mrs. Thomas Harrison at Frazerville, was opened at the Orange Hall, and was again adjourned until August 14. There was no new evidence of a startling nature brought out. Considerable interest is being taken in the inquest by people living in the neighborhood, and the result is being awaited with anxiety.

Civic Holiday.

Civic Holiday falls on August 14th —the second Monday in the month. This is another holiday on which the "nothin' doing" sign will be displayed in Peterboro. Many other places are having splendid programmes of sports, and thus keeping their citizens at home, where their money will also be spent.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Is Going West.

It was with regret that the many friends of Mr. Milson Blewett, of the Peterborough Hardware Company, heard of his decision to go west. He will in a couple of weeks take his departure for Regina, where he will henceforth reside. The Times joins in wishing him all possible success in his new home.

The Morning Newspaper.

The morning newspaper aids every right-living man or woman to "begin the day" aright—to begin it with a knowledge of what is going on in the world. This knowledge is not confined to events, but includes store news, buying possibilities. For logical and balanced people place a sensible valuation on advertising—have a keen sense of its usefulness to them The Times fills this position exactly.

Another Narrow Escape.

Last night as a bicyclist rode down George street, a buggy turned out of Hunter street and collided with the cyclist. The machine was slightly damaged, but the rider escaped unhurt. The principals of the accident left the scene before their names could be learned. A street car nearly bumped into the buggy before it was removed.

Bishop Fallon Here.

At the golden jubilee of Bishop O'Connor, which will take place tomorrow, Pontifical High Mass will be celebrated at 9.30 by His Lordship, at which the sermon will be preached by Bishop Fallon, of London, who is regarded by the members of his church and others as one of the most eloquent speakers in the Church. After the mass a presentation and address will be made by the priests of the diocese, followed by a presentation and address by the lay people of the diocese. At eight o'clock Bishop O'Connor will hold a reception on the lawn of St. Peter's Cathedral. At this reception a large assembly is anticipated. Many visitors from all parts are expected, and the 57th Band will be in attendance.

FINE MILCH COWS.

Interesting Figures Taken From the June Records of Some of the Local Cow Testing Associations.

In looking over the June records some remarkable differences in the yield of individual cows are shown.

In the Ennismore Association, the best cow gave 1770 lbs. of milk and over 60 lbs. of fat, while the poorest cow gave 745 lbs. of milk and about 26 lbs. of fat, or less than half that produced by the best cow.

In the Trewern Association, the best cow produced 1620 lbs. of milk and over 56 lbs. of fat, while the poorest cow produced 570 lbs. of milk and 16 lbs. of fat.

At Shearer, the best cow gave 1380 lbs. of milk and 454 lbs. of fat, while the lowest cow gave 560 lbs. of milk and 19 lbs. fat.

In the Warsaw Association, the best cow gave 1140 lbs. of milk and 52 lbs. fat, while the lowest cow gave 760 lbs. of milk and 25 lbs. of fat.

A herd of eight cows in the Norwood Association, has the high average of 1387 lbs. milk and 44 lbs. fat. A herd like this should be an inspiration to every farmer.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Dundas, Ont." will be received at this office until 4.00 P. M., on Tuesday, August 8, 1911, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained on application at the office of Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station F, Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont., at the Post Office, Dundas, Ont., and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

VOL XXXIV NO. 177 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY AUGUST 3 1911 PRICE TWO CENT

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF RIGHT REVEREND BISHOP O'CONNOR

Fifty Years Ago Yesterday Witnessed His Ordination Into Priesthood

Fifty years ago yesterday Right Reverend Bishop O'Connor was ordained a priest of the Roman Catholic Church, the event being marked by a demonstration at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning. The festivities will be continued until Friday evening. There is a large number of Roman Catholic Clergy present from all sections of the country to do honor to the occasion. The proceedings yesterday morning consisted of high mass, the spacious church being filled to its utmost capacity. The pews on either side of the altar were filled with about 300 delegates from the parishes in the Peterborough diocese. The sisters of Mount St. Joseph, about 75 in number, occupied the gallery on the right of the sanctuary.

The celebration exercises opened by the procession of priests, both visiting and local, who entered the church from the rear and marched up the aisles, while the choir sang beautiful and appropriate music. Miss Lavina Hallihan, of Toronto, assisted in the musical part of the celebration.

After the clergy had taken their places in the pews, the visiting Bishops and Archbishops and other dignitaries escorted His Lordship into the sanctuary where the singing of the pontificial high mass was performed by His Lordship. The following Bishops and Archbishops, attired in their purple and black robes, of office, occupied seats within the sanctuary—Most Reverend C. H. Gauthier, the Archbishop of Ottawa; Rt. Reverend W. MacDonnell, Bishop of Alexandria; Rt. Reverend D. J. Scollard, Bishop of Sault Ste Marie; Rt. Reverend M. F. Fallon, of London; Rt. Reverend Mgr. McCann, of Toronto; Rt. Reverend Aylward of London, Rt. Reverend Dean Mahony, of Hamilton, representing the Bishop of Hamilton; Very Reverend Dr. Kidd of Toronto; Rt. Reverend M. J. Spratt of Kingston; Very Reverend W. J. Murphy, of Ottawa; and Archdeacon Casey of Lindsay, and Dr. O'Brien of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Peterborough.

The following dignitaries assisted in the ceremony of the high mass—Deacons of Honor, Dean Murray, of Brockville; Dean Moyna, of Barrie, and Fathers Guerin and Powell, dean of office.

Bishop Fallon of London delivered a masterly and most acceptable sermon, eulogizing the faithful and devoted life of His Lordship, in whose honor the celebration was in progress His text taken from Leviticus was "Thou shalt sanctify the fiftieth year for it is the jubilee."

After Bishop Fallon's eloquent remarks, an address from the priests was read by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, to which his Lordship made a suitable reply.

Then followed an address from the lay people of the diocese, read by Mr. D. O'Connell, K.C., which also brought forth an eloquent reply from His Lordship.

Luncheon was served at the rectory which was partaken of by about 150 of the visiting priests.

Last night a reception was held on the lawn of St. Peter's Cathedral, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The 57th band was present and rendered a fine program of music.

FERRY STRUCK A ROCK SEVEN WERE DROWNED

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 2.—The steamer Sirus, of the Cornwall-Massena ferry, is lying in the DeGrassi River, about midway between here and Massena, where she has run as a ferry for the past ten years, and of the four-score passengers she carried out of Massena, N.Y., on an excursion yesterday afternoon, seven have been drowned.

The Sirus left Massena at 2 o'clock having on board besides the regular passengers, about 40 members of the Young Married Women's Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church and their children, bound for the St. Lawrence Park at Cornwall. At Brewer's Point about three miles above where the DeGrassi River empties into the St. Lawrence, the Sirus put in to take on board a passenger, a little girl, who is now among the missing. The Sirus swung out from the dock, and striking a rock, listed dangerously. The crowd ran to one side, then to the other, and the boat capsized with her head turned up stream instead of down. The river is only a 100 feet wide at this point and only ten feet deep.

MANY WERE SAVED.

The excitement was intense, but the officers and crew, along with the male passengers, worked hard and carried many of the women and children ashore. Out of the 30 females on board, six were drowned.

The bodies recovered so far are those of Walter, the seven-year-old son of Bert Hackett, of Massena, N.Y.; Miss Hattie Packer, school teacher, and Miss Mildred Packer, both of Ogdensburg; a clerk, who had been visiting at H. Raymond's, Massena; Miss Frances Frego, daughter of Jos. Frego, of Massena, who was the young lady who boarded the boat at Brewer's Point; Miss Ada Dewey, of Massena; and Miss Bunbar, of Grantly, Ont., Mrs. Fred Bailey, of Massena. There is at least one body so far unrecovered and there may be more. The DeGrassi River is being dragged and by tomorrow the tale of horror may have enlarged even as did that of the Rossmore Hotel fire a year ago.

LADIES INJURED.

Mrs. (Rev.) Thomas English, wife of a former pastor of Fort Covington N.Y., was resuscitated after great difficulty; and Mrs. Daniel Morrison, of Massena, had her back injured and her legs are believed to have been paralyzed in consequence.

A phone message received at ten o'clock last night from Massena stated that the seventh victim of the disaster was Mrs. E. R. Frith, of Maxville, Ont., whose husband was on the road to Cornwall, expecting to accompany her home.

EDITOR MOBBED BY SOME LADIES

Had to Threaten to Shoot Some of Them Before He Was Able to Escape.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 2.—Frank H. Guthneck, an editor of Westville, Ill., yesterday was attacked and beaten in the street by women who were enraged over references made to them and their daughters in his paper. After the editor's spectacles had been smashed, he drew a revolver and by threatening to shoot, escaped to the home of a friend. He was escorted to this city by Deputy Sheriffs and swore out warrants for several women.

Chief of Police Jakonis swore out a warrant for Guthneck, charging him with carrying concealed weapons and making threats.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

THE CHIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—From appearances it would seem that the readers of your valuable paper are obliged to go to the other papers if they require to know anything about the Chimes. In other words the Chimes' board do not use The Times in making statements to the public. I protest against this as unfair to the readers of your paper, many of whom I believe, are contributors to the Chimes' fund. By slighting The Times, which has long been recognized as the organ of the Protestants of Peterborough, and district, they are doing themselves harm I would not like to think that the attitude of the paper on religious matters has anything to do with it. Perhaps it has—it looks a little that way, I must confess.

I do not think there is any reason to find fault with the bells. They are sweet in tone and harmony, and are certainly a very great attraction to the city. But Rev. Mr. Davidson should deal fairly with all the local papers in handing out statements for publication concerning the Chimes.

Fair Play.

MAYOR MORROW AS A LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed in your issue of today an article regarding the prospect of securing Mayor Morrow as a candidate for the Liberal party for the House of Commons. What I would suggest, if there is any doubt about Mr. Stratton not coming to the front is that Mr. Morrow be chosen. If he is selected, and will subscribe to the Protestant platform, as outlined in The Times a few days ago, he will stand a good chance of being elected. He would, however, have to make up his mind to lose the active support of the Roman Catholic clergy. This might mean considerable, for no longer can it be said that there is no unity among Protestants. Whoever runs, no matter on which side, he will have to figure on a Protestant vote that will be effective in electing or defeating one side or the other. This is no speculation—it is a cold reality.

Personally, I have a very high regard for Mr. Morrow, and have always supported the Liberal party. I therefore, would be glad if our candidate would agree to stand out from clerical influence and servitude. Let us have men who will not be controlled by priest or preacher, but who are prepared to deal equally with all classes and creeds.

An Old Liberal.

DOCK HANDS ON STRIKE

London, Aug. 2.—The meat trade of England is seriously threatened by a strike of 12,000 dock laborers at the London docks to-day, growing out of a dispute over wages. The men claim that their employers promised an increase commencing July 31, but their pay envelopes when received failed to contain the advance. Separate meetings of the strikers and the employers were held to discuss the situation.

At least twenty steamers, including the Minnehaha, which has just arrived at Tilbury with a cargo of dressed beef from America, the Anglican from Boston and boxed meats and other freighters are unable to discharge.

Many other vessels are loaded with meats from Australia, New Zealand and Argentina.

The meats and other perishable goods are being taken care of in refrigerators aboard the steamers, but if the strike continues there will be a shortage in the London Provinces.

Police reserves were sent to the docks, but their services were not required.

The men went quietly from steamer to steamer calling on their fellow-workers to join the movement and in every case were successful.

TALK OF LYNCHING AFTER THE MURDER AT CHATHAM

CITIZENS EXCITED WHEN THE NEWS OF HOW THOS. BROWN WAS KILLED SPREAD.

Detectives Quickness—Arrested the Negro Hurst and Quickly Lodged Him Behind the Bars.

Chatham, Aug. 2.The quick detective work executed last evening by Policeman Thomas Groves probably saved a lynching in Chatham. The news of the murder of Thomas Brown by Charles Hurst, a colored man, spread like wild fire. It was the climax to a colored celebration held here to commemorate the release of the negroes from slavery. All day on Tecumseh Park the negroes held sway. Visitors were present from various centres and a couple of brass bands discoursed sweet music. A baseball game was played and excitement reigned supreme among the colored population. The park is in close proximity to a hotel, and it is said that the hotel did a thriving business.

Several speeches were given by colored orators from Detroit, Dresden, and Chatham, the keynote of the sentiment being the peacefulness with which the colored people and the whites now reside together all over the Dominion.

FOLLOWED HIS VICTIM.

The listening crowds were exhorted to continue in peace and harmony, but these lofty ideas found no response within the breast of the excitable Hurst. He attended the celebration with another man's wife. On the way home about six o'clock he and the woman became entangled in an altercation. Thomas Brown passed them while they were disputing on the street. He was on his way home. The woman later left Hurst and followed Brown down Colbourne street. Hurst then pursued her and when up to her devoted his attention to Brown instead of the woman. He struck him with a club inflicting a gash above his temple and below the eye. Brown died almost immediately.

TALKED OF LYNCHING.

The news quickly spread to the park, and there was some excited talk among some of the white people there to form a lynching party. A search was instituted, but Officer Groves, who was placed on the case, stole a march and rounded up his man and placed him in jail.

Before City Clerk Merritt, Hurst was arraigned on a charge of murder. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded until August 8. After being warned, Hurst was asked why he did it, and he replied because Brown had called him a vile name.

There were scores of eye witnesses, who will be called upon to give evidence.

12-YEAR-OLD HERO RESCUES WOMAN AND BABY FROM WATER

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Here's another name for the Hall of Fame—Frank Walker, 12 years old, 277 Logan avenue.

The plucky lad rowed out with Miss Anna Brown, of Simcoe Park, into Ashbridge's Bay yesterday afternoon to rescue the crew of a 25 foot yacht which had upset off Morse street in the treacherous shallows of the bay. He and his companion were first to get to the two men, the woman, and the five year-old girl, who were floundering about in the water and they brought back the woman and her babe in his little boat, safe to shore.

Two brothers, named Beggs rowed out a few minutes later, and brought in the two men, after they had taken the centreboard off their yacht.

The men and the women refused to give their names.

ROWED LIKE A MADMAN.

Residents at the beach are loud in their praises of the plucky boy, who ran for his boat as soon as he saw the mast of the yacht dip over.

MOWERS COULD NOT TOUCH THIS CROP

Calgary, Aug. 2. At Balgreggon, a farm and horse ranch, close to Calgarry, the property of the well-known Scottish ranchman, John Turner, there is a crop of timothy, red top, and brome of so thick a growth, that it is impossible to cut it by a mower. It had to be harvested like wheat or oats, by binders. The crop will run four tons to the acre, which is nearly double the average yield of such crops per acre. It is stocked over a fifteen acre field in heavy shocks and presents a luxuriant appearance.

QUARRELED ON RELIGION ONE MAN IS NOW DEAD

Montreal, Aug. 2.—J. B. Bisson is dead at his home here, and Auguste Leroux, his neighbor is held on a charge of manslaughter as the result of a discussion on religion which took place last night.

Both men are Roman Catholics and during a debate on religious subjects an altercation arose which led to blows, when Bisson fell to the ground striking his head and becoming unconscious, remaining in that condition until death came.

A Close Call.

Two young lads were fishing from a canoe on the river above Nassau yesterday, and in attempting to land a fish in the current, their boat was upset. Neither could swim, but they managed to cling to the overturned craft until the current landed them in shallow water. It was a close call for one of the boys, who was so far gone that he had to be held up by his companion. People who cannot swim have no business in a canoe.

TEN SOCIALISTS JAILED, BROKE SUNDAY BLUE LAWS

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 2.—In addition to carrying out his announced intention of fasting during his brief term of imprisonment, Upton Sinclair, Socialist and author, is breaking stone at the Newcastle County workhouse to-day, dressed in prison stripes.

His nine associates of the Arden colony of Socialists are likewise employed. If the ex-Ardenites expected a holiday when they declared in favor of spending 16 hours at the workhouse instead of paying the fine of $4 each, imposed upon them by Magistrate Robertson last night, in the actions for breaking Sunday laws in playing baseball and tennis, they were disappointed.

The action against Sinclair and his associates was brought by George Brown, who calls himself a "philosophical anarchist," and who last week served five days for insisting upon speaking at a meeting of the Arden club in the colony. Sinclair threatens to invoke the Sunday law against members of the Wilmington County Club, and others who indulge in amusements on Sunday, in order, he says, to demonstrate the absurdity of such "blue laws" in these times.

THE PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD

An Advance of 9-16c Was Made Over Last Sale.

The Peterborough Cheese Board met yesterday morning. At the opening of the meeting Mr. Hawthorne moved that a grant of $15 be made to the East Peterborough Agricultural Society for prizes on cheese, on the condition that the Society give an equivalent sum, making in all $30.

This was seconded by Mr. Breckenridge and carried unanimously by those present.

Mr. Watkins opened the bidding at 12¼c, at which figure he purchased Villiers, Westwood, Ormonde and Killarney.

At 15 5-16c. Mr. Thompson bought Shearer, Central Smith, Selwyn, Oakdale, Daisy D., Maple Leafe, Myrtle, Lang, Indian River, Bensfort and Norwood.

The remainder of the board was purchased by Mr. Morton at the same figure, 12 5-16c.

The following factories were represented:

SIFTON SENDS IN HIS FAREWELL

Brandon, Man., Aug. 2.—Clifford Sifton's farewell to Brandon electors has been received in a letter to the president of the local Liberal Association, and ordered to be read at the first meeting of the association. He thanks the electors, and says that he will not be a candidate again in the constituency. He repeated his expressions in opposition to reciprocity.

MISS WHITE'S DEATH.

She Was Sister of Chief Justice of U.S. Supreme Court.

Port Hope, Aug. 2.—Miss Fusan P. White, sister of the Hon. E. D. White of Washington, D.C., Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, passed away yesterday at her brother's summer home at Port Hope in the 70th year of her age.

NOT IN SINKING CONDITION

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—According to Admiral Kingsmill, the story that the cruiser Niobe is in a sinking condition at Clark's Harbor, N.S., is exaggerated. In a wire to the Naval Department to-day he says "Conditions of Niobe is satisfactory as could be expected. Extra pumps sent yesterday not yet working. Exaggerated reports in Halifax papers of no importance."

"LOST HIS GRIP."

GREW DULL, LOST SNAP, VIM.

A man never realizes the strain of life until failing ability to work brings it sharply home to him. "I am an insurance agent," writes Mr. W. E. Semmo, of Montreal, "and to make commissions a man must have both energy and snap. My digestive organs began to give out; first a sluggish action of the bowels filled my blood with humors. A little scratch would fester and my face get red and pimply. Hot rushes of blood to the head made me very irritable and prevented sleep. I thought I could exercise it off, but the more I did, the more strength I lost. Finally I asked my druggist to recommend a pill that would cure constipation and slow acting liver—he endorsed Dr. Hamilton's. The first dose told me he had hit it right. So active yet so mild in action—no trouble to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think them a wonder. I am now as fat as ever, blues all gone, energy enough to get business and give me pleasure and interest in life. Dr. Hamilton's Pills I consider a wonder."

Refuse any other pill but Dr. Hamilton's, 25c per box, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston Ont.

NO MORE GIRLS NEED APPLY

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—The Southern Pacific, beginning this month, is putting into effect a rule that hereafter no women are to be employed as clerks or stenographers in the company's passenger department.

Officials of the company assign as reasons for this action the tendency of the girls to marry just when they are becoming of great service, and the physical incapacity which unfits them for advancement.

Calgary's Wonderful Growth.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Calgary is congratulating itself on the fact that it has advanced from a town of four thousand population to a city of fifty thousand in ten years. The census figures are not made final yet, but as Calgary has been claiming 55,000 people, it is likely that the count of 50,000 will be near the mark.

FARM AND FIELD

EGG CANDLING.

A Good Way of Testing Eggs for Market.

The time of year is at hand when it is a little difficult to always know the condition of the eggs that are gathered, even upon well managed farms. Candling at home puts the producer in position to demand and to secure what his eggs are worth, and in this connection the following description of the contents of eggs, ranging from fresh to absolutely rotten, as they appear under the candle is of interest. It is from a newspaper bulletin put out by the Indiana station:

Fresh.—Opaque, appearing almost entirely free of any contents, sometimes dim outline of yolk visible, air cell very small.

Stale.—Outline of yolk plainly visible, sometimes muddy in appearance, air cell very large.

Developed Germ.—Dark spot visible, from which radiate light colored blood vessels.

Dead Germ.—Dark spot attached to shell, or red ring of blood, visible.

Rotten.—Muddy or very dark in appearance, yolk and white mixed, air cell large and sometimes moveable.

Cracked.—White lines showing irregularly in shell.

RAISING CHICKENS.

Chickens Can Be Raised Successfully In Your Yard.

It pays to raise chickens. There's no doubt about it.

For long it was the generally accepted theory that a hen needed about 160 acres in which to roam and scratch, and that a big barnlike house was needed for just a medium sized flock to roost.

Wrong. One well treated system gets excellent results both in eggs and meat by confining chickens in very close quarters. In little backyards of city lots a flock of hens will grow and lay and fatten for the market or your table just as if they were on the farm.

If the largest plot you can give to chickens is only eight feet by four, that will do for a half dozen hens and a rooster, and with right care you ought to get 50 dozen of eggs a year.

Multiply that by more space and more hens and see how it will cut down your cost of living. Also it will make you free of the cold storage product, and what is almost as good to the city man, the larger the production of eggs and poultry the less the demand for pork, beef and mutton, and corresponding lower prices for all meats.

All He Was Fit For.

A forlorn Irishman, reduced to the last stage of poverty and destitution, as the last resource made inquiry at a marine store as follows:

"D'ye buy rags and bones here?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then, be jabers," said Pat, "ye may buy me on the scales."

Monday, August 14th, is the date fixed for Sturgeon Point regatta.

Cherries and plums will not be a plentiful crop this year. In fact it is stated that cherries are about over already.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HOME LIFE OF QUEEN MARY.

Relishes in Simplicity in Training of Children.

From the time of Her Majesty's birth until her marriage her life was just that of the fairly well-to-do English girl, hardly that of the modern English girl, perhaps, but nearer the old-fashioned ideal. This was her mother's plan:

"A child," she said, "has quite enough to do to learn obedience and attend to her lessons and to grow without many parties and late hours, which take the freshness of childhood away and the brightness and beauty from girlhood—and then children become intolerable. There are too many grown-up children in the present day."

A writer tells how the Queen's many high qualities were developed—her interest in charity by the frequent visits made in her mother's company to the poor around her Richmond home at White Lodge; her religious convictions, bred by the daily life of her home; her musical accomplishments and her artistic talents, fostered by her stay in Florence, Italy, where her parents lived for two years.

"The Queen has a sweet voice," says Sir Charles Kinloch-Cooke, "a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor (now Sir Paolo) Tosti. * * *. She is a good judge of a picture and an excellent critic, and while at Florence made several pretty sketches of landscape scenery. She rarely misses any good exhibition of pictures in London, is particularly fond of the old masters and prefers their more finished style of painting to the impressionist school.

"Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance or that have attracted public attention during the last two decades she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce.

"The Queen is greatly attached to the historical past of her country. Ancient monuments of every kind have a fascination for her, and her acquaintance with different kinds of architecture must have entailed much study and close observance.

"She is particularly fond of visiting cathedrals, and knows the interior of most of the old city churches, besides being well versed in the countless treasures contained in the other historic buildings of our great metropolis.

"Her Majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important parliamentary debates.

"Punctuality is a household word in the royal establishment, and when the Queen makes an appointment it is always kept.

"In business matters Her Majesty is clear and expeditious, methodical and systematic. Her mornings are generally taken up with attending to the voluminous correspondence that arrives by every post.

"Her secretary and lady in waiting submit their letters and the Queen gives instructions concerning them. She quickly grasps the main issue of a question and soon makes up her mind, and has never been known to lay aside a matter on the ground that to express an opinion thereon is irksome or difficult."

PORCELAIN POODLES.

At One Time Very Fashionable Ornaments.

The day of the china and faience poodle may be said to have been the closing years of the eighteenth century and the twenties and thirties of the last century, a period when the poodle was the favorite pet animal of the contemporary lady.

In the old English china works the dog was a sort of potter's standby, says the Queen, and hardly one firm but turned to the manufacture of this delightful ornament from Bow to Rockingham. In size they vary from about six inches down to one inch.

Commonest of poodles are the Staffordshire examples, sitting bolt upright, and very much rarer are the recumbent dogs reposing on royal blue cushions. Porcelain poodles were produced at Bow, but unlike their cousins of Rockingham the Bow canines were lean and scraggy specimens of their race, with legs of an almost impossible thinness. They were modelled prior to the year 1776.

The finest porcelain poodles were produced at the celebrated Rockingham works, and they were manufactured between the year 1820 (or thereabouts) and the closing of the works in 1842—in fact, during the "Brameld period," when the factory was carried on by Thomas, George, Frederick and John Wager Brameld. The Rockingham works were situated at Swinton, near Rotherham, Yorkshire, on the estate of the aMrquis of Rockingham. The animals themselves are nearly always plain white in color, but sometimes their bases or stands are of a rich royal blue enriched with a gilt line. Occasionally the bases are ornamented with green and gilt foliage, and still more rarely red decoration is to be found.

The Staffordshire faience poodles were intended to ornament the cottager's humble mantlepiece, not the are much more roughly modelled than their Rockingham relatives, for they drawing room of the lady of fashion, and they were retailed at the trifling sum of sixpence each, so that careful modelling and delicate glaze were not to be expected. These glazed earthenware dogs are squat in figure, with large ears, bushy tails, and a decorative note is introduced by the addition of a gilt collar with an elaborate padlock hanging from it.

China and earthenware poodles are now extensively imitated by the unscrupulous German manufacturer, but his fakes are fairly easy to detect These Teutonic forgeries are characterized by a dead white glaze, while the authentinc early nineteenth century examples are coated with a cream white glaze, which is frequently a good deal crackled.

How all the pleasures of Society pale before practising the art of making the truth appear a lie, which is called intrigue.

The agriculturist's idea of a lady is someone who has had nothing to do with farming all her life, just as his ideal gentleman is a retired shopkeeper.

It is a wise woman who refrains from inducing her husband to bring the atmosphere of his club home with him.

"From the vulgarity of notoriety good Lord deliver us," should be your morning and evening prayer.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust; which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c per pound, two or three cents per pound cheaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c. delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter.

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white. Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead scarefully matched. Drops for earings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street.

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavaria aNinety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the insanity of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation and Prevented Sleep. When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveller of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the travelling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4890

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline, 25c per bottle, five for $1.00, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

ROUND THE WORLD IN 40 DAYS.

A new record, it is to be hoped, is to be made in globe-trotting. In Jules Verne's fascinating story, Phileas Fogg did the trip in less than eighty days, although delayed by his chivalrous conduct in saving the widow of Rajah from being burned on the funeral pyre. Mr. Fogg won his wager of £20000, having spent all but £1,000 on his trip. Better still, he won the beautiful Indian widow to be Mrs. Fogg. The achievement of Jules Verne's hero was beaten by a real woman, Nellie Bly, representative of the New York World, who made the journey between November 4, 1889, and January 25, 1890.

Now, according to the New York Post, Andre Jagerschmift will try to cut Phileas Fogg's record in two. He left Paris on July 17, and expects to be back on August 26th. What gives his attempt more than personal interest is the fact that he will take advantage of two great events in the history of the world, the building of the railway across Siberia, and the railway across Canada. He expects to reach Vancouver August 13, Montreal on August 18, and Liverpool on August 25th. Here's good luck to him, and especially a speedy and pleasant trip through Canada.

MARKET CANADIAN COAL IN THE UNITED STATES

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway is preparing to market immense shipments of coal in the United States in the near future. The C.P.R. is expending huge sums of money in rushing to completion extensions from the Pacific Coast and the northern boundary of the United States to its productive coal deposits in the Rocky Mountains. The C.P.R. lines already come within striking distance of the International boundary at several points, and with the other extensions that are now being built, it is said the Rocky Mountain coal mines will be in active competition with United States mines for the trade of the Pacific Northwest.

FIRST WOMAN TO WIN 'AERO PILOT'S CARD

Hempstead, L.I., Aug. 1.—Miss Harriet Quimby was awarded a pilot license to-day by the Aero Club of America, the governing body of the aeronautics in this country. This is the first license that has ever been awarded to a woman aviator in America.

Miss Quimby flew in a Moisant monoplane. Thoroughly composed, she started out a few minutes before 7 o'clock this morning to comply with the difficult conditions of the Aero Club. She arose gracefully in the air completing five figure eights about a hundred and fifty feet in the air, and then landed not only in the 164-foot mark designated by the conditions, but also made a world's record for landing. Her mark was 7 feet 9 inches.

After a brief rest to cool off the motor Miss Quimby again rose in the air and again completed all the remaining figure eights, turning first to the right and then to left with all the skill of an experienced aviator, and landed on her descent at the 124 foot mark.

Miss Quimby then commenced for the altitude, which calls for a height of 164 feet. She reached over 200, and soared about in a large circle before coming to the ground, where she was enthusiastically greeted. Miss Quimby is a native of California.

ON A GRAIN OF WHEAT.

A Prayer Containing 386 Letters Inscribed and Four Figures.

Prayers have been written and engraved on many very small objects, but only one person ever has been patient and painstaking enough to inscribe a complete prayer on a grain of wheat. One day Sir Moses Montefiore, the great Jewish financier of England, received a small tin box in the mail. On the cover of the box was written, "A prayer for Moses Montefiore, by Rauch Mordecai, son of Zebi Hirsch Schelnemann, of Jerusalem." The box contained a single grain of wheat, on which was inscribd, in characters so small that they could only be read with the aid of a powerful microscope, the 386 Hebrew letters of the prayer, and the date of the year (Hebrew reckoning), 5648. Sir Moses kept the prayer in his desk until he died, and it is now preserved with religious care by one of his friends.

One per cent. of the water of the oceans would cover all the land to a depth of 290 feet.

If the flour mills of Canada were operated to their capacity, they could produces flour enough for 30,000,000 people.

A well known judge has ruled that wives have a perfect right to read their husband's private letters. We found that out long before the judge did.

Men think that we are smarter than they are, otherwise they would not expect so much more of us than they can possibly do themselves.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR THROAT.

Necessity of Rigid Precaution Emphasized.

Necessity of rigid precaution and the skilled care of a specialist in all cases of serious illness and especially in the case of communicable diseases is emphasized in the following clipping from the publication of the Board of Health, the "Sanitary Bulletin," for May:

"Every member of a certain family had a sore throat four weeks ago, which was diagnosed as follicular tonsilitis or quinzy. Two of the girls served as maids in other families, in each of which one of the children took diphtheria and died. Cultures were then taken of members of the first family with sore throats and each showed diphtheria. As they were able to be around, and apparently getting better of their local trouble, constitutional treatment was neglected. They persisted in refusing to believe that they had diphtheria, until baby could no longer stand the strain —and died! Three deaths from 'quinzy sore throats,' and all this happened in Buffalo."

HOMELY WISDOM.

Pull together, said Abraham Lincoln, or Upset the Boat.

A recent biographer of Abraham Lincoln has some interesting things to say of "Honest Old Abe's" views on the dependence of the different classes on society on one another. "The farmer and the manufacturer" the president once said, with his characteristic shrewdness, "are both in the same boat and I reckon they've got to learn to navigate the craft together or they'll upset." "He compared the case of a Pennsylvania farmer", continues the historian in question, "and a Pennsylvania iron implement maker whose properties adjoined. Under a protective policy the farmer supplied the ironmaker with bread, meat, vegetables, fruit, fodder for horses, etc., and the ironmaker supplied the farmer with all the iron, iron implements, etc., which he needed. Assuming that a change is made and the Protective policy abandoned, the farmer then discovers that he can buy his iron implements cheaper from Europe than from his neighbor, assuming that he sells a sufficient quantity of flour in Europe to enable him to effect the purchase of the iron. He ultimately discovers that the cost of carriage to the coast, transportation by sea to England, insurance and cartage on arrival, does not enable him to receive such a good reward for his labor as he formerly did when selling his flour to his neighbor, the ironmaker. He, therefore, determines to sell his flour as before to his neighbor. But meantime the farmer discovers that while he has been purchasing his iron implements from Europe his neighbor, the ironmaker, has been compelled to stop his works and dismiss his employees, not having sufficient work for them. The farmer, therefore, now finds that he has more wheat than he knows what to do with, also, that he is no longer able to sell his fruit, vegetables fodder meat, horses, etc., to his neighbor, the ironmaker, as he has gone out of business.

DANGEROUS TO USE "ESQUIRE."

How One Writer Was Cured in Germany.

The recovery of a letter which had been sent to a little town in Germany and never delivered to the person addressed, cured the writer of the custom of adding "Esquire" to a name on the superscription of mail matter. The letter in question would probably have been promptly delivered had the address read simply, "Mr. John Brown." But the sender had addressed it, "John Brown, Esquire," and the communication rested comfortably in the "E" compartment of the post restants department, waiting to be called for by "Mr. Esquire." One of the popular guide books warns against the use of "Esq.," saying that it might be mistaken for a name.

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

OIL IS WEALTH

200 per cent. profit inside of ninety days for shareholders in Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co. Limited

Stock Now Only Thirty Cents a Share

This is an age of co-operation.

Big projects are not carried out by one man. When a thousand or ten thousand men get behind the proposition, however, and each gives it a little push, a little aid with his money, the sum total is a mighty force.

A few dollars from you and a few from your friends to whom you have spoken about the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd., and a few from each of their friends in turn, so goes the probability which will make it possible for us to build up an oil business on our property that should be one of the greatest.

Many a $100 invested in oil stocks has grown to thousands.

Many a man and woman is today living in ease from the dividends on $100 worth of oil stock and you can do likewise if you will seize the opportunity. "Wait till you see it is a good thing, but don't wait until everybody sees it. You will then be too late."

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck. The ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clear profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

All these neighboring wells have come in at from 3000 to as high as 17,000 barrels of high gravity oil per day. Our well is being drilled by the best drilling contractors in California. They have made a success of all their wells, and they will bring in another gusher on this Midway Maple Leaf ground without question within ninety days. Consider what this means if it is but a 3000 to 5000 barrel well of this high gravity. Remember Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company will have only 550,000 shares outstanding when this entire 100,000 shares is placed and on this low capitalization, splendid proven ground and intelligent management by practical oil men, this stock is bound to advance sharply and should show a clean profit of 200 to 500 per cent. as soon as this well is actually brought in.

The Midway Maple Leaf offers better opportunity for quick and substantial profits than any oil stock that has ever been offered local investors.

Only 25,000 shares are offered for subscription at the present price of 30 cents, per value $1, fully paid and forever non-assessable. As soon as the first well is completed, which should be in a very short time, judging by the progress already made, you will have to pay many times 30 cents.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir.—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Dundas, Ont." will be received at this office until 4.00 P. M., on Tuesday, August 8, 1911, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained on application at the office of Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station F, Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont., at the Post Office, Dundas, Ont., and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

A UNIVERSITY AT NIGHT.

Columbia University of New York is working toward the establishment of a complete plan of education to be carried on at night. For the year 1911-12 there will be 150 courses, conducted by 100 teachers. By means of these courses, says the Post, men and women who are busy during the day can devote part of their late afternoons and evenings to the pursuit of any particular study. Those who have an academic degree in view may also, after matriculating, take these courses and have them count towards their degree. Of the college course, all but one year's work may be done in these classes. One of the features of the plan will be a full three years' course in commerce and finance, including instruction in accounting, practical auditing, costs accounts, executors' accounts, commercial geography, industrial history, economic history, European banking, insurance, agency, bankruptcy, etc.

Five thousand requests for information show the wide-spread interest that is taken in this scheme of education. There is no reason why a boy or girl who leaves school at fourteen years of age should be debarred from benefits of higher education. The actual experience of the battle of life tends to make the night students earnest and appreciative of the benefits of education. The drawback is that the student who has been working at earning his living during the day is apt to be wearied, and not fitted for hard and long study. But this can be met by modifying the character of the teaching. The evening sessions will be short, and it may be that it would be necessary to compensate for this by making the course longer.

Big Fire at Fernie, B.C.

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 1.—Three million feet of logs were burned at the lumber camp of the Fernie Lumber Company yesterday. All the camp supplies and buildings were destroyed. There are reports of other incipient fires at other points, but no apprehensions are felt.

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

PARDONABLE QUACKERY

How a Physician Had to Fake to Cure

As a doctor, one of the English heroes who assisted in the defence of Kars, had special opportunities of studying the habits and character of the degraded races of Asia Minor. He found it necessary to be more of a quack than a physician among them. "As my patients became numerous, and pestered me at all hours, I fitted up," he tells us, "a spare tent to serve as my dispensary, and gave out that I received at the time of afternoon prayer (asser). I took my seat at the door of my tent, and soon had a crowd around me, many suffering from real diseases, many from imaginary ones, and many bringing for my inspection the effects of diseases such as palsied limbs and stiff joints." One of his patients was an old woman, who came forward, and taking hold of the corner of his cloak, kissed it, and then, kneeling before him, began, in a very wheedling manner, to call his attention to her case. "She went on to describe the most anomalous symptoms, affecting her eyes, ears, limbs, and sometimes every part of her. On further inquiry, she confessed to be quite well at that moment; but a year ago, having had these strange complaints, she dreaded the same thing would invade her this year. I then promised to give her strong medicine, but ordered the crowd to stand at a short distance from us. A space is cleared, and all wait in silent admiration for my remedy. I slowly draw forth a bottle of strong liquor of ammonia, or smelling-salts, from my medicine-chest, and, holding it before my patients eyes, tell her to draw in a strong breath when I put it to her nose. I accordingly first hold her nostrils, then, having removed the stopper, I apply the mouth of the bottle to the nose, the fingers are removed, a long sniff is taken, followed by a sort of spasm, and she falls to the ground. A hum of horror runs through the crowd; the patient, after a short interval, rises, her eyes streaming with tears; and then breaks from the crowd, 'La ilaha 'illa 'llahu Mahommed rasulu 'llah!' — 'There is no God but the God, and Mahomed is the Apostle of God!'"

Valuable Information about Taxicab

In reply to many correspondents from the West, it may be said that a taxicab is a lineal descendant of Captain Kidd on its father's side and Jesse James on its mother's. To look at, it is a harmless creature. To read about, it is positively virtuous. Just to monkey with, it is the triple concentrated extract of Montreal's Ananias Club, fishermen, real-estate agents, mining promoters, and autographers. Whether this is because of sheer willfulness or because it was sick with the scarlet fever at the time the rest of the class studied the tables of linear measurement is not clear. But the fact is that a taxicab can get more miles out or three blocks than a landlady can get pieces out of a single pie, and it can ruffle one's temper more effectually than the most demon-inspired Jehu that ever cracked a whip or framed an oath.

WHAT IS TRUTH?

Men will believe nothing what they cannot understand.

Truth comes to us only by glimpses There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon persuading themselves that they have it, before they yield assent to anything. Thy will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they say, forgetting that, although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders of the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and starts, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation — of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which uphold them and the forces they obey — these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, give us glimpses of the truth

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surpise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then ,at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wanna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and instily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilizers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, deracer, crippler, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

COAL FAMINE.

Winnipeg, July 28.—The coal famine continues acute over Saskatchewan and Alberta. Even if the mines were opened to-morrow the famine could not be relieved by winter. Practically no coal in the east has gone into those two provinces from any field outside of that in which the strike prevails. All railway officials agree that there are no adequate facilities for getting fuel in via the lakes. It is a physical impossibility. Any relief must come from across the line, and this is only possible through the suspension of the tariff.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have beenpresenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Mountezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties,

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal" Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly installments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

KILELD MAN FOR OLD OFFENCE

Printer, Fired for Spilling a Form, Struck His Former Foreman and Death Followed.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—John Andy, a roving printer, was "fired" for spilling a form one day ten years ago, out in Cheyenne, Wyo., by Joseph Gill, foreman of a printing office. Andy was much aggrieved at his discharge, over what he considered a trivial act, and took a solemn oath to get even some time.

The two met in a saloon in South Halstead street, this city, Sunday, and at once the days in Cheyenne were brought up. An argument followed, and all the hatred which had rankled in Andy's heart during the cold nights when he was working his way over the desert flooded his brain, and, turning, he struck his ex-foreman in the face. Gill fell, his head striking the floor. He was taken to a hospital, where he died yesterday. Andy was arrested and is being held to wait the coroner's verdict.

This is a hard summer on cold waves. They melt before they get very far.

Where the Scents Come From

Attar of roses reaches this country mainly from Smyrna and Constantinople, the oil of lemons from Sicily and Portugal, bergamot from Sicily, anise from Germany and the East Indies, and oil of cloves to a small extent from the Malay Islands, though it is believed that a large amount is distilled by the London wholesale druggists.

A Settlers

Landlord to tenant: "Good morning, sir; fine day, sir. Just called round to see if it would be convenient to settle your quarter's rent?" "Do you know, landlord, that none of the doors in this house will shut?" "New house, sir; new house, you know; takes time to settle." "Ah, then there is a pair of us! I'm a new tenant; it takes time for me to settle too. Good morning. Call again!"

Canada's Post Office.

A Devonshire lady once sent to her son a pair of trousers by book post, which is, of course, cheaper than parcel post.

The postal officials wrote to her: "Clothes cannot be sent by book post. If you look in the 'Post Office Guide,' you will see under what conditions articles may be sent by book post."

After a few days the lady replied: "I have looked in the 'Post Office Guide' and find that articles which are open at both ends may be sent by book post. And if trousers are not open at both ends I should like to know what is."

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate ?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time ?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

QUICK PROFITS

Present Offer of Stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, Gives Exceptional Opportunity for Quick and Large Profits on a Small Investment

A judicious investment made now in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company may give you a START TO FORTUNE that you could never obtain any other way.

Can you close your eyes and mind against this opportunity to invest a few dollars, in the greatest of all industries, that in a short time may mean a fortune for you?

Look what $100 invested in oil in the following oil companies of California has produced:

$100 invested in the Monte Cristo Oil Company has since had a value of $1500.

$100 invested in the American Oil Fields Company has since had a value of $2000.

$100 invested in the N. Y. Oil Company has since had a value of $2500.

$100 invested in the Hume Oil Company has since had a value of $40,000.

$100 invested in the Union Oil Company now has a value of $150,000.

Oil has made more millionaires quicker than any other industry, and California produces more than one-quarter the entire output of the world.

Oil is conceded to be the giant among power-producers. Where oil has displaced coal, coal never come back.

WILDCATTING FEATURES ELIMINATED.

In advising my clients to buy stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, I am basing that advice upon several sound reasons. First, the property is located in the great Midway field. It is literally fenced in by producers. The company has a small capitalization. The lease is fully paid for. $25,000 has been subscribed and is now deposited in the bank to cover the expense of drilling Well No. 1. The property and equipment is paid for. All stock sold is for the benefit of the company and the money received goes into new development. The field management of the company is an experienced and capable one. The directorate is composed of clean, reputable, well-known business men who have demonstrated their faith in the Midway Maple Leaf by investing in the company $60,000 of their own money.

DIRECTORS WELL-KNOWN SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN.

Thomas Allan, capitalist, Vancouver, B. C.

George L. Kavanagh, Montreal, P. Q., proprietor "The Fair," wholesale millinery.

Wm. Savage, Vancouver, B. C., McLellan, Savage & White, solicitors.

Don C. Aldridge, San Francisco, Calif., secretary and treasurer Sutcliffe Investment Co.

H. V. Hinsdale, Vancouver, B. C., stock broker.

P. L. J. LeFeuvre, Vancouver, B. C., real estate broker.

LITERALLY FENCED IN BY GUSHERS.

The Midway Maple Leaf's property is right in the center of a triangle, formed by three big gushers namely, the "Standard" on section 20 to the west, the "Honolulu" on section 10 to the north and the other "Standard" on section 28, almost directly south, three of the largest flowing wells in the entire Midway field, while a mile and a half further, directly south, lies the famous Lakeview gusher, the largest oil well in the world.

The chances for bringing in a gusher on section 22 are just as good, with proper depth, as they ever were on sections 10, 20 and 28, referred to above.

No one has a monopoly on gushers.

THIS IS CERTAINLY PROVEN GUSHER TERRITORY.

A "HONOLULU" or "STANDARD" GUSHER, SIMILAR TO THOSE ON SECTIONS 10, 14 and 28, would mean a fortune for every stockholder owning a thousand shares or more.

Even if we only develop a 1000-barrel well of 26 gravity, this production will not only be sufficient to pay a good dividend on the par value of the outstanding stock BUT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CAPITAL TO CONTINUE THE DRILLING OF WELLS.

In this connection it must be remembered that the oil developed in this section of the Midway field IS WORTH ABOUT TWICE THE PRICE OF THE OIL DEVELOPED ELSEWHERE IN THIS PART OF CALIFORNIA.

STOCK NOW ONLY 30 CENTS A SHARE.

Only 25,000 shares are offered at the present price of 30 cents, par value $1.00, fully paid and forever non-assessable. From present indications this block will be over subscribed.

An advance in price may be announced any time.

Get your order in to-day for the amount of stock you want. Send your remittance in by the first mail possible, or wire and let your remittance follow by mail.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir,—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

And now Ben and Billy have got in trouble. It seems they went down to Zacks Lake fishing without getting a permit from the inspector or notifying Ned or Ji of their intention of taking a day off. They were let off with a warning, but another such offence will mean a heavy fine or imprisonment.

We have an auto service now from the blacksmith shop to the end of Main street. A trial trip was successfully made Saturday as far as the post office. Ned was the first passenger and was pleased with the trip. The machine is one of the old reliable kind, warranted not to skid or explode. It has one wheel in front or behind according to the direction you are going and is propelled with a shove motion.

Miss Hattie Eastland is spending a few weeks with her friends the Misses Simpson at their cottage, Stoney Lake.

Mr. Duncan Brown has gone to Peterboro on business.

There will be something doing at the Hall of Wisdom shortly. A new President and Vice will have to be elected and a general overhauling of affairs, a report of which will be given next week and other news of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosebush of Michigan, are visiting friends on the east road. They moved from here about twelve years ago, and see many changes on their return.

Mrs. McConnel of Omemee and Miss Mary Weir of Lakehurst, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Apsley.

Mr. Wm. Hales of Chandos, has bought the property of Mr. T. G. Eastland, Apsley, and is moving in to the village.

Mr. Eastland and family will spend a month or two at the Ledge, Loon Lake, before leaving these parts.

LATEST FROM KEENE

Misses Nettie and Molly O'Boyle of Lindsay, are spending a few days in the village.

Ald. Duncan was instructed to inquire into the cost of concrete boxes to be placed around the base of the west windows of the hospital.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-emot a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

60,000 Men Needed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Harvesting has already begun in the more forward sections of the West. The first harvest excursion passed through Winnipeg this week, and preparations are being made everywhere for getting enough hands to harvest the enormous crop that is now assured. Efforts made by the provincial governments of Manitoba and Saskatchewan to procure harvest hands in Eastern Canada and the States, have met with splendid success, and the rush of thousands to the grain fields of the West is now on. From 50,000 to 60,000 men are needed.

During some weeks of the Australian and New Zealand trip the receipts went as high as $30,000 a week, and the average through the Canadian West was also very large.

RENTED A STEAMSHIP.

Such receipts, however, large as they were, have proved insufficient to meet the cost of the trip, which included such steep items as renting an ocean steamship and engaging an entire hotel. Dr. Harriss undertook to finance the extensive arrangements for taking 250 people on an Empire girdling journey and thus far has succeeded to the fullest expectations. He expected at the outset to be "out of pocket," and he has certainly not been disappointed. The African engagement may reduce the deficit somewhat.

CHORISTERS BOUGHT LAND

"It was one of the finest advertisements for Canada that could possibly have been prepared," declared Mr. Robson. "The effect of one of the returning Britishers will mean more than a bushel of pamphlets. Thousands of dollars were invested in the Canadian West by members of the choir, and at some points, town lots were picked up by the half dozen. The number of five hundred dollar investments was very large."

Upon his return Mr. Robson was appointed advertising manager of The Financial Post.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

WHICH IS RIGHT?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There seems to be a conflict between the two "town clocks". For instance, the Post Office Clock has been tolling off the hours several minutes in advance of the City Clock. Which is right? Would it not be a good idea if the men who have the two clocks in charge would get together and fix things up so that the people would have standard time?

Felix.

THE POLITICAL LINE-UP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I presume the public will look to The Times for truthful statements regarding the election campaign, free from party bias. This being so, its columns will, I presume, be open for the discussion of the questions of the day from both sides. Assuming this to be so, I take the liberty of saying a few words in regard to the political situation, as it appeals to me:

The line-up of the two sides on the reciprocity issue appears to me to be significant. The Liberal programme has the support in the main of those who hope selfishly to gain by the experiment. Mr. Borden's patriotic stand, on the other hand, is endorsed not only by practically his whole party, but by many of the recognized leaders in various spheres of Canadian life, who independently of party considerations, and in some cases, against the interests of their own pockets, whole-heartedly oppose an entangling commercial union with Washington.

This, I think, is a fair statement of the case, as it stands. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.

Canadian.

Mr. Peck Must Explain.

Mr. E. A. Peck has written Mr. James Edgar, secretary of the West Peterborough Conservative Association, accepting the nomination of the Conservative party as a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Peck may have some difficulty in explaining the attitude of the Whitney Government in regard to bilingual schools. His nomination, therefore, does not mean his election by any means.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

THE WEATHER.

Northwesterly winds, mostly fair.

A THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

Mr. David Andrews of Norwood Will Run in East Peterborough.

Mr. David Andrews, of Norwood, announces himself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature in East Peterborough. The candidates now are:—
Jas. Thompson, Conservative.
Edward Hawthorne, Liberal.
David Andrews, Independent.

ABOUT 50,000 MEN WANTED

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—The Grand Trunk Pacific agents here announce to-day that from 45,000 to 50,000 men can be taken care of for harvesting and other work along their western lines this summer. Advices to the Commissioner of Dominion Immigration, place the number conservatively estimated at 40,000 to 45,000, and state that harvesting will be in full swing by August 10.

KILLED MAN FOR OLD OFFENCE

Printer, Fired for Spilling a Form, Struck His Former Foreman and Death Followed.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—John Andy, a roving printer, was "fired" for spilling a form one day ten years ago, out in Cheyenne, Wyo., by Joseph Gill, foreman of a printing office. Andy was much aggrieved at his discharge, over what he considered a trivial act, and took a solemn oath to get even some time.

The two met in a saloon in South Halstead street, this city, Sunday, and at once the days in Cheyenne were brought up. An argument followed, and all the hatred which had rankled in Andy's heart during the cold nights when he was working his way over the desert flooded his brain, and, turning, he struck his ex-foreman in the face. Gill fell, his head striking the floor. He was taken to a hospital, where he died yesterday. Andy was arrested and is being held to wait the coroner's verdict.

LEADERS PLANNING BEST USE OF THE SEVEN WEEKS BEFORE ELECTION DAY

Each Day Sees Many New Candidates Announced

Sir Wilfrid's and Mr. Borden's Ontario Tour To Start---Are Consulting Their Followers---No Candidates Nominated in B.C. Yet

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will open his platform campaign on Tuesday, August 15, in one of the Ontario ridings. The place for the opening rally has not yet been finally fixed, but it will be at a strategic point in the southwestern group of counties along Lake Erie.

He will enter upon the campaign in good physical form, and with zest for the fight.

In spite of the fact that Mr. Borden has had no rest this summer, and that he has come through an extraordinarily severe campaign in the west, the Opposition leader expresses himself as fit and well. He is enthusiastic over the prospects of his party at the general election.

Sir Richard to Make Speeches.

It has been decided that Sir Richard Cartwright will address a series of meetings in Western Ontario. He will probably select Toronto as his starting point.

Sir Frederick to go to Nova Scotia.

Sir Frederick Borden will leave for Nova Scotia, and Hon. Dr. Pugsley goes to New Brunswick at the same time. Hon. Frank Oliver and Hon. Wm. Templeman left for Edmonton and Victoria, respectively, last night. The story that Mr. Templeman will retire from the cabinet and be succeeded by Fred. Congdon, member of the Yukon, is denied.

Admission of the Organizer.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Reciprocity has so split the Liberals in some of the Ontario ridings that they will not make a fight for the Government policy.

Chief Liberal Organizer Wood definitely announces that in Welland and Brantford the party would allow matters to run their course. He admitted that W. M. German in Welland and Lloyds Harris in Brantford had declared themselves as being unalterably opposed to the reciprocity agreement, but that the Liberals would not seek to nominate candidates in opposition to German and Harris.

Unless unexpected developments take place, Mr. German will be elected by acclamation. If he is opposed it will be by a member of his own party, and it is conceded that in that event he will be returned by the largest majority in his political history.

Calvin Will Run in Frontenac.

Kingston, August 3. The report is current that Mr. Hiram A. Calvin, ex-M.P., will be a candidate in Frontenac County on the reciprocity ticket. He believes in the trade pact, and while Conservative in politics he is said to be willing to test Frontenac on the issue before the electors. He will oppose Dr. Edwards, the present member.

When questioned Mr. Calvin refused to discuss the matter. It is also reported that should he consent to run, the Liberals will not nominate a candidate.

Col. Hughes Safe.

Lindsay, August 3.—Col. Sam. Hughes is sure to be re-elected in North Victoria. A gentleman, who resides at Coboconk, is mentioned as a possible Government candidate.

Dominion May Prepare Lists.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—It is rumored here that the Dominion Government will exercise its prerogative and prepare the Winnipeg and Brandon voters' lists instead of permitting the province to do so. This is done under a section of the act which provides that where the lists have not been revised for a year previous to the date of election the Federal Government may step in and do the work.

West Peterborough.

The feeling is growing in this city that Hon. J. R. Stratton will, after all, consent to run. If so a warm contest is assured. The Liberal convention takes place to-morrow afternoon.

East Peterborough.

The contest in East Peterborough, between Mr. F. D. Kerr, Liberal, and J. A. Sexsmith, Conservative, is resolved itself during the past few weeks, into a sort of a still-hunt. Mr. Sexsmith's re-election is looked upon as certain by almost every one in the riding.

No Nominations Yet in for West.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 3.—With the Federal elections seven weeks away, not a candidate has been nominated in seven constituencies of British Columbia, although the present five conservative members are according to independent advices, almost sure of re-election. Hon. Wm. Templeman will run in Victoria, as stated recently, and Mr. Ralph Smith will likely contest Nanaimo. Neither party are quite ready for election. J. W. Weir, a Vancouver lawyer, nominated last April by the Liberals of New Westminster to oppose G. G. Taylor, M.P. has retired from the race, and a hurry call was sent out for a convention. John Oliver, former provincial Liberal leader, may get the nomination.

In Vancouver, while it is generally believed that Cowan will be re-nominated, Sir Chas. H. Tupper and C. E. Tisdale, M.P.P., are mentioned as possible candidates.

J. H. Senkler, K.C., president of the Vancouver Liberal Association is likely to be named Liberal candidate.

FIRE RESTORED MAN'S SENSES

Patient Dying From Injuries Asked For a Priest.

Hamilton, Aug. 3.—Albert Quince, the aged man who was rescued by Chief Ten Eyck, but is dying from his injuries, was still alive at noon to-day. A strange thing is that from the shock of the fire he has almost entirely regained his senses.

He asked that a priest be sent for and to-day he received the Sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church.

UNIVERSAL MOVEMENT

Washington, D.C., Aug. 3.—Three of the world's greatest nations join hands to-day in opening the way to the coveted goal of statesmen of modern times—universal peace. Before the day is closed Great Britain and the United States and France and the United States will have signed general arbitration treaties for the peaceful settlement of all disputes that may be locked in the mystery of the future, even though they concern the national honor or vital interests of the signatories, subjects invariably excepted in existing arbitration treaties.

The general features of the new treaties are:

All differences internationally justiciable shall be submitted to The Hague, unless by special agreement some other tribunal is created or selected.

Differences that either country thinks are not justiciable shall be referred to a commission of Inquiry, composed of nationals of the two Governments, empowered to make recommendations for their settlement. Should the Commission decide that the dispute should be arbitrated, such decision will be binding.

Before arbitration is restored to, even in cases where both countries agree that the difference is susceptible of arbitration, the Commission of Inquiry shall investigate the dispute with a view of recommending a settlement without arbitration.

The Commission, at request of either Government, will delay its findings one year to give an opportunity for diplomatic settlement.

The conventions grew directly out of President Taft's speech in Washington, December 18th last, before the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, in which he said: "If now we can negotiate and put through a positive agreement with some great nation to abide the adjudication of an international arbitral court in every issue which cannot be settled by negotiations, no matter what it involves, whether, honor, territory, or money, we shall have made a long step forward by demonstrating that it is possible for two nations at least to establish, as between them, the same system of due process of law that exists between individuals under a Government."

Paris, Aug. 3. The Franco-American arbitration treaty was signed at 2.08 o'clock this afternoon.

The signing of the treaty is hailed in France as meaning the extension of a movement in all countries for the reduction of armaments and the absolute prevention of wars. The general view is that a tremendous impetus has been given to the world-wide peace campaign.

A POPULAR PLATFORM

The following platform is one that should appeal to every patriotic citizen in Canada, regardless of race or creed:—

1. The entire separation of Church and State.
2. Opposition to any interference of the Dominion Government with the different provinces in educational affairs.
3. The resistance of any further special privileges to any section of the population of the Dominion either on account of race or religion and the elimination of any special privileges which they now possess except those included in the Confederation compact.
4. Opposition to any extension of lingual privileges beyond those conferred by the British North America Act.
5. The maintenance of British connection and the support of any movement which tends to make closer and more binding the relations between Canada, Newfoundland and the mother country.
6. A close supervision of all new settlers and the encouragement of suitable white emigration from the British Isles, the United States and northern Europe.
7. A federal marriage law recognizing the validity of marriage performed by the qualified clergymen of every denomination or other persons vested by the law with that power; and the enactment of criminal penalties against persons using their influence to separate legally married couples by questioning the validity of marriages performed in accordance with the provisions of this law.
8. Government inspection of all religious, educational and charitable institutions and the inspection of all books of all institutions receiving aid from the public treasury.

CANADIAN CITY AWAKENS TO FIND ITSELF ABLAZE WITH STARS AND STRIPES

London, Ont., Aug. 3.—The decoration committee of London Old Boys' Association are in hot water to-day as a result of decorations which went up over night.

Londoners came down town this morning to find Richmond street blazoned with the Stars and Stripes in a way that would have done credit to Buffalo or Detroit.

WHAT COMMITTEE THOUGHT.

The committee appeared to have taken the view that because a few Americans would come next week it was necessary to stick their flag every place. As a result the Union Jack was actually less in evidence than the other ensign, the American emblem at some points outnumbering it two to one.

CITIZENS PROTESTED.

Vigorous protests were made immediately, and it is expected that the whole scheme of decoration will be changed. A hurry up meeting of the decoration committee has been called for to-night.

MR. BURNHAM OPENS CAMPAIGN DELIVERS A STIRRING ADDRESS

The political campaign was opened last night by Mr. J. H. Burnham, Conservative candidate, who delivered a stirring address to a gathering at the corner of Dalhousie and Rubidge streets. The room was filled to overflowing, and considerable enthusiasm was manifested.

Mr. Burnham dealt briefly with the issues before the electors, and intimated that from every quarter of the Dominion came most encouraging reports.

At the conclusion of the speaking, the work of organization was proceeded with.

HAT PIN PUNCTURED BOTH EYES

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—The turning of a woman's head may cost Daniel Mack, a vaudeville actor, his sight. Mack attempted to make his way through a dense theatre crowd on Market street last night. A woman beside him turned her head. A long steel pin projecting from her hat passed through Mack's right eye lid through his nose and into his left eye.

"You brute, how dare you touch my hat," the woman cried as she felt a frantic tug on her head gear. Without looking around she wrenched the pin free and disappeared in the crowd, while Mack staggered blindly about the sidewalk.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

JAPAN AND GERMANY FORMING ALLIANCE?

Berlin, Aug. 3.—The Marine Rundschau, the official monthly review issued by the German Navy Department, publishes conspicuously a despatch from Tokio indicating that Japan will seek to "compensate" herself for the disadvantages she suffers under the revised treaty with Great Britain by a reproachment with Germany.

Encouragement in this direction is seen in the circumstance that prominent Japanese like Viscount Aoka and two Cabinet Ministers, Goto and Hiratore, are taking the initiative in the reorganization of the defunct "society for the cultivation of German-Japanese friendly, scientific and social relations."

General Nogi, the victor of Port Arthur, who is visiting Berlin, is receiving distinguished attentions from military leaders. The general will be the Kaiser's personal guest at a great military parade at Mayence on August 14th.

London, Aug. 3.—The London Times, displays prominently a statement to the effect that it has reason to believe that a possible basis of agreement on the Moroccan question has been reached, and that the compensation demanded by Germany will be granted in the rectification of the Kamarun-Congo frontier and by the transfer to Germany of part of the French Congo, but not necessarily on the coast.

MANAGER FOUND TELLER DEAD

Revolver Beside Him Revealed the Cause—Accounts Correct—Home Was in Alvinston, Ont.

Lethbridge, Alta., Aug. 3.—Hugh B. McLaughlin, teller and accountant of the Molsons Bank at Diamond City was found lying on a bed in his room at the rear of the office last night by D. C. Morrison, manager. A revolver lying beside McLaughlin showed the cause of death, but whether it was through suicide or accidental is uncertain. No cause for suicide is revealed as the teller's accounts are correct. He had intended leaving tomorrow for his home in Alvinston, Ont.

Hookworm Killed Her.

Utica, N.Y., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Albert Hall, 35 years old, is dead here of hookworm disease. This is said to be the first death from this cause ever recorded in Central New York. Mrs. Hall contracted the disease in Manila, where she was a school teacher prior to her marriage.

ROCKEFELLER AND THE GOAT.

No butting for John D. if he could help it.

John D. Rockefeller does not possess quite enough money to keep him from being afraid of a common, ordinary, garden variety of goat. On one occasion, when he was walking along one of the country roads just outside of Augusta, Georgia, where he spends every spring, he overtook a little girl who was driving a goat hitched to a cart.

Walking beside the cart was a young woman who had taken the little girl out for the ride, and it was with the young woman that Mr. Rockefeller talked.

"I used to drive a goat myself," he volunteered, in explanation of his interest in this one. "Where did you get it?"

He was told that the goat and cart had been hired. By this time the rich man had taken his stand in front of the goat and was leaning reflectively on his cane.

"Does he kick?" was the next question.

"Oh, no, sir," cut in the little girl. "He doesn't kick, but he butts something awful."

That was enough for in that moment Mr. Rockefeller destroyed the popular idea that he is infirm and feeble. He displayed all the agility of a youth of eighteen by making one leap, that took him from in front of the butting goat to the gully beside the road. And there he stayed until the little girl drove on.

Rise Immediately after Waking.

Get up immediately after waking, says a physician. Do not stay in bed, falling into a half unconscious state. When you are up go through a few light exercises without bells or clubs. Now have a bath, cold if it does not disagree with you, slightly tepid otherwise. Dry thoroughly and use such vigor leisurely. If you do not experience any giddiness, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart or nervousness during or after this meal you may continue with it. But should there be one or more of these symptoms there is something in the meal that disagrees. Tea, coffee or cocoa may be responsible, or it may be the heat of the fod, or even the odor-laden atmosphere of the room. The body is never in such a low state of vitality as during sleep, and at no period of the active day is it so weak as just after waking. Do not hurry; do not fill the stomach with irritants; do not indulge in tasks of strength, do not poison it with an impure atmosphere. Thousands of people have found physical salvation in cool, pure air, cool cleansing and a cold, light meal.

Just His Luck.

The lady bather had got into a hole, and she couldn't swim. Not could the young man on the end of the pier; but when she came up for the first time and he caught sight of her face he shrieked: —

"Help!"

A burly fisherman sauntered to his side.

"Wot's up?" he hoarsely cried.

"My wife! Drowning! I can't swim! Twenty pounds for you if you save her!"

In a moment the fisherman was in the sea. In another moment he was out of it, with the rescued lady bather. Swelling with expectation he approached the young man again.

"Well, what about the twenty quid?" he asked.

But if the young man's face had been ashen grey before, it was now deadly pale as he gazed upon the features of the recovering dame.

"Y-e-s, I know!" he gasped. "But when I made the offer I thought it was my wife who was drowning, and now — now it turns out it was my wife's mother!"

The fisherman pulled a long face.

"Just my luck!" he muttered, thrusting his hand into his trousers pocket. "How much do I owe you?"

SYDNEY SMITH'S TABLE-TALK

Benevolence a Natural Instinct of the Mind.

One day the conversation turned upon an obstinate man who was full of prejudices. Sydney Smith who knew his character and opinions, expressed despair. "You might," said he, "as well attempt to poultice the humps off a camel's back". Preferment in the Church, like fortune in the world, has a tendency to make men more conservative, and it was in allusion to this well-known social fact that he observed dryly, "The liberality of church-men generally is like the quantity of matter in a cone—both get less and less as they move higher and higher." "Benevolence is a natural instinct of the human mind. When A sees B in grievous distress, his conscience always urges him to entreat C to help him." "I will do human nature the justice to say," were his words on another occasion, "that we are all prone to make other people do their duty." To one who expressed a very strong opinion, and justified it on the ground that he was "only a plain man," he retorted that he was "not aware what the gentleman's personal appearance had to do with the question."

A Famous Buddhist Priest.

The Ceylon papers give much space to the death of the Buddhist high priest, Sri Sumangala, at the age of eighty-four. He was the leading Oriental scholar in Ceylon, and was in constant communication with Orientalists in the United Kingdom and on the Continent. His death is described by the Ceylon 'Observer' as not only a loss to the Buddhist community, but to the entire Oriental world. Among his friends and correspondents were Sir Monier Williams, Sir Edwin Arnold, Professors Max Muller, Rhys Davids, and Lanman, of Harvard University. He was in friendly touch with pastors and missionaries of the different Christian churches, and took a leading part in the agitation against the opium traffic in the island. His Sinhalese Grammar is used as a text-book at the London University. The remains of the aged priest were cremated in the presence of a great assembly. The Colonial Office was represented.

10,000,000 More French-Speakers

A decision which will eventually increase by ten million the number of people who speak French has just been taken by the Governor of French West Africa. Hitherto, Arabic has been exclusively used as the official language of France in her immense African empire.

As, however, Arabic was as much of a foreign tongue to most of the natives outside Algeria as French itself, interpreters have had to be used by both parties, and the only result has been to give an impetus to Islam, which is intimately bound up with the Arabic language.

Now, however, French will be the official language of the administration and the schools, and it is expected that this will result in a considerable spread of Western culture.

Cold Storage in Europe.

Many of the European cities are following the example of America as regards cold storage plants. Paris is one of the centres where such questions are now being promoted, and the Refrigeration Society is endeavouring to bring such question before engineers and manufacturers. Not long since there has been built a large cold storage plant in the suburbs of Paris and lying on the North Railroad. It is designed to store home products which are to be exported as well as foreign products brought in by rail to be consumed in the city. There are now eleven cold storage chambers in operation. A convenient system is the use of an automobile waggon with freezing compartments which plies between the city and the storage house. It carries the products to the sellers in town, and also takes back the unsold products for storage.

The Laird's Pictures.

Some years ago a Scotch laird found on succeeding to his estates that the house contained two portraits of a distinguished member of the family who had flourished during the reign of George III, one by Reynolds and the other by Raeburn. He know no more of pictures than a Newfoundland dog, and he decided that two portraits of the same individual need not be kept. The Reynolds was retained, while the Raeburn was presented to a public gallery. The worthy man was struck with consternation some time afterward when he found that his gift had been valued at 5,000 guineas, and probably the picture would now fetch double that sum.

Strength An Unknown Quantity.

Strength, whether of body, mind, or will, is an unknown quantity. It can never be measured except by putting it forth. We do not know our powers simply because no definite bounds of them exist until proved by hearty, resolute, patient exertion. To sit still then in the absurd notion that we cannot move, to abstain from any effort because we fancy we cannot make enough, is like insisting on the shallowness of the ocean that has never been fathomd, or the shortness of the distance that has never been travelled.

Handel's Sharp Tongue.

Handel, though undoubtedly possessing a kind and generous heart, had a sharp tongue which he did not hesitate to use on occasions, generally with excellent effect. He heard that an enthusiast had offered to make himself responsible for all the boxes the next time the then-despised oratorio "Messiah" was to be given. "He is a fool," said he; "the Jew will not come to it as he would to Judas Maccabeous, because it is a Christian story; and the ladies will not come, because it is a virtuous one."

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

THE VANISHING FOREST

Timber Resources of the United States Showing Signs of Exhaustion.

Commissioners and commissions have been appointed in various parts of the United States to make reports on what should and could be done to stem the destruction and prepare for the restoration of timber supplies, but wherever actually a response to the recommendations was secured the means employed were too feeble to prevent the former and too inefficient to secure adequate results in the latter direction. For instance, the latest State to move in the matter of taking care of its important timber interest, Alabama (whose annual lumber output is valued at $5,000,000), appropriates $500 for carrying out the provisions of the act providing a commission with various duties. The great State of Minnesota whose forest products in one year approach in value $45,000,000, devotes less than $12,000 to its forest interests, and $20,000 on prairie planting. The State of Maine, which still cuts around one billion feet, and is indebted to the forest for a product of $18,000,000 in value, keeps within the modest sum of $25,000 to pay for the protection against fire and the support of a commissioner. Examples of such pleayune and inadequate measures are found in many other States.

The only two States which have not hesitated to spend money for forestry purposes are New York and Pennsylvania. The former, in purchasing forest lands for a preserve, which now comprises about one and a half million acres only, has expended millions of dollars, and is annually appropriating money for further purchase, besides liberal provision for its Forest, Fish and Game Commission. But, alas! the policy of forest reservation which had begun on economic grounds, has degenerated into providing a pleasure ground—a park—for the wealthy, and there is little consideration to economic forest questions given by the State or the Commission.

Pennsylvania is the only State which can be said to have started on a true policy of recuperation, buying up waste lands, protecting them, and in a small way beginning to reforest them, an appropriation of about $500,000 being at the disposal of the Forest Commission.

NEED OF THE HOUR.

Major George Washington Stephens Talks on Canadian Transportation.

Not long ago Major Stephens, the President of the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, delivered a masterly address before the Empire Club of Toronto on the development of the St Lawrence route. "In the possession of this great national asset, the St. Lawrence waterway," said Mr. Stephens, "into which has gone the genius, the courage and the money of the Canadian people, Canada unquestionably has within her midst the cheapest and most efficient national trade route on the Continent.

"The St. Lawrence River to-day carries to and from the port of Montreal one-third of the country's national trade.

"In this enterprise there are just 6,000,000 Canadian shareholders, all equally interested.

"At her present rate of increase Canada will, during the twentieth century, contribute to the Empire a population exceeding that now occupying the British Isles, and will produce from one-quarter of her available areas in the West more wheat than now comprises the total wheat crop of the United States.

"There are two methods of providing for the handling of this new business, not to mention the concurrent industrial production of the country: First, by increasing transportation and terminal facilities on Canadian soil; second, by allowing business to be taken care of by transportation routes and sea terminals not within the limits of this Dominion.

"I like to regard this system extending from Fort William to the sea, a distance of 2,500 miles, as a great national undertaking, into which are going the money, the genius and the patriotism of the Canadian people, and out of which are coming year by year privileges and powers to the transportation interests of Canada, instead of diversity of control and authority."

Unappreciated Sympathy.

The Soda-fountain clerk was engaged in vigorously shaking up a chocolate and egg, says a writer in the Bellman, when suddenly the glass broke in his hands, and the ensuing deluge made him look like a human eclair. The horrified customer leaned over the counter and tried to be sympathetic. Not knowing exactly what to say, he finally burted out consolingly:

"Oh-er-too bad! Did the glass break?"

Dripping from head to foot, the clerk looked at him witheringly.

"Did the glass break?" he repeated. "Did the glass break?" And then with freezing sarcasm, "Oh, no, not at all! You just happened to stop in while I was taking my morning shower."

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."

"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.

"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself.

Sprained Wrist and Ankle

After Being Laid Up With Great Pain for Ten Days, Relief Was Gained Instantly by Applying

NERVILINE

One of the most soul-distressing accidents that can befall one is a bad ankle or wrist sprain. "If I had only known of 'Nerviline' earlier, I could have saved myself an enormous amount of pain, and many agonizing nights of sleeplessness." Thus writes P. P. Quinn, a young farmer living near Brockville. "I tumbled from a hay loft to the barn floor and sprained my right ankle and left wrist. They swelled rapidly and caused excruciating pains. It was not convenient to go to the city, and the liniment in the house was useless. When I got Nerviline relief came quickly. It took down the swelling, relieved the pain, and gave me wonderful comfort.

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4206

"I can recommend Nerviline for strains, bruises, swellings, muscular pains, and sore back. I have proved it a sure cure in such cases."

Think what it might some day mean to you to have right in your home, ready for an accident or emergent sickness, a bottle or two of Nerviline. Get it to-day. 25c., or five for $1.00, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Morning Times

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1911.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of Strathcona, Alta., are guests of Mr. Wm. Masters Apsley.

Hurrel and Howard spent Sunday with Mr. D. Hindley, Burleigh. It is understood they are taking lessons in French.

The delegates who went to the Conservative Convention at Norwood came home in detachments. Some were pleased with the result of the nomination, while others were rather sore. It's hard to please everyone.

The members of the Ladies' Aid are busy these days and the young men and students are working hard to-day putting up booths and arranging for the afternoon sports, &c. In the afternoon rigs drove in from every quarter, until about 250 people assembled on the grounds. The booths for the sale of ice cream, candies, fruits of all kinds and lemonade were well patronized, and the sale of fancy articles was kept going with good success. foot races, putting the stone &c., until about four o'clock, when the football match was put on between the Pinks and the Blues, resulting in a victory for the Pinks by 4—2. In the evening a concert was held in the Temperance Hall, which was crowded to the doors. A splendid programme was rendered by the different choirs, recitations, songs, solos, violin solos. Taken in all it was one of the most successful entertainments ever held in Apsley. The autograph quilt sold for $8.50, and total receipts were in the neighborhood of $103.00. When the ladies of Apsley and surrounding country take anything of this sort in hand it is going to be a success. Mrs. Wm. Master kindly gave the use of her house for all the culinary arrangements for tea, &c. Fred, as usual, in the role of auctioneer, was in his element and drew the dollars out of the boys. Wherever Fred is there is bound to be excitement and fun.

An Ignorance of Values.

"You shouldn't have said you could hire all the brains you need for $25 a week," said the politician's friend.

"Why not?"

"Because it's merely an invitation to somebody with only six dollars' worth of brains to come along and cheat you."

Doing Things Regularly.

The Lady—I thought you said you were looking for work?

The Hobo—Well, I am, mum. But I don't want to get it right now. I'm a detective, you see, an' I'm just after clews, to-day.

"Are you at the head of your class in school?"

"Not exactly," answered the sturdy youngster, "but the boy that is at the head of my class in school isn't in my class in football."

Even the women who complains of her heart can run up a bill without getting out of breath about it.

A Salvation Army Baronet.

A scion of one of the oldest of the noble families of England, Sir Genille Cave-Brown-Cave, 12th baronet of Stanford, is now a member of the Salvation Army in Brooklyn. His patrimonial estates in England were so encumbered that years ago he came to this country to make a living and had been employed on ranches in the west. He became one of the most expert of cowboys, and held the record for roping and branding a steer in the state. The freedom of the plains appealed to him. Some months ago Sir Genille decided on going to England on a visit and travelled east as far as New York. There a Salvation Army lass with her tambourine and a frank look in her blue eyes lured him from a public resort, in which he and a party of friends were regaling themselves, and interested him in the work of the army. He is now working as a janitor and trying to save from his wages the $100 matriculation fee required at the Salvation Army training school for officers of the army.

Our Four Great Railways.

The United States had thirty millions people before the country was connected by railway from ocean to ocean. Four years from now, when Canada's population will probably approximate ten millions, we will have four transcontinental railway systems. And no one doubts that there will be traffic for all of them if we maintain our fiscal independence and encourage interprovincial trade. If the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways do as much to develop Canada and advertise it through the world as the Canadian Pacific Railway has done the progress of Canada during the next twenty-five years will surpass that of the United States in any twenty-five years of its history.

Boosting.

Things may be coming your way but be careful that they do not come with such force as to carry you away with them. There are tides and tides. Some are natural, some are supernatural and some are dangerous, because they move with a force which is too strong for our character and will. "Beware of uncontrolable circumstances". This was an expression which first fell from the lips of Wellington. The editor of a periodical remarks: —

"Old salts, who are forever yarning about wrecks and their causes, have a theory that what is called a "boosting" sea accounts for more than one of the disasters that have occurred in the long history of shipping. A "boosting" sea is a sea that runs heavily after a steamer, and, if it does not actually "poop" the vessel, yet, by the roll of billow after billow, accelerates its speed to a degree unguessed by the navigator, until finally the ship, having unconsciously overrun its course, brings up upon a rock or hidden reef, and is reported at Lloyds' as "lost."

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are Monuments in all sorts of out-o'-the-way places but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory o. the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

The Emperor Gorges Himself.

The "Hoei Pao" says that an American doctor recently visited the palace at Peking to examine the baby Emperor, who, it was found, had gorged himself with a meal of swallows' nests (a sort of glutinous material), and thus provoked a raging thirst. The indisposition yielded easily to the doctor's treatment. The Emperor sleeps in a gigantic bed, big enough for six people! he rises at six, at once has a meal of rice-gruel or rice, and then goes to pay his respects to the Dowager Lung-yu.

A sculptor recently produced the likeness of a celebrated personage in whose biography it was mentioned that he regarded architecture as a very secondary art. The son of this personage visited the artist's studio for the purpose of examining the bust, when, after considering it with the air of a connoisseur, he inquired, "Could you not express more clearly his contempt for architecture?"

The heart of a man is divided into many compartments, mostly isolated. Sometimes there is a door between two of them, or even three may be joined together, but usually each one is complete in itself.

NAVAL BATTLE WITH HORSES

How 3,000 Cowboys Captured the Spanish Fleet.

Paez, who was the first President of the Republic of Venezuela, was perhaps the only man who ever fought a naval battle on horseback. It is a matter of history that he, to whom more than any other man, apart from Simon Bolivar, Venezuela owes her independence, actually attacked and captured with his cavalry a fleet of ships.

Bolivar was endeavouring to cross the Apure River in the struggle for independence, but was prevented from doing so by some eight Spanish gunboats, which moved up and down the stream as he did. Bolivar was in despair for a while. To Paez, who was second in command, he appealed for counsel, saying that he could never cross the river so long as the Spanish gunboats were there. "If only we could capture them," the revolutionary leader observed, "the rest would be easy."

Paez decided that he would have those ships or die, and he accordingly told his regiment of cowboys to follow him. Paez himself had been a cowboy on the plains of the Orinoco, and was the idol of his men. So when he spurred his horse into the stream, calling on his men to follow, of the 3,000 cowboys and their mounts, which are taught to swim as well as to gallop, there was not a single man to hold out in this unique assault upon the gunboats. It being night, the Spanish fleet were taken quite unawares. The cowboys wriggled from their saddles to the decks of the vessels, letting their mounts swim back to shore. Having thus cut off their own retreat, it was a question of win or die. They fought well, and every gunboat was captured.

THE EDIBLE CRAB

Something of the Curious Life of This Half Fish Half Animal.

The edible crab is obliged to moult or cast off its shell many times during its life. This moulting appears to be an unpleasant ordeal to pass, for the crabs often die during the act. When we see that they are not only obliged to escape from the carapox or shell, but also from the hard covering of their legs, delicate mouth-parts, and even gullet — turning themselves inside out, as it were — it is not surprising that they perish during the ordeal. The crab crawls up into some secluded nook or cove in shallow water to moult, out of th way of its hard-shelled relatives, for the helpless, newly-moulted, or soft-shell crab, if found, is devoured by them, as well as by several species of fishes. Fortunately for the crab, the soft covering hardens rapidly, and in a few hours it has a new and strong armour, and it then goes fearlessly out into deep water.

LOCKGATES AND VALVE GATES, HOLLAND RIVER DIVISION.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Lockgates and Valve Gates, Holland River Division," will be received at this office until sixteen o'clock, on Friday, August 4th, 1911.

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after this date at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal, Peterborough, Ont., at which places form of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000.00, made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors, whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows :—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are :—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario ; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario ; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loswenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

OIL IS WEALTH

200 per cent. profit inside of ninety days for shareholders in Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co. Limited

Stock Now Only Thirty Cents a Share

This is an age of co-operation.

Big projects are not carried out by one man. When a thousand or ten thousand men get behind the proposition, however, and each gives it a little push, a little aid with his money, the sum total is a mighty force.

A few dollars from you and a few from your friends to whom you have spoken about the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co., Ltd., and a few from each of their friends in turn, so goes the probability which will make it possible for us to build up an oil business on our property that should be one of the greatest.

Many a $100 invested in oil stocks has grown to thousands.

Many a man and woman is today living in ease from the dividends on $100 worth of oil stock and you can do likewise if you will seize the opportunity. "Wait till you see it is a good thing, but don't wait until everybody sees it. You will then be too late."

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck. The ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clear profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

All these neighboring wells have come in at from 3000 to as high as 17,000 barrels of high gravity oil per day. Our well is being drilled by the best drilling contractors in California. They have made a success of all their wells, and they will bring in another gusher on this Midway Maple Leaf ground without question within ninety days. Consider what this means if it is but a 3000 to 5000 barrel well of this high gravity. Remember Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company will have only 550,000 shares outstanding when this entire 100,000 shares is placed and on this low capitalization, splendid proven ground and intelligent management by practical oil men, this stock is bound to advance sharply and should show a clean profit of 200 to 500 per cent. as soon as this well is actually brought in.

The Midway Maple Leaf offers better opportunity for quick and substantial profits than any oil stock that has ever been offered local investors.

Only 25,000 shares are offered for subscription at the present price of 30 cents, per value $1, fully paid and forever non-assessable. As soon as the first well is completed, which should be in a very short time, judging by the progress already made, you will have to pay many times 30 cents.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

Dear Sir.—Without incurring any obligation, please send me full particulars regarding the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Co.

ROUND THE WORLD IN 40 DAYS.

A new record, it is to be hoped, is to be made in globe-trotting. In Jules Verne's fascinating story, Phileas Fogg did the trip in less than eighty days, although delayed by his chivalrous conduct in saving the widow of Rajah from being burned on the funeral pyre. Mr. Fogg won his wager of £20,000, having spent all but £1,000 on his trip. Better still, he won the beautiful Indian widow to be Mrs. Fogg. The achievement of Jules Verne's hero was beaten by a real woman, Nellie Bly, representative of the New York World, who made the journey between November 4, 1889, and January 25, 1890.

Now, according to the New York Post, Andre Jagerschmidt will try to cut Phileas Fogg's record in two. He left Paris on July 17, and expects to be back on August 26th. What gives his attempt more than personal interest is the fact that he will take advantage of two great events in the history of the world, the building of the railway across Siberia, and the railway across Canada. He expects to reach Vancouver August 13, Montreal on August 18, and Liverpool on August 25th. Here's good luck to him, and especially a speedy and pleasant trip through Canada.

A LEADER IN CLYDESDALE.

Scotland Produces a New Sire Horse.

The show season has come round once more and three important fixtures have been held in as many weeks. In the West of Scotland the season proper opens with Kilmarnock—noted for its display of Ayrshire cattle and Clydesdale horses — then comes the Ayr event which is followed by the Glasgow Agricultural Society's show. At the last named one finds a good turn out of horses, both light and heavy breeds being well represented, and while there is always a good display of Ayrshires, the other breeds, such as Shorthorns and Aberdeen Angus are also to the fore. The early shows have brought out a lot of promising young stock, but nothing really sensational has yet been seen. In the Clydesdale section one of the outstanding features has been the great success of the "gets" of the noted sire Baron of Buchlyvie. This horse stands absolutely without a rival as a breeding horse, and, although a young sire, his stock are coming to the front in a truly remarkable manner. Got by that grand old horse, Baron's Pride, he bids fair to rival his sire as a breeder.

MASTERING A LION

What trainers have to do to gain Control.

In illustration of the lengths to which owners of wild beasts will go in order to retain control of them, Frank C. Bostock, the famous animal trainer, tells the following story:

"Some years ago, when we were at the Hippodrome in Paris, I decided, as a special attraction, to go into the arena with Wallace, a huge African lion that all our trainers had despaired of. The house was crowded. We placed the lion in a cage sixteen feet square, and this was put inside a twenty-foot ring. Two assistants were stationed in the outer ring in case of accident. I had scarcely got inside when the beast leaped at me. It bit right through my left hand, and with one blow ripped the flesh off my back.

"'Clear out!' I shouted to the two men in the outer ring. 'I'm going to open the doors and let him into the big arena.'

"I was as furious as the lion. My pride as a trainer was wounded deeper than my back. I flung open the doors and the lion sprang out. The blood was pouring from my wounds, but in the excitement of the moment I felt no pain — only a mad desire to be master. I picked up a 'property' chair, and when the beast came again I struck it full across the muzzle; then, seizing my whip, I actually became the aggressor and drove him back to the cage.

"The audience was in something like a panic, and loud cries of 'Enough! Enough!' were raised. But I hadn't finished. In ten minutes I had subjugated Wallace to such an extent that he cowered like a dog. I got out of the cage and just fainted away. From that day to this no one has attempted to teach Wallace."

NOVEL ATHLETIC MACHINE.

New Invention to Test Runners as They Run Around the Track.

A novel invention in the shape of an apparatus for automatically taking measurements of the work of track athletes at all points in a race has just been installed on the running track in the Robinson gymnasium, Kansas University.

The machine, which is the first of its kind, and the invention of Dr. Naismith, director of physical culture, consists of small bamboo sticks, located along the track so as to divide the course into quarters.

The sticks project over the track and are touched by the breast of the runner as he passes. The bamboos are connected to a make-and-break electrical machine, which transmits the touch of the runner to a kymograph, which holds a lampblacked paper on which marks are made. A clock is used in connection with the kymograph for purposes of timing.

THE FIRST MENU CARD.

Started By a Duke in Brunswick in 1561.

At a dinner given by Duke Henry of Brunswick in 1541 he was seen to every now and then consult a long slip of paper, which reposed at the side of his plate. One of the duke's guests asked what the paper was for. He explained that it was a sort of a programme or catalogue of the dishes he had commanded from the cook. "To the intent that if some delicacy which especially appealed to his appetite were marked for a later stage in the repast, he might carefully reserve his appetite for it." The simplicity and utility of the idea at once took the fancy of the duke and the menu card from that moment became an institution. The new fashion was so much admired it travelled far and near, and was adopted in England and France at once.

WANTS $10,000 FOR A TIP.

For Giving Information About Big Property in Bronx.

Thirteen years ago, on a New York park bench, Thomas Corrigan told Patrick Goff about unclaimed property in the Bronx that belonged to a cousin, Henry Goff, who had been drowned leaving no immediate heirs.

On the strength of the tip, Goff got possession of property worth $250,000. Corrigan is now suing for $10,000, which he says Goff promised him. Goff says he never promised any such thing, but gave Corrigan $50.

New Ideas Means Success.

Have you, as a business man, ever put yourself for a moment in the place of your possible customer and looked at business from his point of view? He can purchase his goods from any one of a hundred or more houses and he has to decide which will have his money.

Think how you yourself would be guided in such a case. In a hundred firms of any one class, you will probably find ninety-nine doing business in precisely the same way; seeking it in the same way by advertising in the same way, selling in the same way, and distributing in the same way. The hundredth scorns to follow on the old traditional lines and strikes out in an original way. People can't remember the ninety-nine and can't forget the one. So the one gets the lion's share of the business.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been 39 years in Parliaments. He first entered the Quebec Legislature in 1871, being returned from the constituency of Arthabasca. He was there re-elected in 1874. Three years later he entered the Cabinet, with the Portfolio of Inland Revenue, but was defeated by a small majority, upon presenting himself for re-election. Quebec East then returned him. This constituency has been Sir Wilfrid's ever since.

Upon the successive retirements of Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Edward Blake, in 1887, our present Premier, became leader of the Liberal and then Opposition Party. When it came into power in 1896, he naturally became Prime Minister, which position he has so honorably held for such a long period.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was born on Nov. 20 at St. Lin in the county of Assomption. Here his father practiced his profession of land surveyer. His mother's maiden name was Marcelle Martineau. Sir Wilfrid being the only child. She died soon after his birth. In 1868 the Premier was married to Miss Zoe Lafontaine of Montreal.

As a man is the product of his education, let us consider what has aided in producing Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The motherless boy attended school in his native pariah till the age of twelve. He was then sent to the Protestant School at New Glasgow for a year. Here he imbibed the first draughts of his splendid broadmindedness. From this school he went to L'Assomption College, remaining seven years. In 1861 he matriculated into McGill and graduated in law, being the valedictorian of his class.

No man in Canadian public life has received more attention at the hands of political calumnators. In forty years, however, no opponent has been so base as to utter a slander which touched his personal honor, the purity of his private life, or the righteousness of his character.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

CANADIANS AND THE STAGE.

Since the Governor-General instituted dramatic and musical competitions in this country, culture of the two great arts has made great strides and there is no doubt but that in the near future stars will arise to do credit to Canada, but our great actress, Margaret Anglin, was born before the days of inducement. This great exponent of the drama was born in that centre of political strife—the House of Commons—when her father was speaker in 1876. After a good education in Toronto and Montreal she entered the School of Dramatic Acting, of New York, making her professional debut at the early age of eighteen. Since then she has had many triumphs taking leading parts with E. H. Southern, Richard Mansfield and Henry Miller.

MISS MARGARET ANGLIN.

SEEMED TO GIVE HIN A NEW STOMACH.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

COAL FAMINE.

Winnipeg, July 28.—The coal famine continues acute over Saskatchewab and Alberta. Even if the mines were opened to-morrow the famine could not be relieved by winter. Practically no coal in the east has gone into those two provinces from any field outside of that in which the strike prevails. All railway officials agree that there are no adequate facilities for getting fuel in via the lakes. It is a physical impossibility. Any relief must come from across the line, and this is only possible through the suspension of the tariff.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have beenpresenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Mountezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties.

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal" Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly installments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

Our reference is The First National Bank of Mancos, Colorado. Address and make checks payable,

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

ONE DROWNED WHEN LAUNCH CAUGHT FIRE

Four Others Badly Burned, But they Managed to Swim Ashore—Tragedy Off Gananoque.

Kingston, Aug. 2.—Dozens are grappling to-day for the body of Alexander Harris, who was drowned below Gananoque when his launch took fire. He leaves a wife and three children in Gananoque.

Four others were in the boat with him, Walter Depster, William Smith, Thomas Haig and a young man by the name of Jakes, all of them were seriously burned, but managed to swim ashore.

For bowel complaints in children always give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil. It is certain to effect a cure and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. No physician can prescribe a better remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

HARD ON FATHER.

Croquet Season Is Opened Again and Papa Knows.

Again the croquet season is with us.

One notices it first when papa comes home from lodge. He slips in the side gate and walks across the lawn so as not to disturb the log. He weaves his way carefully toward the door where a light is dimly burning.

There is a slight touch on his right leg about four inches above his ankle. He doesn't notice it.

The next instant he is on his face, his nose investigating the intricacies of a flower bed, while with his other hand he upsets a stand full of flower pots.

"What in the lovely, chairming, pleasant and agreeable circumstances is this?" asks papa.

The dog bays a mournful answer to the moon. A window is opened and a sharp voice says:

"Come in the house, you fool, before you fall over another croquet wicket."

Then father knows the croquet season is on and he announces at breakfast next day that if Willie forgets to bring in the wickets at night he'll burn the darned outfit.

For the next few weeeks the boys and girls come over and plant their heels in the flower beds and play rover among the geraniums. In the evening, sometimes, pap will play a game with mamma just to square himself for the nights he goes to lodge.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,-- is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate ?

To the men of good judgment,— these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

Calgary's Wonderful Growth.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Calgary is congratulating itself on the fact that it has advanced from a town of four thousand population to a city of fifty thousand in ten years. The census figures are not made final yet, but as Calgary has been claiming 55,000 people, it is likely that the count of 50,000 will be near the mark.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A VAST DIFFERENCE

TRY AND UNDERSTAND IT.

Nothing except food is so essential to the maintenance of health as regularity of the system. Neglect this, and the certain result is pimples, boils, bad blood, dark rings under the eyes and sallow skin. Those who neglect regularity have headaches, lan gour, bilious-ness, despondency and live short, unhappy lives.

It is both a duty and a necessity to use medicine to make the system active. The old-time idea of salts, calomel and drastic purgatives has long since passed away. Nearly everyone now uses Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are so mild—why, they cleanse out the bowels, tone the stomach, stimulate the liver in one night. While you sleep Dr. Hamilton's Pills rid the system of its wastes and poisons—in the morning you arise bright and energetic, eager for breakfast and anxious for work.

There is no medicine so universally used in the family for biliousness, headache and stomach trouble as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Many are Going.

The first instalment of farm hands for the west left yesterday morning by C.P.R. About 4,000 left Toronto 25 of whom belonged to Peterborough.

The New Grand Stand.

The erection of the new grand stand, which has been underway for some time, is progressing favorably, and will be completed in time for the exhibition. It is arranged to hold two night shows this year, on Thursday and Friday evenings of the Fair.

Conveyed to the Hospital.

Mr. Fred Tully, who resides at Fowler's Corners, was taken to Nicholls Hospital in Comstock's ambulance yesterday, suffering from appendicitis. He is under the care of Dr. Neal, who will probably operate on him this morning.

Work on Bascule Bridge.

Lindsay Post: Mr. J. C. McCabe, of the Trent Valley Canal staff, Peterboro, is in town for a few days making a few repairs to the new bascule bridge on Wellington-st. The anchor bolts in the bridge have become loosened, and these will be made secure.

The Morning Paper.

You would not question the substantial accuracy of a new story in your morning paper, nor would you question the equal dependability of the advertising in its columns. The Times tries to fill the bill.

The Convention To-morrow.

Readers of The Times are again reminded of the Liberal mass meeting to-morrow afternoon. The meeting begins at 2 o'clock, when a candidate to represent the riding in the Dominion Parliament will be selected, after which addresses will be delivered by Hon. J. R. Stratton and others.

A Sportsman's Paradise.

Game seems to be fairly plentiful in Lindsay just now. Mr. Jas. Corley, of that burg, had a bit of good sport the other day when he succeeded in shooting a fine fat, plump, bristling porcupine in the west end of the town. It wasn't a good day for hunting either.

A Local Inventor.

The Lindsay Post has been informed that a Peterboro gentleman has under course of invention an emergency guard, which can be used in connection with a bascule bridge of the type built across the river at Wellington street. The design has not been divulged as yet, but it promises to be a device that will exactly fill the bill.

A Philantrophic Request.

The will of the late George S. Schneider provides for the gift of $1,000 each to the Protestant Home and the Children's Aid Society. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to his three children, Mrs. Chas. Rishor and Messrs. Frank and George Schneider. It will thus be seen that Mr. Schneider was a real philantrophist, and generous as well as wise in the exercise of the splendid quality.

Hotel Porters Have a Scrap.

A scrap took place yesterday at the G.T.R. station, between a couple of hotel porters. It appears that one of them was sitting on the seat of his bus, and the other fellow, who was intoxicated, came over and pulled him off his seat. He then wanted to fight, but there was no scrap in the other fellow. It is said that when the drunk came up and wanted to fight, the other fellow hit him with a stone. The offender will have an opportunity of explaining the matter at the Police Court.

Statistics for 1910-11.

The following are the vital statistics for 1911, as compared with that for 1910:

	1911	1910
Deaths	45	29
Births	26	42
Marriages	20	25

The above shows that in Peterborough during 1911, there were 16 more deaths than in 1910, 16 fewer births and 5 fewer marriages.

Died From Natural Causes.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury at the inquest on the body of the man found in a stable near Frazerville: "We, your jurists, having viewed the remains of the unknown man found on lot 1, con. 8, of North Monaghan, and having heard the evidence in connection therewith do agree that it is the remains of John Carl, the man who formerly lived on the 3rd concession of Cavan, in the County of Durham, and had gone into the unoccupied building and died from natural causes about the last of June." The remains were buried near Frazerville.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Little, of Saskatoon are in the city on a visit.

Miss L. Dobbin is visiting her cousin, Miss Eva Taylor, of Keene.

Mr. J. S. Knapman will leave for Hamilton to-day on business.

Mr. C. C. Boyce, of Smith, has returned from a two months' trip to the west.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moore, Brampton, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, of East City.

Miss Elsie Long, of the General Hospital, Hamilton, is spending her vacation with her parents, Water street.

Mr. A. Garrow, of Oshawa, is spending a few days the guest of his uncle, Mr. James Garrow, 462 Park street.

Mr. Bert Beswick, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Boston, Mass. is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Edwards, 485 Sherbrooke street.

Miss Mary McCarrol, Emily, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Robson, North Monaghan, has returned home.

Dr. F. R. Glover, of Staten Island N.Y., is spending a vacation, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Popham, of Chemong Park.

Miss Mabel Ray and Miss Matilda Dawson, Toronto, are the guests of Miss Gertrude Brooks, at their summer cottage, Chemong Park.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Van Norman, of Carlton street, Toronto, announce the engagement of their daughter, Madeline Estello, to Dr. Robert Willan Mann, son of Mr. G. W. Mann, of Bridgenorth, Ont. The wedding is to take place early in September.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Laboring men are somewhat scarce in the city at present.

Harvest operations are pretty well through in this locality.

A new fruit store has been opened up in the market block, East City, by Mr. T. Anthony.

The Times is in receipt of a letter on the Chimes to which the name of the writer does not appear. It is against our rules to publish letters when the name is not given.

Mr. Walter M. Roebuck, grocer, 724 Water street, was somewhat startled this morning to find that a large tarantula had taken possession of a bunch of bananas, which were hanging in the store. The unwelcome visitor was soon confined within the precincts of a glass jar, where it is now on exhibition.

A well known Des Moines woman, after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

SPORTS

Contributions to this column Solicited.

BASEBALL.

Jersey City defeated Toronto.

The Printers' baseball bunch will arrive in the city to-morrow, to play the return match with the local typesetters. The match promises to be more than usually interesting, and if this great family journal has the matter correctly focused at this distance it would say that the boys from the rural town are likely to have their reputation hung up for the rest of the season. The dead game sports who are expected to accompany the aggregation from the Scugog village, will probably leave most of their loose change behind. Our devil has had his ear to the ground for some days, and is prepared to put up his next week's wages that the d.g.s. will return home in a box car.

Peterborough vs. Millbrook.

Two rinks skipped by Dr. Marshall and Roland Waddell went to Millbrook yesterday, where they played a friendly game with the club of that place. Dr. Marshall's rink was 10 up, and Mr. Waddell's 9 up.

At the conclusion of the game the local bowlers were hospitably entertained at the handsome home of Mr. Kells.

Italian Fugitive Killed Tarro and His Own Spiritual Life.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—One of the most sensational denunciations that has ever been delivered in Toronto against secret criminal societies and a vicious life was made this morning by Rev. Father Joseph Longo, in the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

The sermon was occasioned by the funeral of Frank Tarro, or Sciarone, as he was known in the Italian colony, who was murdered on Sunday afternoon, it is alleged, by Frank Griro, and for whom a warrant is now issued.

Although Father Longo did not make any special reference to the Camorra, or "Black Hand" society, the trend of his remarks showed that it was practically against this organization he was preaching. He scored the vicious practices of such societies and warned his parishioners against countenancing any of their works.

COMING BACK TO GALLOWS.

Another important phase of his sermon was that he emphatically denied the rumor that the dead man was a member of the "Black Hand," which had been circulated around the colony and was receiving credence from the local Italians.

"There was nothing whatever to show that Tarra was a member of any society," said the preacher. "As far as I can learn he was a hard-working man. He was treacherously shot by a person whom he thought was his friend. This man had no apparent quarrel with Tarro, yet without a moment's warning he deliberately took his life.

"In the eyes of all Christians, the fugitive committed a double murder. He not only killed his man, but he also killed himself spiritually. He is now a hunted man, haunted by his own conscience and the great fear will expiate his terrible crime on the cross that his sins will find him out and gallows. bring him back to Toronto, where he In speaking of secret societies the priest again alluded to the fact that instead of attempting to aid justice and punish crime, its members shelter all fugitives.

The funeral was one of the largest that has ever been held in the colony. Owing to the fact that there was no fight or altercation previous to the shooting, the dead man was buried with all the ritual of the Roman Catholic Church; William street was lined with coaches, and there was a number of wreaths sent by friends.

HAS THE CHURCH OF ROME TRIUMPHED OVER ITS OPPONENTS?

The Catholic Register Says It Has, in Regard to the Obnoxious Decree

The following first page item from the Catholic Register, the official organ of the Church of Rome, headed "Foolish and Mischievous Clatter," shows what the Church thinks of the humiliating surrender to it of the Government, in its last days before the recent dissolution. The Parliament of Canada has by the B. N. Act the well-known right to regulate all questions of marriage and divorce. The provinces can only say who shall have the authority to marry people, i.e.: conduct the ceremony. All other power is lodged in the Federal Government. The answers of the Minister of Justice to the questions, therefore, show that the contention of the Church of Rome prevails, and that no matter how outrageous it would be to declare a marriage invalid or illegal on account of some mistake (as in the case of a man marrying people without authority, who pretended, or thought he had) yet the parliament of the people has actually no right to say that the marriage shall hold good. Why? Simply because the Church of Rome will not allow the State any such power in cases like marriage, where it claims sole jurisdiction. It was an opportune time to force the surrender on the eve of a general election. It is the most far-reaching event in the history of Canada. The following is The Register's article referred to:—

Foolish and Mischievous Clatter.

We animadverted to the fact on several occasions when the mountebank ministers were howling, shouting and tearing their hair in mock heroics over the "Ne Temere" that they were as powerless to affect the legislation of the Catholic Church and her ordinances as Mrs. Partington was to sweep the tide of Bristol out with her broom. Once before adjournment the gallant Colonel Hughes interrogated the Government as to their power to legislate in the matter, now that bluff old Orangeman, George Taylor, M. P., feels constrained to ask questions. The despatch tells the tale conclusively:

"Ottawa, Ont., July 27.—Sir Allen Aylesworth has given the view of the Justice Department on the mixed marriage problem. George Taylor, of Leeds, asked the following questions:

"'Has the Parliament of Canada the power to legalize or validate any or every marriage solemnized in Canada?

"'Does the Government consider it desirable that steps should be taken to prevent cruelty and injustice by reason of marriages contracted in good faith, before a duly ordained clergyman, but afterwards declared invalid?

"'Does the Government propose to take any steps for this purpose or in this connection?'

AYLESWORTH ANSWERS.

"The answer given by the Minister of Justice to the first part of the question is:

"'The question calls for an opinion upon a matter of law in regard to which the Government would desire to be advised if necessity arose.'

NO POWER TO ACT.

"To the second and third part, Sir Allen said:

"'The Government is of opinion that it has no power or jurisdiction in the premises.'"

NO ANNUAL FINANCIAL STRINGENCY THIS YEAR

Harvesting of Crops Will Be Accomplished Without Usual Tightness in Money Market It Is Hoped—Harvard Professor Attempts to Prove Newfoundland Was Once a Part of United States—No License Campaign.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Montreal, August 5.—The annual financial stringency which has been associated with the autumn months for so many years past seems likely to be missed from the Canadian monetary annals this year. As soon as the cause of the financial tightening was understood there began to be efforts at remedying it; and it really seems as if those efforts had been so effective that the stringency will hardly recognize itself this year.

The stringency arose from the sudden calling into existence of a hundred million dollars worth of marketable commodities at one period of the year. All other industries market their products more or less continuously all the year round. The farm alone—and indeed the specialized wheat farm of the West, alone among farms—cashes in the whole earnings of the year's work at one time. Till the reapers are at work the farmer cannot even raise a loan upon his crop, let alone sell it. The instant the reapers have finished he and his fellows of the West of Canada collectively have a hundred million dollars worth of property for which they can get, and want to get, cash at the shortest possible notice. The Liverpool buyer will not pay for this crop until it is loaded on the steamers or delivered where he wants it; and in the meantime the monetary resources of Canada have to provide some considerable proportion of a hundred million dollars to "move the wheat crop" and keep the farmer happy.

The Government of Canada a few years ago gave leave to the banks to enlarge temporarily their issues of currency during harvest time within safeguarding limits and on payment of interest upon the excess issue, and thereby greatly mitigated the strain. The banks and the farmers themselves are this year affording additional aid by means of a system of credit notes, by which the farmer accepts a certificate for the value of his wheat in transit instead of demanding actual cash, and these certificates are redeemed in due course when the foreign payments for grain begin to come in. The certificates are not of course available for current small transactions, such as paying for the farmer's boots and clothes; but with the assistance of the banks they do enable him to redeem his notes and arrange his financing for the following year immediately on the sale of his crop. It is quite possible that the "fall stringency" will soon become, as it should be in any wisely-financed community, a creature as extinct as the proverbial dodo.

PREHISTORIC RECIPROCITY.

A leading American professor, Dr. M. L. Fernald, of the Grey Herbarium of Harvard University, is spending the summer accumulating proofs that the island colony of Newfoundland was once a part of the New England mainland.

It is not yet announced what action, if any, the United States proposes to take should he succeed in finding such an overwhelming mass of prehistoric and other data as will establish beyond reasonable doubt the accuracy of the professor's theory, but there may be the possibility of a novel national problem for solution by The Hague Tribunal.

Prof. Fernald is now pursuing his explorations along the Exploits River gathering proofs from plant and animal life that prehistoric reciprocity was absorption absolute.

As a pioneer in the study of plants and animals in Newfoundland and Labrador, Prof. Fernald has made that part of the Harvard collection famous. With the work which he expects to finish this summer he will give the world for the first time a thorough account of the green and growing things in a land that has often been dismissed, probably all too hastily, as sterile and barren.

With a wonderful story of progress in Massachusetts, Mr. Delcevare King, chairman of the Massachusetts No-License League is touring Quebec urging his listeners to attack the drink power in Quebec with better organization, more systematic methods, and stronger co-ordination of efforts.

Mr. King says that sixteen out of thirty-three cities in Massachusetts are without saloons and more than half the towns are "dry" and that no effort has been or ever will be made by the public to change the local option laws. The "no-license" has proven most satisfactory in every community where it has been tried, he asserts.

PARTY TUNES BY THE BELLS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Those who were near enough to hear the chimes on Wednesday evening, were pleased to observe that "St. Patrick's Day" was one of the tunes given in honor of the Bishop of St. Peter's Cathedral. I have not one word to say against this. But I think in order to show perfect impartiality, Mr. Davidson should have demonstrated his regard for the other side by ringing out "The Protestant Boys" on the 12th of July, in commemoration of the great victory of the Boyne, which secured for Protestants and Catholics alike the liberty which they now enjoy.

Junius.

IS THIS TRUE?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am informed that the main "outfall" sewer of the city, running from King street south to the river where it enters the river, is four feet square, and where it crosses the creek just below the C.P.R. station, it is reduced to a two foot iron pipe. If this is true, it is no Wonder there is all kinds of trouble after every big rainstorm. The pipe should be of equal size to the sewer, if flooding by back water is to be avoided. Of course our present Engineer is in no way responsible for this, as it was put in before his time. But he should at once recommend a larger pipe be installed.

MARRIAGE AND THE DECREE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Would The Times please inform its readers if anything was done in Parliament regarding the Ne Temere decree, and if so what was the nature of the attitude of the Government regarding same. Has the House of Commons power to regulate marriages? Is it not the function of the Provincial Parliaments? By replying to the above you will confer a favor on

Reply—On May 8th last Mr. George Taylor made inquiry of the Ottawa Government as follows:

1. Has the Dominion Government power to legalize or validate any or every marriage solemnized anywhere in Canada?

2. Has the Government taken any steps to ascertain the power of this parliament in that regard?

3. If not, does the Government propose to take any steps for that purpose?

4. Has the opinion of the law officers of the Crown been asked or obtained on this question?

5. Does the Government propose to obtain the opinion of the law officers of the Crown thereon?

To these questions Sir Allen Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, replied on behalf of the Government as follows:

1. The Government does not consider that it possesses any such power.

2, 3, 4 and 5. The Government has not considered the advisability of taking any of the courses suggested.

WIDE TOUR FOR LAURIER ARRANGED 'COUNTRY SEETHING POLITICALLY

Storm Centre as Usual is Located in Quebec—Situation Mixed in British Columbia

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has been conferring with Mr. Fred Pardee, chief Liberal whip and other representative Liberals with the result that a general outline can now be given of a five weeks' campaign which the Premier will open on Tuesday, August 15 in Western Ontario.

Two days later, or on Thursday, August 17, the Premier will speak at Three Rivers in the constituency held by Hon. Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General.

On August 18th, he will speak in Quebec and the following week will address several meetings in Montreal district. Between August 22 and September 2 the Premier will address a series of six or seven meetings in the Maritime Provinces. He will speak at Halifax.

The other points at which Sir Wilfrid will speak in the Maritime Provinces have not been decided on. On September 5, he will be back in Ontario for a week. The next week he will be in Quebec districts and will wind up the campaign with final meetings on September 18, 19 and 20 at points yet to be decided on.

Laurier in Fine Condition.

The programme is a heavy one for a man of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's years, but he is in fine physical condition, and confidence.

Z. A. Lash, K. C., of Toronto, the head of the National Anti-Reciprocity League is said to be anxious to contest a seat in Ontario in Conservative interests. An effort, it is said is being made to secure a nomination for Mr. Lash, in one of the constituencies of Southern Ontario.

Sorel May Drop Mr. Lanctin.

Despatches from Sorel state that there is a split in the Liberal ranks there, and it now looks as though Mr. Adelard Lanctot, as a result of his house painting venture, was going to be dropped by the local Liberal party, on the ground that his influence has been so undermined by the recent disclosures that he could not carry the riding.

The Church of Rome.

Le Canada, the French Liberal organ in Montreal, has an editorial which presents a new argument to the Nationalists as to why they should not vote for Bourassa.

It points out that while Mr. Bourassa appeals to them to vote against Laurier on the ground that he has sold the country to the Orangemen, the Conservative organs, notably the News of Toronto, claim that two reasons why Laurier should be defeated are that he gave separate schools to the Northwest, and he refused to pass a law nullifying the effect of the "Ne Temere" decree in the Province of Quebec.

"It is beyond doubt," says Le Canada, "that if by any chance the electors place Mr. Borden in power, the federal parliament, where the majority will be composed of the adepts of the News and Telegram, will undertake to annul the provincial law on marriage by the introduction of federal legislation taking from the Catholic Church all right to declare whether a marriage is valid or not."

A. Beck vs. Mackenzie King.

The story that the Hon. Adam Beck may oppose Mr. King is again current and it is authoritatively stated that he has since been approached on the subject, since the dissolution of parliament. Others prominently mentioned are Dr. Lackner, M. P.P., and L. N. Jansen.

West Toronto.

Captain A. T. Hunter, who opposed E. B. Osler, seven years ago, will be the Liberal choice in West Toronto. The Conservatives aim to get 20,000 new names on the voters' list.

B.C. Situation Uncertain.

British Columbia advices state that the political situation is not very clear here. It is said that George H. Cowan, M.P., will not seek re-election, and that Hon. Mr. Bowser will go before the constituency. Mr. C. E. Tisdale, the local member, is also said to have an eye on the nomination, as also has Sir Chas. Hibert Tupper. Tupper is not an fait with the McBride administration which strongly favors Mr. Cowan.

WHO WILL THEY SELECT?

It Will Be One of the Names Given Below.

Considerable speculation is being indulged in regarding who is likely to be selected at the convention this afternoon, as Liberal candidate. The Times believes the selection will be made from one of the gentlemen named below:

Hon. J. R. Stratton.
R. R. Hall.
Geo. W. Morrow.
Daniel O'Connell, K.C.

Hon. Mr. Stratton will be the first choice, without a doubt, and in case he declines, the others, so far as we can learn, stand about equal chances of getting the call.

"I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs. M. I. Basford, Pooleville, Md. For sale by all dealers.

A DUAL TELEPHONE SERVICE

The Times now and again hears of spasmodic efforts of promoters to impose on some city or town the infliction of a dual telephone service. These people usually assume the role of public benefactors or claim some overwhelming advantage in new devices which they promise will revolutionize the service.

That such schemes sometimes succeed is evidenced in Peterborough having been twice victimized, and that the City is still to some extent subject to the effects of our folly in this respect. It is well occasionally to remind ourselves of this fact "Lest we forget."

The second time that Peterborough was beguiled there were two glittering and tempting lies on the cast—lower rates and an Automatic service.

Those who subscribed for the new service have had an experience of both. As to rates it is stated that no pay for service has been collected from subscribers since it was established four years ago. As to the Automatic service it is the concensus of opinion that it has been worth just what has been collected from the subscribers for it—nothing. The Automatic exchange has stood practically at the same number of subscribers it started with.

In contrast with this since the Automatic service was begun here the Bell Telephone Company's local exchange has steadily increased until at present its subscribers number five or six times the other. Bell rates have been maintained and the people are satisfied to pay their charges rather than take the Automatic for nothing and put up with its service.

It is generally conceded by business men that practically all the local telephone service of this City is done through the Bell exchange.

We can confidently say after four years' experience, that if charges were now enforced for the Automatic service, that practically all those who have the connection would drop it. Many of them already have the Bell and pay for it willingly, the others have very little use for a telephone. But even where no increased expense is imposed, as under conditions here, a dual telephone service is a nuisance for which there is no justification. Rates and service are completely subject to the Dominion Railway Commission, so reasonable complaint can arise which may not be speedily, cheaply and effectively remedied.

Peterborough City Council made a mistake in granting a franchise for a dual system of telephones. In this they were moved by powerful local influence and not by their judgment. But the same influence has not been effective in securing the support of the people. The much vaunted Automatic has not made good. "Every user his own operator" is the prime cause of disapproval, and business men especially have steadily declined to saddle themselves with two telephones, and two telephone bills where one gives them better service. This prime fact is becoming generally fixed in the public mind.

FIFTY WERE KILLED, A TOWN SUBMERGED

New York, August 4.—Fifty persons are dead in Nicaragua, as a result of the recent floods on the Gulf coast, and in the interior, according to the cable advices from Bluefields. The floods are said to have been the very worst which have visited this region in a generation. The town of Rama was completely submerged, telegraph and telephone communication interrupted, and the gun boat Amatepe sunk in the Rama river.

A CLOUDBURST IN KANSAS.

Smith Centre, Kansas, August 4.—Northwestern Kansas was flooded by a cloudburst yesterday, and all the streams are out of their banks. Six inches of rain fell here in two hours. Swollen streams carried out bridges and culverts worth $100,000. The Rock Island Railroad lost 30 bridges and culverts in 45 miles.

Harlan, fifteen miles south of here, was struck by a tornado, and several houses were blown down, and its wreckage was swept away by the Solomon river, which is several miles wide at that place. Much live stock was killed, but no persons were seriously hurt.

WILL HON. J. R. STRATTON GET A SENATORSHIP IF DEFEATED?

The Review says that the Hon. J. R. Stratton is to be the Liberal nominee, and in case of defeat, he will get a Senatorship. Just how our contemporary should know the "inner workin'" of the Liberal machine is not explained. There is one thing evident on the face of it. If what our contemporary says is true, it would be foolish for Mr. Stratton, were he aspiring for a seat in the Upper Chamber, to make any serious effort to win the election. If he were defeated he would become a senator, and if elected he would lose the honor and a job for life. We are of the opinion that our contemporary is a poor guesser.

CHARGED WITH WHITE SLAVERY

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—Ruth Davenport a Denver society belle, has been committed for trial at Calgary, Alta., on a charge of white slavery, and the police of this city have been asked to furnish details of her movements here. CHECKS FOR CENSUS TAKERS

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The Department of Agriculture will this afternoon issue the cheques to the census enumerators throughout the country where the original accounts have been corrected. It was decided, after completion of the enumeration, to withhold ten per cent. on all cheques until accounts had been examined and found correct. Many of the enumerators have been waiting their pay for some weeks.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but, while California trees are of gigantic dimensions, they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The Californians are noted not so much for their height as for their girth and dimeter. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340ft high. Australia's record gum tree can beat this by 140ft.

Not Gratifying.

Some one sent the manuscript of a story to a literary friend, with the request that he would criticise it. The friend returned it, with the following note:

"My dear Blank: Your book contains much that is both new and good. But what is new is not good, and what is good is not new."

It is wicked for us to go about with faces which indicate that life has been a disappointment to us instead of a glorious joy. It shows that we have missed the real object of living, that we have never caught a glimpse of the realities of life, but that we are living in the shadows, in the gloom instead of the sunshine of reality, of truth, of beauty. It indicates that we have not even caught a glimpse of the real glory of life.

Small Heads Dont Mean Small Brains.

The fact that you take a small size in hats does not necessarily mean that you have a small brain. A man with a small head may be much cleverer than a man with a large one. Moreover, the size of the brain is not everything, since, if undeveloped, it is no more likely to produce anything of value than land which is not fertile. There are people with large heads who display so little intelligence that one almost expects to hear their brains rattle when they move, like a shrivelled kernel in a nut.

Too Much Education a Mistake.

It is a mistake to suppose that a good general education will secure success in life. No wise man accepts a general invitation to dinner; it involves no particulars. Only a particular education is of practical use. Let the boys be educated for something particular — lawyers, doctors, clergymen, printers, merchants, tradesmen — only something definite. No hands are so often idle as those which are supposed by the owners — and by no one else — fit to "turn to anything."

Expecting Much.

The sphere of our affections is one in which we are very apt to expect too much from others, and thus to cause bitterness and often estrangement. Where we love we naturally crave to be loved; but this craving if not regulated by reason, is very likely to blossom into a selfish oppression.

A Sewing Machine Wrinkle

A hand sewing-machine is often very apt to slip about on the table. To obviate this, all that is necessary is to place a couple of the old-fashioned gelatine lozenges, slightly moistened, under each corner of the base board. In a few seconds the machine will be found to adhere to the table and equal a stand-machine in firmness.

A TALENTED ARBITRATOR.

Ralph Connor is a Man with a First-Hand Knowledge of Men.

Rev. Charles W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) of Winnipeg, the famous novelist, who has been appointed Chairman of the Board of Conciliation which will seek to settle the big strike of coal miners in the West, is noted for his tolerance. That quality stands out strongest among his characteristics as a man, a minister, and a writer.

As good an example of this as can be found is an amusing incident in his novel, "The Foreigner."

The Anglican bishop in the story was being driven over the Edmonton trail by Sam Macmillan, a very competent but very profane freighter. Every time the horses became wired in a slough Sam would let loose a string of original oaths which made the bishop's blood curdle. The latter implored the man to desist.

"Just as you say, your reverence," replied Sam. "I ain't hurried this trip, and will do our best."

At the next slough the experiment was tried. Ordinary language was used, but the horses would not budge. Half an hour passed with no results.

"It's getting late, Mr. Macmillan, and it looks like rain. Something must be done," said the bishop.

"It does, your lordship," answered Sam. "But the brutes won't pull half their own weight without I speak to them in the way they are used to."

More time passed. Then the bishop gave in.

"Well, well, Mr. Macmillan," he said, "we must go on. Do as you think best, but I take no responsibility in the matter."

He retired from the scene and—

Macmillan seized the reins from the ground, and, walking up and down the length of the six-horse team, began to address them singly and in the mass in terms so sulphurously descriptive of their ancestry, their habits, and their physical and psychological characteristics that when he gave the word in a mighty culminating roar of blasphemous excitation, each of the bemired beasts seemed to be inspired with a special demon and so exerted itself that in a single minute the load stood high and dry on solid ground.

A clergyman who will write like this ought to be a man to consider all the circumstances and provocations on both sides of a labor dispute

MEASURES MINDS WITH MACHINE

Wonderful Apparatus Devised by an English Scientist.

A Mr. John Gray has devised a mind measuring apparatus, and among the persons already tested by him are Lord Avebury, Sir William Crookes, professors and physicians of the West London and Middlesex hospitals, many of the women of the Lyceum Club, and one actor.

Commenting on the results of these tests, he says that, generally speaking, he found the men, with the exception of the actor, came under class V of the scale of persistence, which includes men of thorough and profound thought. What a dramatic critic Mr. Gray would have made!

He found the literary women to be more mentally brilliant, witty and quick of apprehension than the average. Then Mr. Gray takes another whack at the actor by saying he came under class II, which comprises cynics, persons who do not go into the depths of things and only learn superficially.

The apparatus consists of a box, the interior of which is fitted with a revolving mirror, on which powerful colored lights are made to play. The eye of the person to be tested is placed against a whole in the side of the box, the mirror is set in motion, and the length of time taken for the sensation of flickering to disappear from the subject measures his mental persistence, thus giving indication of his intelligence.

A Year Ahead of His Time.

Luxembourg was not so long ago the scene of an incident savoring decidedly of comic opera. When the late ruler of the Grand Duchy was Duke of Nassau he was officially informed of the death of his cousin, the King of the Netherlands, and promptly journeyed from Vienna to Luxembourg, to which state he was next in succession owing to the operation of the Salic law. A ceremonial entry was made into the capital, and the new Grand Duke had already received personal congratulations from many of his most prominent subjects, when he heard that Kink William's physicians had been misled by a cataleptic trance, and that, so far from being dead, he was on the road to recovery. So Duke Adolphus had to return to Vienna, and when, a year later, the King really passed away, several weeks elapsed before the new ruler of Luxembourg assumed the reins of government.

A Trick of the Sun.

Upon a mountain in Andalusia quaint spectral forms are frequently seen. Whenever there is a heavy mist and persons are ascending the mountain they appear in all their ghostly splendor and sometimes so suddenly as to strike dismay into the hearts of those who see them for the first time. Of course it is all a trick played by the sun. When a mist partly shrouds the mountain the sun is naturally obscured and then he revenges himself by projecting the shadow of any person who is ascending he mountain until it assumes the form of a gigantic spetre.

A pedigree hog was killed by an American railroad and a jury awarded $10,000 damages. And you couldn't get that for ten dead section men.

The schottische was introduced 46 years ago in Germany.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

ACCIDENTS IN AVIATION

Mostly Due to Breakdown in Human Machine

All who walk the earth in safety and apparently in a normal condition of health are not physically qualified to be aviators. This is demonstrated by Dr. R. Moulinier who writes as follows

"The rapid ascent to great altitudes exposes the body to conditions different from any terrestral ones. Mountain climbing offers some analogy, but it is different in the fact that the transition from the high atmospheric transition of the sea level to a low pressure takes place much more slowly. The author has reported some interesting observations on the blood pressure of aviators who have ascended to high altitudes. On alighting after ascending to a height of 1200 to 2000 meters the aviator presents cyanosis of the extremities, probably from the low temperature of the high regions of the atmosphere.'

This means that the extremities turn a dusky blue color Often there is congestion of the inner surface of the eyes. The pulse is quickened, but there is no irregularity of the heart's action, nor bleeding from the nose. There is often slight headache and ringing in the ears Sometimes there is a tendency to sleep, and this may be felt even during flight Rising to a great height and coming down again always increases th blood pressure, as the writer explains.

Power From Sea Waves.

At the recent meeting of the British Association the question of economical production of power from tides and winds was again under discussion, and it has been taken up widely by scientific journals in Europe "La Revue Scientifique" calls attention to a system of utilling the power of sea waves to actuate a dynamo which has been employed during the last six months at the mouth of the river Gironde. An air chamber is connected with a well, which communicates with the sea at a depth below the level of the lowest tides. By the advance and recession of the waves changes of pressure are produced in the air chamber, and a system of valves enables the resulting air currents to be applied to rotating a kind of turbine. It is said that the apparatus works equally well in calm and in stormy weather.

A FAMOUS ENGLISH CLOCK.

Terrestial and Celestial Bodies Incorporated in the movements.

Wells cathedral contains one of the most interesting clocks in the whole world. It was constructed by Peter Lightford, a monk, in 1320 and embraces many devices which testify to the ancient horologist's ingenuity. Several celestial and terrestrial bodies are incorporated in the interesting movement and relationship. They indicate the hours of the day, the age of the moon and the position of the planets and the tides. When the clock strikes the hour two companies of horsemen fully armed dash out of gateways in opposite directions and charge vigorously. They strike with their lances as they pass as many times as correspond with the number of the hour. A little distance away, seated on a high perch, is a quaint figure, which kicks the quarters on two bells placed beneath his feet and strikes the hours on a bell. The disk of the clock is divided into twenty-four hours and shows the phases of the moon and a map of the universe.

SELF-DEPRECIATION NOT ALWAYS GENUINE.

Partakes of the same Character as Self-Assumption.

Self-depreciation partakes of the same character as self-assumption. Both come from over-thought of self, and both vanish when self is merged in something else. Just as soon as we are earnestly anxious for some result we begin to work for it, without stopping to gauge our powers or to think anything at all about them. The mother who ardently loves her child and desires his best good does not spend her time in bewailing her unfitness to take care of him. She begins at once, and does her best, and her power grows with every effort. The business man with a family depending upon him does not delay providing for the members because he distrusts his ability to do so; he forgets to consider that, and simply pursues his work as well as he can. So in every instance, if the self-depreciative will cease thinking about themselves at all, and devote all their thought and energy to the duty in hand, they will find their strength and fitness for the work grow with exercise, and the fears which have stood in the way of success will melt away.

THE CANADIAN FLAG

How One Mother Teaches Patriotism To Her Boy.

Here is an excellent plan tried by one mother for teaching patriotism and a high regard for his country's flag, and an equally high regard for truth and square dealing, to her small son. In this boy's room a Canadian flag hangs on one wall, serving as the principal decoration of the room.

But sometimes the flag does not hang in its accustomed place — now and then the flag comes down from the wall and is furled and carried into mother's room, for, says this mother to her small boy, "The cross of St. George is not to shield and protect and wave over any but the brave and true," therefore when a boy strikes a smaller boy, or when he misrepresents things or shields himself at the most expense of one of his playmates, when boyish arguments and arrels arise, the flag comes down Not very often is it away from its accustomed place on the wall of the boy's room, the occasions are growing more and more infrequent.

THE OTTAWA RIVER IS LOWER

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—An examination of the lockmaster's book showed the startling fact that the water in the Ottawa river had sunk about twebty one feet since last May. Last May the water stood twenty-eight feet eight inches in the Ottawa River. Since that time it has been sinking rapidly, until now the water stands at seven feet eleven inches, and bids fair to go much lower, if there is no serious rainfall.

It has not affected navigation so far. In the Rideau the water is extremely low, and it may become dangerous for the boats of the Rideau Lakes Navigation Company to make their trips.

READY MADE - ENGLISH

Occasionally we hear lamentations over the bad English of boys and girls who have received the advantages of as good a school education as the country can give. In teaching composition it is possible to lay too much stress on correctness, and too little on clearness, simplicity, and force. The critic pounces upon a singular verb with a plural nominative, or upon a confusion of "shall" and "will," and passes one much graver faults, such as a lack of thought or a tangled and confused sentence, which does not clearly express the writer's meaning.

The London Times recently took up the question of stale phrases. It declared that the use of these was due to the desire to write in a style different from that of ordinary speech. "Most bad writers write badly because they think they must adopt a literary style, which to them means a style made up of stale phrases. They also often write badly because they have nothing to say; but they would discover this fact, and perhaps give up writing, if it were not concealed from them by their command of phrases that mean nothing in particular.

The fault of using these hackneyed phrases in writing is not unlike that of using stale slang in speech. It is a fault very difficult to eradicate. The ready-made phrases and quotations are like old clothes and boots; they fit so easily that there is a great temptation to dress out thoughts in them upon all occasions. Even an acquaintance with the classics of literature may have its drawbacks if it leads to the persistent and meaningless lugging in of such expressions as "few and far between" and "more honored in the breach than the observance."

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for the Erection of Wireless Telegraph Station," at Tobermory, Ontario, will be received at this office until noon, on July Twenty-ninth 1911.

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after July 10th instant, at the office of the Superintendent of Wireless Telegraphs, Department of the Naval Service, Ottawa, the Office of the Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Parry Sound Ontario, or the Office of the Superintending Engineer of Sault Ste. Marie Canal, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., or the offices of the Postmaster at Owen Sound, Ont., or the Postmaster at Tobermory, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of the Naval Service, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

TWO OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PARTIES IN THE DOMINION HAVE RECOGNIZED IN A PRACTICAL MANNER THE SUPERIORITY OF THE PRODUCTS MANUFACTURED BY

The Kootenay Jam Company Ltd.

The Canadian Naval Department have given us REPEAT orders for the supply of our products to the Navy and we have a valuable contract from the Canadian Pacific Railway for the supply of their extensive system.

In addition to these, we have numerous contracts from large wholesale dealers in the North West.

Our business is established and permanent, and the demand for our products is increasing rapidly every dny.

This is an unusual opportunity to join in an established enterprise whose future is assured.

The amount of stock we are offering for public subscriptions is limited to 30,000 shares at $1.00 each, and if you are interested, we would suggest that you fill out this coupon and return it to us immediately.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

HEAVINESS AT PIT OF STOMACH

A Feeling of Uneasiness Before And After Meals is Quickly Cured With Nerviline.

Nearly everyone gets an occasional attack of indigestion and knows just what that heavy feeling means in the stomach. "I was subject to stomach disturbements and my health was seriously hampered on this account. After meals I belched gas, had a weighty sensation in my stomach and over my left side. The first relief I got was from Nerviline—I used it three times a day and was cured. I continue to use Nerviline occasionally and find it is a wonderful aid to the stomach and digestive organs."

The above letter comes from Mrs. P. R. Stetson, wife of an important merchant in Brockton and still further proof of the exceptional power of Nerviline is furnished by A. E. Rossman, the well-known upholsterer of Chester, who writes: "Let everyone with a bad stomach use 'Nerviline,' and I am sure there will be few sufferers left. I used to have cramps, rumbling noises, gas on my stomach and severe fits of indigestion. Nerviline was the only remedy that gave me relief, and I found it so entirely satisfactory that I would like to have my letter of recommendation published broadcast in order that others may profit by my experience."

You'll find a hundred uses for Nerviline—it's a trusty household remedy that sells to the extent of a million bottles per year — that's the best proof that it must cure and give unlimited satisfaction. Refuse anything offered in place of Nerviline, 25c per bottle, five for $1. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Morning Times

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, 1911.

THE POSITION OF THE TIMES.

Lest there be any misunderstanding in regard to the position which The Times will take in the election contest, we would say that our purpose is to present the facts from day to day, as they appear to us, regardless of party. We will therefore endeavor to keep our readers in touch with the events connected with the campaign as it proceeds. Party papers usually carry little weight at such a time. They are forced to do the bidding of their political leaders, and are always ready to magnify the errors of their opponents and cover up the wrong-doing of their friends. People are aware of this, and as a natural result, discount their utterances accordingly.

THE ELECTIONS.

In the general election of 1908, the Laurier Government was returned to power with a majority of 45 supporters in the House of Commons, the lowest majority since 1900. This majority, large though decreased, was given in a House of 221 members by a popular vote in Canada of but seventeen thousand more than the Conservatives obtained, in a total ballot of 1,176,104.

According to the calculation of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, who keeps the records of the polling, the popular vote was as follows:

	Govt.	Opp'n.
Ontario	224,921	236,919
Quebec	158,393	129,634
Nova Scotia	56,568	54,500
New Brunswick	40,716	34,945
P. E. Island	14,406	14:208
Manitoba	30,915	37,149
British Columbia	13,412	23,956
Alberta	23,777	22,185
Saskatchewan	33,415	25,997
	596,533	579,571

The people of Canada were thus nearly equally divided upon the merits of the Liberal regime. Outside of Quebec Province, the Conservatives [illegible] by the racial predilection of Quebec province was decided, not, we believe, on the merits of public or party issues, but by the personal strength of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This is the impasse the Conservative Party in the Dominion has been up against since 1896. With the majority in the rest of the country, they have been defeated by the racial predilection of Quebec for the Prime Minister. It may be so again. But there is a factor this time in the Bourassa campaign, which may make some difference.

The comparatively slender popular majority of votes cast in 1908 for the Liberal regime gave a parliamentary majority of 45. This was subsequently reduced by 2, the Liberals being defeated in bye-elections in North Essex and (by the Nationalists) in Drummond-Arthabaska.

The standing in the House at dissolution last was therefore:

	Govt.	Opps.
Ontario	35	51
Quebec	51	13
New Brunswick	11	2
Nova Scotia	12	6
P.E. Island	3	1
Manitoba	4	8
Saskatchewan	9	1
Alberta	4	3
British Columbia	2	5
Yukon	1	0
	131	90

The Conservative effort will of course be to overturn the Liberal majority of 41 in Parliament. This means the net gain of twenty seats. The Ottawa Journal, (Independent) from which we take the above figures thinks this will be a considerable contract; but in view of the fact that the Liberal Parliamentary majority rests on so slim a popular majority, and that the Laurier strength in Quebec will be subjected to the severest attack it has had to face since 1896, the chances would appear to be fairly good for Mr. Borden.

To the nominal majority of 41 with which we have credited the Government are included Messrs. Sifton, Lloyd-Harris, German and Sealey, all of whom opposed the government on the reciprocity issue, also Mr. Verville, the Montreal Labor representative; and Mr. Girard, independent-Conservative, Chicoutimi. It would therefore appear that a gain of even 16 to 18 seats by the Conservatives in the coming elections would end the present regime.

LUMBER USED BY FURNITURE AND CAR MANUFACTURERS IN CANADA 1910.

Statistics of the lumber purchased by Furniture and Car Manufacturers in Canada in 1910, have been compiled by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior; 117,893,000 board feet of timber were used, worth $2,987,210, at an average value of $25.35 per thousand; of this 65 per cent. was native wood at $20.82 per thousand, while the imported wood cost $33.86 per thousand. Ontario was the principal consumer, using over 50 per cent. of the total amount. About one third was used in Quebec and the remaining 15 per cent. was consumed in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island used a negligible quantity. The timber used in Ontario, both native and imported, was more expensive than in the other provinces, while Nova Scotia is a particularly cheap lumber province.

Yellow Pine and Oak are the most important species used by these industries, forming over one third of the total consumption. It is regretable that all of the yellow pine and 95 per cent. of the Oak has to be imported from the United States. Great credit will be due to any manufacturer who supplants those two species with native wood. However, the next ten species in importance, maple, birch, spruce, pine, basswood, elm, ash, beech, douglas fir, and hemlock are native woods and practically make up the remaining two-thirds of total consumption. Thirteen other species are used in small quantities. Statistics of various industries thus collected are expected to be a benefit to private owner, timber seller and manufacturer by giving a better understanding of volume of business done, value of species and markets.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

THE VANISHING FORESTS

Timber Resources of the United States Showing Signs of Exhaustion.

Commissioners and commissions have been appointed in various parts of the United States to make reports on what should and could be done to stem the destruction and prepare for the restoration of timber supplies, but wherever actually a response to the recommendations was secured the means employed were too feeble to prevent the former and too inefficient to secure adequate results in the latter direction. For instance, the latest State to move in the matter of taking care of its important timber interest, Alabama (whose annual lumber output is valued at $5,000,000), appropriates $500 for carrying out the provisions of the act providing a commission with various duties. The great State of Minnesota whose forest products in one year approach in value $45,000,000, devotes less than $12,000 to its forest interests, and $20,000 on prairie planting. The State of Maine, which still cuts around one billion feet, and is indebted to the forest for a product of $18,000,000 in value, keeps within the modest sum of $25,000 to pay for the protection against fire and the support of a commissioner. Examples of such picayune and inadequate measures are found in many other States.

The only two States which have not hesitated to spend money for forestry purposes are New York and Pennsylvania. The former, in purchasing forest lands for a preserve, which now comprises about one and a half million acres only, has expended millions of dollars, and is annually appropriating money for further purchase, besides liberal provision for its Forest, Fish and Game Commission. But, alas! the policy of forest reservation which had begun on economic grounds, has degenerated into providing a pleasure ground—a park—for the wealthy, and there is little consideration to economic forest questions given by the State or the Commission.

Pennsylvania is the only State which can be said to have started on a true policy of recuperation, buying up waste lands, protecting them, and on a small way beginning to reforest them, an appropriation of about $500,000 being at the disposal of the Forest Commission.

NEED OF THE HOUR.

Major George Washington Stephens Talks on Canadian Transportation.

Not long ago Major Stephens, the President of the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, delivered a masterly address before the Empire Club of Toronto on the development of the St Lawrence route. "In the possession of this great national asset, the St. Lawrence waterway," said Mr. Stephens, "into which has gone the genius, the courage and the money of the Canadian people, Canada unquestionably has within her midst the cheapest and most efficient national trade route on the Continent.

"The St. Lawrence River to-day carries to and from the port of Montreal one-third of the country's national trade.

"In this enterprise there are just 6,000,000 Canadian shareholders, all equally interested.

"At her present rate of increase Canada will, during the twentieth century, contribute to the Empire a population exceeding that now occupying the British Isles, and will produce from one-quarter of her available areas in the West more wheat than now comprises the total wheat crop of the United States.

"There are two methods of providing for the handling of this new business, not to mention the concurrent industrial production of the country: First, by increasing transportation and terminal facilities on Canadian soil; second, by allowing business to be taken care of by transportation routes and sea terminals not within the limits of this Dominion.

"I like to regard this system extending from Fort William to the sea, a distance of 2,500 miles, as a great national undertaking, into which are going the money, the genius and the patriotism of the Canadian people, and out of which are coming year by year privileges and powers to the transportation interests of Canada, instead of diversity of control and authority."

Unappreciated Sympathy.

The Soda-fountain clerk was engaged in vigorously shaking up a chocolate and egg, says a writer in the Bellman, when suddenly the glass broke in his hands, and the ensuing deluge made him look like a human eclair. The horrified customer leaned over the counter and tried to be sympathetic. Not knowing exactly what to say, he finally burted out consolingly:

"Oh-er-too bad! Did the glass break?"

Dripping from head to foot, the clerk looked at him witheringly.

"Did the glass break?" he repeated. "Did the glass break?" And then with freezing sarcasm, "Oh, no, not at all! You just happened to stop in while I was taking my morning shower."

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."

"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed

"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself.

BAD DREAMS CURED

A Winnipeg Man Tells of a Simple Remedy That Cured.

ESCAPE FROM INDIGESTION.

"Though I am an active hard working man, somehow I fell into a condition of poor digestion and disordered stomach," writes Mr. Eb. P. Whinney. "In the morning I had a very unpleasant taste in the mouth. My tongue was whitish and nothing tasted good. An hour or so after eating I experienced pain in my right side, gas formed in the stomach and caused great distress. Even in warm weather my hands felt clammy, and still worse my system was seldom regular. Brooding and despondency would now and then get hold of me and completely unman me. When unfit for work I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In my case their wonderful curative power was like magic. So mildly did they work upon my system I at first thought they wouldn't benefit. But a few doses proved how much they helped the stomach, how quickly they brace up digestion. Food tasted natural, my appetite improved, my face looked clear and bright, and day by day as I gained in health, so I gained in spirits. To-day I am as sound, healthy, vigorous and well as any man could be. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

Beware of the dealer that may try to sell you an inferior pill to Dr. Hamilton's, which are sure to help and cure. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box. All dealers or The Catarrh ozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

BANKER SUICDES IN PRISON CELL

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—Carey A. Manker, formerly a banker of Pearl, Ills., but for three years a fugitive under indictment for embezzlement of $50,000, died in Central Emergency Hospital here early to-day a suicide.

Sitting on his prison cot last night Manker stabbed himself in the neck, using a small pocket knife.

Until his disappearance from Illinois three years ago and the discovery that he had misappropriated the funds of the bank, of which he was President and part owner, Manker was prominent. He was known as the inventor of the Hydrocurve, a peculiar shaped boat hull by which he hoped to revolutionize navigation. He organized the Manker-Hebner Navigation Company, and many of his business acquaintances subscribed for stock in the enterprise. He also organized a company to place on the market a compound explosive to prevent robbery.

These affairs and a general financial depression crippled his resources and he began borrowing from the Bank funds. At last he faced exposure and fled, accompanied by his wife and four children. His family accompanied him in his wanderings.

ROCKEFELLER AND THE GOAT.

So butting for John D. if he could help it.

John D. Rockefeller does not possess quite enough money to keep him from being afraid of a common, ordinary, garden variety of goat. On one occasion, when he was walking along one of the country roads just outside of Augusta, Georgia, where he spends every spring, he overtook a little girl who was driving a goat hitched to a cart.

Walking beside the cart was a young woman who had taken the little girl out for the ride, and it was with the young woman that Mr. Rockefeller talked.

"I used to drive a goat myself," he volunteered, in explanation of his interest in this one. "Where did you get it?"

He was told that the goat and cart had been hired. By this time the rich man had taken his stand in front of the goat and was leaning reflectively on his cane.

"Does he kick?" was the next question.

"Oh, no, sir," cut in the little girl. "He doesn't kick, but he butts something awful."

That was enough for in that moment Mr. Rockefeller destroyed the popular idea that he is infirm and feeble. He displayed all the agility of a youth of eighteen by making one leap, that took him from in front of the butting goat to the gully beside the road. And there he stayed until the little girl drove on.

Rise Immediately after Waking.

Get up immediately after waking, says a physician. Do not stay in bed, falling into a half unconscious state. When you are up go through a few light exercises without bells or clubs. Now have a bath, cold if it does not disagree with you, slightly tepid otherwise. Dry thoroughly and use such vigor leisurely. If you do not experience any giddiness, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart or nervousness during or after this meal you may continue with it. But should there be one or more of these symptoms there is something in the meal that disagrees. Tea, coffee or cocoa may be responsible, or it may be the heat of the fod, or even the odor-laden atmosphere of the room. The body is never in such a low state of vitality as during sleep, and at no period of the active day is it so weak as just after waking. Do not hurry; do not fill the stomach with irritants; do not indulge in tasks of strength, do not poison it with an impure atmosphere. Thousands of people have found physical salvation in cool, pure air, cool cleansing and a cold, light meal.

The worst of country society or for the matter of that the society of any community, is that every woman is eligible, but only a man here and there.

Cherries and plums will not be a plentiful crop this year. In fact it is stated that cherries are about over already.

WHAT IS TRUTH?

Men will believe nothing what they cannot understand.

Truth comes to us only by glimpses. There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon persuading themselves that they have it, before they yield assent to anything. They will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they say, forgetting that, although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders of the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and starts, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation — of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which uphold them and the forces they obey — these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, give us glimpses of the truth

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surpise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field. It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and lustily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilisers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, defacer, crippler, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 179 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY AUGUST 5 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200. YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

NOVEL FEATURES AT OTTAWA FAIR

Daily Flights of Curtis Aeroplane and Reproduction of Famous Naval Review as seen at Coronation of King George V.

Big Increases in Prizes

For Live Stock, Poultry and Farm Products.

With further beautified grounds, new and improved buildings, a more expansive array of agricultural and manufacturing exhibits than ever before presented, and the most costly and novel special attractions available, the Central Canada Exhibition of 1911 will be held in Ottawa, from September 8 to 16.

An Extra Day.

In keeping with its growth in other directions the Exhibition will run a day longer, that is, six days instead of five. Heretofore, the Ottawa Fair has nominally been of a week's duration after the two preparatory days, but usually the regular programme was dropped on the final Saturday. On the closing day of the 1911 Fair, not only will every feature of the daily programme be repeated, but there will be special attractions.

A Fair of Magnitude.

To attempt a description of barely the new features of the approaching Central Canada Fair would require too much of the space of the newspaper. The inventions and novelties of the year, new ideas in farming, manufacturing, domestic science, art, education, in fact every department of human activity, will be represented in the spacious pavilions, show rooms and process building of Lansdowne Park. The visitor is very observant, indeed who grasps the magnitude of this vast enterprise.

Thousands in Prize Money.

The fact that $16,000 in regular prize money and over 100 special premiums, many of them gold medals, have been appropriated for encouragement of the agricultural industry, along approved lines, is just ground for making a special appeal to the farming community in regard to participating in the competitions and attending the Ottawa Exhibition. Agriculturists and stock breeders are never so far advanced, but they may learn and acquire enthusiasm in their calling by attention to the instructive features, object lessons and many sections devoted to their interest. Prize winning animals will parade daily before the grand stand, and judging will also be carried on where those interested may observe. Competitions and lessons in butter-making and the establishment of a splendidly equipped cold storage plant for cheese denote the special attention paid to the dairy industry. The scope and importance of the great Fair are best indicated by a perusal of the prize lists which may be obtained on application to Secretary Ed. McMahon, 26 Sparks St., Ottawa. The premiums are the largest ever offered. Last year 90 per cent. of those winning medals, exchangeable for cash, preferred the money. Winners of special prizes will be given similar options this year.

The Wonderful Aeroplane.

The difficulty of securing an aviator, who could give the public a genuine performance, illustrating the wonderful science of navigating the air, has at last been overcome by the Exhibition management and a contract has been made for two daily flights of a Curtis Aeroplane. Charles Morok, formerly the famous Dip-of-Death motor car driver, will make the flights, five miles each, and will probably take a lengthy trip over the surrounding country. The flights will be started in front of the grand stand where a clear space, 500 feet by 50 feet, will be prepared. The aviator will bring two Aeroplanes so as to prevent the exhibition being interfered with by possible mishaps. On the last day of the Fair, there will be a race between an Aeroplane and an Automobile which will be a thrilling event.

A Coronation Scene.

The night spectacular performance will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Capital. Arrangements have been made with the Hand Company of Hamilton for a reproduction of the grand Naval Review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

Midway of Marvels.

The directors have broadened the scheme of entertainment in other branches also. That will be evident from announcements, later of the famous vaudeville stars, acrobatic troupes, etc., that will appear before the grand stand. The inevitable Midway will be more sensational and curious than ever. This rollicking feature will be furnished by the Park Booking Circuit of New York, which means that a gorgeous assemblage of the world's freaks and marvels will be at Ottawa.

Grounds More Ornate.

The crowds at the 1910 Exhibition were astonished at the great changes wrought in the Fair grounds. Unsightly wooden structures were gone, and in their stead was a series of handsome show rooms, offices and restaurants, under the splendid grand stand, with its accommodation above for 12,000 people. The alterations and the fresh green swards, delightful resting places and beautiful drives won the favor of visitors. The decorator and the builder have been busy again and between now and the opening of the Exhibition a vast amount of work will be done in providing comforts for the public and enhancing the beauty of the Park. The Lake, which is not needed owing to the long water front on the canal, has vanished and other reclaiming work has been done along the canal. Five acres have been added to the grounds, bringing the area to nearly 160 acres. The surface of the park has been improved by draining and a splendid large lavatory has been erected. Wires have been buried and telegraph poles and wires which had been obstructions are removed. A great ornamental "White Way" will be installed which will transform the Fair grounds into a blaze of electric glow at night.

Low Railway Rates.

The railways and steamboat companies in two for the whole week and there will be still further reductions on excursion days.

No person can afford to miss the coming Ottawa Exhibition.

E. McMAHON.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Bibles Distributed.

The distribution of bibles to the various hotels of the city took place this week a Bible will be placed in every bedroom in each of the city hotels.

Citizens Are Invited.

The Times is requested to state that the citizens, including ladies, are invited to the lawn bowling green on Monday, to witness the big bowling tournament. Seats will be provided for ladies. Play begins at 10 in the morning.

Heavy Fine Imposed.

Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday, fined a driver of a motor car $10 for speeding. His honor intends this as a warning to others who may be so disposed to do likewise.

Home from Coronation.

Master J. Reginald Stratton, son of Mr. A. H. Stratton, postmaster, and one of the Scouts who attended the coronation arrived home from England. He is loud in his praises of the good time he had with the other members of the Canadian contingent of juvenile militiamen.

An Accomplished Musician.

Mr. J. H. Renwick, who recently came to this city from Port Hope, will have charge of the Port Hope band during the firemen's tournament, and musical festival on Wednesday, August 9th. Mr. Renwick is an accomplished musician, and has made friends in Peterborough since taking up his residence here.

The Work Progressing.

The work on the addition to the post office is now progressing satisfactorily. The brick work will probably be completed in three or four days, when the roof will be put on and the inside work commenced. The building should be ready by October 17th.

Big Rainstorm.

Mr. S. W. Clegg, Government Inspector of Dams, etc., returned from Kinmount yesterday. He told the Times that a tremendous downpour of rain occurred in the north country, the like of which was seldom ever seen before. The rain belt was about eight miles in width. The water came down in sheets, covering the roadway in many places to the hubs of the buggy as he drove along.

Seventeen Hundred Extra.

We are distributing seventeen hundred extra copies of to-day's issue of the Times throughout the city. We ask those who receive a copy to look over the paper carefully, and if the attitude of the paper appeals to them, to send in their subscriptions. Our terms are 25c per month. We want our friends to help us to boost the circulation 5000 copies. If this is done we will promise to give them a paper that will be a credit to Peterborough, and we trust a power for good.

Lost His Watch.

Fenelon Falls Gazette: Mr. J. H. Carnegie rowed to Fenelon Falls on Tuesday and forgot to take his watch with him when he went up town, leaving it on the seat of the skiff. When he went back to the canal to get the watch, it had disappeared. The Steamer Stoney Lake was in the Canal at the time with an excursion from Peterborough, and it is supposed somebody saw the timepiece lying in the skiff and stole it. Mr. Carnegie has been unable to get any trace of the missing watch.

A Special Invitation.

The public are invited to visit and inspect the stock at The Times' Book store. It is the cheapest spot in Peterborough for everything in the way of books, stationery and fancy goods. Call and examine price.

The Times Bookstore.

Midsummer clearing out sale of books, stationery and fancy goods, is now in full swing at Times Bookstore—The public are invited to call.

The Liberal Convention.

The Liberal Convention takes place this afternoon at two o'clock, when a candidate will be selected to contest the riding. The Times of Monday will give a full report of the proceedings.

Live Wire Down.

The live trolley wire on George in front of the Y.M.C.A. was down yesterday, and created some excitement and not a little alarm in the neighborhood. The repair men were sent for and soon had the break fixed again and the cars were only tied up for a short time.

Contributed $5.75 Each.

At the Police Court yesterday morning Robt. Burns, a river driver was fined $2 and costs, in all $5.75, for being drunk and raising a disturbance in an hotel. He paid forthwith.

Another man, named Thos. Koboe was charged with being drunk and disorderly and raising a disturbance at the G.T.R. station yesterday afternoon. He was fined $2 and costs amounting to $5.75, or in default of payment fifteen days in jail. A friend came forward with the liberation fee.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

Considerable difficulty is being encountered through quicksand in the sewer work at the pumping station.

The elector, whose blood is at the boiling point, will hardly cool down this weather.

WEDDING BELLS.

Munro—Kelly.

"The Maples," the home of Mr. T. A. Kelly, Cavan, was the scene of a very interesting event on Wednesday last, when his youngest sister, Bertha Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. R. J. Munro, of this city. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white duchesse satin, veiled with chiffon and embroidered with sequins and pearls. She wore the customary bridal veil, with orange blossoms and Scotch heather, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and smilax. A beautiful pearl sunburst, a gift of the groom, adorned her person. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. T. A. Kelly. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel, who wore a handsome gown of pink satin, veiled with embroidered chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was supported by Mr. F. Clarke, of Peterborough, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Millbrook, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. S. E. Eakins, of the same place.

After the ceremony a dainty dejuner was served. The guests numbered about fifty. The bride was the recipient of many handsome gifts, including a cheque for one thousand dollars from the groom. His gift to the bridesmaid was a gold bar pin, set with rubies and pearls, and to the groomsman a handsome signet ring.

The bride's going-away gown was a suit of tan broadcloth, with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro left on the 9.30 train for Montreal, Quebec and eastern points. On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

MEN—YOU NEED NERVE

Wonderful Nervous System

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early Indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, etc.

This is the condition our New Method Treatment is GUARANTEED TO CURE

VOL XXXIV NO. 108 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY AUGUST 7 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

A POPULAR PLATFORM

The following platform is one that should appeal to every patriotic citizen in Canada, regardless of race or creed:—

1. The entire separation of Church and State.
2. Opposition to any interference of the Dominion Government with the different provinces in educational affairs.
3. The resistance of any further special privileges to any section of the population of the Dominion either on account of race or religion and the elimination of any special privileges which they now possess except those included in the Confederation compact.
4. Opposition to any extension of lingual privileges beyond those conferred by the British North America Act.
5. The maintenance of British connection and the support of any movement which tends to make closer and more binding the relations between Canada, Newfoundland and the mother country.
6. A close supervision of all new settlers and the encouragement of suitable white emigration from the British Isles, the United States and northern Europe.
7. A federal marriage law recognizing the validity of marriage performed by the qualified clergymen of every denomination or other persons vested by the law with that power; and the enactment of criminal penalties against persons using their influence to separate legally married couples by questioning the validity of marriages performed in accordance with the provisions of this law.

MR. BOGUE SAYS PLANT AND SEWER WILL COST $100,000

Sensational Statement Regarding the Work in South End of the City

Mr. James Bogue, the sub-contractor for the pumping station and outfall sewer now underconstruction in the south end, told The Times on Saturday that the work can not be done for anything like the sum specified in the contract between the city and Mr. Conroy. He says the job will cost $100,000 or more, and even at that figure it will not be a good job. It is next to impossible to construct a sewer on account of the quicksand. Mr. Bogue says that the only remedy will be to put down iron pipes, joined together with watertight couplings. These pipes would have to be swung from the sides of the sewer, as there is no bottom that will carry them. The grade will have to be changed also.

Mr. Bogue says further that the new King Edward School will not be able to use the sewer at all this year. This is certainly a bad outlook. It is presumed the city is amply protected through its contract with Mr. Conroy. If not there is sure to be a big noise from the ratepayers.

HIGHER CRITICISM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The writer on one occasion heard the late D. L. Moody—that great and honored preacher of the simple truth—give his hearers a piece of good advice. He said: "Some people belong to a church because their father and grandfather belonged to that church. He had no fault to find with them for that, but he said if you have a preacher in your church who is tearing God's Word to pieces and cutting out this book and that chapter, and telling you they are not inspired, you get up and leave that church at once, no matter whether your father, your grandfather or your great-grandfather belonged to it or not." Dr. Carman, in his pamphlet against higher criticism, says: "When a man is smitten with it, it partakes of the rabies."

The great danger is that the hearers will be smitten with this spiritual hydrophobia, for it is most contageous. Moody knew the danger and sounded an ahrm.

THE CITY CLOCKS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice in Friday's Times that Felix is unhappy over the fact that there is a difference of two minutes in the striking of the town and post office clocks. Is this discrepancy suggestive of any variance between the town and the government on public questions about to be settled by the electors?

Of much more moment, however, to the travelling public at least must the question whether these clocks ought to strike at all (especially at night) or not. I have spent three sleepless nights under the aegis of one or the other of these striking demons on successive visits to Peterborough, and have wondered at the long-suffering and patience of the people of this city. Is it really necessary to have a bell toll out the hours throughout the night, any more than it is to have a watchman going about announcing the time and calling out "All's Well." If anything the latter ancient procedure has at least quaintness and poetry of association to commend it.

With clocks available at half a dollar and watches at "six bits," is it really necessary not to say humane that the sick as well as those better able to stand it, should have pounded into their unwilling and shrinking ears the information as to what o'clock it may be? Here is a field worthy the effort of any enterprising newspaper philanthropist start the ball rolling and you will have the unspeakable gratitude of your towns-people as well as of every

HON. J. R. STRATTON THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR WEST PETERBOROUGH

MASS MEETING PREDICTED THAT HE WOULD RIDE TO VICTORY WITH A MAJORITY OF FROM 800 TO 1200.

Mr. F. D. Kerr's Vigorous Speech Stamps Him as a Candidate, Who is Going to Make the Most of His "Fighting Chance" in the East.

"The Reciprocity Pact," "Loyalty" and "Equal Rights," the Party's Battle Cries.

Hon. J. R. Stratton will be West Peterborough's Liberal candidate at the coming general election. An old-time Liberal victory is assured, and Mr. Stratton is to carry his party's banner to victory with a sweeping majority of from 800 to 1200—at least so it was decided at the mass meeting in the Grand Opera House Saturday afternoon.

The lower floor of the Opera House was comfortably filled with partisans, both city and rural, but not crowded, the electrical storm having unquestionably deterred many from being present. The proceedings were marked by fervid expressions of loyalty to the British Empire, notwithstanding the reciprocity pact, backed by the national tri-colors in decorative setting in rear of the speakers, and by re-iterated assurances of appreciation of and confidence in Canada's Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The political atmosphere of the house was one of supreme confidence that the reciprocity pact would be satisfactorily endorsed by a grateful electorate, eager to gain free access to an American market offering $27 a ton for hay as against $14 a ton, the prevailing price in Peterborough; but no concrete suggestion was offered as to the effect upon the local consumers—or rather, in this instance, owners of consumers of the proposed annihilation of America's tariff gates in favor of not only hay, but sheep, fruit, eggs, oats, barley, and all of Canada's natural products. And it would seem that the consumer should have some consideration as well as the producer.

Mr. J. J. Hartley presided in his customary affable manner and was re-elected president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association. Mr. G. N. Gordon was elected secretary, and the list of district committees, previously prepared by the executive, was unanimously endorsed.

The meeting was in the hands of capable speakers, some of whose harangues, however, were disagreeably punctured by the altogether too vociferous commendations of an over-enthusiastic partisan whose exuberance of spirits was evidently the result of having had previously entered into a reciprocity pact with "Scotch" or "Irish."

Mr. F. D. Kerr, the Liberal candidate for the East was present and took a prominent part in the proceedings. His address received warm commendation from those present. This energetic young politician is evidently going to take his "fighting chance" and vigorously apply his inherent and acquired ability in the campaign against his opponent Mr. Sexsmith.

The nomination of Hon. J. R. Stratton as West Peterborough's standard bearer, was moved by Mr. R. R. Hall, and seconded by Mr. Andrew McFarlane. The honorable gentleman's choice was enthusiastically unanimous.

MR. J. J. HARTLEY.

The president-elect offered that the Liberal Government had been an exceptionally progressive one and had given the country a full measure of prosperity. While the late Sir John A. MacDonald adopted a national policy, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has successfully administered one of progression.

MR. G. N. GORDON.

After moving a lengthy resolution of confidence in the Premier, and pledging West Peterborough Liberals to vindicate Sir Wilfrid's administration at the polls, which was subsequently adopted, launched forth into a brief defence of the reciprocity pact, and contended that such a policy of trade agreement with the United States in regard to Canada's natural products had been on the statute book since 1894, but the Conservative party had never been able to consummate the measure. He also offered that the Conservative's opposition to reciprocity resulted from their being in the hands of capitalists, whose interests they seek to promote in contradistinction to those of the people as a whole. In conclusion of a neat address he was exceedingly optimistic that Mr. Stratton would carry the riding by a 200 city majority and one of 300 from the country. "We can bid good bye to Mr. Burnham," he said, "for I fail to see where he is going to get within 400 votes of his total poll at last election. The Liberals fell down somewhat in the last campaign for want of thorough organization, but such will not be our experience this time."

MR. F. D. KERR.

Seconded the resolution of congratulation to and confidence in the great Liberal chieftain. He derided the efforts of the Mail and Empire and Peterborough Review to besmirch the character of Liberals with accusations of disloyalty and offered that since 1861 the Tory press had habitually characterized the Liberal party as being disloyal. But Canadian Liberals had always been loyal to the back bone and to-day can shake hands with their Conservative friends, who are now dominated by a general spirit of loyalty, which could not be said of them 50 years ago, when men of questionable sentiments in this respect sat in Conservative cabinets. He was astounded that Mr. Sexsmith, representing an agricultural constituency, should make such an absurd speech in opposition to reciprocity. On enquiry, however, Mr. Sexsmith's opposition might be based on the fact that he had nothing to sell to the United States. Mr. Kerr admitted that he was not sufficiently conversant with agricultural interests to argue positively as to the effect reciprocity would have upon those interests without recourse to the blue books. Such reference, however, had convinced him that the Pact would prove advantageous to the Canadian farmer and fruit grower, to whom a big and desirable market would be opened free for sheep, fowl, hay, wheat, oats, eggs, etc., at high prices. As an instance of the desirability of an open market across the border the speaker went on to say that at present there is a tariff of $9 per ton on hay imported into the United States, despite which last year Canadian farmers exported there $673,000 worth of hay and jumped a four-barred gate to gain access. The Pact, he contended, would benefit all classes; The farmer who would be directly enriched thereby; the merchant, whose goods would be in greater demand by the agriculturist; the manufacturer, who would enjoy increased prosperity in catering to the expanding business of the merchant.

MR. D. O'CONNELL.

delivered a vigorous address in support of the Government and the Hon. J. R. Stratton. It does not appear, he said, difficult to convince farmers in any constituency that the reciprocity pact will be a good thing for them. But still the Conservatives are responsible for the elections on this issue and would, he ventured to say, endeavour to draw a red herring across the trail in an effort to relegate the main issue to a subordinate place to minor ones. There has never yet been a measure introduced by the Liberals that had not been misrepresented by the Opposition, and this campaign, he contended, would prove no exception to the rule. But it must be borne in mind that Canada's present prosperity must be credit d to the progressive policy of the Liberal party and to the man who has assisted to a great extent in guiding the destiny not only of Canada, but of the Empire—Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Notwithstanding tariff changes inaugurated by the Liberal Government, this country leaped into an era of general prosperity. Then came British preference, which gave an impetus to trade resulting in a record for industrial prosperity that has ranked Canada amongst the foremost of enterprising industrial nations. But for continued and increased prosperity Canada depends upon its farming communities, more than upon any other class; and with that end in view the Laurier administration recognizes that it is not sufficient to depend upon British preference alone, and that Canada must acquire access to the American market of 90 million people.

Continuing Mr. O'Connell contended that while an appeal to the electorate is being made upon the Reciprocity proposition, other issues will be introduced—issues affecting equal rights, justice and fair play for all classes and creeds,—and in this respect the Hon. J. R. Stratton has won the esteem and confidence of West Peterborough's electorate during his political career of over 20 years' duration. On five occasions has Mr. Stratton appealed to the people, and while various attempts had been made to stir up class strife, he has always conducted campaigns in a spirit of fair play and equal privileges for all races and creeds.

Mr. O'Connell prophesied that Mr. Stratton would ride to victory with one of his old-time sweeping majorities.

MR. R. R. HALL.

contended that there is one clear cut issue in the present campaign—the reciprocity pact. But, he said, 60 years ago we had free trade between the Provinces and the States, and that treaty remained on the statute books twelve years with mutual advantage to all. Then the States abolished that treaty and subsequently the cry for annexation arose, fostered by American enthusiasts and countenanced by some misguided Canadians. But the Canadian people as a whole replied, no, and the Canadian Confederation of Provinces was consummated. In the first session of that federal Parliament, however, the late Sir John A. MacDonald offered to the States free trade in natural products and that standing offer has remained on the Dominion's statute books during the whole history of both Liberal and Conservative parties.

Turning to the choice of a candidate, Mr. Hall apparently did not enjoy the supreme confidence of his colleagues in the result of the election, generally, for he admitted that when pressed by Mr. Stratton to allow his name to come before the meeting, he (Mr. Hall) had replied with the familiar metaphor, "It is dangerous to swap horses when crossing a stream."

THE CANDIDATE.

The resolution that the Hon. J. R. Stratton be the candidate was here put to the meeting and carried amid enthusiastic applause and vociferous endorsation.

The honorable gentleman acknowledged the honor conferred upon him with his well-known courtesy and affability. In accepting the duty of carrying the Liberal standard for West Peterborough, he denied the Conservative rumor that he wanted to retire gracefully and avoid defeat. During his whole political career, the honorable gentleman remarked, he had never been afraid of defeat, nor vain-glorious in victory. The speaker here delivered one of his customary vigorous addresses, in which he endorsed the Reciprocity Pact as a measure in the best interests of Canadians as a whole, eulogized Sir Wilfrid's general policy as one standing for national progress and general prosperity, and expressed his conviction that the election would result in Sir Wilfrid's retention in power, with the return of a Liberal member to the House of Commons as West Peterborough's representative.

THE ELECTIONS

The elections are on and even at this stage of the campaign the interest of the electorate is keenly stirred. The issue of Reciprocity—not new, but sprung upon the people with dramatic suddenness, has almost a counterpart in the manner in which the elections are announced. The fight will be historic; it will teem with interesting and even remarkable episodes. It could not be otherwise under the circumstances and there will be plenty doing, not only in the two Peterborough ridings, but all over Canada; and The Times will endeavour to report these doings on a scale adequate to the occasion. The Times, as is well known, has a large number of correspondents scattered through the Country; and no election happening of general interest will be allowed to pass unrecorded. It will be the most interesting struggle for two decades in the story of Canadian politics.

Already many enquiries have been received for the subscription price of The Times during the campaign. The Publisher has decided to make a special rate of only Fifty Cents for a three months' subscription covering the entire election campaign, the opening of the new Parliament in October, and the arrival of The Duke of Connaught, brother of the late King Edward VII., as Canada's new Governor-General. Every present reader of The Times has a neighbor who would appreciate this offer if made known to him. We are sending in this paper a special order blank which we would ask our present subscribers to hand to some neighbor who would appreciate The Times during the next six months at a mere nominal rate.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING IN SATURDAY'S BIG STORM

A shocking fatality occurred during the big electric storm on Saturday. It appears that a party of friends were taking a "round trip" on the electric railway, and when they reached Jackson Park, they decided to remain and enjoy the shade of the trees. The storm came on and the party sought shelter. Mr. Julian Fife, one of the party, while passing in the open to a place of shelter was struck by the lightning and instantly killed. He had just warned the others of the party, who were ladies, to get from under the trees, as it was more dangerous than in the open.

Mr. Fife was about 53 years of age and unmarried. He was a farmer, and lived in Otonabee, where he has many friends and relatives, who were greatly shocked to hear of his awful end. He leaves a mother, one brother, Levi, and two sisters, Mrs. Edwin Braden, Otonabee, and Mr. Jewett, Toronto.

The body was conveyed to Mr. Comstock's undertaking establishment, and thence to his home in Otonabee.

CAUGHT MANY TROUT

A jolly fishing party consisting of Capt. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, Dr. Amys and Messrs. T. J. Lockhart, Gus Cochran and John Brightman, returned from a trout fishing trip to Ketchecum Lake on Friday, where they got nearly 100 fine trout, ranging from two two ten pounds each. The story one of the party told of some of the trout running as high as 15 to 18 pounds is probably exaggerated, as was also the statement that when the Capt. pulled in some of his monsters, the water in the lake was perceptibly lowered. The party went north in three automobiles, the trip taking about two and a half hours to make the 37 miles to the lake.

SPORTS

Contributions to this column Solicited.

On Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, in one of the best games of the season, the Peterborough Midland League team defeated the fast Dufferins of Toronto by a score of 2—0. Quinlan was on the mound for the Petes, and pitched gilt-edged ball, striking out fourteen of the visitors, and also making a hit in the fourth which enabled Shaw to score the first run of the game, Quinlan going to 2nd on the throw in. The home team secured their second run in the 5th, when McFadden was hit by the pitcher, O'Brien running for him. O'Brien stole 2nd and 3rd, and came home when the visiting catcher in an attempt to catch him going to 3rd, hit Murphy, the batter in the head, the ball bounding to foul territory. Murphy proceeded to make a hit and stole 2nd, but was left when Shaw struck out. The Dufferins started off in the first as though they were going to win, the first two men getting safe hits, but were unable to score, Quinlan striking out the next man up and one being thrown out at 1st. The first batter being caught trying to come home on the out.

After the first innings, however, Quinlan tightened up and was never in danger. Dufferins got men on in the 2nd on an error by the short stop, in the fourth on a single, and the seventh on an error, but were left when their team mates either whiffed or were easy outs. Dufferins pulled off some fast fielding and helped their pitcher out of many tight places.

Both teams played splendid ball, considering that the diamond was somewhat soggy after the heavy rainstorm of the afternoon, and fans who stayed away on account of the rain missed a fine exhibition of baseball.

LAWN BOWLING.

The Tournament.

All that is required is good weather, in order to make the bowling tournament a big success. Up to Saturday about twenty rinks had entered, and doubtless more will come in this morning. The public are invited to witness the playing. Seats will be provided for ladies.

The Hon. J. R. Stratton will open the tournament at 10 o'clock this morning.

Very Convenient.

An enterprising builder was one day in conversation with several friends, when he was accused of using inferior materials in the construction of houses which he had recently built, at which a gentleman arrived who

A hot argument ensued in the midst thereof in one of the jerry-built cottages, and the matter was referred to him

"Weel, sirs," said he, "I can assure you they are the maist convenient houses I ever abode in."

"But," said one of the listeners, "why convenient dae ye say."

"Oh, haud yer wheest till I explain. When first I cam' to bide in Mr. Jervy's house, I had to rise i' the middle o' the nicht an' open the door to let oot the cat; but the cat can gang oot an' come in noo thro' the cracks, an' I'm saved a lot o' bother."

No Resemblance.

"Now, Nora," said the departing physician to the Irish girl, who was nursing a bad case of fever, "if the patient sees snakes again, give him a dose of this medicine. I shall be in at six."

The hour for his return arrived. The physician once more visited the sick patient, and found him raving. He had been so, said the nurse, for hours.

"And did you give him the medicine?" inquired the puzzled doctor.

Nora shook her head.

"But didn't I tell you to give it to him if he saw snakes again?" demanded the physician.

"But he didnt say he saw snakes this toime, dochter," replied the nurse, confidently. "He said he saw red-white-and-blue turkeys wid straw hats on!"

Utilizing Waste as Fuel.

The greatest work which has been carried on by the British in Egypt, since their occupation of that country has been the construction of dams across the Nile for the purpose of providing water for irrigating the Nile Valley. As a result of this work vast areas, previously waste, have been brought under cultivation and the output of the country vastly increased.

Another enterprise, of little less importance, is now under way. This is for the purpose of utilising sudd, a thick tangle of water plants in the Nile bed. This growth has for generations seriously interfered with the navigation of the Nile. It has recently been discovered that it can be utilised as a fuel. The new fuel is known as sudditc.

The New Boarder Again.

"For ten years," said the new boarder at a Montreal boarding-house, "my habits were as regular as clockwork. I rose on the stroke of six; half an hour later I sat down to breakfast; at seven I was at work, dined at twelve, ate supper at six, and was in bed at nine-thirty; ate only hearty food, and hadn't a sick day in all that time." "Dear me!" said the deaconin sympathetic tones, "and what were you in for?" An awful silence ensued.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

PROPOSING TO A GIRL.

German Professor Gives Statistics About the Gentle Art.

A German calculator says that 36 per cent of the suitors press the hand of the fair one, 24 per cent conclude their avowal with an embrace, 4 per cent kiss the hair, 2 per cent kiss the hand, 2 per cent fall on their knees, and 30 per cent are so nervous that they feel a lump in the throat which they find almost prevents speech.

Ten per cent of the men are so overcome that they cannot speak at all, but open and shut their mouths without producing a sound, and 2 per cent make their proposals standing one foot.

As regards the women, 60 per cent sink helpless into the lover's arms, 20 per cent blush and hide their faces, 1 per cent faint away, 4 per cent are genuinely amazed, 14 per cent gaze silently into the suitor's eyes, and 1 per cent run away to tell a girl friend.

The great statistician, however, omits to tell us how he obtained his figures.

HOUSE NUMBERS.

Germans Started the System in Berlin.

Before the advent of the house number, only business signs, coats of arms, and house names marked the different buildings. Then, in London, for instance, one had to look for Mr. Jones, should he desire to call upon that man, in, say, "Whitechapel, not far from the Blue Boar."

It is thought Berlin, in 1795, was the first city to employ the numbering system. The German innovators did not put odd numbers on one side of their streets and even numbers on the other; they merely started from the Brandenburg Gate and numbered straight ahead, taking no account of change of street.

As they proceeded, therefore, the numbers grew higher, the height to which they attained being limited only by the supply of houses. The first house they numbered was number one, the last the number that betokened the total number of houses in the city.

NOVEL ATHLETIC MACHINE.

New Invention to Test Runners as They Run Around the Track.

A novel invention in the shape of an apparatus for automatically taking measurements of the work of track athletes at all points in a race has just been installed on the running track in the Robinson gymnasium, Kansas University.

The machine, which is the first of its kind, and the invention of Dr. Naismith, director of physical culture, consists of small bamboo sticks, located along the track so as to divide the course into quarters.

The sticks project over the track and are touched by the breast of the runner as he passes. The bamboos are connected to a make-and-break electrical machine, which transmits the touch of the runner to a kymograph, which holds a lampblacked paper on which marks are made. A clock is used in connection with the kymograph for purposes of timing.

THE FIRST MENU CARD.

Started By a Duke in Brunswick in 1541.

At a dinner given by Duke Henry of Brunswick in 1541 he was seen to every now and then consult a long slip of paper, which reposed at the side of his plate. One of the duke's guests asked what the paper was for. He explained that it was a sort of a programme or catalogue of the dishes he had commanded from the cook. "To the intent that if some delicacy which especially appealed to his appetite were marked for a later stage in the repast, he might carefully reserve his appetite for it." The simplicity and utility of the idea at once took the fancy of the duke and the menu card from that moment became an institution. The new fashion was so much admired it travelled far and near, and was adopted in England and France at once.

WANTS $10,000 FOR A TIP.

For Giving Information About Big Property in Bronx.

Thirteen years ago, on a New York park bench, Thomas Corrigan told Patrick Goff about unclaimed property in the Bronx that belonged to a cousin, Henry Goff, who had been drowned leaving no immediate heirs.

On the strength of the tip, Goff got possession of property worth $250,000. Corrigan is now suing for $10,000, which he says Goff promised him. Goff says he never promised any such thing, but gave Corrigan $50.

Rousing Response.

At a Toronto theatre no long since the curtain rose on an empty stage in the second act of a play, and by and by a meek-looking young man with a dust-coat slung over his arm came on and loudly called, "Uncle! uncle!"

According to the book of the play he should have received no answer to his call, and after an appropriate pause he should have gone on with the monologue. But a graceless "god" in the gallery took upon himself to answer the actor.

"All right, I'm coming in a moment; how much do you want on it?" he shouted.

The effect on the audience may be imagined.

Japan has Cheapest Postal Service.

Japan has the cheapest postal service in the world. Letters are carried all over the empire for two sen, about seven-tenths of a cent. This is the more remarkable when we consider the difficulties of transportation over a mountainous and irregular country that has only about a hundred miles of railway, while only a few of the chief roads can be used for wagons and the steamships connect only a small number of stations on the coast.

W LEADER IN CLYDESDALE.

Scotland Produces a New Sire Horse.

The show season has come round once more and three important fixtures have been held in as many weeks. In the West of Scotland the season proper opens with Kilmarnock—noted for its display of Ayrshire cattle and Clydesdale horses — then comes the Ayr event which is followed by the Glasgow Agricultural Society's show. At the last named one finds a good turn out of horses, both light and heavy breeds being well represented, and while there is always a good display of Ayrshires, the other breeds, such as Shorthorns and Aberdeen Angus are also to the fore. The early shows have brought out a lot of promising young stock, but nothing really sensational has yet been seen. In the Clydesdale section one of the outstanding features has been the great success of the "gets" of the noted sire Baron of Buchlyvie. This horse stands absolutely without a rival as a breeding horse, and, although a young sire, his stock are coming to the front in a truly remarkable manner. Got by that grand old horse, Baron's Pride, he bids fair to rival his sire as a breeder

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

A WOMAN'S FRIEND.

Inspiring Testimony That Tells How a Sick Woman Can Quickly Regain Health and Strength.

"For years I was thin and delicate. I lost color and was easily tired; a yellow pallor, pimples and blotches on my face were not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never look nice again I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various remedies, pills, tonics and tablets I tried without permanent benefit. A visit to my sister put into my hands a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them whatever they might cost. I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills by their mild yet searching action very suitable to the delicate character of a woman's nature. They never once griped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew keen —my blood red and pure—heavy rings under my eyes disappeared and today my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. Y. Todd, wife of a well-known miller in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. Use no other pill but Dr. Hamilton's, 25c per box. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

JERUSALEM'S PUBLIC OVENS.

One Catches Vaults Running Below Street Level.

There are public bakeries in Jerusalem. The dough is kneaded at home and carried in great lumps to the public ovens. These are to be found in almost every street. They are cave-like vaults, running down below the street level. At the back of each vault is the oven, with a sort of well before its open door. In the well stands the baker, with a long paddle in his hand, upon which he puts in and takes out the loaves.

The oven floor is marked out in blocks, so that the baking of each family is put on a separate block. The loaves, which are about an inch thick, are of the size of a tea plate and have a hole in the centre. The baker makes them from the dough, bakes them, and returns them hot from the oven to the customer. He receives two cents for each half dozen loaves, or he may instead take a toll of one loaf for each dozen. Before starting the baking he greases the floor of the oven with olive oil.

NEW PARAGRAPHS.

Electric carpets are the latest invention for the heating of rooms, the cost for one room being estimated at a halfpenny an hour.

In Corea marriage is even more important and essential for a man than it is for a woman, as, until a man be wed, he is a being of no account. If a father has not selected wives for his sons ere they reach the age of twenty he is considered worthless and neglectful.

Mr. Elias Taylor, parish clerk of Feisted, has retired on reaching the age of ninety, after fifty-one years of service. During his term of office he daily ascended the church tower to wind the clock. He discharged that duty 18,500 times, and climbed 180 miles of stairs.

Although, no doubt, every railway company would gladly convey His Majesty and the Queen free of charge, our rulers pay exactly the same price as anybody else for a special train, in addition to the first-class fare of every passenger by whom they may be accompanied in their respective suites.

Mr. Grahame-White has undertaken to deliver cinematograph films of the Coronation by aeroplane to Birmingham, Bristol and Rugby. Immediately the pictures have been taken they will be developed and placed upon aeroplanes at Hendon, whence they will be transported by air to other destination.

CARUSO'S COLD COSTS DEAR.

It is announced that Signor Caruso will shortly leave for Italy, where he hopes to benefit by a complete rest and change of air, the physicians having forbidden him to sing this season. The loss sustained by the great tenor through what was in the first place regarded as an ordinary slight cold is estimated at about $16,000, as he has been compelled to refrain from singing for a period of twelve weeks.

TO STOP HAT LIFTING.

To put a stop to hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

The public are invited to visit and inspect the stock at The Times' Book room. It is the cheapest spot in Peterborough for everything in the way of books, stationery and fancy goods. Call and examine prices.

CAMERON HIGHLANDERS.

The Sergeant's Story.

The Cameron Highlanders fought at Waterloo throughout the three glorious days of June, and they were "particularly mentioned" by Wellington in his famous despatch of June 19, addressed to Lord Bathurst. Fortunate in their opportunities, they have been fortunate also in winning the praise of poets. Byron, in "Childe Harold," has consecrated their immortality in a famous stanza:—

And wild and high the "Cameron's gathering" rose.

Here sounds the high note of romance, and bravely the Highlanders could echo it. But war does not always rest at the lofty plane of glory, and we can sometimes realise it most clearly in homelier touches.

After the battle it is said that the 79th stripped the cuirasses off the dead Frenchmen and used them for cooking its rations. They were good enough frying-pans, though the bullet-holes let something escape. But some Belgian soldiers who passed by while the cooking was in progress, and seeing the cuirasses, went off with the legend that the Highlanders were cannibals, and no doubt the legend, which it is a pity to disturb, is repeated unto this day.

One other piece of comedy is worth remembrance. When the allied armies were in Paris Sergeant Campbell of the 79th was taken with others to the Elysee to be shown to the Emperor Alexander, and it is thus that he tells the tale himself. "The Emperor made a very minute inspection of us," he writes, "and his curiosity led him to call upon me, as being the most robust of the party, to step to the front. . . . As soon as I stepped to the front I was surrounded by the astonished nobility, and the emperor commenced his inspection and questions as follows:—First, he examined my appointments and drew my sword..... Second, he examined my hose, gaiters, legs, and pinched my skin, thinking I wore something under my kilt, and had the curiosity to lift my kilt up to my navel, so that he might not be deceived. The questions were:—If I was present at the actions of June 16, 17, and 18? How many officers and men the regiment lost? . . Whether I was in Egypt? If I wore the kilt in winter, or if I did not feel cold in that season? If I was married? If my parents were alive?" Thus it was that the Highlanders seemed beyond the general experience of mankind.

MIRIAM WATCHES OVER BABY MOSES.

Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Mariam. The bible does not tell us how old she was when she watched over her baby brother, Moses, but tradition says she was less than ten. When the mother of Moses heard that Pharaoh would kill all the little boys of the Israelities, she made a little boat of a basket and placed the baby therein and permitted it to float down the Nile among the reeds near the edge of the river.

And his sister, the bible says, stood afar off to see what would be done to him.

And so little Miriam ran along the river bank as her baby brother floated along the stream. She was on hand as though by mere accident when the king's daughter discovered the boat and the tiny sailor.

Miriam asked the princess: "Shall I go and and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?"

The princess agreed and Miriam brought her own mother.

By and by Miriam grew to young womanhood. Her brother had become the leader, the emancipator of his people and following the destruction of Pharaoh's mighty host in the Red Sea, with timbrel in hand, she led the jubilant women of Israel in song and dance.

Mr. Waring and go to live with your mother."

"Leave Mr. Waring! Are you mad, John?"

"Sweetheart"—she spoke to Bubbins—"will you run into the garden and see if you can find me some white roses? You know the ones I love."

As the little girl flew off in delight, Mrs. Chalmers faced her husband.

"You mean to say you think I have been living with Hugh Waring since I left you?"

He took a step forward and caught roughly at her hand.

"Isn't it true?" he demanded.

The stern grasp of his fingers hurt, but his wife did not wince.

"How dare you ask me such a question?" she answered proudly. "Do you suppose that, even had I loved him, Hugh would ever have wronged me? Can you believe that I would ever wrong Bubbins?"

"Beatrice!"

She started to find her husband kneeling at her side. Before she could speak he had taken her hands in his with remorseful tenderness.

"Oh, my darling! What a brute I have been! What a fool, from the very beginning! Pity and forgive—forgive, Beatrice. I am sorry, little girl, sorry with all my soul! I have never ceased to love you in spite of all I believed to be true. Come back to me."

She looked down at him with sad, tender eyes. Then, rising, put her hands in his and drew him to his feet.

"You will—you will come back?" passionately. "Dear, my dear, I want you so," and he folded her unresisting form in his arms.

* * * * *

"Mumty," came a little voice, five minutes later, "here's the white woses. Why, you're laughin' again. How quick Daddy's mace you well. I knowed he could."

"Godd bless you, Bubbins," said Deddy.

MEN—YOU NEED NERVE

Wonderful Nervous System

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early Indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, baneful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, etc.

This is the condition our New Method Treatment is GUARANTEED TO CURE

We have treated Diseases of Men for almost a lifetime and do not have to experiment. Consult us FREE OF CHARGE and we will tell you whether you are curable or not.

We guarantee curable cases of NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOSE VEINS, BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES, GLEET, BLADDER URINARY AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it; The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHAT IS TRUTH?

Men will believe nothing what they cannot understand.

Truth comes to us only by glimpses. There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon persuading themselves that they have it, before they yield assent to anything. Thy will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they say, forgetting that, although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders of the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and starts, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation — of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which uphold them and the forces they obey — these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, give us glimpses of the truth.

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surprise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field. It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and lustily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

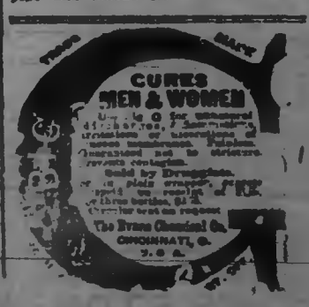
It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilisers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, deracer, crippler, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"



HORSE DISTEMPER

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares Nerviline Is a Specific.

"After fifty years experience raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P.E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but NERVILINE CURES QUICKLY was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times aday and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 25c., five for $1.00, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co'y., Kingston, Ont.

Why Irish Millionnaires Are Scarce

In a classification of millionnaires by nationalities it will be found that Irishmen are very far down on the list. Why this should be so may seem hard to understand at first. The Irishman, generally speaking, possess more than average intelligence.

He is an excellent workman and a capable business man. But the fact remains that he rarely becomes a millionaire.

The Rev. Francis X. McCabe, President of a great university, has offered an interesting solution. He says the fault, if it can be called a fault, is in the Irishman's heart, not in his brain or business acumen. The Irishman is so generous toward his fellow man that he has little chance to accumulate millions for himself.

'Irish generosity is a bar rio the 'rish millionnaire' is the way that President McCabe puts it. That is why there are not nearly so many millionnaire Irishmen as there are millionnaires of other individual nationalities.

"The Irish are always looking on the bright side of things to come, not only for themselves but for others as well. They have carried with them always a spirit of optimism. They are, moreover ,a people of deep religious convictions and faith. They have done an important work in the building up of the civilization of the world.'

And, after all has been said and done, this may be better than becoming more millionnaires.

Verdi Played Many Hours

It is related of Verdi that in early youth he went to the instrument at all hours, early and late, playing scales and discovering chords and harmonious combinations. Sometimes he would forget or lose one of his favourite chords, and then there was an outburst of genuine native passion which was quite contrary to his usually quiet demeanor. Once, when labouring under one of these fits of temper, he seized a hammer and began to hit the keyboard with it. His father, attracted by the noise, rushed in and by administering prompt chastisement, stopped furtherefforts of a similar sort in the direction of piano hammering.

Coops in Fields for Babies.

That necessity is the mother of invention is shown by the hundreds of little buildings resembling chicken coops which are scattered over the wheat fields of Weld county to provide daytime homes for the babies of the Russians who work in the wheat fields.

The Russian mothers are obliged to take their babies to the fields and have built these little structures of wood, covering them wih canvas. At noon and once in the morning and in the afternoon the mothers visit their children, leaving them alone for the remainder of the day.

The youngsters are apparently contented and remain in their little coops without a cry, gazing through the slats at the passerby.

When they begin to study elocution they're never happy until they learn to recite, "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

The man who gets away with it is the man who flies clumsily to his wife about little things. She never suspects him of the big ones.

TURNING OUT COWS.

Grass Increases Milk Supply But Not Quality.

When the grass begins to grow sufficiently for the cows to graze they thrive anew, as the change is highly beneficial to their health, but it has a tendency to weaken the milk. As a rule the constant supply of grass will increase the milk supply, but the quality does not rise proportionately. On the contrary, it generally drops, and attention should be given to this to prevent too much degeneration; but a good deal depends on the pasture. Where these are rich, and the supply ample, there will be no reduction of quality. Unfortunately such pastures are not the rule. Plenty are not only poor naturally, or from neglect, but grass is scant. The weather, of course, has an influence on this, and when general the supply may keep up the demand. At first there may be plenty, but it is apt to become scarce, and it is great necessary to watch the milk yield at this time.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c. per pound, two or three cents per pound chaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c. delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 22c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion, revival in the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead scarefully matched, drops for earings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man, who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavari aNinety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the insanity of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Some medical men earn their money by inventing complaints with long names for over-fed society women.

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows :—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000 ; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are :—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario ; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario ; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around $4c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 108 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY AUGUST 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

NOVEL FEATURES AT OTTAWA FAIR

Daily Flights of Curtis Aeroplane and Reproduction of Famous Naval Review as seen at Coronation of King George V.

Big Increases in Prizes

For Live Stock, Poultry and Farm Products.

With further beautified grounds, new and improved buildings, a more expansive array of agricultural and manufacturing exhibits than ever before presented, and the most costly and novel special attractions available, the Central Canada Exhibition of 1911 will be held in Ottawa, from September 8 to 16.

An Extra Day.

In keeping with its growth in other directions the Exhibition will run a day longer, that is, six days instead of five. Heretofore, the Ottawa Fair has nominally been of a week's duration after the two preparatory days, but usually the regular programme was dropped on the final Saturday. On the closing day of the 1911 Fair, not only will every feature of the daily programme be repeated, but there will be special attractions.

A Fair of Magnitude.

To attempt a description of barely the new features of the approaching Central Canada Fair would require too much of the space of the newspaper. The inventions and novelties of the year, new ideas in farming, manufacturing, domestic science, art, education, in fact every department of human activity, will be represented in the spacious pavilions, show rooms and process building of Lansdowne Park. The visitor is very observant, indeed who grasps the magnitude of this vast enterprise.

Thousands in Prize Money.

The fact that $16,000 in regular prize money and over 100 special premiums, many of them gold medals, have been appropriated for encouragement of the agricultural industry, along approved lines, is just ground for making a special appeal to the farming community in regard to participating in the competitions and attending the Ottawa Exhibition. Agriculturists and stock breeders are never so far advanced, but they may learn and acquire enthusiasm in their calling by attention to the instructive features, object lessons and many sections devoted to their interest. Prize winning animals will parade daily before the grand stand, and judging will also be carried on where those interested may observe. Competitions and lessons in butter-making and the establishment of a splendidly equipped cold storage plant for cheese denote the special attention paid to the dairy industry. The scope and importance of the great Fair are best indicated by a perusal of the prize lists which may be obtained on application to Secretary Ed. McMahon, 26 Sparks St., Ottawa. The premiums are the largest ever offered. Last year 90 per cent. of those winning medals, exchangeable for cash, preferred the money. Winners of special prizes will be given similar options this year.

The Wonderful Aeroplane.

The difficulty of securing an aviator, who could give the public a genuine performance, illustrating the wonderful science of navigating the air, has at last been overcome by the Exhibition management and a contract has been made for two daily flights of a Curtis Aeroplane. Charles Morel, formerly the famous Dip-of-Death motor car driver, will make the flights, five miles each, and will probably take a lengthy trip over the surrounding country. The flights will be started in front of the grand stand where a clear space, 500 feet by 50 feet, will be prepared. The aviator will bring two Aeroplanes so as to prevent the exhibitions being interfered with by possible mishaps. On the last day of the Fair, there will be a race between an Aeroplane and an Automobile which will be a thrilling event.

A Coronation Scene.

The night spectacular performance will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Capital. Arrangements have been made with the Head Company of Hamilton for a reproduction of the grand Naval Review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

Midway of Marvels.

The directors have broadened the scheme of entertainment in other branches also. That will be evident from announcements, later of the famous vaudeville stars, acrobatic troupes, etc., that will appear before the grand stand. The inevitable Midway will be more sensational and curious than ever. This rollicking feature will be furnished by the Park Booking Circuit of New York, which means that a gorgeous assemblage of the world's freaks and marvels will be at Ottawa.

Grounds More Ornate.

The crowds at the 1910 Exhibition were astonished at the great changes wrought in the Fair grounds. Unsightly wooden structures were gone, and in their stead was a series of handsome show rooms, offices and restaurants, under the splendid grand stand, with its accommodation above for 12,000 people. The alterations and the fresh green swards, delightful resting places and beautiful drives won the favor of visitors. The decorator and the builder have been busy again and between now and the opening of the Exhibition a vast amount of work will be done in providing comforts for the public and enhancing the beauty of the Park. The Lake, which is not needed owing to the long water front on the canal, has vanished and other reclaiming work has been done along the canal. Five acres have been added to the grounds, bringing the area to nearly 100 acres. The surface of the park has been improved by draining and a splendid large lavatory has been erected. Wires have been buried and telegraph poles and wires which had been obstructions are removed. A great ornamental "White Way" will be installed which will transform the Fair grounds into a blaze of electric glow at night.

Low Railway Rates.

The railways and steamboat comrates in two for the whole week and there will be still further reductions on excursion days.

No person can afford to miss the coming Ottawa Exhibition.

E. McMAHON.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Gypsies in Peterborough.

The arrival of two bands of Gypsies in Peterborough last week has attracted the attention of horsemen. One camp is located near Jackson Park and the other near the residence of Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P. Considerable trading in horses has been going on, the visitors having some fine animals.

Lecture at Lyceum.

This evening at the Lyceum, Mr. D. O'Connell of this city will lecture on "The Life and Times of Daniel O'Connell." The treatment of this subject rests in the hands of a most able speaker, and one particularly conversant with the history of the times, and a large crowd should be in attendance. The hall has been fitted up for the occasion with electric fans. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken to defray expenses.

Leaves for the West.

Rev. W. R. Riddiford, the esteemed pastor of the Park street Baptist church, will leave for the west tomorrow. As already stated in these columns, Mr. Riddiford has had calls from a couple of western cities, and the object of his visit is to look over the ground before accepting or declining. So that it is by no means certain that he will take his departure from Peterborough just yet. This will be good news to Mr. Riddiford's many friends in Peterborough, who would be sorry to lose him as a citizen and as a pastor. Mr. Riddiford and family will visit relatives in Grimsby until Mr. Riddiford's return, which will be in a couple of weeks.

Cellars Again Flooded.

The attention of The Times was again called to the serious flooding of the cellars on George street, near Sherbrooke by reason of the sewer not being sufficiently large to carry off the surplus water. There are three stores on George street, near Sherbrooke, that suffer most. On Saturday the water backed up and flooded these cellars to the depth of about three feet. Mr. J. M. Brooks, the owner of the stores, feels that it is unreasonable to tax him for a sewer that is no use, and only an injury. It would appear that he has reasonable grounds for complaint.

A Trip Through the West.

The many friends of Mr. Wilson Henderson, Superintendent of the Peterborough Water Company, will be pleased to learn that he has sufficiently recovered to be able to take a trip up the Great Lakes for the benefit of his health. He is accompanied by Miss Henderson, who will be joined by Miss Bessie in Toronto, he embarked upon the steamer City of Hamilton of the Merchants' line for Port Arthur and Fort William. The steamer both going and coming will call at all the important ports between Toronto and Port Arthur, including three or four United States cities. During the absence of Mr. Henderson and his party, Mrs. Henderson will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hyland, Oshawa. It is hoped by his many friends that his voyage will result in continued improvement of his health.

They Dined Together.

At the Oriental Hotel the other day at the same table in the dining room sat Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., the Conservative candidate for East Peterborough, and Mr. F. D. Kerr, the Liberal standard bearer for the same riding. Those of our readers who know these gentlemen personally, realize how utterly impossible it would be for them to be other than friendly. They would not for a moment allow a little incident like an election campaign to ruffle them, or disturb their friendship for each other. In this regard they certainly have set a worthy example and one that the candidates for West Peterborough might, with credit to themselves and benefit to their friends, follow.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. Ed. Wieg, Apsley, was in the city on Saturday on business.

Senator and Mrs. Cox, Toronto, were the guests at the Oriental Hotel on Saturday. They went up to Stoney Lake for the week end.

Miss Annie Brooks, trained nurse, has returned from Lakefield, where she attended a sever case of typhoid fever.

Mr. Alex. Mulhern, of the Bank of Ottawa, and Mrs. Mulhern, are the guests of Mrs. Mulhern's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burrett, Brock street.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Matthews, of Vancouver, B.C., are in the city on a visit to Mrs. Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Matthews, London street.

Miss Lillian Moore is visiting friends in Ottawa for a few days, before going to Muskoka with her former college chum, Mrs. McClaren, of Ottawa.

Mr. R. S. Grundy, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, was in the city last week on his way home from Stoney Lake, where he spent a week fishing. He reports fishing very good, having a 12 pounder under his arm as a sample.

Miss Beatrice Laing, of Toronto, who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Miss Savigny of 50 Water street, left on Saturday for Lakefield, where she intends staying a couple of weeks.

Mr. Clyde Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Kennedy and Mr. Maxwell Kennedy, are spending the month of August with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd at their summer home "Kandy Kid Kamp," Stoney Lake.

OBITUARY

Miss A. O'Brien.

The death of Miss Annie O'Brien, daughter of the late Mr. Michael O'Brien, 777 George street, took place in Buffalo on Friday evening, where she had lived for about 15 years.

Mr. Daniel Louchs.

The remains of the late Mr. Daniel Loucks, who passed away on Friday morning last, were interred in the Little Lake cemetery. The deceased, who was highly esteemed, was 80 years of age, and left behind him two daughters, Mrs. S. J. Murphy and Mrs. Gerald Johnston, city, and one son, Mr. Nathan Loucks, of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Thomas Burke.

Mrs. Thomas Burke passed away on Friday night at the family residence, 103 Smith street, after only a short illness. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Misses Maggie and Mary, and two sons Messrs. Patrick and Thomas, of this city.

Interment took place yesterday afternoon at St. Peter's cemetery.

ANOTHER RURAL MAIL ROUTE.

Central Smith Boxes to be Ready on Saturday Next.

The Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., states that the Central Smith rural mail delivery route will be established on and after August 12th.

The farmers along the route should put up their posts and place their equipments upon them. Stencils are being cut for the box holders and everything is being completed and will be in readiness for the route to be established as soon as the tenders are accepted.

The boxes will be sent out as soon as the contracts are accepted, which will be about the 12th of August.

Those concerned should be ready for the route to be established immediately after that date.

The farmers along the route requiring further information with regard to the matter should call upon the postmaster.

LUMBER USED BY FURNITURE AND CAR MANUFACTURERS IN CANADA 1910.

Statistics of the lumber purchased by Furniture and Car Manufacturers in Canada in 1910, have been compiled by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior; 117,893,000 board feet of timber were used, worth $2,987,210, at an average value of $25.35 per thousand; of this 65 per cent. was native wood at $20.82 per thousand, while the imported wood cost $33.86 per thousand. Ontario was the principal consumer, using over 50 per cent. of the total amount. About one third was used in Quebec and the remaining 15 per cent. was consumed in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island used a negligible quantity. The timber used in Ontario, both native and imported, was more expensive than in the other provinces, while Nova Scotia is a particularly cheap lumber province.

Yellow Pine and Oak are the most important species used by these industries, forming over one third of the total consumption. It is regretable that all of the yellow pine and 95 per cent. of the Oak has to be imported from the United States. Great credit will be due to any manufacturer who supplants these two species with native wood. However, the next ten species in importance, maple, birch, spruce, pine, basswood, elm, ash, beech, douglas fir, and hemlock are native woods and practically make up the remaining two-thirds of total consumption. Thirteen other species are used in small quantities. Statistics of various industries thus collected are expected to be a benefit to private owner, timber seller and manufacturer by giving a better understanding of volume of business done, value of species and markets.

"There's a Reason"

The Face and the Clock.

Miss Passee tittered.

"The dear little fellow is going to try an experiment!" she gushed. "How clever of him!"

While Miss Passee was speaking, Tommy had carefully placed the clock on the table in front of her. With a mysterious gesture he laid his finger on his lips and enjoined silence. No one stirred.

After about two minutes, Tommy's strained expression relaxed, and he clapped his hands in exultation.

"It goes!" he cried, triumphantly. "It goes! You were wrong, papa!"

"Of course it goes, child," laughed Miss Passee. "What made your father think it wouldn't?"

"Well," replied the little fellow, simply, "he said your face would stop a clock!"

Parasites in Business.

Every class of business accumulates a parasitic growth of traditions and customs as it grows older. Banking, or instance, has its customs or etiquette, which, in the case of the older banks hide-bound by this "professional etiquette," effectively prevents anything like a rapid expansion of business. Many other classes of business, again, are only just now waking up to the possibilities of advertising and finding out how much they have lost in past years by not using this force.

Circumstantial Evidence.

—The late Lord Young of the Scottish bench was responsible for enlivening many a dull case. One of the remarks that fell from his lips was the reply to a counsel who urged on behalf of a plaintiff of very bibulour appearance: "My client, my lord, is a most remarkable man, and holds a very responsible position; he is manager of some water works."

Flowers of colored straw are popular as trimming. Black and red flowers have yellow centers and there are various striking color combinations. They represent edelweiss, dahlias, roses and poppies in natural tints and shapes.

Some of the new parasols are edged with narrow ostrich feathers and have a big bow of ribbon on the handle, also edged with feathers.

W LEADER IN CLYDESDALE.

Scotland Produces a New Sire Horse.

The show season has come round once more and three important fixtures have been held in as many weeks. In the West of Scotland the season proper opens with Kilmarnock—noted for its display of Ayrshire cattle and Clydesdale horses — then comes the Ayr event which is followed by the Glasgow Agricultural Society's show. At the last named one finds a good turn out of horses, both light and heavy breeds being well represented, and while there is always a good display of Ayrshires, the other breeds, such as Shorthorns and Aberdeen Angus are also to the fore. The early shows have brought out a lot of promising young stock, but nothing really sensational has yet been seen. In the Clydesdale section one of the outstanding features has been the great success of the "gets" of the noted sire Baron of Buchlyvie. This horse stands absolutely without a rival as a breeding horse, and, although a young sire, his stock are coming to the front in a truly remarkable manner. Got by that grand old horse, Baron's Pride, he bids fair to rival his sire as a breeder.

ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS AGAINST PUBLIC DISCUSSION

Can the Roman Catholic Bishops of Canada chloroform the press and public opinion of the Dominion? is the question asked by the Orange Sentinel. The Times, at all events, refuses to be silenced until the infamous Ne Temere decree is withdrawn, and other matters which work to the disadvantage of Protestants adjusted. The above is a question that will be answered by the course of events during the next few months. Our able contemporary says that the Bishops realize the injury that is done their cause by a full and frank discussion of the decree of Ne Temere. They are calling up all their reserves of political and commercial influence to put an end to the agitation so far as the daily press is concerned. They realize that if no mention is made of the subject in the press the discussion is likely to die out for want of fuel.

And so all those whom they control are employed to persuade the editors of the newspapers of the country not to give space to sermons that are preached on the subject, to discredit men like Rev. Dr. Hincks, who has been so prominently identified with the agitation, and in various other ways their influence is exerted to chloroform public opinion upon this question.

In some directions they seem to be having pronounced success in their efforts. In others they have failed to entirely terrorize the newspaper. But with a horde of politicians urging a cessation of the discussion, and all the other agencies which Rome can bring to bear in her behalf, there is a real danger that the sentiment which has been aroused will die out after an effective protest.

It rests with the Protestant pulpit to meet this campaign. If the Protestant Ministers of Ontario are true to their duty the very fact that Rome is making such extraordinary efforts to silence the press will lead to a more vigorous campaign upon the part of the pulpit.

We know of a case in one considerable town where a priest in an adjoining municipality wrote a letter in defence of the Ne Temere decree. His brother priest in the town of publication went to the editor and protested against him allowing the discussion to go on any further. He being superior to the one who had written the letter asked that in future articles or letters coming from Roman Catholic sources should be submitted to him. In other words he undertook to censor the expression of Roman Catholic opinion on this question. He saw the danger of continuing the agitation. He is part of the conspiracy of silence. While he could not control the expression of Protestant opinion he was able to put an end to any debate from his side.

Another case which has come under our notice is that of a prominent Conservative journal whose manager was approached by a leading Conservative politician who pleaded with him not to allow any further articles to appear. One has but to examine the columns of the government press to find reason to suspect that the same process has been going on there and that politicians of that stripe are also trying to serve the interests of the Roman hierarchy. * * * *

At the present time Protestantism is aroused as it never was before. Women are more deeply interested in the question than they could be by any other form of aggression that Rome might attempt. If we are going to secure a remedy Protestantism must not be allowed to go to sleep. If the Roman Bishops are successful in closing the columns of the daily press to those who desire to ventilate the question there must be public meetings, and such papers as have the courage to continue to fight Rome on this question must be circulated much more widely than they are today. Our appeal this week is to the ministers of our Protestant churches. They are the men and the only men who are in a position to prevent the plans of Rome being carried out. If those who have preached upon it will reiterate their statements. If those who have not delivered a sermon will study the question so that they will be equipped to do so, we feel sure it will be an impossibility for the Roman Bishops to accomplish their design. This is the duty that we present to the Protestant ministers of Canada.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE DURING ELECTRIC STORM

The electric storm did considerable damage throughout the county. While it was at its height, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. White, watching the storm from their home, saw a flash of lightning pass between them, which stunned Mrs. White. On looking out they were horrified to see their barn in flames. After seeing that Mrs. White was alright, he rushed out and had barely time to rescue several horses. The barn was a total loss, including about 75 tons of hay, a stack outside, several cutters and bob-sleighs, and the usual farm machinery found on an up-to-date farm, as well as 100 head of turkeys and hens. Mr. White a few days before had fortunately placed $800 insurance on the contents. Their many friends will deeply sympathize with them in their loss.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and exposure in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Nightmative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Life a burden to me, I concluded the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

ITALIANS IN POLICE COURT CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENSE

Yesterday in the Police Court the Italian colony on Elm street, held the floor. The Italians involved in the row were Frank Carneau, charged with being drunk and disorderly. Tony Rose and two other men, who obstructed the police officer, Peter Grant and Frank Dobson, both are charged with disorderly conduct. Carneau, who suffers the pain of a broken collar bone, as a result of the struggle, was fined $5. Tony Rose, who threw an open razor at the constable, when the latter was about to arrest him, was remanded until next Friday, in order that further information may be received regarding his past record. Peter Grant, who was charged with being disorderly, was fined $5, which he was unable to pay, and as a result will stay for fifteen days on the hill, or until his fine is paid. Frank Dobson was discharged.

The fight took place in the alleyway off Elm street, and those involved live in the vicinity.

P. C. Brown gave evidence as follows:

"I got a phone message last night about six o'clock, and I went up to Elm street, and down in this alleyway found Carneau, pretty well done up. His lips were cut and his face was all covered with blood. Dobson was helping him out of the alleyway. Carneau was talking loudly, and was also using bad language and when I went to arrest him and Dobson. Rose, who was standing a little distance away, ran up and caught hold of me, and tried to pull me away, but I succeeded in hand-cuffing the two men. Then I went to hand cuff Rose, and he struck at me several times, and then drew out a razor, cutting his hands badly in doing so, and flung it at me, but I dodged. I then got him hand-cuffed. There were two or three hundred people assembled around them."

Frank Carneau told what he knew in a few words. He admitted being drunk, but he said he was sitting in a house and Peter Grant came up and called him bad names, and when he got up to come to the door, Grant fired stones at him. He further stated that after he went out, Grant struck him, and knocked him down, and then struck him on the left side when he was down. That was when his collar bone was fractured. He stated that he tried to hit Grant, but Dobson appeared on the scene, and separated them. Grant told a different story. He said that Carneau hit him and kicked him, before he committed the assault.

Dobson, in the course of his evidence stated that he was at Rose's house for supper, and Grant came in, all out of breath, and nearly fell on the floor, and told him that there was an Italian tried to kill him. He said that he went to see what was the matter, and when the constable came, he was trying to settle the quarrel.

Constable Brown is entitled to credit for the manner in which he discharged his duty.

A POPULAR PLATFORM

The following platform is one that should appeal to every patriotic citizen in Canada, regardless of race or creed:—

1. The entire separation of Church and State.

2. Opposition to any interference of the Dominion Government with the different provinces in educational affairs.

3. The resistance of any further special privileges to any section of the population of the Dominion either on account of race or religion and the elimination of any special privileges which they now possess except those included in the Confederation compact.

4. Opposition to any extension of lingual privileges beyond those conferred by the British North America Act.

5. The maintenance of British connection and the support of any movement which tends to make closer and more binding the relations between Canada, Newfoundland and the mother country.

6. A close supervision of all new settlers and the encouragement of suitable white emigration from the British Isles, the United States and northern Europe.

7. A federal marriage law recognising the validity of marriage performed by the qualified clergymen of every denomination or other persons vested by the law with that power; and the enactment of criminal penalties against persons using their influence to separate legally married couples by questioning the validity of marriages performed in accordance with the provisions of this law.

8. Government inspection of all religious, educational and charitable institutions and the inspection of all books of all institutions receiving aid from the public treasury.

NO FRATERNAL FEELING HERE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—You have an item in your issue of Monday that calls for comment, and to a certain extent, approval. You say that Mr. Sexsmith, M.P., and Mr. Kerr dined together amicably at the Oriental, and that the candidates for West Peterborough might do the same. Do you think Mr. Kerr and Mr. Stratton are on the same level, or within a mile of it? I don't. Good sports always fraternize best. Heaven help us, do you call elections in West Peterborough sport? It is worse than a game of scrag-ball. There could be no sympathy with such work here. I hope our candidate will continue to respect himself.

ENFORCE CIGARETTE BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I hope that the Chief of Police will take measures to enforce the cigarette by-law. It is a pitiable sight to see mere children with "coffin nails" in their mouths, and the sight can be witnessed at any time in our streets. Some youngsters in this town are confirmed cigarette fiends.

A Mother.

A DANGER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like to call attention to the danger from horses coming out of livery stables where the entrance opens directly on the side walk, and also from automobile garages which open on the side walk. I think something should be done to guard the public against accident.

Only a few days ago a little girl was knocked down by a horse, which came out of a barn in the city.

A.W.E.

PUBLIC SCAVENGERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think it is high time that the Council should arrange a proper system of collecting garbage. Its disposal is necessary to the health of the community.

This is a matter, I take it, for the Board of Health as well as the Council.

Housekeepers do not know what to do with garbage, and I am one of them, I regret to say.

Housekeeper.

UNQUALIFIED PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Would you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a little about school teachers that are sent to the poor Indians. Poor Indians need their education as well as the pale face people, and I suppose you often wonder (which I am sure you do) how the poor Indians are so slow to learn. The Indian has as good a brain as any white man, quick to learn. All he wants is a good man to teach him, not to make any mistakes, as it has been found by the inspectors who visit Indian schools. And it is no wonder they are slow to learn as they have not the chance you whites have. Men are sent to the Indian Reserves to teach Indian children, for which they have not certificate or even a permit. And I have seen superannuated preach are sent to teach school. We Indians are looked upon as Minors and will be as long as no attempt is made to look after the Minor.

Hiawatha Indians are boasting of having a good teacher. I told them that is because you have white men as trustees to look after the schooling. White men will not keep a teacher that is not qualified to teach school. We Minors will have to take what is sent to us whether we like it or not.

Nish-nah-ba.

P.S.—What is the School Inspectors for I would like to know. Is it not their duty to see if the school teachers were qualified to teach school?

A number of communications are held over and will appear in to-morrow's paper.

FRANCE FAR FROM PLEASED WITH GERMAN ATTITUDE

PRESS NOW DEMANDS EUROPEAN CONFERENCE TO SETTLE MOROCCAN QUESTION.

Mons. Drumont on Voice of England—Writer in the Libre Parole Condemns the Man Who Would Trifle With War to Please His Vanity.

Paris, Aug. 7.—With significant unanimity the French press to day favors the idea of submitting the Moroccan question to another European conference.

As Germany is believed to be averse to again appealing to the powers, this sudden chorus seems to indicate that word has been given to demand that the present negotiations be broken off and a conference summoned in the hope of bringing pressure to bear on Germany in order to make her come to terms.

At the same time no doubt is expressed as regards a peaceable settlement of the crisis. It is generally believed here that any danger of war that may have existed has been conjured by England's attitude. On this very point Mons. Drumont says to-day in Libre Parole:

"It is inadmissable that any man should be allowed to evoke the apparition of war for the sole gratification of his childish vanity. That is why England has demolished the pulpit show.

"One cannot but admire the moderation with which the operation was carried out. England has not for William the superb hatred she had for Napoleon I., and at the bottom of her heart and soul she is no more desirous of fighting than William is, but she remembers that, as Carlyle said, "The bravest man is the one who is the least afraid," and she has determined to put an end to the trifling, which is somewhat derogatory to the majesty of Great Britain.

"She has spoken, and spoken so firmly and in terms so fitted to the circumstances that the German press immediately changed its tune and lowered its voice."

WORLD-WIDE GATHERING OF METHODISTS IN TORONTO

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Five hundred delegates will be present at the 4th Ecumenical Conference which will be held in the Metropolitan Church Toronto, from Oct. 4th to 17th.

Of these two hundred will be from the eastern section, which comprises every part of the globe, with the exception of this continent and Japan. Australasia, Southern Asia, Europe North America, South America and Africa will all be present in their representatives, and the programme will in scope and inclusiveness be no less wide.

The first conference was held in City Road Chapel, London, Eng. The next session took place ten years later in Washington, while the third was again held in London.

The programme which is expected to be ready for publication in the next few days, as might be expected, takes a very wide range. Beginning with a survey of the movements of the force of Methodism throughout the world, it passes on to the plans of Methodism in the Church Universal, its foreign missionary work and its theological heritage.

A SLOW LIVER CAUSE OF HEADACHES

Why a Mild Liver Remedy is so Much Safer Than Headache Wafers.

Most headache wafers contain Phenacetine, Antipyrine, Acetanilid, and in many cases, analysis shows they contain destructive harmful opiates. They do incalculable injury to the system and should be looked upon with suspicion and distrust. When headache is due to the liver—don't try to "drug" the headache.

A well-known resident of Lebanon, Mr. J. F. Flemming, tells the following experience: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter and that foul soft feeling that tells you, 'no breakfast, needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was only my good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold on my liver, perhaps my stomach too, because from the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT

The First Day of the Tournament a Great Success.

The bowling tournament opened yesterday morning at ten a.m., a goodly number of outside rinks being present. The grounds were handsomely decorated with flags, seats being provided for those who cared to watch the play. Mr. Thos. Brightman, President of the Peterborough Bowling Club, did the honors gracefully, assisted by a committee of members. There was a large tent on the grounds where cool and refreshing temperance drinks were provided.

Play was begun at ten o'clock and was continued throughout the day and evening.

COWBOYS AT OTTAWA FAIR

A troupe of Arizona Cow Boys, the most renowned aggregation of "Wild West" performers in the world, has been secured by the Central Canada Exhibition Association for the big Fair in Ottawa from September 9 to 16. The Cow Boys will bring with them a car load of "outlaw horses," the most vicious and stubborn ever taken from the plains. Among the broncbos are four trained ponies, on which the skilled riders will give daily exhibitions of the most daring riding and roping ever witnessed in an arena.

Interest in this tournament is deepened by the romantic element. The riders, in their wild and woolly raiment, some with silk red and white bandanas, others in goat hide, red-shirted, nearly all with wool hats, represent a picturesque character that is fast disappearing. These Cow Boys affect no make-up. They appear in their working clothes.

The roping of savage broncos and wild steers displaying skill and daring commingled, will make a novel spectacle on the arena at Lansdowne Park. There will be plenty of burlesque stunts, such as mule races and capturing and riding broncos and steers. The beasts taken into tournaments by the Arizona Cowboys are known in the southwestern states as the most notorious buckers and plungers ever encountered.

The leader of the Cowboy company is Jim Kenny, of long wiry physique, tough, and quick as a steel trap. He is a hero and an idol on the southwestern plains. When he takes his place in the saddle it is like if no much cement were poured into the mold. One of the feats in which he will figure at the Ottawa Exhibition is a relay race in which he changes saddles every fresh mount. Kenny always unstraps his saddle while his bronco is going full speed and thus gains many seconds at the stop.

The cowboys will catch steers by any foot named or toss by the neck. The shortest run to catch a steer will be 100 feet. The outlaw horses will be turned loose before the grandstand and will be caught and ridden without a bridle by the daring cowboys.

With this cowboy specialty and the aeroplane flights as two extra attractions of first rank the coming exhibition leads all its predecessors in respect of wonderful sights.

REAL GOLD BRICKS.

Kilns Erected on Ancient Gold Mine in India.

Gold bricks, real ones, may be the means of restoring the ancient frame of Golconda, near Hyderabad, in southern India, once known all the world over for its gold mines, but now a decayed city. The natural pits from which many centuries ago the precious metal was extracted have in course of time filled up with water. A contractor recently obtained permission to make bricks near the place and ten kilns were erected. The first finished bricks aroused curiosity by their yellowish tint, and analysis proved that they contained gold dust. On the basis of the yield of the sample bricks, the ten kilns will aggregate in weight about 12,857 pounds of gold worth over $50,000,000. The site of the find belongs to the Nizam, or native ruler.

IF!

A credulous man was the census enumerator.

When Brawney the blacksmith declared he was 60, he believed him, despite the blacksmith's robust appearance, for robust blacksmiths seldom show their age.

When Susan the spinster declared she was 23, he believed her also, despite her crowmarks and greying hairs(for spinsters do not care to show their age, either.

But when Isaac the idiot wrote the figures 120 under the heading "Father, if living," the Census enumerator rubbed his nose doubtfully, and thought this was a little too much.

"You don't mean to say," he exclaimed, "that your father is really 120 years old?"

"No o' course 'e ain't!" retorted Isaac complacently. "But 'e would 'a' been if livin'."

Her Habit.

"What do you think the young wife of old Moneybags has developed into? She is always crossing or recrossing the ocean. She certainly keeps the transatlantic line busy."

You know, she was formerly a telephone girl.

Swat That Fly.

The transmission of disease by the fly, is no longer a mere theory, but is a truth that has been scientifically established.

Keep the flies out of your house. Get screens for the doors and the windows. Be on guard all the time.

Keep screens over articles of food. Don't let flies get near the pantry, kitchen or dining room.

Be doubly careful about keeping flies out of the sickroom. They are likely not only to bring complications of new diseases, but to carry the invalid's disease to many others.

Those who put in their screens promptly will be taking the best precaution against having disease germs introduced into their homes by flies.

There is more health in a house well screened than in many a doctor's visit.

About 50 metals have been discovered in the last 200 years by chemist explorers, but most have been found for only a few of them.

Recent explorations indicate that China has coal fields containing more fuel than those of all other countries in the world combined.

A new safety razor shaving outfit, including soap and brush, packs into a case less than half an inch thick for carrying in the pocket.

MANITOBA FOR GOOD ROADS.

Representatives of Manitoba Good Roads Association and Manitoba Union of Municipalities met last week in Winnipeg, and after considerable discussion on the financing of road work throughout the province, passed a resolution to the effect that the government be asked to guarantee the bonds of the municipalities. It was proposed that the redemption of bonds be extended over a period of twenty to thirty years and further, that the amount of money to be raised do not exceed four per cent of the total assessment of the municipality.

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store, billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoona River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hoona River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the provinces most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoona River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at offices of "Times", Peterboro'.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Small Heads Dont Mean Small Brains. ..

The fact that you take a small size in hats does not necessarily mean that you have a small brain. A man with a small head may be much cleverer than a man with a large one. Moreover, the size of the brain is not everything, since, if undeveloped, it is no more likely to produce anything of value than land which is not fertile. There are people with large heads who display so little intelligence that one almost expects to hear their brains rattle when they move, like a shrivelled kernel in a nut.

A TALENTED ARBITRATOR.

Ralph Connor is a Man with a First-Hand Knowledge of Men.

Rev. Charles W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) of Winnipeg, the famous novelist, who has been appointed Chairman of the Board of Conciliation which will seek to settle the big strike of coal miners in the West, is noted for his tolerance. That quality stands out strongest among his characteristics as a man, a minister, and a writer.

As good an example of this as can be found is an amusing incident in his novel, "The Foreigner."

The Anglican bishop in the story was being driven over the Edmonton trail by Sam Macmillan, a very competent but very profane freighter. Every time the horses became wired in a slough Sam would let loose a string of original oaths which made the bishop's blood curdle. The latter implored the man to desist.

"Just as you say, your reverence," replied Sam. "I ain't hurried this trip, and will do our best."

At the next slough the experiment was tried. Ordinary language was used, but the horses would not budge. Half an hour passed with no results.

"It's getting late, Mr. Macmillan, and it looks like rain. Something must be done," said the bishop.

"It does, your lordship," answered Sam. "But the brutes won't pull half their own weight without I speak to them in the way they are used to."

More time passed. Then the bishop gave in.

"Well, well, Mr. Macmillan," he said, "we must go on. Do as you think best, but I take no responsibility in the matter."

He retired from the scene and—

Macmillan seized the reins from the ground, and, walking up and down the length of the six-horse team, began to address them singly and in the mass in terms so sulphurously descriptive of their ancestry, their habits, and their physical and psychological characteristics that when he gave the word in a mighty culminating roar of blasphemous exhilaration, each of the bemired beasts seemed to be inspired with a special demon, and so exerted itself that in a single minute the load stood high and dry on solid ground.

A clergyman who will write like this ought to be a man to consider all the circumstances and provocations on both sides of a labor dispute

MEASURES MINDS WITH MACHINE

Wonderful Apparatus Devised by an English Scientist.

A Mr. John Gray has devised a mind measuring apparatus, and among the persons already tested by him are Lord Avebury, Sir William Crookes, professors and physicians of the West London and Middlesex hospitals, many of the women of the Lyceum Club, and one actor.

Commenting on the results of these tests, he says that, generally speaking, he found the men, with the exception of the actor, came under class V of the scale of persistence, which includes men of thorough and profound thought. What a dramatic critic Mr. Gray would have made!

He found the literary women to be more mentally brilliant, witty and quick of apprehension than the average. Then Mr. Gray takes another whack at the actor by saying he came under class II, which comprises cynics, persons who do not go into the depths of things and only learn superficially.

The apparatus consists of a box, the interior of which is fitted with a revolving mirror, on which powerful colored lights are made to play. The eye of the person to be tested is placed against a hole in the side of the box, the mirror is set in motion, and the length of time taken for the sensation of flickering to disappear from the subject measures his mental persistence, thus giving indication of his intelligence.

A Year Ahead of His Time.

Luxembourg was not so long ago the scene of an incident savoring decidedly of comic opera. When the late ruler of the Grand Duchy was Duke of Nassau he was officially informed of the death of his cousin, the King of the Netherlands, and promptly journeyed from Vienna to Luxembourg, to which state he was next in succession owing to the operation of the Salic law. A ceremonial entry was made into the capital, and the new Grand Duke had already received personal congratulations from many of his most prominent subjects, when he heard that Kink William's physicians had been misled by a cataleptic trance, and that, so far from being dead, he was on the road to recovery. So Duke Adolphus had to return to Vienna, and when, a year later, the King really passed away, several weeks elapsed before the new ruler of Luxembourg assumed the reins of government.

A Trick of the Sun.

Upon a mountain in Andalusia quaint spectral forms are frequently seen. Whenever there is a heavy mist and persons are ascending the mountain they appear in all their ghostly splendor and sometimes so suddenly as to strike dismay into the hearts of those who see them for the first time. Of course it is all a trick played by the sun. When a mist partly shrouds the mountain the sun is naturally obscured, and then he revenges himself by projecting the shadow of any person who is ascending the mountain until it assumes the form of a gigantic spctre.

A pedigree hog was killed by an American railroad and a jury awarded $10,000 damages. And you couldn't get that for ten dead section men.

The schottische was introduced 46 years ago in Germany.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

QUEEN MARY FROWNS.

Order about Hobble Skirts was Disobeyed.

Queen Mary's order about hobble skirts was disobeyed at the two courts by all except the actual court ladies. All the rest wore tight skirts, but their trains covered them. They say they didn't see why they should make themselves unfashionable because the queen herself is abnormally large around the hips and unsuited to tight dresses.

Nevertheless everyone was staggered by the costume of the Marchioness de la Vill Urrutia, the wife of the Spanish ambassador. Her dress was so tight that her whole figure was sharply outlined and she had great difficulty in walking. As she belongs in the diplomatic circle she is independent of the queen's wishes and fortunately had no courtesy to make with consequences which might have been indescribable.

The queen only smiled when she saw her trouble and seemed wisely obvious of how her order was generally obeyed. Indeed, the queen was the surprise of the court, she was so smiling and bright, with a word for everybody.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for the Erection of Wireless Telegraph Station," at Tobermory, Ontario, will be received at this office until noon, on July Twenty-ninth 1911,

TWO OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PARTIES IN THE DOMINION HAVE RECOGNIZED IN A PRACTICAL MANNER THE SUPERIORITY OF THE PRODUCTS MANUFACTURED BY

The Kootenay Jam Company Ltd.

The Canadian Naval Department have given us REPEAT orders for the supply of our products to the Navy and we have a valuable contract from the Canadian Pacific Railway for the supply of their extensive system.

In addition to these, we have numerous contracts from large wholesale dealers in the North West.

Our business is established and permanent, and the demand for our products is increasing rapidly every day.

This is an unusual opportunity to join in an established enterprise whose future is assured.

The amount of stock we are offering for public subscriptions is limited to 30,000 shares at $1.00 each, and if you are interested, we would suggest that you fill out this coupon and return it to us immediately.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

THE BLACK HAND.

In connection with the murder of the Italian Tarro in Toronto Sunday, the Toronto police have found evidence that Tarro and his suspected murderer, Greciori, had been engaged in extensive blackmailing operations on their countrymen, with threats of murder unless paid sums of money. Apparently the two happened to quarrel.

This is the Black Hand, or its prototype, says the Ottawa Journal, and the very manner of the murder shows the reality of the danger with which the Black Hand threatens the persons it picks out for blackmail. Blackguards ready to assassinate each other are not to be sneezed at when they send a message that they intend to murder you unless you whack up.

Curious that this equally vicious and cowardly sort of crime should disgrace Italian blood and no other. Why should one people in particular foster so peculiarly contemptible a species of blackguardism? The nation which fifty years ago achieved freedom behind Garibaldi showed splendid stuff then, and has had since a good deal of time in which to accumulate self-respect.

Meanwhile in the cause of law and order, our police should be sharply on the lookout for Italians carrying weapons, and our courts severe on persons so caught.

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his mutton-chop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surprise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then, at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field. It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and lustily yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent idleness secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

Men Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its vapors in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilizers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke

The editor of a certain periodical was rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, mutiner, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, detracer, cripplor mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Uxbridge, Ontari," will be received at this office until 4 p. m. on Monday, August 21, 1911, for the erection of a Public Building at Uxbridge.

Plans, specification and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, clerk of works, postal station F, Yonge street, Toronto, Ont., and at the post office at Uxbridge.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c. per pound, two or three cents per pound cheaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c. delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter.

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the wrist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white. Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead scarefully matched, drops for earings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street.

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavaria Ninety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the insanity of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Some medical men earn their money by inventing complaints with long names for over-fed society women.

Distress in the Stomach

Hundreds of Thousands of Bottles of Nerviline Used Every Year for Curing Cramps, Diarrhoea, and Stomach Disorders.

Deadly cramps—the symptoms are not to be mistaken. Suddenly and without warning the patient experiences such agony in the stomach as to contort the countenance and cause him to cry aloud for help.

LETTER NO. 4677

Then it is that the wonderful power of Nerviline can make itself felt—it cures so quickly, you would think it was made to cure cramps, and cramps only.

"Last summer I was stricken with a frightful attack of cramps. I feared the pain in my stomach would kill me.

"My eyes bulged out and the veins in my forehead stood out like whipcords.

"My cries attracted a neighbor, who came to my assistance, and in a moment or two handed me half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in some sweetened water.

"It seemed as if an angel had charmed away the pain. In ten seconds I was well. Nerviline has a wonderful name in this locality, and is considered best for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, stomach and bowel disorders. I urge all my friends to use Nerviline.

CATHOLIC PAPER

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Discussing the liberation of Rev. Geo. M. Atlas from the Kingston Penitentiary, The Catholic Register-Extension in its issue to-day prints the following:

"The issue having been put up to us squarely Register-Extension sees no impropriety in demanding:

"1st. That the Hon. Minister of Justice make public his reasons for the extraordinary leniency shown the Rev. George M. Atlas."

The paper goes on to say that it will "insist upon a thorough airing of this Atlas business and shall take steps to have it aired and when subterfuge and suppression of evidence will not avail.

"2nd. Though possessed of a deep sense of respect for our Toronto courts, we would like to have someone in the Crown Attorney's office explain why it was that the material relevant and competent evidence of Atlas' first trial was not introduced in the hearing before Judge Riddell?

"By all means let the Rev. Mr. Atlas be vindicated; but let the public be given a little insight into the vindication process."

CONFESSES TO MURDER

Chicago, Aug. 5—Joseph Vacek, jr. 17 years of age, son of Joseph Vacek a wealthy contractor, last night confessed that he shot and killed his father yesterday at their home. The shooting is believed to have followed a demand of the boy for money.

The father's body was found in his room. The murder was committed when Mrs. Vacek and her two daughters were out for a few minutes. The young man, who since his recent graduation from a manual training school has refused to go to work was suspected, and finally under pressure, confessed.

LONDON OLD BOYS LIKE U.S.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—At a meeting of the London (Ontario) Old Boys' Association of Chicago last night, a protest was entered against the threatened removal of American flags for the annual home-coming week.

The protest was sent to Jas. O. Weldon, secretary of the Association.

The local society will leave Chicago to-night in two special trains.

This afternoon 600 members of the Winnipeg society are due to pass through here on their way to the celebration.

UNQUALIFIED PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Would you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a little about school teachers that are sent to the poor Indians. Poor Indians need their education as well as the pale face people, and I suppose you often wonder (which I am sure you do) how the poor Indians are so slow to learn. The Indian has as good a brain as any white man, quick to learn. All he wants is a good man to teach him, not to make any mistakes, as it has been found by the inspectors who visit Indian schools. And it is no wonder they are slow to learn as they have not the chance you whites have. Men are sent to the Indian Reserves to teach Indian children, for which they have not certificate or even a permit. And I have seen superannuated preachers sent to teach school. We Indians are looked upon as Minors and will be as long as no attempt is made to look after the Minor.

Hiawatha Indians are boasting of having a good teacher. I told them that is because you have white men as trustees to look after the schooling. White men will not keep a teacher that is not qualified to teach school. We Minors will have to take what is sent to us whether we like it or not.

Nish-nah-ba.

P.S.—What is the School Inspectors for I would like to know. Is it not their duty to see if the school teachers were qualified to teach school?

THE VANISHING FORESTS

Timber Resources of the United States Showing Signs of Exhaustion.

Commissioners and commissions have been appointed in various parts of the United States to make reports on what should and could be done to stem the destruction and prepare for the restoration of timber supplies, but wherever actually a response to the recommendations was secured the means employed were too feeble to prevent the former and too inefficient to secure adequate results in the latter direction. For instance, the latest State to move in the matter of taking care of its important timber interest, Alabama (whose annual lumber output is valued at $5,000,000), appropriates $500 for carrying out the provisions of the act providing a commission with various duties. The great State of Minnesota whose forest products in one year approach in value $45,000,000, devotes less than $12,000 to its forest interests, and $20,000 on prairie planting. The State of Maine, which still cuts annual one billion feet, and is indebted to the forest for a product of $18,000,000 in value, keeps within the modest sum of $25,000 to pay for the protection against fire and the support of a commissioner. Examples of such picayune and inadequate measures are found in many other States.

The only two States which have not hesitated to spend money for forestry purposes are New York and Pennsylvania. The former, in purchasing forest lands for a preserve, which now comprises about one and a half million acres only, has expended millions of dollars, and is annually appropriating money for further purchase, besides liberal provision for its Forest, Fish and Game Commission. But, alas! the policy of forest reservation which had begun on economic grounds, has degenerated into providing a pleasure ground—a park—for the wealthy, and there is little consideration to economic forest questions given by the State or the Commission.

Pennsylvania is the only State which can be said to have started on a true policy of recuperation, buying up waste lands, protecting them, and in a small way beginning to reforest them, an appropriation of about $500,000 being at the disposal of the Forest Commission.

NEED OF THE HOUR.

Major George Washington Stephens Talks on Canadian Transportation.

Not long ago Major Stephens, the President of the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, delivered a masterly address before the Empire Club of Toronto on the development of the St. Lawrence route. "In the possession of this great national asset, the St. Lawrence waterway," said Mr. Stephens, "into which has gone the genius, the courage and the money of the Canadian people, Canada unquestionably has within her midst the cheapest and most efficient national trade route on the Continent.

"The St. Lawrence River to-day carries to and from the port of Montreal one-third of the country's national trade.

"In this enterprise there are just 8,000,000 Canadian shareholders, all equally interested.

"At her present rate of increase Canada will, during the twentieth century, contribute to the Empire a population exceeding that now occupying the British Isles, and will produce from one-quarter of her available acres in the West more wheat than comprised the total wheat crop of the United States.

"There are two methods of providing for the handling of this new business, not to mention the concurrent industrial production of the country: First, by increasing transportation and terminal facilities on Canadian soil; second, by allowing business to be taken care of by transportation routes and sea terminals not within the limits of this Dominion.

"I like to regard this system extending from Fort William to the sea, a distance of 2,500 miles, as a great national undertaking, into which are going the money, the genius and the patriotism of the Canadian people, and out of which are coming year by year privileges and powers to the transportation interests of Canada, instead of diversity of control and authority."

Unappreciated Sympathy.

The Soda-fountain clerk was engaged in vigorously shaking up a chocolate and egg, says a writer in the Bellman, when suddenly the glass broke in his hands, and the ensuing deluge made him look like a human eclair. The horrified customer leaned over the counter and tried to be sympathetic. Not knowing exactly what to say, he finally burted out consolingly:

"Oh-er-too bad! Did the glass break?"

Dripping from head to foot, the clerk looked at him witheringly.

"Did the glass break?" he repeated. "Did the glass break?" And then with freezing sarcasm, "Oh, no, not at all! You just happened to stop in while I was taking my morning shower."

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."

"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.

"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself.

LOCKGATES AND VALVE GATES, HOLLAND RIVER DIVISION.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Lockgates and Valve Gates, Holland River Division," will be received at this office until sixteen o'clock, on Friday, August 4th, 1911.

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after this date at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal, Peterborough, Ont., at which places form of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000.00, made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors, whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

ROYAL PORCUPINE

Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000: par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 181 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY AUGUST 8 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

NOVEL FEATURES AT OTTAWA FAIR

Daily Flights of Curtis Aeroplane and Reproduction of Famous Naval Review as seen at Coronation of King George V.

Big Increases in Prizes

For Live Stock, Poultry and Farm Products.

With further beautified grounds, new and improved buildings, a more expansive array of agricultural and manufacturing exhibits than ever before presented, and the most costly and novel special attractions available, the Central Canada Exhibition of 1911 will be held in Ottawa, from September 8 to 16.

An Extra Day.

In keeping with its growth in other directions the Exhibition will run a day longer, that is, six days instead of five. Heretofore, the Ottawa Fair has nominally been of a week's duration after the two preparatory days, but usually the regular programme was dropped on the final Saturday. On the closing day of the 1911 Fair, not only will every feature of the daily programme be repeated, but there will be special attractions.

A Fair of Magnitude.

To attempt a description of barely the new features of the approaching Central Canada Fair would require too much of the space of the newspaper. The inventions and novelties of the year, new ideas in farming, manufacturing, domestic science, art, education, in fact every department of human activity, will be represented in the spacious pavilions, show rooms and process building of Lansdowne Park. The visitor is very observant, indeed who grasps the magnitude of this vast enterprise.

Thousands in Prize Money.

The fact that $16,000 in regular prize money and over 100 special premiums, many of them gold medals, have been appropriated for encouragement of the agricultural industry, along approved lines, is just ground for making a special appeal to the farming community in regard to participating in the competitions and attending the Ottawa Exhibition. Agriculturists and stock breeders are never so far advanced, but they may learn and acquire enthusiasm in their calling by attention to the instructive features, object lessons and many sections devoted to their interest. Prize winning animals will parade daily before the grand stand, and judging will also be carried on where those interested may observe. Competitions and lessons in butter-making and the establishment of a splendidly equipped cold storage plant for cheese denote the special attention paid to the dairy industry. The scope and importance of the great Fair are best indicated by a perusal of the prize lists which may be obtained on application to Secretary Ed. McMahon, 26 Sparks St., Ottawa. The premiums are the largest ever offered. Last year 90 per cent. of those winning medals, exchangeable for cash, preferred the money. Winners of special prizes will be given similar options this year.

The Wonderful Aeroplane.

The difficulty of securing an aviator, who could give the public a genuine performance, illustrating the wonderful science of navigating the air, has at last been overcome by the Exhibition management and a contract has been made for two daily flights of a Curtis Aeroplane. Charles Morok, formerly the famous Dip-of-Death motor car driver, will make the flights, five miles each, and will probably take a lengthy trip over the surrounding country. The flights will be started in front of the grand stand where a clear space, 500 feet by 50 feet, will be prepared. The aviator will bring two Aeroplanes so as to prevent the exhibitions being interfered with by possible mishaps. On the last day of the Fair, there will be a race between an Aeroplane and an Automobile which will be a thrilling event.

A Coronation Scene.

The night spectacular performance will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Capital. Arrangements have been made with the Hanad Company of Hamilton for a reproduction of the grand Naval Review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

Midway of Marvels.

The directors have broadened the scheme of entertainment in other branches also. That will be evident from announcements, later of the famous vaudeville stars, acrobatic troupes, etc., that will appear before the grand stand. The inevitable Midway will be more sensational and curious than ever. This rollicking feature will be furnished by the Park Booking Circuit of New York, which means that a gorgeous assemblage of the world's freaks and marvels will be at Ottawa.

Grounds More Ornate.

The crowds at the 1910 Exhibition were astonished at the great changes wrought in the Fair grounds. Unsightly wooden structures were gone, and in their stead was a series of handsome show rooms, offices and restaurants, under the splendid grand stand, with its accommodation above for 12,000 people. The alterations and the fresh green swards, delightful resting places and beautiful drives won the favor of visitors. The decorator and the builder have been busy again and between now and the opening of the Exhibition a vast amount of work will be done in providing comforts for the public and enhancing the beauty of the Park. The Lake, which is not needed owing to the long water front on the canal, has vanished and other reclaiming work has been done along the canal. Five acres have been added to the grounds, bringing the area to nearly 100 acres. The surface of the park has been improved by draining and a splendid large lavatory has been erected. Wires have been buried and telegraph poles and wires which had been obstructions are removed. A great ornamental "White Way" will be installed which will transform the Fair grounds into a blaze of electric glow at night.

Low Railway Rates.

The railways and steamboat comrates in two for the whole week and there will be still further reductions on excursion days.

No person can afford to miss the coming Ottawa Exhibition.

E. McMAHON.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Funeral Yesterday.

The funeral of the late Julian Fife the particulars of whose tragic death by lightning during Saturday's storm was given in yesterday's Times, took place yesterday from his late residence, Otonabee. The remains were followed to the grave by a large number of sorrowing friends and relatives.

Excursion From Bowmanville.

The excursion from Bowmanville, under the auspices of the Bowlers' Club of that town, arrived in the city yesterday morning, and was largely attended. A good many of the visitors took in the bowling tournament and others spent the day in sight-seeing.

Work is Plentiful.

35 men passed through the hands of Mr. Chalmers, employment agent, during the past week. A number of these men were sent to Campbellford to work on the Trent Valley Canal, while a contingent was sent to the Soo to work at the lumbering industry. Mr. Chalmers says that labour is scarce and work plentiful.

Trent Canal Guide Book.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, received a letter yesterday from Hon. F. L. Hazard, Premier of Prince Edward Island, acknowledging receipt of a copy of the new guide book of the Trent Canal. Mr. Hazard refers in complimentary terms to the excellence of the book.

Many Motor Boats.

The Times is informed that there are in the neighborhood of sixty motor boats on the lower Otonabee and Little Lake, and fully as many more on the Stoney Lake waters. Many of these boats are very handsome and cost considerable money. Next Monday many of them will find their way to Stoney Lake regatta, which will be our Civic holiday's chief attraction.

The Sheffield Choir.

"Art is long," said the poet, "and' he might have added, "needs a long purse." The tour of the Sheffield choir, while artistically a pronounced success failed to measure up as well financially, and Dr. Charles A. E. Harriss, of Ottawa, will have to put up the shortage of $50,000. It is gratfying to know, however, that the artistic achievement is reckoned more important than the monetary loss and that the generous conductor is satisfied. Peterborough is one of the places visited by the famous organization.

Another Tarantula Captured.

Tarantulas are becoming quite common in Peterborough, one having been captured by Mr. Walter Roebuck, of Smith street, a short time ago, and another by Mr. J. T. Donoghue, who carries on a grocery business at the corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge streets. The latter was a monster, and put up quite a battle for his life. These creatures are not so harmful as generally supposed, their bite not usually being fatal. People are, however, inclined to give the creatures a wide berth, on account of their ugly spider-like appearance. They are only to be found amongst bananas.

An Interesting Lecture.

Those who were fortunate enough to be present at St. Alphonsus Lyceum last night, when Mr. Daniel O'Connell K.C., delivered a very interesting lecture on "The Life and Times of Daniel O'Connell," were well repaid for their time. Mr. O'Connell is a fluent and forcible speaker, and kept his audience thoroughly interested from start to finish. There was also a choice programme of music presented, which lent additional pleasure to the affair. At the conclusion of Mr. O'Connell's address a hearty vote of thanks was presented to the speaker.

WEDDING BELLS.

Ruth—Hudson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon, when Miss Pearl, daughter of the late Richard Hudson, was united in marriage to Ernest Ruth, of Toronto. Rev. W. C. Riddiford officiating.

The wedding was a private one, only the immediate relatives being present.

After the ceremony a dainty wedding repast was participated in, and at 4.28 the happy couple left for Toronto.

AN APSLEY INCIDENT.

A Peculiar Accident to a Popular Local Citizen.

A very peculiar accident took place here a few days ago, in which the popular correspondent of your excellent journal was the victim. It appears that he had just read Mr. F. J. Lillicrap's letter in which that gentleman renounced his allegiance to the Tory party, and in his haste to convey the splendid news to Dr. Bell, the excellent municipal clerk, of these united townships, he slipped and fell in the creek which he was obliged to cross on his way. He, however, did not make much of a hole in the water, for his size is not very great. He was speedily fished out and Mr. Wigg kindly loaned him a suit of his own clothes to wear while his were hung up to dry. After putting a few darns in the trousers and rolling up his sleeves, he was permitted to continue his journey. What the good Doctor said when he entered, and he had one good look at him, is not recorded. It would probably spoil the type to print it.

A PLEASANT "AT-HOME."

Miss Pearl Hudson Honored on Eve of Her Marriage.

In another column will be found the particulars of the marriage of Miss Pearl Hudson, which took place yesterday afternoon, to Mr. Ernest A. Ruth, of Toronto. On Friday evening she was at home to about thirty of her girl friends. The early part of the evening was spent in card playing and after dainty refreshments had been served, a program of vocal solos, instrumentals and recitations were rendered as follows:

Vocal solo—"The Bridge," Mr. Wm. Douglas.

Recitation—"The Inventor's Wife," Miss H. Billings.

Instrumental—Miss K. McNicholl.

Phonographic selection—"The Holy City."

Instrumental—Miss Pearl Hudson.

Miss Hudson, who is very popular with a large circle of friends, was the recipient of numerous beautiful presents, testifying to the high regard in which she is held by them.

Boy's Body Found.

Galt, Ont., Aug. 7.—In Pritchard's Lake on the farm of Lawrence Sage, at Blair, three miles from here, the body of a hired boy, Harry Bailey, was found. He was sixteen years of age and came from Ireland. The flesh on the face was eaten by turtles. Suicide is suggested, but no cause is known.

PASSENGERS OF S. S. OLCOTT MADE ATTACK ON BOAT

A SERIOUS RIOT WHEN THEY FOUND SHE COULDN'T TAKE THEM ALL ON BOARD.

Hose Turned on Them—Rocks Flew in Large Numbers and Many Women in the Crowd Fainted.

Rochester, N.Y., Aug. 8.—A special from Lockport, N.Y., says:

A riot broke out among 700 Canadian excursionists on the docks at Olcott Beach last night when they learned that it was impossible for the steamer Olcott to convey them back to Toronto in one trip and as a result men, women and children participated in a serious row, in which scores were bruised.

The captain tried to explain matters, but the crowd would not listen, and started to pull pickets off fences and threatened to batter one another. It was a pulling, hauling, toe-tramping and rib-racking fight.

Finally the boat captain ordered his crew to turn the hose on the crowd. The turning on of the water was the signal for the hurling of rocks and other missiles at the boat. This was kept up until a dozen women fainted and had to be given medical attention.

The steamer finally got under way with her first load, and returned at one o'clock this morning for those who were left behind.

MAN EATS 57 EARS OF CORN

New York, Aug. 8.—The Tammany corn-eating contest is an annual event of the greatest importance on the New York East Side. This year's contest held on the porch of a Broome street saloon last night, was won by Jas. Dugan, a cab driver, who ate 57 separate and distinct ears carrying off the 1911 championship and a purse of gold coins. Dugan's nearest competitor was 11 ears behind his record.

SOME BAD BOYS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I hope the young rascals who have been committing acts of vandalism at the Central School building will be caught and punished. There seems to be a lot of bad boys roaming around just now, seeing how much evil they can do without being caught. There is hardly a morning that I do not find the flower beds in my lawn tramped over and many of the plants injured and destroyed. When I see the boys at it, they run away, and I, being a woman, am powerless. I hope the police will make an example of a few of them.

Sufferer.

"THE MAN FROM GALWAY."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think Sir, that Mr. Stratton should be re-elected to represent West Peterborough in the House of Commons. No man could work harder, or do more for the constituency than he. He was "on the job" twenty-four hours a day, and never missed an opportunity of doing something for his constituency. There was no voter too poor or too rich, Grit or Tory, that he did not try to help. I say then, let us appreciate what he has done by re-electing Hon. J. R. Stratton as member. He is veritably the "man for Galway."

Elector.

THE PIGEON CREEK BRIDGE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see the Examiner is anxious to have the city repair the Pigeon Creek bridge at once—or assist in repairing it. I think, Sir, that we have bridges enough in our own municipality to maintain without going 12 or 15 miles out in the country to spend our money. Our financial position will not permit it. Here are a few of the big items of expense which the city will have to face at once:

New Schools	$ 80,000
Pumping Station	100,000
Sewerform, &c.	250,000
New Bridge on Hunter-st.	50,000

In round figures, half a million dollars will be required almost immediately to cover necessary expenditure. Then if we include a city hall, paving the business section, we can easily add at least $400,000 more.

The Pigeon Creek bridge should and must be maintained by the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. The farmers living in Emily require it to get to Peterborough, which is the best market by far in this part of the Province.

I hope the City Council will stand pat, so far as voting money to this bridge is concerned.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER IS COMING

Mr. R. L. Borden Will Address Mass Meeting Here on August Twenty-Fourth

The Times has been informed that Mr. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, will visit Peterborough on Thursday, August 24, and will address a mass meeting of the electors in the Opera House the same evening. Mr. Borden will be accompanied by Mr. Andrew Broduer, M.P., for Dundas County, who is regarded as one of the ablest speakers in the House. Mr. Broduer will, The Times is requested to state, talk specially to farmers, in connection with the proposed treaty with the United States. The Times understands that the Premier may also make it a point to visit Peterborough, as this riding is in the doubtful list, and as such it will receive special attention from the leaders of both political parties.

WESTERN WHEAT CROP WORTH $165,000,000

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—The Winnipeg Commercial has the following on the crop situation: "After studying the different conditions in the numerous localities we have come to the conclusion that the total wheat output of the West this season will be about 183,000,000 bushels. This result is arrived at by reckoning on a general average of 18½ bushels per acre over the three provinces. This average is considerably better than it has been for several years, and when the extensiveness of the territory concerned is considered, it is a magnificent average. We have figured that the acreage under wheat is 17½ per cent. higher than last year and from the circumstances attending the preparation of the soil for this season's crop there are likely very few who will disagree with the estimate.

CROP AREA EXPANDED.

In a previous issue the Commercial referred to the fact that there has been but little criticism of the estimate of 200,000,000 bushels that has been spoken of all season, seemingly to the satisfaction of nearly all parties interested. If the crops were nearly all uniform throughout the country, the amount of 200,000,000 bushels would without a doubt be realized. The territory under cultivation has expanded so enormously however, that every year most likely some part or other will experience backwardness in comparison with the more fortunate localities. There are some districts that will not fare as well as others this year, and the inclusion of those in making up the general average is what leads us to predict a total of few millions less than the round number 200,000,000.

GREATEST CROP EVER.

We are not pessimistic by any means. It must be considered that while this is the best year in the memory of even those who are pioneers in the West, the amount of The Commercial's estimate is about 60,000,000 bushels greater than the best previous production. That being the case, the aggregate yield this year is astonishing, without reaching the two hundred million mark.

In our review we calculate the wheat crop to be worth about $165,000,000. This is figured on the basis of ninety cents per bushel a price considerably lower than that which has ruled in the market for a long time. We make use of the ninety cent quotation so as to be reasonably safe in our estimate. Any price mentioned before marketing can only be arbitrary. In the same manner in which we have reckoned the wheat crop we have also figured on the other grains, and we find the indications to point to a total grain yield of 388,947,000 bushels in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. We also estimate all this prospective production to have a value of $254,632,000.

KING GEORGE NOT ASKED TO ACT UNTIL LAST MONTH

London, Aug. 8.—A vote of censure on the Government for having obtained from the King a pledge to create, if necessary, sufficient peers to pass the veto bill, was rejected by the House of Commons to-night by a majority of 119, the vote being 365 to 246. The motion was introduced by Mr. Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, and its defeat is considered to have failed to improve the Unionist cause.

The gravaman of the Opposition's charges against the Government was that Premier Asquith had taken advantage of the King's inexperience to bring about an abuse of the Royal prerogative by securing the guarantees before the last general election. Mr. Asquith easily disposed of this charge by showing that the Ministers had pursued an entirely proper and constitutional course. The result was that after the Premier's speech, the debate on the Unionist side virtually collapsed.

THE OPPOSITION MOTION.

Mr. Balfour's motion, of which he gave notice on August 2, was as follows:

"That the advice given His Majesty by his Majesty's Ministers, whereby they obtained from his Majesty a pledge that a sufficient number of peers would be created to pass the Parliament bill in the shape in which it left this House, is a gross violation of constitutional liberty, by which among other ill consequences the people will be precluded from again pronouncing upon the policy of home rule."

The rival leaders were loudly cheered as they entered the room.

"The Ministers," said Mr. Balfour, "have grossly abused their rights of advising the Crown, and by abusing those rights put themselves above the constitution. They have acted wholly without precedent."

Not as Mr. Balfour, conceived in order to meet any great question of State, but in "order to further a party arrangement between different sections who support them, and in order to prevent the people of the country from pronouncing their opinion on Home Rule."

CRUEL AND MEAN ATTITUDE.

The Unionist leader asserted that the Ministry had placed the Sovereign, who had just come to the throne, in a cruel position. The King was a fount of honor, but the Government by their advice had poisoned and corrupted the stream at its source. He dubbed the proposed new peers as "supers in this sordid drama."

Mr. Balfour declared that it would be difficult to conceive of any politician playing a meaner or more contemptible part. He contended that the question of Home Rule had never been before the country throughout the controversy. There was not the slightest justification for the creation of peers to enable the Government to carry it through both houses without a reference to the people. It was contrary to all opinions of constitutional legislative chambers to put both chambers in the hands of the executive to manipulate as they liked and it was a wholly unconstitutional method of dealing with deadlocks for the Prime Minister to advise the King to pack the Upper House with hired voters.

Mr. Balfour concluded with the prophecy that the country would soon let the Radicals know that it would not allow a repetition of "the crime of 1911."

SIR ALAN AYLESWORTH RETIRES FROM GOVERNMENT

MINISTER OF JUSTICE WILL NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION THOUGH URGED TO DO SO.

Will Help in Campaign—North York Executive Unanimously Nominates Mr. Robinette as Candidate.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Sir Allen Aylesworth is retiring from the Government, and has definitely notified the North York Liberal Association that he will not again be a candidate. He has served under Sir Wilfrid Laurier for six years, first as Postmaster-General, and later as Minister of Justice. He entered the Government at a great sacrifice of personal interests his law practice being one of the largest in Canada.

Sir Allen intimated to the Prime Minister over two years ago that he desired to resign his portfolio, principally on the ground that his deafness was a constant embarrassment to him in Parliament and at Cabinet Council meetings, and militated against his usefulness to the Government both in the Commons and in the country. Sir Wilfrid, however, knowing the full value of Sir Allen's services, both as Minister of Justice and advisor at the Council Board, has always strongly urged him to continue in office. And his appreciation "of the best Minister of Justice Canada ever had" the Premier has been backed up by every Liberal in Parliament.

However, Sir Allen's sense of honor makes him very keenly realize the handicap of his deafness as a Minister of the Crown, and he has, despite pressure from all quarters, adhered to his original decision to retire from public life, and, with the return of the Government to power practically assured, regards this as the most opportune time to carry his decision into effect.

Yesterday he notified the Liberal Executive in North York to that effect, declining their oft-repeated offer of the Liberal nomination, and expressing his most grateful appreciation of their great kindness to him at all times. Sir Allen believes that Mr. T. C. Robinette, of Toronto, who will now be the candidate, will have no difficulty in holding the seat with reciprocity as the issue.

Sir Wilfrid has not yet accepted the resignation of his Minister of Justice and Sir Allen will probably hold the portfolio and administer the department for some time yet, pending the swearing in of his successor, who will probably be Mr. Hugh Guthrie, K.C., the able and eloquent representative of South Wellington in the Commons since 1900.

THE POPE'S CONDITION IS SAID TO BE CAUSING ANXIETY

London, Aug. 8.—"The Pope's condition is serious," says a despatch from Rome to The Daily Mail, "and his deep nervous depression causes anxiety. The Pope's sisters are in constant attendance. Dr. Marchiafava calls twice daily.

"Attention is being drawn to a remarkable fact, in connection with his life. About nineteen years ago when he was still Bishop of Mantua, he remarked to a friend: 'I studied nine years in the seminary, I was nine years Vicar of Tombolli, nine years Arch-priest of Salzano, nine years Canon at Treviso, nine years Bishop. You will see that I shall remain nine years a Patriarch of Venice, and then perhaps, nine years as Pope.' He left Mantua at the end of nine years to become Patriarch of Venice, and after nine years there he became Pope on the 9th of this month he will enter upon his ninth year as Pontiff."

RUTHERFORD TO OPPOSE OLIVER

Will Seek to Get Control of the Party Nomination Meeting.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 8.—A. C. Rutherford, ex-Premier of Alberta, announced to-day that he would be a candidate for the Liberal nomination in Edmonton district against Hon. Frank Oliver.

Mr. Rutherford and Hon. Mr. Cross his Attorney-General, blame the Oliver influence for the overthrow of the Provincial ministry in connection with the Alberta and Great Waterways' scandal. Another Liberal Ministry was formed with Judge Arthur Sifton, brother of Hon. Clifford Sifton, as Premier. It was understood that Mr. Cross was to oppose Mr. Oliver.

Berlin, Aug. 8.—Keil Bay will be the scene on September 5th of a magnificent naval spectacle, when Kaiser Wilhelm will review the biggest force of German warships ever gathered together.

One hundred and forty vessels will be seen in line, comprising 22 battleships, two being of the Heligoland or super-Dreadnought type, of 22,800 tons; four armoured cruisers, ten protected cruisers, 26 modern ocean going torpedo boats, 24 mine-layers and a floatilla of submarines.

The entire fleet will represent an aggregate tonnage of 400,000 with a personnel of 25,000 men.

WOMAN MAYOR PUTS UP FIGHT

Hunnewell, Kas., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Ella M. Wilson's fight to be Mayor of Hunnewell in fact, since her election to that office last April, will be forced into court, she declared to-day, by actions to oust the four remaining councilmen. A fifth member recently resigned.

The council last night again refused to approve the Mayor's appointment of a city clerk, treasurer, and street commissioner. Mrs. Wilson retaliated by refusing to sign warrants authorizing payment of bills against the town.

Attorney-General Dawson has assistance in suits to remove the councilmen for alleged neglect of duty. Governor Stubbs has offered his aid in response to a direct plea from the Mayor.

POLITICAL SPIES AT CONGRESS

Rochester Minister Says That They Were Present to Report on the Conduct of Russian Delegates.

Woodstock, Aug. 8.—Speaking on his impressions at the recent Baptist World's Congress at Philadelphia in the First Baptist Church on Sunday night, Rev. David Bovington, of Rochester Theological Seminary made the rather startling statement that he knew it to be a fact that the Russian Government sent over spies to the Congress to report on any seditious utterances that might be made by the Russian delegates. Several of them were under heavy bonds not to say anything against their country, and the terrible oppression existing there, as the Baptist Christian workers endeavor to propagate the Gospel. One Russian was there who had been allowed out of prison, where he had been put for his activity along Christian lines, but he had to get another man to take his place, and the Russian Government held him as a hostage.

LOST 16 Pounds in Weight

Was Kept Down by Bilious Indigestion, and When in Despair

In the following interesting letter Mrs. H. R. Plunkett, well known in her home town of Hewtonville, tells how she conquered bilious indigestion: "I think it was drinking ice water on a very hot July day two years ago that caused an inflamed condition in my stomach, which gave me such repeated and weakening attacks of biliousness and stomach trouble. So severely did I suffer, that my strength was impaired, and I lost sixteen pounds in weight. My whole body was weakened, both kidneys and bowels failing to keep the system in natural condition. Food fermented, skin was dry and yellow. I had flushes of heat, and prickling sensations in various parts of the body. In the winter I had cold feet and clammy hands, and not until I commenced to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills did I obtain relief. In a short time Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured the bilious dyspepsia, and in a month I gained almost four pounds. The pain over the liver disappeared, the bowels acted regularly, and I kept on improving so rapidly that in three months I was vigorous and well. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every one in poor health."

ENGLISHMAN'S LETTER ON RECIPROCITY

I have taken upon myself to try and put the issue before us to-day in a plain, straightforward manner, and in so doing I shall not try to mix up with my appeal any wild references to the public character of individuals. That is being ably done by the Examiner and its liberal followers. I think you will agree with me that abuse is not the most convincing form of argument and is devoid of logic and reason. Now Reciprocity is an old issue and has been before the electors of Canada for many years. Mr. Gordon, in his address on Saturday, states that the Conservatives of the past were all for Reciprocity and by inference the Liberals were against it. Now this is far, very far from the truth. The fact, as I shall endeavor to prove is that the Liberals were in favor of "full, unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, whilst the Conservatives were in favor of reciprocity in a much milder form.

In the election of 1891, Sir John Macdonald for the first and last time in his career, issued a political manifesto. He announced the dissolution of Parliament on Feb. 3rd, 1891, and in his political manifesto, referring to reciprocity, he urged "The renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854-66, with necessary modifications."

Note the last three words and now mark the action of Mr. Wilfred Laurier as he then was and the Liberal party. What was their reply to this? They advocated a freer and fuller and wider reciprocity with the States. They even went so far as to publish a letter signed by Mr. James G. Blain, the United States Secretary of State, declaring that only the very widest form of reciprocity (the Opposition, or Liberal policy in fact) would be considered by the American Government. Now this is the truth and can be proved by Canadian history. Does this look as if the Conservatives had suddenly changed lately in their views of reciprocity. No, they always were against reciprocity in such a free, full way as the Liberals now want it. Sir John Macdonald, the greatest of all Canadian statesmen, the old man who died in his country's service and whom the whole of Canada mourned when he died, said in his manifesto that the policy of the Conservative party was one of fostering the resources of Canada by every possible means consistent with its position as an integral portion of the British Empire. He denounced the policy of free trade with the United States as involving among other grave evils, discrimination against the Mother Country, and expressed his earnest belief that it would in that event inevitably result in annexation to the United States. He gave very strong reasons for believing that the loss of revenue from American goods under such a policy would involve direct taxation of the people to the figure of at least $7,000,000. He declared that in consequence of the Canadian tariff against other countries, having to be the same as that of the United States, in order to prevent the wholesale importation of goods by way of Canada, under its existing lower grade of duties, the proposed policy meant the practical control of the Canadian tariff at Washington. He concluded his address with a paragraph marked by pathos and patriotism thus "A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die, with my utmost strength, with my latest breath will I oppose the 'veiled treason' which attempts by sordid means and mercenary proffers to lure our people from their allegiance. During my long public service of nearly half a century I have been true to my country and its best interests, and I appeal with equal confidence to the men who have trusted me in the past and to the young hopes of the country, with whom rests its destinies in the future, to give me their united aid in this my last effort for the unity of the Empire, and for the preservation of our commercial and political freedom.

This is the Conservative attitude towards free and full reciprocity with the United States. Now about the Liberal view. In his reply to the manifesto of Sir John, Sir, then Mr. Laurier, advocated "absolute reciprocal freedom of trade between Canada and the United States. Under the very important point of discrimination against England he submitted a simple denial and the following statement, which I give word for word as I did Sir John Macdonald's and which as Englishmen I especially want you to consider and weigh well and get to the bottom of what it means and involves. Here are Mr. Wilfred Laurier's exact words: "It cannot be expected, it were folly to expect, that the interests of a Colony should always be identical with the interests of the Motherland. The day must come when, from no other cause than the development of national life in the Colony, there would be a clashing of interests with the Motherland and in such case, much as I would regret the necessity, I would stand by my native land."

In conclusion I ask you as Britishers, which party do you intend to give your allegiance to. Note the difference between the great, noble, country-loving patriotism of old Sir John and the anti-British utterances of Laurier, the man who expects and waits for the interests of England and Canada to clash and then will side against England. I have placed before you, not my views, but the views of the Conservative and the Liberal parties.

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoona River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hoona River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoona River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

THE POWER OF SYMPATHY.

Mothers Too Often Form a Habit of Constant Reproof.

Although conscious of the power of sympathy, many loving but overtired mothers not only forget to show affection but form a habit of constant reproof. Naturally enough, the children, unless exceptionally callous to their surroundings, become sullen and resentful. How can they realize that the nagging is an expression of anxious affection?

When Johnny comes rushing into the house full of enthusiasm over some new play or new idea, and eager to tell his plans, such a mother exclaims, "How many times have I told you to wipe your feet before you enter the door?" The greetings dim his enthusiasm, and, hurt and wounded, he draws back into himself, and will not again expose himself to such a snub. He confides in her less and less as he grows older, and she wonders why.

There is sound psychology in the statement that if you believe a man is honest he will be honest; that if you trust a young man he will prove trustworthy; that if you praise a child he will deserve praise. Benjamin West's mother kissed her boy when he showed his drawings to her; and the boy, when grown to manhood, said that her kiss made a painter of him.

A RAVENOUS INDUSTRY.

How the Paper Makers Are Destroying the Forests of the United States.

The forests of the United States now cover 550,000,000 acres, or about one-fourth of the area of the country. Forests publicly owned contain one-fifth of all timber standing. The timber privately owned is not only four times that publicly owned but it is generally more valuable.

Forestry is not practised on 70 per cent. of the forests publicly owned and on less than 1 per cent. of the forests privately owned, or on only 18 per cent. of the total area of the forests.

The original forests of the United States contained timber in quantity and variety far beyond that upon any other area of similar size in the world. They covered 850,000,000 acres with a stand of not less than 5,200,000,000,000 board feet of merchantable timber, according to present standards of use. There were five great forest regions—the northern, the southern, the central, the Rocky Mountain and the Pacific.

The present rate of cutting is three times the annual growth of the forests of the United States. The great pineries of the Lake States are nearing exhaustion and great inroads have been made upon the supply of valuable timber throughout all parts of the country.

The heavy demands for timber have been rapidly pushing the great centres of lumber industry towards the South and West. In consequence, the State of Washington has led for several years in lumber production, followed in order by Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Wisconsin and Arkansas. In 1908 the production of yellow pine lumber amounted to eleven and one-quarter billion feet; the Douglas fir of the Northwest held second place, with three and two-thirds billion feet; while white pine came third, with three and one-third billion feet.

The annual cut from the forests, including waste in logging and in manufacture, is 20,000,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

There is used in a normal year 90,000,000 cords of fire wood, 40,000,000,000 board feet of lumber, 112,000,000 hewn ties, 1,500,000,000 staves, over 123,000,000 sets of heading, nearly 800,000,000 barrel hoops, 2,000,000 cords of native pulp wood, 165,000,000 cubic feet of round mine timbers and 1,300,000 cords of wood for distillation.

In 1909 4,602,000 cords of wood were used in the manufacture of paper, of which 794,000 cords were imported from Canada. The demand for pulp wood is making a severe drain on the spruce forests, which furnish the principle supply. The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations to determine what other woods, such as scrub pine, white fir, tupelo and the like, can be successfully used.

A larger drain upon forest resources is made by the demand for railroad ties, of which 123,754,000, equivalent to three and three-quarters billion board feet, were used in 1906. White oak, hitherto the chief source of supply, is not plentiful enough to meet this demand indefinitely, and in many parts of the country the supply of chestnut, cedar and cypress is dwindling; however, seasoning and treating methods are being found, largely through the work of the Forest Service, by which cheaper and more plentiful woods, such as lodgepole pine in the Northwest and loblolly pine in the South, are made fit for use as ties. Timber to the amount of two and one-half billions feet was used in 1907 for mine timbers. A great saving has been effected in the naval stores industry, also largely through the work of the Forest Service, by the introduction of the so-called "cup" system of turpentining in place of the old destructive system of "boxing." The new systems insure a larger product of better quality and prolong the life of the longleaf pine forests upon which the industry depends.

Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

QUEEN MARY FROWNS.

Order about Hobble Skirts was Disobeyed.

Queen Mary's order about hobble skirts was disobeyed at the two courts by all except the actual court ladies. All the rest wore tight skirts, but their trains covered them. They say they didn't see why they should make themselves unfashionable because the queen herself is abnormally large around the hips and unsuited to tight dresses.

Nevertheless everyone was staggered by the costume of the Marchioness de la Vill Urrutia, the wife of the Spanish ambassador. Her dress was so tight that her whole figure was sharply outlined and she had great difficulty in walking. As she belongs in the diplomatic circle she is independent of the queen's wishes and fortunately had no courtesy to make with consequences which might have been indescribable.

The queen only smiled when she saw her trouble and seemed wisely obvious of how her order was generally obeyed. Indeed, the queen was the surprise of the court, she was so smiling and bright, with a word for everybody.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for the Erection of Wireless Telegraph Station," at Tobermory, Ontario, will be received at this office until noon, on July Twenty-ninth 1911,

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after July 10th instant, at the office of the Superintendent of Wireless Telegraphs, Department of the Naval Service, Ottawa, the Office of the Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Parry Sound Ontario, or the Office of the Superintending Engineer of Sault Ste. Marie Canal, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., or the offices of the Postmaster at Owen Sound, Ont., or the Postmaster at Tobermory, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of the Naval Service, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

G. J. DESBARATS,
Deputy Minister.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realised within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

COQUITLAM IS BOOMING

CITY AND SUBURBS ARE HIVES OF BUILDING ACTIVITY.

Transfers and Enquiries for All Classes of Property Continue.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 7. — Although the figures given out by the municipal council of Coquitlam, and the officials of the Canadian Pacific railway name the sum to be expended by the company at that place as $250,000, it is said on good authority that the railroad intends to spend ten or twenty times that amount, and perhaps more in the course of the next four or five years in making Coquitlam the largest and best equipped operating terminal in the country.

The railroad now has more than $1,000,000 invested in property at Coquitlam. Its holdings form a strip of land two miles long and half a mile wide between the Coquitlam and the Pitt rivers. The eastern part of this strip juts out into a mile as it approaches the Pitt river, giving the corporation an immense strip of waterfront, and for the most part obvious reasons the railroad authorities do not care to have their exact plans become public at the present time, and so are quite conservative in the statements of their intentions.

It is certain, however, and is vouched for by men who are in a position to know whereof they speak, that the plans of the company call for the expenditure of millions instead of thousands at Coquitlam.

What Port Mann is to be to the Canadian Northern Coquitlam will be to the Canadian Pacific. The plans are much more extensive and carry with them the expenditure of far greater sums. The Canadian Pacific has not sufficient room in Vancouver for the vast yards and shops which the company feels it needs. There is no more property to be had in this city. Hence the railroad will make of Coquitlam its great operating terminal.

The company plans to put in 180 miles of sidetracks at Coquitlam, besides repair shops, bunkers and round-houses. These will be located on both sides of the main line between the Coquitlam and the Pitt rivers. Besides this extensive maintenance equipment, the Canadian Pacific intends, it is said, to make Coquitlam a shipping point for wheat of the prairie provinces.

HOW MONEY WILL BE SPENT.

The present plans of the railroad are to spend $250,000 at once. This is the sum mentioned in the report of the arrangement between the municipal council and the railroad representatives, entered into at a meeting last Thursday. The disposition of this can be divided generally into two parts. Fifty thousand dollars is to be spent immediately for the replacing and the rebuilding of the municipal roads which will be vacated because of the occupation of the trackage and the sites for the shops and buildings which are already in the possession of the company.

Of the remaining $200,000, all will be spent in the erection of sidetracks water tanks, coal sheds, bunkers and roundhouses.

BAD FOR BARBERS.

Among the many suggestions made for commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., the quaintest is that now put forward by Captain Macllwaine, R. N. Captain Macllwaine's suggestion is that the men of the British Empire, following the example of the late King, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards. Our present King, sharing the views of his father, grows a beard, and makes his staff do the same. The beard is the exception, not the rule, among men of the present day.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white. Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded bead carefully matched, drops for earrings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is labor." These words, once written by Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H. Gordon Selfridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash. They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was a partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amount to over $500,000,000. Mr. Selfridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street.

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavari aNinety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the insanity of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was declared insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread.

London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour. It is maintained that there are in the whole meal two and one-half times the amount of mineral substances that nourish the body.

Some medical men earn their money by inventing complaints with long names for over-fed society women.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto. The greater part of the remainder were shipped to Montreal. This lamb was purchased at nine cents per pound delivered in bond at Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. This made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Fresh dressed lambs were selling in Toronto at that time at 12 1-2c. to 13c. per pound.

Hence, after paying this duty there was not much difference between the prices of the Australian and Canadian lamb.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1 1-4c. per pound, so that similar shipments could be laid down in Toronto at 10 1-4c. per pound, two or three cents per pound cheaper than the price for the home raised products.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal Canadian lamb was selling at 10 1-2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9 1-2c. delivered ex cars Montreal duty paid, the owners apparently being contented to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one or which, for example, the headline was "Sheep Sold Lower in Local Markets."

If, with the three cent duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter.

Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

FAINTS AT BLACK HAND NOTE.

Woman Prostrated When Threat Is Made to Kidnap Her Daughter Unless $10,000 is Paid.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 7.—Mrs. S. D. Heckman, wife of a merchant, is prostrated with fright, following the receipt of a "Black Hand" letter, threatening to kidnap her 18-year-old daughter, unless $10,000 is placed at a designated spot within the next three days.

Mr. Heckman told the police that his wife had noticed the house being watched for several days, and that on two occasions their daughter Beatrice had been followed by a stranger.

SHOOTING PAINS IN SIDE, ARMS, BACK.

Prove the Presence of Rheumatic Virus, Which is Cured Quickest by Nerviline—Rub It In.

Pains in the muscles, in the sides, the back, the neck or the chest—they always carry with them great discomfort. If the inflammation is severe the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue they are dangerous. Nothing so quickly cures local inflammation and drives away pain as Nerviline. Nerviline does this because it penetrates so deeply. Nerviline is not only powerful, but soothing. By relieving congestion it cures pain. It does this always. It cannot fail because it is a true antidote for pain. You can scarcely find anybody that will not tell you wonderful things about the pain-curing power of Nerviline. Remember, that there is not an ache or pain that Nerviline will not cure immediately. Nerviline is an anchor of health in every household.

Refuse anything that may be offered you instead of Nerviline, which is guaranteed for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, and all muscular aches and pains.

AMERICAN FORCE TO LAND IN HAYTI

Cape Haytien, Aug. 7.—With disastrous and fatal results, the rebels who have succeeded in driving president Simon from the country are now fighting among themselves. In a clash between the followers of Mons Firmin and of General Lecomte twenty men have been killed and a score wounded. More outbreaks are momentarily expected. German and English marines are striving to keep order and prevent a pillage. American and French marines will probably be landed to-day. The situation is very critical. The rebels are divided among themselves.

Dissatisfaction has resulted from the act of General Lecomte in declaring himself the Chief Executive of the nation. His act is regarded in the light of a usurpation of power, and an effort to become dictator. A number of followers have deserted his cause in consequence, and have taken up the cause of Mons. Firmin. The rumor is in circulation that the General intends to dissolve congress when he arrives at Port au Prince. The Firmin followers are in the majority in that body.

German marines have had a sanguinary conflict with villagers who attempted to loot a store. The marines opened fire on them. The firing was returned. Immediately all the saloons were ordered closed and shots were fired at an officer of the German marines as he was passing down an avenue. It was stated later that he was mistaken for a Firminist. The excuse is not regarded seriously.

The German marines are guarding the extensive German interests in mercantile establishments and railroads. The United States cruiser Salem arrived twenty hours ago and marines will be landed from it. A French warship is now on the scene and will land men. Germany, France England and the United States will try to keep order and prevent looting.

Letters to the Editor

A HUMANE ACT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Drivers and all horse-owners should not neglect to provide those simple little straw hats made expressly as a protection from the heat of the sun. The faithful horses have a sufficiently trying life on the burning city pavements for the greater part of the day, and when such a simple expedient will furnish a substantial protection, no person with any feeling should hesitate to invest the few cents required for the straw head-piece. "A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast."

A LIBERAL RESPONSE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I take pleasure in enclosing one dollar to pay for The Times for one month, to be sent to the four names below. Your appeal for 5000 new subscribers should meet with hearty response by the Protestant community.

Andrew W. James.

Risky to Marry Money.

Apropos of a beautiful young wife, worth $40,000,000, who had just divorced her penniless husband in order to marry again, Henry E. Dixey, the comedian, said at a dinner:

"The young man who marries for money has none too easy a time of it. His rich wife is likely to tire of him and throw him out in a few years, or else she is likely to limit his allowance to 25 or 50 cents a day.

"'I married money,' a man once said to me.

"'Wasn't there a woman attached to it?' I asked.

"'Yes, you bet there was,' he exploded. 'So much attached to it that she never parted with a penny.'"

An Insect Gunner.

Many insects have some means of defense from their natural enemies, one of which is more curious than that of a small beetle, which, when closely pursued, discharges a puff of poisonous vapor with a distinct detonation. Incidentally in many instances this adds the diminutive gunner to his own immediately, in all probability, by startling the witness and causing him to abandon the chase. From this peculiar [illegible] this little fellow is known as the bombardier beetle.

IN THE LIFE OF QUEEN MARY.

Errs in Simplicity in Training of Children.

From the time of Her Majesty's birth until her marriage her life was not that of the fairly well-to-do English girl, hardly that of the modern English girl, perhaps, but nearer the old-fashioned ideal. This was her mother's plan:

"A child," she said, "has quite enough to do to learn obedience and attend to her lessons and to grow without many parties and late hours, which take the freshness of childhood away and the brightness and beauty from girlhood—and then children become intolerable. There are too many grown-up children in the present day."

A writer tells how the Queen's many high qualities were developed—her interest in charity by the frequent visits made in her mother's company to the poor around her Richmond home at White Lodge; her religious convictions, bred by the daily life of her home; her musical accomplishments and her artistic talents, fostered by her stay in Florence, Italy, where her parents lived for two years.

"The Queen has a sweet voice," says Sir Charles Kinloch-Cooke, "a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor (now Sir Paolo) Tosti. . . . She is a good judge of a picture and an excellent critic, and while at Florence made several pretty sketches of landscape scenery. She rarely misses any good exhibition of pictures in London, is particularly fond of the old masters and prefers their more finished style of painting to the impressionist school.

"Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance or that have attracted public attention during the last two decades she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce.

"The Queen is greatly attached to the historical past of her country. Ancient monuments of every kind have a fascination for her, and her acquaintance with different kinds of architecture must have entailed much study and close observance.

"She is particularly fond of visiting cathedrals, and knows the interior of most of the old city churches, besides being well versed in the countless treasures contained in the other historic buildings of our great metropolis.

"Her Majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important parliamentary debates.

"Punctuality is a household word in the royal establishment, and when the Queen makes an appointment it is always kept.

"In business matters Her Majesty is clear and expeditious, methodical and systematic. Her mornings are generally taken up with attending to the voluminous correspondence that arrives by every post.

"Her secretary and lady in waiting submit their letters and the Queen gives instructions concerning them. She quickly grasps the main issue of a question and soon makes up her mind, and has never been known to lay aside a matter on the ground that to express an opinion thereon is irksome or difficult."

PORCELAIN POODLES.

At One Time Very Fashionable Ornaments.

The day of the china and faience poodle may be said to have been the closing years of the eighteenth century and the twenties and thirties of the last century, a period when the poodle was the favorite pet animal of the contemporary lady.

In the old English china works the dog was a sort of potter's standby, says the Queen, and hardly one firm but turned to the manufacture of this delightful ornament from Bow to Rockingham. In size they vary from about six inches down to one inch.

Commonest of poodles are the Staffordshire examples, sitting bolt upright, and very much rarer are the recumbent dogs reposing on royal blue cushions. Porcelain poodles were produced at Bow, but unlike their cousins of Rockingham the Bow canines were lean and scraggy specimens of their race, with legs of an almost impossible thinness. They were modelled prior to the year 1776.

The finest porcelain poodles were produced at the celebrated Rockingham works, and they were manufactured between the year 1826 (or thereabouts) and the closing of the works in 1843—in fact, during the "Brameld period," when the factory was carried on by Thomas, George, Frederick and John Wager Brameld. The Rockingham works were situated at Swinton, near Rotherham, Yorkshire, on the estate of the Marquis of Rockingham. The animals themselves are nearly always plain white in color, but sometimes their bases or stands are of a rich royal blue enriched with a gilt line. Occasionally the bases are ornamented with green and gilt foliage, and still more rarely red decoration is to be found.

The Staffordshire faience poodles were intended to ornament the cottager's humble mantlepiece, not the are much more roughly modelled than their Rockingham relatives, for they drawing room of the lady of fashion, and they were retailed at the trifling sum of sixpence each, so that careful modelling and delicate glaze were not to be expected. These glazed earthenware dogs are squat in figure, with large ears, bushy tails, and a decorative note is introduced by the addition of a gilt collar with an elaborate padlock hanging from it.

China and earthenware poodles are now extensively imitated by the unscrupulous German manufacturer, but his fakes are fairly easy to detect. These Teutonic forgeries are characterised by a dead white glaze, while the authentic early nineteenth century examples are coated with a cream white glaze, which is frequently a good deal crackled.

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest mone makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and on-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY, Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN, Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN, New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM, New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT, New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR, New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS, Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 182 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 9 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

NOVEL FEATURES AT OTTAWA FAIR

Daily Flights of Curtis Aeroplane and Reproduction of Famous Naval Review as seen at Coronation of King George V.

Big Increases in Prizes

For Live Stock, Poultry and Farm Products.

With further beautified grounds, new and improved buildings, a more expansive array of agricultural and manufacturing exhibits than ever before presented, and the most costly and novel special attractions available, the Central Canada Exhibition of 1911 will be held in Ottawa, from September 6 to 16.

An Extra Day.

In keeping with its growth in other directions the Exhibition will run a day longer, that is, six days instead of five. Heretofore, the Ottawa Fair has nominally been of a week's duration after the two preparatory days, but usually the regular programme was dropped on the final Saturday. On the closing day of the 1911 Fair, not only will every feature of the daily programme be repeated, but there will be special attractions.

A Fair of Magnitude.

To attempt a description of barely the new features of the approaching Central Canada Fair would require too much of the space of the newspaper. The inventions and novelties of the year, new ideas in farming, manufacturing, domestic science, art, education, in fact every department of human activity, will be represented in the spacious pavilions, show rooms and process building of Lansdowne Park. The visitor is very observant, indeed who grasps the magnitude of this vast enterprise.

Thousands in Prize Money.

The fact that $16,000 in regular prize money and over 100 special premiums, many of them gold medals, have been appropriated for encouragement of the agricultural industry, along approved lines, is just ground for making a special appeal to the farming community in regard to participating in the competitions and attending the Ottawa Exhibition. Agriculturists and stock breeders are never so far advanced, but they may learn and acquire enthusiasm in their calling by attention to the instructive features, object lessons and many sections devoted to their interest. Prize winning animals will parade daily before the grand stand, and judging will also be carried on where those interested may observe. Competitions and lessons in butter-making and the establishment of a splendidly equipped cold storage plant for cheese denote the special attention paid to the dairy industry. The scope and importance of the great Fair are best indicated by a perusal of the prize lists which may be obtained on application to Secretary Ed. McMahon, 26 Sparks St., Ottawa. The premiums are the largest ever offered. Last year 90 per cent. of those winning medals, exchangeable for cash, preferred the money. Winners of special prizes will be given similar options this year.

The Wonderful Aeroplane.

The difficulty of securing an aviator, who could give the public a genuine performance, illustrating the wonderful science of navigating the air, has at last been overcome by the Exhibition management and a contract has been made for two daily flights Morok, formerly the famous Dip-of-lef a Curtis Aeroplane. Charles Death motor car driver, will make the flights, five miles each, and will probably take a lengthy trip over the surrounding country. The flights will be started in front of the grand stand where a clear space, 500 feet by 50 feet, will be prepared. The aviator will bring two Aeroplanes so as to prevent the exhibitions being interfered with by possible mishaps. On the last day of the Fair, there will be a race between an Aeroplane and an Automobile which will be a thrilling event.

A Coronation Scene.

The night spectacular performance will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Capital. Arrangements have been made with the Hand Company of Hamilton for a reproduction of the grand Naval Review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

Midway of Marvels.

The directors have broadened the scheme of entertainment in other branches also. That will be evident from announcements, later of the famous vaudeville stars, acrobatic troupes, etc., that will appear before the grand stand. The inevitable Midway will be more sensational and curious than ever. This rollicking feature will be furnished by the Park Booking Circuit of New York, which means that a gorgeous assemblage of the world's freaks and marvels will be at Ottawa.

Grounds More Ornate.

The crowds at the 1910 Exhibition were astonished at the great changes wrought in the Fair grounds. Unsightly wooden structures were gone, and in their stead was a series of handsome show rooms, offices and restaurants, under the splendid grand stand, with its accommodation above for 12,000 people. The alterations and the fresh green swards, delightful resting places and beautiful drives won the favor of visitors. The decorator and the builder have been busy again and between now and the opening of the Exhibition a vast amount of work will be done in providing comforts for the public and enhancing the beauty of the Park. The Lake, which is not needed owing to the long water front on the canal, has vanished and other reclaiming work has been done along the canal. Five acres have been added to the grounds, bringing the area to nearly 100 acres. The surface of the park has been improved by draining and a splendid large lavatory has been erected. Wires have been buried and telegraph poles and wires which had been obstructions are removed. A great ornamental "White Way" will be installed which will transform the Fair grounds into a blaze of electric glow at night.

Low Railway Rates.

The railways and steamboat companies in two for the whole week and there will be still further reductions on excursion days.

No person can afford to miss the coming Ottawa Exhibition.

E. McMAHON.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

It bore the following inscription: "With compliments and best wishes and in appreciation of services from the executive of the Canadian Cordage Company, Henderson Block, R. R. Hall, Torrance Jack T. P. Connor, E. B. Fowler, John Connor."

Business Men's Outing.

The annual outing of the business men of the city, will take place this (Wednesday) afternoon, to Gore's Landing, per steamer Stoney Lake. Any business or professional man who has not received an invitation or a ticket can procure them from the committee at the boat, as all the leading business men as well as the professional men are invited. Boat leaves Wolfe street wharf at 1.30 and Street Railway wharf at 2 p. m.

A Stolen Horse.

Lindsay Post:—On Friday a stranger hired a horse from Mr. J. Hill, of Bobcaygeon, for the purpose, as he said, of driving to Dunsford. He secured the animal, but drove on to Lindsay, and sold the horse and buggy and harness to Mr. Geo. McGahey, Liveryman. Saturday morning Mr. T. J. Spratt bought the outfit from Mr. McGahey, and this morning Mr. Hill came up from Bobcaygeon and took possession of the outfit. Chief Chilton was given the facts this afternoon and he immediately got busy. He has secured a description of the slick individual, and will do his utmost to locate him.

"Blue Bells of Scotland."

All Scots who are interested in the social to be held next month, are invited to a meeting to be held to-morrow (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock, in the School Room of Knox Church.

Found Hostess Ill.

Two young ladies, graduate nurses, Syracuse, N.Y., had planned to spend their holidays with Miss Annie Brooks, also a trained nurse, at the cottage of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brooks, Chemong Park. They arrived on Monday evening and were shocked to find Miss Brooks ill with typhoid fever, contracted while on professional duty at Lakefield. They at once volunteered to assist in caring for the patient. Although the hospitality of the cottage has been extended to them, the unexpected illness of their friend has put a damper on their pleasure.

The Game of the Season.

The Times is requested to state that a game of baseball at the business Men's Outing this afternoon will be one of the features of the occasion. Mr. Chris. Graham has had a selected team of business men in training for some months, and is ready to play all comers for money or marbles. Mr. Graham's team is composed of dark horses, without a "kicker" in the bunch. As a matter of precaution, however, the management will provide a squad of able-bodied policemen, whose duty it will be to prevent the Umpire taking to the tall timbers at the conclusion of the game. They will also have an eye on the treasurer to see that he does not make off with the gate receipts. As a still further precaution the committee has hired a couple of specialists to chew the rag, in order to afford more time to the players to engage solely in their avocation of ball playing.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams came down from Burleigh yesterday on business.

Mrs. J. Merifield, of Cannington, is visiting her son, Mr. Russell S. Merifield, of the G.T.R. station.

Mr. and Mrs. George Claybourne, of Toronto, are the guests of Mrs. J. J. Howden.

Mr. Hugh Grady, manager of the Toronto Cotdage Works, is spending a couple of weeks at Jubilee Point.

Lindsay Post:—Mr. Harry Foote, of Peterboro, an old curler was in town Friday for a few hours.

Mrs. Florence Armstrong, Rochester, N. Y., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hunter, 467 Water street.

Mrs. W. H. Robertson, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, has returned home.

Mr. W. H. McClelland, Cleveland, Ohio, son of Mr. John McClelland, of this city, is the guest of his brother, Mr. C. S. McClelland.

LAWN BOWLING.

End of the Tournament.

The big bowling tournament was finished yesterday morning about noon. The affair was a great success from start to finish. One of the results of the tournament was the formation of a Central Ontario Bowling Association, with the following officers:

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.

President—T. Brightman.

Vice-Presidents—Mr. Lyle, Bowmanville; Mr. Allen, Cobourg; Mr. D. H. Hall, Oshawa.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. J. H. Renwick.

Executive Committee—Mr. R. B. Rice; Toronto; J. M. McMurty, Bowmanville; S. Paxton, Whitby, H. B. Rosevear, Port Hope and T. Burk, Lindsay.

The prizes including the elegant trophy presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton, were presented to the successful rinks yesterday by President Brightman, assisted by Mr. D. H. Moore. Lack of space forbids our publishing the score. The Oshawa rink carried off the trophy, and the Bowmanville rink won the second prize.

Toronto won from Newark.

Final Work-Out.

The final work-out of the C.G.E. football team will be held this evening, in preparation for the coming game with the Barracas. A full turnout is expected.

TO LIGHT THE CANAL.

Proposal Made to Buoy and Light Treat Waterway.

Some time ago an engineer from the Department of Marine and Fisheries took a trip over the Trent Canal, and was greatly pleased with the waterway. At the suggestion of Hon. J. R. Stratton he visited and carefully inspected the route between Peterborough and Lake Simcoe, with a view to having the water course properly buoyed and lighted.

In his report to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the engineer recommended that the work be done, and this recommendation will be carried into effect without delay. Thus we are to have a modern waterway from end to end, which can be navigated at night as well as in daylight.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Samuel McIlroy.

There passed away on Tuesday morning last at the family residence, 128 James street, Ann Campbell, the wife of Mr. Samuel McIlroy, aged 76 years. The deceased had been in poor health for some time, and her demise was therefore not unexpected.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning to the G.T.R. station, thence to Port Hope cemetery.

DON'T WEAR OLD-APPEARING GLASSES

Why have glasses that are AWKWARD TO WEAR and that give an UNNECESSARILY "OLD APPEARANCE"? WHY DUCK AND PEER OVER YOUR READING GLASSES to see objects at a distance? Why wear TWO PAIR of glasses, one for distance, and the other for reading? Why wear CONSPICUOUS PASTED WAFERS CEMENTED to your distance lenses. When it is not necessary? Our Kryptok lenses avoid all these difficulties and are pleasing the wearers.

VOL XXXIV NO. 183 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY AUGUST 10 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SHOT IN HEAD THREE TIMES BY DESPERATE BURGLARS

ASSAILANTS OF CHAS. THOMBS FOUGHT VICIOUS REVOLVER BATTLE WITH HIM IN HIS DARK ROOM.

Robbers Shot at Woman While Making Their Escape—Victim Was Beaten Badly With Revolver Butt Before He Was Shot — Bullets Grazed His Head.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—A thrilling revolver fight in the darkness of the early morning hours in which Chas. Thombs a well known west end druggist was wounded three times, and an attempt made to murder Mrs. George Reynolds, a neighbor, occurred on Roncesvalles avenue at 1.20 o'clock when two masked men attempted to burgalize Thombs' apartments at No. 297.

The shooting created a profound sensation in the neighborhood, and the last shots of the fight were fired while the neighbors were rushing to the house, shouting for the police. As the two desperate men made their escape they were forced to rush through the street with drawn revolvers, and threatened to kill any person who barred their path.

ALL IN DARKNESS.

The whole of the headquarters' detective staff is searching for the robbers. So far their efforts are vain, however. The details which can be gleaned are but meagre, and inaccurate. At the conclusion of the battle, Thombs fell in a dead faint from loss of blood and injuries, and his memory is faulty and indistinct.

His story, however, tells of an unequal revolver battle with the two crooks in his bedroom, in which all participants were in darkness and the only guides to their presence were the sound of their movements and the flash of revolvers.

CLUBBED HIM FIRST.

It appears that when the robbers first entered his room they attempted to club him into insensibility with the butts of their guns. Thombs was knocked off the bed onto the floo was knocked off the bed onto the floor and a chair thrown over him.

He was not beaten unconscious, however, and a few minutes later revived. He heard the men rummaging his room and saw the flash of their electric lamps. He reached up to his pillow and secured his revolver, which was concealed there.

RETURNED SHOTS.

With this he then commenced firing at the burglars. They immediately returned his shots, and one of their bullets ploughed his scalp. Although dizzy, Thombs crawled around his bed and shot at another. In return his head was again wounded, while the next shot which was fired from behind grazed his head just above the ear.

The two then rushed the druggist, and one fired straight at his face. Thombs quickly put up his left hand and the bullet entered his wrist, just above the hand. This act undoubtedly saved his life.

QUEBEC EXCITED OVER POSSIBLE CLASH BETWEEN LEMIEUX AND BOURASSA

Montreal, Aug. 9.—The sensation of the day in the Nationalist camp is the announcement by Le Canada that the Hon. Rudolph Lemieux had agreed to meet Mr. Bourassa at a joint assembly to be held next Sunday at St. Hyacinthe.

With noses characteristically keen for battle the Nationalists are dancing with joy over the prospect, and with some reason, for if those two gentlemen do come together on the same platform it will be a meeting the memory of which the habitant politician will cherish to hand down to his grandchildren.

For weeks and weeks the cloud have been stirring up lightning in this quarter. Mr. Lemieux has devoted a lot of time to Mr. Bourassa lately and has given him several severe prods. The Nationalist leader kept silent for a long time, till he was finally stung into an article in Le Devoir which set the tongues wagging on the double. Mr. Lemieux' charges were, however, thoroughly provoked, for Le Devoir has devoted even more of its peculiar respects to him than to Mr. Broduer. No word has been received yet from the Minister himself, that he will be present at the St. Hyacinthe meeting beyond the announcement in Le Canada, but that paper usually knows whereof it speaks in matters concerning the French Ministers. It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr. Lemieux will be present. Should he fail now the Nationalists will be neither "to hold nor to bind."

ANOTHER NATIONALIST TO RUN

The announcement that Morin will run against Siguin adds another to the list of Nationalist candidates. He is a lawyer with a good practice, has lived all his life in the riding, but has never hitherto taken any part in politics. Nationalists claim that he will have more than a fighting chance.

But the candidate they are counting on particularly now is the man who was lifted off his feet by what may be called "Bourassitis" on Sundays. Dr. L. P. Normand, of Three Rivers. He is, properly speaking, a Conservative, but announces himself as an independent one, which is to say, a Nationalist. Three Rivers is confidently expected to be the Drummond-Arthabaska of the coming campaign. Hon. Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General, the member for the riding before the dissolution, is certainly going to have to fight hard.

NEVER FORGET THIS!

When packing for the country cottage, don't forget your box of Zam-Buk and your Zam-Buk Soap!

Blisters, sunburn, scratches, insect stings, etc., if not immediately attended to, are likely to spoil your pleasure. Zam-Buk ensures you against trouble from these.

Zam-Buk is antiseptic; kills all poison in wounds, whether from barbed wire fence, or insect sting. Soothes aching feet and blistered hands; heals baby's chafed places; cools those sun-burn patches, and prevents freckles. No mother should be without it. Purely herbal in its composition, Zam-Buk is superior to the ordinary ointments containing animal oils and fats, and mineral coloring matter. All druggists and stores 50c box. Use also Zam-Buk Soap. Best for baby's bath and for tender skin. 25c tablet.

Big Crop Assured.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 9, 1911—Weather in the west continues to be moist and generally cool. The most recent crop report—gathered from all parts of the prairie province—indicates a generally excellent crop, but a lack of hot, clear weather, the most marked characteristic of the west as a rule, but one that has been very little in evidence this year. About Winnipeg, all crops are in splendid condition, market gardens and the hay crop being in especially fine order

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents

NOT ONE DOLLAR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am sure the ratepayers of the city cordially endorse the attitude of The Times in regard to Pigeon Creek bridge. Not one dollar should be given for this purpose. It is not our business to build country bridges. If we start at Pigeon Creek why not continue the good work by granting aid to every bridge in the county (and out of it) that leads to Peterborough.

High Taxes.

A CONSERVATIVE'S OPINION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In this evening's Examiner, in an editorial under the heading of "Don't be Caught by Chaff", it says "Bourassa in Quebec, an ultramontane Catholic is trying to defeat Laurier, because he, Laurier, is not a good Catholic and because he is too British." Did any one ever hear such rot? Laurier not a good Catholic! Does The Examiner think for one moment that any man who calls himself a man would believe stuff like that? Did not Sir Wilfred come home from the North West last summer as fast as steam could bring him in order that he might welcome the Pope's representative to the Eucharistic Congress, and then did not the same Sir Wilfred, although not a good Catholic as The Examiner would have us believe, march as Premier of Canada in the procession with bared head, and did he not allow the Speaker of the House to get into line, also in his robes of office, and did he not also allow a regiment of the King's soldiers to march with fixed bayonets as a guard to that procession? Can the Examiner point to one other country on God's green earth that would have allowed such things to be carried out?

Surely Sir Wilfred is more English than the English themselves, for in England they did not allow them to carry the Host, and here in Canada, a British Dominion, it is allowed and one of their great men, Cardinal Vaughan, was allowed to get up and tell the Protestants all about their wives and children. Had Sir Wilfred not been a good Catholic he would have choked the words of that great man down his throat.

Then The Examiner prates about the Protestant Association! Well, it is high time such a Society was formed, and I for one, hope its aims will be carried out to their full extent.

The Examiner blames the Conservatives with having started the race and creed cry. It is not true, and The Examiner knows it. But in its own way it drags such things in and then, as usual, blames it on the Conservatives. No one wishes less than I to stir up troubles of that kind, but if we are driven to it then we stand ready to defend our rights as true Canadians and Protestants.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

A Conservative, also Protestant.

EAST PETERBOROUGH LIBERALS ORGANIZE

Mr. F. D. Kerr, the Candidate, Is Working Like a Beaver.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, the Liberal candidate in East Peterborough, is not letting the grass grow under his feet in his efforts to secure as large a vote as possible in East Peterborough. He has held organization meetings in many places where he has delivered brief addresses, after which organization work has been effected.

Committee rooms have been secured in Belmont village, Havelock, Warsaw and other places.

Public meetings, in the interest of the Liberal candidate will be addressed by Mr. Kerr and others, at the following places this coming week

Haultain, Monday, August 14th, in the afternoon, and the Town Hall, Apsley, in the evening of the same day.

Tuesday, August 15th, Clydesdale, in the afternoon, and Lasswade in the evening.

NINETY-THREE DROWNED IN STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

Gibraltar, Aug. 9.—The French steamer Emir foundered to-day five miles east of Tarifa, in the Straits of Gibraltar. Ninety three persons were drowned.

The ship sailed from here at three o'clock this morning for a Moroccan port.

TWENTY-SEVEN WERE RESCUED

An hour later in a dense fog, the Emir collided with the British steamer Silverton, bound from Newport, England, for Taranto, Italy.

The crew of the latter rescued 27 of the Emir's crew and passengers. The Silverton later put in here with her starboard bow stove in and her forepeak full of water.

LOST PASSENGERS WERE ALL FRENCH.

The Emir floated only a few minutes after the collision. Sixty nine passengers and twenty-four of the crew went down with the ship.

Twelve of the crew and fifteen passengers were saved. All the passengers were French.

The Emir was a vessel of 1,291 tons and was owned at Marseilles by the Compagnie de Navigation Mixte.

PONTIFF'S CONDITION IS LESS REASSURING

Rome, Aug. 9.—The afternoon's report of the Pope's condition was less reassuring than those of the early morning. His temperature remains about 100 and the heat of the day which reached 95 degrees, exhausts the patient's strength. The most disquieting symptom is the progress of the gout attack, the pains from which have extended from the knee midway to the thigh.

Dr. Potacci and Dr. Marchiafava when they visited the Pontiff together were not satisfied with his state as they found his organism less ready than before to resist the attack. For this and because of the heat they ordered him removed to a larger, airier, and cooler room, regretting that this step had not been taken before when comfortable surroundings might have helped his constitution to throw off the malady.

MUCH RIOTING IN OLD LONDON AND FOOD IS DEAR

BOARD OF TRADE TRIES TO SETTLE DISPUTE—GOVERNMENT GETS WARNING.

30,000 Carters Are Out—New Order Will Increase Number of Strikers to a Hundred Thousand.

London, Aug. 9.—Increasing disorder and progress towards peace were the contrary features of the dock strike to-day. The men of dockland, who already are feeling the pinch of deprivation, have adopted drastic measures to prevent any attempt by non-unionists or clerical staffs to move a wheel, and collisions with the police are frequent and sharp.

At the same time the Board of Trade is gradually composing the differences of employers and employees, and some sectional disputes have now been settled, with every prospect that the demands of other sections will be satisfied before the end of the week, so that all can return to work together. This latter condition is the only one upon which the men will call off the strike.

FIGHT WITH POLICE.

Meanwhile London was practically without vans to-day. Thirty thousand carters quit work this morning, and thousands more planned to join the idle ones before night. All attempts to move wagons loaded with London's supplies of meat, fruit and provisions were stopped by the strikers, in many instances only after a fight with the police. There has been much overturning of vans and destruction of supplies, the women joined the men in preventing a replenishing of the markets, where prices are nearing figures that are prohibitive for all but well-to-do shoppers.

BEEF PRICES AWAY UP.

The fish porters have joined the strike movement, and there was no one to unload the fish trawlers that arrived in the Thames this morning. The wholesale prices of chilled beef have advanced by seven to ten cents a pound since last Friday. The manager of one of the largest houses importing beef says that unless the strike is settled by to-morrow there will be the greatest beef famine that this country has ever known.

At a meeting of the strikers at the Tower Hill this afternoon, Benjamin Tillett, secretary of the Dock, Wharf, Riverside and General Workers' Union of Great Britain, announced that orders had been issued for calling out every man of the port of London.

Referring to Home Secretary Winston Churchill's statement in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the calling out of troops to suppress rioting, Tillett declared that if the Government used soldiers, the dock men would kill the Government as effectually as they intended to paralize the trade of the port of London. The new order will increase the total strikers to 100,000.

26 EXECUTED WERE IN A REPUBLICAN RIOT

Madrid, Aug. 9.—The Spanish Government affirms in explanation of the summary court-martial and execution of twenty-six men of the battleship Numancia, who mutinied while the vessel was at Tangier on Saturday, that the revolt was a republican plot in which about one hundred sailors were implicated.

The Republicans appear especially active throughout the country and the Government is correspondingly on the alert.

SHOT DAUGHTER THEN SUICIDED

Came to Where She Was Employed and Said He "Had Some Shooting to Do."

New York, Aug. 9.—John Brewl, an unemployed gardener, called last night on his daughter, Adeline, at the house where she is employed as a domestic, announced that he had a "little shooting to do," and emptied the contents of a 22-calibre revolver into the girl's body. She fell, mortally wounded, and Brewl, pursued by persons who heard the shots, reloaded the weapon, and ended his own career with a bullet through the head.

At the hospital, where physicians fear the girl will not live, Adeline said that she and her father had quarrelled frequently because he objected to her sweetheart. She said she could ascribe his act to no other cause.

Couldn't Get Strong

Digestive and Liver Troubles Cured.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. La Pierre, wife of a well-known resident of Labemiene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow blood rich and red I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels — made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. They do good to parts in ways I need not mention in this letter, but I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used at regular intervals by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorated a woman like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

TWO CHILDREN WERE DROWNED

Wealthy Ohio Man Loses His Youngsters by Drowning in Muskoka.

Beaumaris, Muskoka, Aug. 9.—While paddling in the water immediately in front of their father's summer cottage here yesterday, Samuel and Elizabeth Willock, aged 7 and 5 respectively, walked beyond their depth and were drowned.

The children were the only son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Willock, of Defiance Ohio, who for several years have spent the summer at Beaumaris. Mr. Willock is a very wealthy manufacturer, and is head of the Willock Barrel Company.

HotSun is West, Harvest General In About Ten Days.

SENTENCED TO CHAIN GANG

Iola, Kas., Aug. 9.—Iola city officials, with the exception of Municipal Judge Smeltzer, are up in arms because a woman has been sentenced to don a pair of bloomers and join the street gang from the city jail. Judge Smeltzer yesterday sentenced Mrs. Ella Reese to the street gang and ordered that city officials provide her with the bloomers.

Street Commissioner Glynn refused to have a woman in the chain gang.

Mrs. Reese did not go to work, breaking rock or sweeping the streets to-day because the bloomers had not been provided, and the officials say they will not allow the woman to carry out the sentence imposed upon her.

A SAD ENDING OF A TORONTO CAMPING PARTY

A party consisting of Mr. James Anderson, of Toronto, and his five brothers, went to Stoney Lake, as was their custom for several years, to camp. At Mount Julian Mr. Anderson suffered an attack of appendicitis, and on July 28th was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where an operation was performed. He was doing nicely until Tuesday, when complications arose and he gradually sank until he passed away yesterday morning.

Deceased was a leading business man in Toronto. He was well known and highly respected.

Besides his five brothers—Messrs. Peter and Donald, of Oakwood; Dr. A. Anderson and Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. Alex Amber Anderson, of Toronto, his wife, two sons and four daughters, survive him.

HOT STUFF FROM THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

A despatch from London, Eng., in a secular daily, dated the 16th inst., says: "Father Bernard Vaughan, the noted Jesuit, is completing arrangements for a tour of the United States. He will sail at the end of September, and will remain until after Lent. He will probably begin speaking at San Francisco and will work east."

Miss Knox-Little, daughter of Rev. Canon W. J. Knox-Little of Worcester (England) Cathedral, was received into the Catholic Church on June 10 by Rev. Father Maturin.

Even the clerical small-fry are trying to get into the "Ne Temere" rumpus. The latest to be heard from is the Reverend Mr. Margett (not Maggott), of Toronto. It was his first chance to get into the spotlight and, judging from his maiden effort, it will be his last.

Rev. Francis M. McFetrich, formerly assistant of St. Simon's Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, who a year ago was ordained a priest at Rochester, N. Y., died there in St. Bernard's Seminary suddenly, June 28th.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE VANISHING FORESTS

Timber Resources of the United States Showing Signs of Exhaustion.

Commissioners and commissions have been appointed in various parts of the United States to make reports on what should and could be done to stem the destruction and prepare for the restoration of timber supplies, but wherever actually a response to the recommendations was secured the means employed were too feeble to prevent the former and too inefficient to secure adequate results in the latter direction. For instance, the latest State to move in the matter of taking care of its important timber interest, Alabama (whose annual lumber output is valued at $5,000,000), appropriates $500 for carrying out the provisions of the act providing a commission with various duties. The great State of Minnesota whose forest products in one year approach in value $45,000,000, devotes less than $12,000 to its forest interests, and $20,000 on prairie planting. The State of Maine, which still cuts around one billion feet, and is indebted to the forest for a product of $18,000,000 in value, keeps within the modest sum of $25,000 to pay for the protection against fire and the support of a commissioner. Examples of such picayune and inadequate measures are found in many other States.

The only two States which have not hesitated to spend money for forestry purposes are New York and Pennsylvania. The former, in purchasing forest lands for a preserve which now comprises about one and a half million acres only, has expended millions of dollars, and is annually appropriating money for further purchase, besides liberal provision for its Forest, Fish and Game Commission. But, alas! the policy of forest reservation which had begun on economic grounds, has degenerated into providing a pleasure ground—a park—for the wealthy, and there is little consideration to economic forest questions given by the State or the Commission.

Pennsylvania is the only State which can be said to have started on a true policy of recuperation, buying up waste lands, protecting them, and in a small way beginning to reforest them, an appropriation of about $500,000 being at the disposal of the Forest Commission.

NEED OF THE HOUR.

Major George Washington Stephens Talks on Canadian Transportation.

Not long ago Major Stephens, the President of the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, delivered a masterly address before the Empire Club of Toronto on the development of the St Lawrence route. "In the possession of this great national asset, the St. Lawrence waterway," said Mr. Stephens, "into which has gone the genius, the courage and the money of the Canadian people, Canada unquestionably has within her midst the cheapest and most efficient national trade route on the Continent.

"The St. Lawrence River to-day carries to and from the port of Montreal one-third of the country's national trade.

"In this enterprise there are just 6,000,000 Canadian shareholders, all equally interested.

"At her present rate of increase Canada will, during the twentieth century, contribute to the Empire a population exceeding that now occupying the British Isles, and will produce from one-quarter of her available areas in the West more wheat than now comprises the total wheat crop of the United States.

"There are two methods of providing for the handling of this new business, not to mention the concurrent industrial production of the country: First, by increasing transportation and terminal facilities on Canadian soil; second, by allowing business to be taken care of by transportation routes and sea terminals not within the limits of this Dominion.

"I like to regard this system extending from Fort William to the sea, a distance of 2,500 miles, as a great national undertaking, into which are going the money, the genius and the patriotism of the Canadian people, and out of which are coming year by year privileges and powers to the transportation interests of Canada, instead of diversity of control and authority."

Unappreciated Sympathy.

The Soda-fountain clerk was engaged in vigorously shaking up a chocolate and egg, says a writer in the Bellman, when suddenly the glass broke in his hands, and the ensuing deluge made him look like a human eclair. The horrified customer leaned over the counter and tried to be sympathetic. Not knowing exactly what to say, he finally burted out ,consolingly:

"Oh-er-too bad! Did the glass break?"

Dripping from head to foot, the clerk looked at him witheringly.

"Did the glass break?" he repeated. 'Did the glass break?' And then with freezing sarcasm, "Oh, no, not at all! You just happened to stop in while I was taking my morning shower."

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."

"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.

"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the first 15 I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been 39 years in Parliament. He first entered the Quebec Legislature in 1871, being returned from the constituency of Arthabasca. He was there re-elected in 1874. Three years later he entered the Cabinet, with the Portfolio of Inland Revenue, but was defeated by a small majority, upon presenting himself for re-election. Quebec East then returned him. This constituency has been Sir Wilfrid's ever since.

Upon the successive retirements of Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Edward Blake, in 1887, our present Premier, became leader of the Liberal and then Opposition Party. When it came into power in 1896, he naturally became Prime Minister, which position he has so honorably held for such a long period.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was born on Nov. 20 at St. Lin in the county of Assomption. Here his father practiced his profession of land surveyor. His mother's maiden name was Marcelle Martineau. Sir Wilfrid being the only child. She died soon after his birth. In 1868 the Premier was married to Miss Zoe Lafontaine of Montreal.

As a man is the product of his education, let us consider what has aided in producing Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The motherless boy attended school in his native parish till the age of twelve. He was then sent to the Protestant School at New Glasgow for a year. Here he imbibed the first draughts of his splendid broadmindedness. From this school he went to L'Assomption College, remaining seven years. In 1861 he matriculated into McGill and graduated in law, being the valedictorian of his class.

No man in Canadian public life has received more attention at the hands of political calumniators. In forty years, however, no opponent has been so base as to utter a slander which touched his personal honor, the purity of his private life, or the righteousness of his character.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

CANADIANS AND THE STAGE.

Since the Governor-General instituted dramatic and musical competitions in this country, culture of the two great arts has made great strides and there is no doubt but that in the near future stars will arise to do credit to Canada, but our great actress, Margaret Anglin, was born before the days of inducement. This great exponent of the drama was born in that centre of political strife—the House of Commons—when her father was speaker in 1876. After a good education in Toronto and Montreal she entered the School of Dramatic Acting, of New York, making her professional debut at the early age of eighteen. Since then she has had many triumphs taking leading parts with E. H. Southern, Richard Mansfield and Henry Miller.

MISS MARGARET ANGLIN.

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY, Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.
T. E. BRADBURN, Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.
ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN, New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.
SYDNEY BERNHEIM, New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.
JACOB RAPOPORT, New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.
HAMILTON KILGOUR, New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.
WARREN N. AKERS, Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgment on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe the Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

A CAUCASIAN MARRIAGE.

A Piece of Sugar Put to Lips of Bride to Sweeten Tongue.

In the Caucasus the marriage ceremonies everywhere are of the greatest extravagance in regard to length and the amount of feasting. In Mingrelia large tents are erected for the wedding guests, and the smallest number invited comes to two or three hundred. An interesting and pretty ceremony is the going forth of the bridegroom's mother to meet the bride, to whose lips she puts a piece of sugar, wishing her happiness and joy, and hoping that her tongue may always keep the sweetness of sugar. In the marriage procession all the goods and wealth of the family make an appearance. An elderly lady, generally the bride's nurse, plays an important part throughout the ceremonies. She sits by the bride, who neither laughs nor eats during all the merriment and feasting. A meal is served in the nuptial chamber, to which the matron conducts the bride. The bridegroom is refused admission until he buys his entry from the matron. This old lady remains a week in the house, and when she departs the bride breaks into loud lamentations. For a year the young couple are full of respect and attention for their parents, never sitting down in their presence and submitting to their wishes in everything.

REMOVAL OF BIRTHMARKS.

Carbonic Acid Snow Treatment Proving Generally Successful.

In less than a year the carbonic acid snow treatment for birthmarks, warts, and rodent ulcer, first introduced at Charing Cross Hospital, has gained an accepted place in modern therapeutics.

The early experiments with the new remedy, described in these columns last June, have been so successful in suitable cases that now practically every hospital in the country, as well as thousands of general practitioners and skin specialists, is making use of the new medicament.

The snow is prepared by allowing a thin spray of carbonic acid gas, liquefied under pressure, to escape into a felt covering slipped over the tap of the iron cylinder containing the gas. The gas is deposited on the felt as a very fine powdered snow at a temperature of about 100 degrees below zero. The snow is then solidified into an icy pencil by being tightly packed into a hard rubber cylinder with a plunger.

Treatment consists of pressing this intensely cold pencil of carbonic acid ice for a few seconds against the birthmark, wart or rodent ulcer to be removed. The resulting intense cold freezes the part, setting up severe local inflammation, which leads to a breaking down and absorption of the frozen tissues. There is very little pain and the wound heals naturally in a few days, leaving the skin practically normal.

RUSSIAN GRAIN KING.

Was Queer Character, But His Business Integrity Was High.

Of a peculiar stamp was the man of millions, Nicholas Boukhroff, the Russian grain king, who recently died. In his externals he was a mujik merchant. He wore the top boots, the trader's kaftan—coat and overcoat in one, fitting close up to the neck and reaching to the knees—and the embroidered cotton shirt without starched collar, which are the historic garb of the Volga traders, men who carry as much as 50,000 rubles in notes stuck in the leg of a boot and who distrust the documentary machinery of credit. Boukhroff's great fortune compelled him to handle investments and bank paper, but he was in sympathy with the old simple ways. He was in fact an Old Believer and a devout churchgoer who lived his religion.

In his housekeeping he lived on much the same scale as an ordinary hand worker in comfortable employment. He gave away millions of rubles in charity, but was close fisted in personal outlays. The porters at Nijnj-Novgorod and elsewhere avoided him when they saw him step from a train. He would never pay them more than 10 cents for carrying his baggage. When he met great personages he "thoued" them, as he did everybody else, keeping to the Old Believer, Quakerlike form of address. His integrity in business was of the highest.

He would lecture men in his employment if they spent five kopeks needlessly. His patriarchial ways had sometimes a welcome side. He exacted unquestioning obedience to his instructions; but every now and then a man who served him well for some years would receive a draft for 25,000 or 50,000 rubles with no further remark than:

"Thou shalt now be a Man, too. I know that thou wilt make good use of the money."

Canada Buys a Holman Hunt.

The national art gallery at Ottawa has been enriched by a painting by Holman Hunt, of the British Academy. The painting is a portrait of Henry Wentworth Monk, who was born in the Ottawa Valley and who was known as "The Apostle of Peace." He was an intimate friend of the artist, who painted the picture while with Monk in Palestine. The painting was secured from Mrs. Holman Hunt at a moderate price.

"Very clever, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"I'm told that his three older brothers are mentally weak."

"Yes, he's the original sane fourth."

"Shoots Wife Before Children," says a newspaper headline. That's a matter of precedence.

Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or SubAgency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-emnt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Although, no doubt, every railway company would gladly convey His Majesty and the Queen free of charge, our rulers pay exactly the same price as anybody else for a special train, in addition to the first-class fare of every passenger by whom they may be accompanied in their respective suites.

Mr. Grahame-White has undertaken to deliver cinematograph films of the Coronation by aeroplane to Birmingham, Bristol and Rugby. Immediately the pictures have been taken they will be developed and placed upon aeroplanes at Hendon, whence they will be transported by air to other destination.

CARUSO'S COLD COSTS DEAR.

It is announced that Signor Caruso will shortly leave for Italy, where he hopes to benefit by a complete rest and change of air, the physicians having forbidden him to sing this season. The loss sustained by the great tenor through what was in the first place regarded as an ordinary slight cold is estimated at about $16,000, as he has been compelled to refrain from singing for a period of twelve weeks.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for the Erection of Wireless Telegraph Station," at Tobermory, Ontario, will be received at this office until noon, on July Twenty-ninth 1911,

Plans, specification and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on and after July 10th instant, at the office of the Superintendent of Wireless Telegraphs, Department of the Naval Service, Ottawa, the Office of the Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Parry Sound Ontario, or the Office of the Superintending Engineer of Sault Ste. Marie Canal, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., or the offices of the Postmaster at Owen Sound, Ont., or the Postmaster at Tobermory, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of the Naval Service, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
G. J. DESBARATS,
Deputy Minister.

FAINTS AT BLACK HAND NOTE.

Woman Prostrated When Threat Is Made to Kidnap Her Daughter Unless $10,000 Is Paid.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 9.—Mrs. S. D. Heckman, wife of a merchant, is prostrated with fright, following the receipt of a "Black Hand" letter, threatening to kidnap her 18-year-old daughter, unless $10,000 is placed at a designated spot within the next three days.

Mr. Heckman told the police that his wife had noticed the house being watched for several days, and that on two occasions their daughter Beatrice had been followed by a stranger.

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realised within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

The Morning Times

THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 1911

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Mr. Fred Dover, East City, Peterborough, was in Apsley a few days on business.

Mr. Lillico, local agent for the Peter Hamilton Co., was in this district setting up a binder and other machines of that company's manufacture.

J. G. Hardill, representing T. Kinnear & Co., made his regular monthly call on the Apsley merchants, and secured orders from all of them. John is a hustler and don't lose much time on his trips.

Mr. Hales is now established in the store lately occupied by T. G. Eastland and with a new stock of goods is ready for business. He has also been appointed Crown land agent, T. G. Eastland having resigned.

Mrs. J. Weir and Miss Dora E. Weir of Lasswade, are visiting Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Apsley.

Mrs. H. Kent and family, who have been spending some weeks with her parents at the Lodge, Loon Lake, have returned to Montreal.

Mr. Charles Harrison of the Shovel Works, Peterborough, and Mr. Alfred G. Airriess, East City, are visiting friends in Apsley and enjoying long tramps through the country.

Miss Myrtle Windsor, is visiting her friend Miss Flora Eastland at the Lodge, Loon Lake.

F. Cory, representing Fotheringham & Workman, hardware, Montreal, made his quarterly call on the Apsley merchants and gathered in several good orders for his firm.

Lately there has been a goodly number of strangers passing through Apsley, and no doubt they have made some uncomplimentary remarks on the dilapidated condition of the fence surrounding the Town Hall yard and the state of the sidewalk which is, on a dark night, a menace to life and limb, being full of holes where planks have rotted out, leaving spaces of sometimes 2 ft. Both the fence and walk are a disgrace to our village, which otherwise is improving by the addition of some fine buildings this summer.

Harry takes regular trips in the new telephone line towards Loon Lake and looks after Tom's phone.

Miss Mattie and Miss Annie Bullbrid visited friends in Peterborough last week, returning Saturday evening.

The Misses Hindley of Toronto, are spending their holidays with their parents in Burleigh. Joseph Hindley is also home from Porcupine and tells of his experience in the fire. He had a rather close call.

The Misses Stern of Buffalo, are spending their holidays at the home of their sister, Mrs. Andrew Wilson Chandos.

Miss Katie Simpson and Miss Hattie Eastland who have been spending some weeks at the former's cottage, Stoney Lake, and expect to have a good restful time.

Mr. Robert Gallagher has purchased a McCormick binder from Jas. McIlvena, local agent here.

We are having a dry spell in Apsley but there has been some heavy rain storms north and east. It was 92 in the shade Sunday and still very hot.

The huckleberry harvest is still on and large quantities are being gathered yet.

Mr. Duncan Brown has been appointed postmaster. Mr. T. G. Eastland, who has held the office for over 30 years, having resigned.

All the members of the Wisdom Club were present at the meeting on Saturday night, which was held in their new quarters. Anvil Jim in the chair. After Si took a fresh chew the meeting was called to order and preparations made for initiation. A new goat having been procured from Johnny Fitz and placed in the coal bin, proceedings commenced. The medico could not attend, having to wait at his phone to get connection with Toronto, after the others got through with the line down the road. Inspector Ned was brought up before the High Muck a Muck and put through the 1st and 2nd degrees, passing with honors. He was then blindfolded for the 3rd and the goat was let out of the coal bin, but unfortunately mistook Uncle Billy for the candidate and butted him into slack tub. After pulling him out, and rubbing him down with coal sacks, order was restored and the proceedings went on. Ned was then given the 3rd degree and feels sure he got it, in fact when he sits down thinks he got the 4th, 5th and 6th degrees all at once. He was then instructed with the signs and passwords, getting on nicely until he struck on one, Guewaygootrouxbuckfillen, when he dislocated his jaw and loosened three teeth. The Dr. thinks with care he may be able to attend the next meeting in September. The following officers were then elected :—President, Anvil Jim ; Vice, Benjamin F. ; Secretary, Sandy Mc. ; Treasurer, Si Kanute ; Lecturer, Fatty William ; Inside Guard, Duncan Bee ; Outside Guard, Uncle Billy ; Director of Ceremonies, Inspector Ned. Dues were then collected and put on ice, after which the President gave a short address on the evils of staying out late at night, except when attending at the Hall of Wisdom, expressed his opinion on cows that will pick a look and get into his vegetable garden, and regretted Jumbo was not present, but hoped he would have a good time at the Lodge, Loon Lake, and catch a few eels. He then gave the new candidate some good sound advice and requested the members to keep the middle of the road and go quietly home. Singing the closing ode woke up Uncle Billy in time to find his hat before closing.

BOILER EXPLODED.

Rotterdam, Aug. 9.—A boiler on the lighter steamer Gutenberg exploded today with fatal results. Two sailors were killed, the captain and several passengers were seriously injured and three other persons are missing, and it is supposed that they were blown overboard. The funnel and portions of the boiler were hurled through the walls of a building on shore.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hecate River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hecate River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300 ; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hecate River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 62 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tons of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Uxbridge, Ontario," will be received at this office until 4 p. m. on Monday, August 21, 1911, for the erection of a Public Building at Uxbridge.

Plans, specification and forms of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, clerk of works, postal station F, Yonge street, Toronto, Ont., and at the post office at Uxbridge.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

THE SILKWORM.

Only Three Insects Used For Utilitarian Purposes.

Domestication of insects for utilitarian purposes is confined to very few species, the three most important, if not the only three, being the bee, the silkworm, and the cochineal bug, all very highly profitable under suitable conditions. The mulberry is the natural food of the silkworm, and on that diet they produce a greater and better quality of silk. During the five weeks of their existence in a caterpillar stage they feed prodigiously and grow enormously, only pausing now and then, when their increase has been too great for their skins; a short period, during which they look very uncomfortable and ill at ease, until they burst their heads through their outer covering and proceed to walk out of it to a renewed vigor and an increased appetite. At the end of five weeks they are fully grown, and retire to a corner with a sulky indifference to the presence of fresh leaves, and there they spin a cocoon, which consists of two long threads of yellow silk, from the glands that open on the under-lip. This is the staple article of manufacture that has played so important a part in the world's history of commerce.

A native of China, the silkworm was cultivated in that country from very remote periods, the first allusion to it dating back in Chinese records to 2640 B. C. From China the culture of this insect spread throughout Southern Asia and was eventually introduced into Europe about 550 A.D., it is supposed, by the Emperor Justinian, who sent two Persian monks on a special mission to China to obtain a supply of eggs. They succeeded apparently in their mission and brought back a supply concealed in bamboos. The introduction of the silkworm played an extremely important part in the development of the trade of Europe —, in Italy specially, which devoted itself to the production of the raw material which fed the silk weavers of France and then of England when numbers were obliged to flee their native country on account of religious persecution. In 1902 the yield of raw silk in Italy was 522,718 cwt., worth nearly 12¼ million pounds sterling; while France produces over one million pounds' worth sterling. The commercial value of the silkworm, too, does not stop at the silk it produces, for "cat-gut" is also made from treating the secretion of the silk glands, which are taken from the caterpillar for this purpose. Silk production is not only confined to the one species (Bombyx mori) that is exclusively known to us in Europe, but is also produced by an oak-feeding caterpillar in China known scientifically as "Saturnia Pernyi" which produces a coarser and stronger silk while in Japan an allied species is cultivated. "Saturnia yama-mai."

THE INTERFERENCE CONTROVERSY IN WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

"Various attempts were made in the early stages of the invention to focus the waves in the desired direction, or at least to prevent their transmission in other directions, but without practical success. Quite recently an Italian scientist, Professor Artom, has suggested that the result aimed at may in some measure be achieved by 'polarising' the waves — i. e., altering their form in such a way that they propagate themselves to a greater distance in certain directions than in others. It is too soon, however, to say how far this suggestion will prove practicable.

"In the meantime the attention of inventors has been directed towards preventing interference (tho not altogether of ensuring secrecy) by methods of 'syntony.'... When a sounding-fork vibrates near a piano, the note emitted by the fork is also emitted by the piano — in other words, the waves set up in the air by the fork communicate themselves to that particular string which vibrates with the same frequency. But not to this string alone: other strings — the octaves, the fifths, the fourths, and so on — vibrate with less intensity in harmony with the fundamental tone, thus giving rise to the 'overtones' so well known in musical theory. And if a loud enough noise be made, the strings of the piano will undergo a general disturbance. Just in the same way, the waves generated by a Hertz 'oscillator' have a definite frequency or wave-length, and communicate themselves more readily to receiving apparatus 'tuned' in unison with them than to other receivers. The frequency in both transmitter and receiver depends upon such matters as the length of the aerial lines, the extent of the plates or 'capacities' attached to them, and so forth. In several systems of wireless telegraphy a considerable degree of success has been attained in syntonising methods."

COIN-COUNTING MACHINE

An ingenious inventor has devised a machine which will count any type of coin — gold, silver or copper — and will, moreover, wrap up the same with perfect accuracy and security with the speed of five or six cashiers. It is only about the size of a typewriter, and is driven by a small electric motor. The coins are fed into a chute, and at the opposite end resolve themselves into a continuous 'edgewise line or roll, each coin as it falls into line recording the fact upon a dial. When the fiftieth coin has been registered the whole roll is automatically gripped, carried under a roll of paper, and strongly wrapped up, with the edges beaded over. When discharged inthe wrapper, the complete roll resembles a cartridge, and falls into a box where, if desired, the name and address of the firm is imprinted upon the outside of the wrapper. Owing to the novel means of wrapping, it is impossible for a single coin to be extracted from a roll without evidence of the fact being betrayed by injury to the packing.

COQUITLAM IS BOOMING

CITY AND SUBURBS ARE HIVES OF BUILDING ACTIVITY.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 7. — Although the figures given out by the municipal council of Coquitlam, and the officials of the Canadian Pacific railway name the sum to be expended by the company at that place as $250,000, it is said on good authority that the railroad intends to spend ten or twenty times that amount, and perhaps more in the course of the next four or five years in making Coquitlam the largest and best equipped operating terminal in the country.

The railroad now has more than $1,000,000 invested in property at Coquitlam. Its holdings form a strip of land two miles long and half a mile wide between the Coquitlam and the Pitt rivers. The eastern part of this strip widens out into a mile as it approaches the Pitt river, giving the corporation an immense strip of waterfront, and for the most part obvious reasons the railroad authorities do not care to have their exact plans become public at the present time, and so are quite conservative in the statements of their intentions.

It is certain, however, and is vouched for by men who are in a position to know whereof they speak, that the plans of the company call for the expenditure of millions instead of thousands at Coquitlam.

What Port Mann is to be to the Canadian Northern, Coquitlam will be to the Canadian Pacific. The plans are much more extensive and carry with them the expenditure of far greater sums. The Canadian Pacific has not sufficient room in Vancouver for the vast yards and shops which the company feels it needs. There is no more property to be had in this city. Hence the railroad will make of Coquitlam its great operating terminal.

The company plans to put in 180 miles of sidetracks at Coquitlam, besides repair shops, bunkers and round-houses. These will be located on both sides of the main line between the Coquitlam and the Pitt rivers. Besides this extensive maintenance equipment, the Canadian Pacific intends, it is said, to make Coquitlam a shipping point for wheat of the prairie provinces.

HOW MONEY WILL BE SPENT.

The present plans of the railroad are to spend $250,000 at once. This is the sum mentioned in the report of the arrangement between the municipal council and the railroad representatives, entered into at a meeting last Thursday. The disposition of this can be divided generally into two parts. Fifty thousand dollars is to be spent immediately for the replacing and the rebuilding of the municipal roads which will be vacated because of the occupation of the trackage and the sites for the shops and buildings which are already in the possession of the company.

Of the remaining $200,000, all will be spent in the erection of sidetracks water tanks, coal sheds, bunkers and roundhouses.

BAD FOR BARBERS.

Among the many suggestions made for commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., the quaintest is that now put forward by Captain MacIlwaine, R. N. Captain MacIlwaine's suggestion is that the men of the British Empire, following the example of the late King, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards. Our present King, sharing the views of his father, grows a beard, and makes his staffs do the same. The beard is the exception, not the rule, among men of the present day.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order.

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL XXXIV NO. 183 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY AUGUST 10 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

NOVEL FEATURES AT OTTAWA FAIR

Daily Flights of Curtis Aeroplane and Reproduction of Famous Naval Review as seen at Coronation of King George V.

Big Increases in Prizes

For Live Stock, Poultry and Farm Products.

With further beautified grounds, new and improved buildings, a more expansive array of agricultural and manufacturing exhibits than ever before presented, and the most costly and novel special attractions available, the Central Canada Exhibition of 1911 will be held in Ottawa, from September 8 to 16.

An Extra Day.

In keeping with its growth in other directions the Exhibition will run a day longer, that is, six days instead of five. Heretofore, the Ottawa Fair has nominally been of a week's duration after the two preparatory days, but usually the regular programme was dropped on the final Saturday. On the closing day of the 1911 Fair, not only will every feature of the daily programme be repeated, but there will be special attractions.

A Fair of Magnitude.

To attempt a description of barely the new features of the approaching Central Canada Fair would require too much of the space of the newspaper. The inventions and novelties of the year, new ideas in farming, manufacturing, domestic science, art, education, in fact every department of human activity, will be represented in the spacious pavilions, show rooms and process building of Lansdowne Park. The visitor is very observant, indeed who grasps the magnitude of this vast enterprise.

Thousands in Prize Money.

The fact that $16,000 in regular prize money and over 100 special premiums, many of them gold medals, have been appropriated for encouragement of the agricultural industry, along approved lines, is just ground for making a special appeal to the farming community in regard to participating in the competitions and attending the Ottawa Exhibition. Agriculturists and stock breeders are never so far advanced, but they may learn and acquire enthusiasm in their calling by attention to the instructive features, object lessons and many sections devoted to their interest. Prize winning animals will parade daily before the grand stand, and judging will also be carried on where those interested may observe. Competitions and lessons in butter-making and the establishment of a splendidly equipped cold storage plant for cheese denote the special attention paid to the dairy industry. The scope and importance of the great Fair are best indicated by a perusal of the prize lists which may be obtained on application to Secretary Ed. McMahon, 26 Sparks St., Ottawa. The premiums are the largest ever offered. Last year 90 per cent. of those winning medals, exchangeable for cash, preferred the money. Winners of special prizes will be given similar options this year.

The Wonderful Aeroplane.

The difficulty of securing an aviator, who could give the public a genuine performance, illustrating the wonderful science of navigating the air, has at last been overcome by the Exhibition management and a contract has been made for two daily flights Merok, formerly the famous Dip-of-of a Curtis Aeroplane. Charles Death motor car driver, will make the flights, five miles each, and will probably take a lengthy trip over the surrounding country. The flights will be started in front of the grand stand where a clear space, 500 feet by 50 feet, will be prepared. The aviator will bring two Aeroplanes so as to prevent the exhibitions being interfered with by possible mishaps. On the last day of the Fair, there will be a race between an Aeroplane and an Automobile which will be a thrilling event.

A Coronation Scene.

The night spectacular performance will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Central. Arrangements have been made with the Hand Company of Hamilton for a reproduction of the grand Naval Review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

Midway of Marvels.

The directors have broadened the scheme of entertainment in other branches also. That will be evident from announcements, later of the famous vaudeville stars, acrobatic troupes, etc., that will appear before the grand stand. The inevitable Midway will be more sensational and curious than ever. This rollicking feature will be furnished by the Park Booking Circuit of New York, which means that a gorgeous assemblage of the world's freaks and marvels will be at Ottawa.

Grounds More Ornate.

The crowds at the 1910 Exhibition were astonished at the great changes wrought in the Fair grounds. Unsightly wooden structures were gone, and in their stead was a series of handsome show rooms, offices and restaurants, under the splendid grand stand, with its accommodation above for 12,000 people. The alterations and the fresh green swards, delightful resting places and beautiful drives won the favor of visitors. The decorator and the builder have been busy again and between now and the opening of the Exhibition a vast amount of work will be done in providing comforts for the public and enhancing the beauty of the Park. The Lake, which is not needed owing to the long water front on the canal, has vanished and other reclaiming work has been done along the canal. Five acres have been added to the grounds, bringing the area to nearly 190 acres. The surface of the park has been improved by draining and a splendid large lavatory has been erected. Wires have been buried and telegraph poles and wires which had been obstructions are removed. A great ornamental "White Way" will be installed which will transform the Fair grounds into a blaze of electric glow at night.

Low Railway Rates.

The railways and steamboat comrates in two for the whole week and there will be still further reductions on excursion days.

No person can afford to miss the coming Ottawa Exhibition.

E. McMAHON.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I grew used to look upon all doctors as little better than robbers. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got their New Scientific Treatment. By progress was prompt; they cured during the first month's treatment. I was surprised and delighted. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $25 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

Cold on The Chest

Had Suffered for Weeks—Used Fourteen Different Remedies Without Effect.

Cured Quickly By "NERVILINE."

No stronger proof of the wonderful merit of Nerviline could be produced than the letter of Miss Lucy Mosher, who for years has been a well-known resident of Windsor, N.S.

"I want to add my unsolicited testimonial to the efficacy of your wonderful liniment, "Nerviline." I consider it the best remedy for a cold, sore throat, and whooping tightness in the chest, etc., and can state that for years our home has never been without Nerviline. I had a dreadful attack of cold, that settled on my chest, that fourteen different remedies couldn't break up. I rubbed on Nerviline three times a day, used Nerviline as a gargle, and was completely restored. I have induced dozens of my friends to use Nerviline and they are all delighted with its wonderful power over pain and sickness.

NEW RIFLE RANGE FOR PETERBORO' SOLDIERS

It is with pleasure that we take the following from our contemporary The Examiner : It will be good news to the members of the local garrison and to rifle men, generally, to learn that arrangements are now about completed for the establishment of a modern rifle range near the city. This matter has been under consideration and negotiation for some time. Through the efforts of the officers, assisted by the very active co-operation of the member for Peterborough, Hon J. R. Stratton, the Government has been prepared to proceed with the furnishing of a rifle range and the money has been voted, but the difficulty has been in the securing of a suitable site. A range site has now been selected in Otonabee, within only a short distance of the city. This site has been approved by the officers and the Militia Department. The only thing that now remains to be done is to obtain the approval of the Township of Otonabee to a slight diversion of one of the concession lines. The proposed new rifle range will cover an area of about 700 acres. The Regiment and Mr. Stratton are to be congratulated upon the success of their long and persistent work.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Dr. Frederick's office will be closed on Thursday afternoons and evenings during August.

Lindsay's new chief of police is evidently out after the long green. His first report to the town council was handed in on Tuesday, and showed that the amount of fines collected was $200.00.

HALLS BRIDGE

Owing to the dry weather, the farmers are afraid that the corn crop is a failure.

Harvesting is well under way and the crops are a very good yield.

Mrs. D. W. Blewett spent Friday in Buckhorn.

A large number from here attended the Sunday School Rally at Rockcroft Presbyterian Church on Tuesday afternoon and evening. Rev. Coons and Rev. McCorkindale of Lakefield, were the speakers present.

A few exciting minutes prevailed here on Tuesday. Mr. Ed. Armstrong's team got frightened at the steamers Stoney Lake and Empress with an excursion and after bumping into Mr. Wilson's fence, almost succeeded in crossing the canal when stopped.

The many friends of Mr. W. N. Blewett are sorry to learn that he is ill with muscular rheumatism and hope for a speedy recovery.

A handsome lunge was successfully landed by a lady at the Eastwood House on Friday, which weighed 23 lbs. It is a beauty.

Miss Hall of Peterborough, happened by a slight accident of spraining her wrist and shoulder on Wednesday.

Messrs. Bell and Nichols of Lelwyn, disposed of some 200 porkers on Tuesday. The pigs were in splendid condition and healthy looking.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Female Help Wanted.

TWO YOUNG WOMEN WANTED TO train as nurses. Rhodes Avenue Hospital, Chicago, Ill.

Reporter Wanted.

A bright young man wanted at The Times office, as local reporter. Apply at Business Office.

Store to Rent.

Single store, on George street, to rent. Apply to W. H. Robertson, Times office.

Servant Girl Wanted.

An experienced maid wanted to do general housework. Only three in family. $15.00 per month wages. Apply for address at Times Office.

A Big Excursion.

A large excursion arrived in the city yesterday morning from Frankford and Trenton, many of whom took a trip to the lakes. A baseball game took place at Riverside Park. The excursionists were accompanied by a band, which played through the streets.

A Painful Injury.

Mr. D. Belleghem's private ambulance was called into requisition on Tuesday to convey to Nicholls Hospital, Mr. Wm. Davies, an employee of the Bell Telephone Company, who fell to the ground from a pole on which he was working at Lakefield, dislocating his shoulder. He will be around in a few days.

A New Sect.

Peterborough is rapidly becoming cosmopolitan in religious matters as well as in other respects. The latest advent in the religious field here is Elder J. T. Thompson, of Toronto, who represents the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. He says that this body has no affiliation with "Uta Mormonism," but are strong opponents of all its evils.

One Year in Mercer.

Mrs. Emma Craig appeared at the police court yesterday charged with keeping a house of ill fame. She was found guilty and promptly sentenced to a year in the Mercer Reformatory. The house where she was located is on Hunter street, and was raided at 12.40 yesterday morning. A frequenter who was caught in the police net was allowed to go. Her three children, the eldest of which is fifteen years, become wards of the Children's Aid Society. Mrs. Craig stated that her home was in Bancroft, and that her husband Charles Craig has been dead six years. She begged to be let off and to keep the children, but both the requests were refused.

Business Men's Outing.

The excursion of business men yesterday per steamer Stoney Lake was a great success. There was a large attendance and everything passed off satisfactorily. The party were forced to change their destination from Gore's Landing to Idyl-Wyld, Capt. Harris being unable to provide dinner for so many at this season of the year. A fine dinner was served at the latter place, amid the most pleasing surroundings. Mr. J. D. Armstrong, the Secretary of the Committee, is deserving of unstinted praise for the very great success which attended his efforts.

Boil the Water.

The Times is advised that it would be well if the householders and others would boil the city water. It is a fact that typhoid fever is more or less prevalent in Lakefield and at other points on the river above the city, and while precaution is being taken not to drain into the river, it would be next to impossible to totally prevent it. Under these circumstances it is not unlikely that Peterborough may be visited with an epidemic of typhoid unless precaution is taken by boiling the water.

A Broken Ankle.

Miss Mary E. Clementi, of 359 Stewart street, met with a painful accident yesterday morning on George street. It appears that while approaching the corner of George and Simcoe street, she slipped off the pavement, falling to the sidewalk and was carried into a drug store. Comstock's ambulance was sent for and she was taken home, medical aid being summoned. It was found that she had broken one of the bones of her ankle. She is now progressing favorably.

Who May Register.

Persons who are or will be absent from the city, or who are unable through sickness, to attend for registration, may be registered through someone appearing on his behalf. A student cannot register in the city where he is attending school or college, if he is on the voters' list for his home, or could be put on there. If an applicant is refused registration, he may, within 24 hours, serve the registrar with a notice of appeal. If an applicant is wrongly registered, a notice of appeal may, within 24 hours, be served on the applicant and also on the registrar.

Claims $500 Damages.

A writ for $500 damages was issued by Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon against a local liveryman. It is claimed that the defendant hired a horse to the plaintiff in the case Mr. and Mrs. George Doig—knowing it to be a dangerous animal and liable to run away. The animal bolted, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Doig out, the latter sustaining a couple of broken ribs. Hence the suit.

VOL XXXIV NO. 184 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY AUGUST 11 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

YOUNG MAN MURDERED BY COMPANION AT ORILLIA

Orillia, Aug. 10.—A cold blooded murder was perpetrated in South Orillia about three miles from the town shortly before midnight last night when a young man named Arthur Sheridan stabbed a companion named Ross Ford to death. The murder occurred during a party at George Duff's. Ford had just arrived at the party about 11.30 when Sheridan went out to meet him. The two walked down the road, West street, four or five rods. Sheridan returned to the party in a few minutes and told those outside the house to send for a doctor as he was afraid he had "done for" Ford.

BODY IN A DITCH.

Some of those present went down the road and found him lying face down in the ditch by the roadside. He had a gaping wound just below his throat where he had been stabbed with a knife and only gasped once or twice before he expired. Sheridan remained talking for a few minutes, and then went off.

SHERIDAN LEFT THE SCENE.

No effort was made to apprehend him. He gave no reason for the deed which was evidently premeditated, nor is any known, except that the two had a quarrel at a party at Connor's a few nights before. They had been companions and had been keeping company with sisters and it is supposed that the quarrel had some thing to do with one of the girls. Both young men were about 22 years of age.

The murdered youth was a son of John Ford, the wholesale cattle buyer and butcher, on the fourth concession.

Chief Reid was notified of the murder by telephone from Mr. R. Vanderburg's house and at once went out to the scene accompanied by Constable Wright.

MURDERER ESCAPED.

They spent the greater part of the night searching for the murderer without success. This morning the woods are being scoured by a number of men. They got track of him in the big swamp stretching between the fifth and seventh concessions containing fifty acres of land owned by his family, but so far he has not been caught or seen. Sheridan worked for the neighboring farmers.

It is not thought possible that he can escape. The murder has stirred up the whole community and is the sole topic of discussion this morning.

HOST OF PEERS TO BE APPOINTED IF ANY ARE NEEDED

London, Aug. 10.—When the debate on the Veto Bill was resumed in the House of Lords to-day, Viscount Morley, speaking for the Government, announced that if the measure was defeated the King had assented to the creation of sufficient peers to guard against any possible combination of the different Opposition parties by which the bill might be exposed a second time to defeat.

LANSDOWNE'S POSITION.

In the debate of yesterday Lord Lansdowne, the Opposition leader in the Upper House, complained that it was quite clear that there was not the slightest prospect of the Unionist views obtaining an iota of consideration if they persisted in their address. They had been voted down by the exercise of the prerogative; there was no room for a compromise suggestion, and an appeal to the country had been scouted by the Government. On the circumstances, Lord Lansdowne continued, it was obvious that the Lords no longer were in a position effectually to resist the policy of the Government, and he was convinced that a further insistence of their amendments would not only be unprofitable, but would be detrimental to the public interest.

WASHED THEIR HANDS.

When the Unionists returned to office, the Opposition leader said, they could address themselves to the question of constitutional reform, and it would be awkward to find themselves confronted in the House of Lords by an obstinate Radical majority. In order to avert the creation of peers he and his followers would abstain from further intervention.

They washed their hands of all responsibility for the bill.

Lord Lansdowne pleaded with the Unionists to unite, saying the present debate was only the beginning of a struggle which might last for years and which would need a united party.

LORD HALSBURY IMMOVABLE.

Lord Halsbury, who has been nicknamed "Ajax" by his friends and "Antique Bantam" by his rivals swore fealty to Lord Lansdowne, but the leader's suggestion that the Unionist peers should bury the issue when they saw wrong being done. He would certainly vote against the bill, because he considered it wrong and immoral.

The Archbishop of York, who contended that it would be against the interests of the King, country and Upper House to persist in the amendments, and that he would support the bill.

A RASH JUVENILE QUESTION.

Lord Salisbury asked Viscount Morley if the King gave assurance to the Government that he would create as many peers as they desired, without reference to the number required to pass the Veto Bill. Lord Morley declined to answer "such a very rash juvenile question." Lord Salisbury then said that the creating of new peers was a game both sides could play, and declared he was prepared to vote against the bill, whatever the consequences.

Viscount St. Aldwyn said he and his followers have been asked by the Earl of Halsbury to give such a vote as practically would compel the Sovereign to create any number of peers. He declared he would never give a vote which would place the King in such a cruel position. He also denied he had tried to form a faction of Unionist peers to vote for the bill.

WON'T THROW UP SPONGE.

Lord Willoughby De Broke, the Duke of Bedford, and the Duke of Marlborough supported the "no surrender" policy. Lord De Broke declared that his friends would never throw up the sponge, no matter how many times the bill was sent to the country.

The debate was then adjourned.

JUDGE KNOCKED DOWN ROWDY

Jostling of Women on the Streets an Objectionable Feature of London Celebration.

London, Ont., Aug. 10.—Yesterday was another big one for the Old Boy visitors. A regatta was held down the river, which was attended by several thousand people. The program was an exceptionally fine one and was carried out without a hitch. The police have toned down half a dozen side shows, under the penalty of closing them altogether if the objectionable features were not eliminated. Judge Talbot MacBeth struck and knocked down a man who attempted to tickle the face of his wife with a tickler. The police say the crowd has been overly free, and that a stop will have to be put to much of the goings on, especially in regard to the jostling of ladies on the streets.

"FEEBLE STOMACH"

CAUSES DIGESTIVE WEAKNESS AND POISONS THE ENTIRE SYSTEM.

"No one can have suffered more than I did with stomach trouble," writes Phil. E. Pascalar, well known at St. Andrews Corners. "My doctor told me my indigestion and sleeplessness were due to poisons in the blood. Certainly my condition was desperate, and it seemed from the despondent feelings that swept over me that I would lose my reason. I happened to read about Dr. Hamilton's Pills and bought five boxes from the druggist. Such body-cleansing pills I never used; they were mild and yet quite strong enough to drive all the humors out of the blood. My stomach gained strength rapidly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I improved so much that in eight weeks I could eat and digest all ordinary food. Depression and weariness passed away and I am, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills, enjoying robust good health."

No remedy for biliousness, indigestion, headache, sick stomach or constipation that compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse substitutes. Sold in 25c boxes. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

KILLED AT MOOSEJAW.

Mr. Charles Byers Receives Fatal Injuries in the West.

The sad news was received here yesterday by Mr. W. J. Byers, of Byersville, that his uncle, Mr. Chas. Byers, a former resident of this city, had met with a fatal accident at Moosejaw on Wednesday. The particulars are not yet to hand.

The late Mr. Byers was born in Baillieboro, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byers. He resided in Millbrook for a number of years being engaged in the hardware business. He was a member of the Cavan township council for several terms. In 1887 he married Miss Margaret Ingram, and later moved to Peterborough. Ten years ago he went to the West, and at the time of his death was working with a survey party.

Besides nine brothers, Messrs. Robert, Bethany; Albert, Toronto; William, Alameda, Sask.; Jesse, Port Hope; John, Oxbo, Sask.; Joseph, James, Levi, Lewis, Baillieboro, and two sisters, Mrs. J. Graham, Bethany, and Mrs. J. Green, Toronto. He is survived by his wife and six children, three sons and three daughters.

THE RELIEF OF "DERRY."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The anniversary of the relief of Londonderry will be celebrated in many places to-morrow. It was a momentous event in the History of the British nation, as it helped to secure for succeeding generations the civil and religious liberty which we are to-day enjoying.

I would suggest, therefore, that the evene be marked by the ringing of the People's Chimes, say at noon to-morrow, when some of the popular airs of that time might be played, such as "The Relief of Derry," &c.

I notice the Chimes were rung on the occasion of the Jubilee of the Roman Catholic Bishop a few days ago, to which few object, provided other events in which Protestants are chiefly concerned, such as the "Relief of Derry," be similarly honored.

44 FELL 300 FEET IN MINE

Bochum, Prussia, Aug. 10.—A serious accident to the hoisting machinery at Krupp's Hannibal Coal Mine occurred to-day, causing rumors that many persons were killed. Later reports show that there were no deaths but 18 miners were seriously injured and 26 others slightly hurt.

The machinist lost control of the hoisting machinery while a four-storey cage occupied by 45 men was descending, and the cage dropped 300 feet to the bottom of the shaft. Fortunately the companion cage ascending was empty through a delay on the part of the night shift to leave the mine. Otherwise a far more serious accident must have resulted.

SECURED MEAT IN A HEARSE

London, Aug. 10.—A hearse and two closed carriages, packed with meat, drove up in funeral fashion to one of the leading hotels this afternoon and unloaded its supplies. The black plumes and other mourning regalia gave the hearse and carriages the right of way, and the strikers quietly allowed the procession to pass not understanding the ruse.

THE LIGHT TURNED ON AT THE HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK

Interesting and Important Event Took Place Last Night

The Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock was the scene of an interesting event last night, when the splendid lighting plant, which has just been installed was formally put into operation. The occasion was taken advantage of by a large number of citizens to be present and witness the illumination. The steamer Stoney Lake, which had on board a large excursion under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, was given the honor of passing over the lock, escorted by the Government steamer Bessie Butler, having on board Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the Canal; Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.; members of the Council and other leading citizens. As the two steamers passed up the canal in front of the lock, the latter presented a pretty sight. The illumination was beautiful to behold, lighting up the great lock, and giving it the appearance of a fairy castle, with its towers and battlements standing out prominently to the fore. On the arrival of the steamers at the lower elevation, they entered the lock the flagship of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, with its load of pleasure seekers taking the lead, and thus having the honor of being the first vessel to pass over the lock by electric light. After both vessels had passed through a halt was made in order to declare the lighting plant duly and properly dedicated to the service for which it is intended.

After formal opening, speeches were delivered by Superintendent McClellan, Hon. J. R. Stratton, and others, after which the crowd dispersed and the steamer returned to the city.

The 57th Band was present and added to the pleasure and importance of the proceedings.

The Lighting Plant.

The lighting plant consists of the following Tungsten lights:

45 One hundred candle power.
12 Forty candle power.
23 Twenty candle power.
30 Sixteen candle power.
5 One hundred candle power.

Making in all 115 lights. The work of installing the lights was done by Messrs. Alexander & Miller, the well known electricians, who appear to have made a good job of it.

LONDON POLICE CANNOT COPE WITH STRIKERS AND TROOPS ARE GOT READY

London, Aug. 10.—The neighborhood of the docks was practically under mob rule to-day with the result that there was such a dwindling of food supplies that the Metropolis experienced something akin to what might happen if a hostile foreign force should succeed in interrupting Great Britain's trade routes.

Unless good progress is made to-day in the negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike of dock workers, the calling out of troops seems inevitable, as the police are seriously outnumbered and unable to deal with the emergency.

FISH PORTERS RETURN.

The only quarter where relief was experienced was Billingsgate. There the striking fish porters obtained all they wished and returned to work to-day. On the other hand hundreds of railroad carmen quit this morning, and several stations were practically in a state of seige; strike pickets preventing by force all attempts to handle goods. It was the intention of the strikers to tie up all street traffic unless their demands were conceded within a few hours. Should they be successful London would be perilously near actual famine conditions. The stream of motor traction to-day was hardly half its usual proportions. So short was the supply of petrol that hundreds of motor busses and taxicabs were unable to move a wheel.

The only traffic passing without fear of interference was that of vans carrying hospital stores. These were labelled with big red cross signs with a permit from the strike committee explaning that they must not be interfered with. Until this system of identification was adopted this morning the hospitals felt a shortage of ice and other supplies.

THOUSANDS OF TONS ROTTING.

Thousands of tons of fruit vegetables and provisions are rotting on the wharfs and in the railway freight depots. Unless they can be moved soon they threaten to endanger the general health. Among the larger consignments which probably will be a dead loss is a huge quantity of California fruits aboard the steamer Minnehaha. The Central Meat and Provision Markets are short of supplies, and prices have advanced alarmingly.

To-day the temperament of the strikers appeared ugly, and scenes of violence increased. Throughout the east end clashes were frequent wherever attempts were made to move a wagon. The men would intervene, and brushing aside the inadequate police squads overturn the wagons and scatter their loads in the gutter. Police charges were made every few minutes, but they were not strong enough to have much effect.

Those taking part in the conference of the Board of Trade which is seeking a settlement, state that they are getting nearer a solution each time they meet and are determined to sit throughout to-night if there seems to be a possibility of reaching a settlement.

TROOPS OUT AT LIVERPOOL.

Liverpool, Aug. 10.—Detachments of troops arrived here to-day to assist the police, who have been unable to control the strikers. A hailside of brickbats and stones met the soldiers but they finally took up strategic positions and enabled the police through a succession of baton charges to effect a clearance of the provisions and other goods at the Central Railway Station. A baton charge was required with each load of goods that left the place and the police at last exhausted, retired and their places were taken by mounted men.

Panic Not Started to Ruin Certain Banks.

Washington, Aug. 10.—George W. Perkins, director of the United States Steel Corporation, testified before the House Steel Trust Investigating Committee to-day. He created a stir when he jumped to his feet and branded as false a charge that the panic of 1907 had been started to ruin certain banks.

Rep. Bartlett asked Mr. Perkins whether such was not the case, and the New York financier was on his feet in a second, saying:

"Such a charge is absolutely false. There is not a scintalla of truth in it."

MAN LYNCHED AND THROWN INTO SEA NEAR VANCOUVER

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 10.—Captain E. McMullen, of the British tug Bermuda, which arrived here to-day from Texada Island, reported that at six o'clock Tuesday evening, in the vicinity of Active Pass, in the Straits of Juan de Fuca, there was a man thrown overboard from a tramp steamer flying a foreign flag, which was passing out to sea from Victoria or Vancouver.

"I was looking at the vessel through the binoculars," said Captain McMullen, "when I observed a commotion on the forward deck, and from the struggling mass of sailors a man was seen hoisted over the bulwarks, with a rope around his neck. He was lowered to within a few feet of the water, and then the rope broke or was cut."

The Canadian authorities have been notified.

GIRL FOUND WITH HOBOES

She Had Disappeared a Few Weeks Ago With a Merriton Man.

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 10.—Gladys Terryberry arrested with hoboes in Ann Arbor, Michigan, is a St. Catharines girl. She disappeared a few weeks ago simultaneously with Fred Wilson, of Merriton, who deserted a wife and child, and for whom the police are searching.

FLOUR GOES UP 10 CENTS

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—All prominent milling companies have raised the price of flour 10 cents per sack of 100 pounds, and 20 cents a barrel of 196 pounds. The new prices went into effect yesterday at noon, but all of yesterday's billings were made at the old rate. The increase is due to the rise in the price of wheat, October option being particularly responsible.

Strathcona Gives $10,000.

Brantford, Aug. 10.—President Geo. Wedlake, of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday received a cheque for $10,000 from Lord Strathcona, being his Lordship's donation to the Y.M.C.A. building fund. Lord Strathcona promised $10,000 if Brantford raised $90,000, and the condition was more than fulfilled.

FINED THE BATHERS.

Who Insisted in Doing Their Shopping in Slim Costumes.

Windsor, Aug. 10.—Residents of the village of Belle River have been much shocked recently by the actions of a number of summer resort people, camped on the outskirts of the town, who insisted on doing their morning shopping in Belle River in their bathing costumes. Yesterday the offenders to the number of five were summoned before a local Justice of the Peace and each paid a fine of $3.50 and costs, and agreed to give no cause for further complaint.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

To Hasten Relief—Nothing Definitely Decided Upon—Removed to An Arm Chair.

Rome, Aug. 10.—Drs. Petacci and Marchiafava held a consultation this afternoon with Dr. Amici, over the Pope's condition. The possible necessity of a slight operation on the patient's knee to hasten relief was discussed, but nothing finally decided. The physicians concluded to have the Pontiff removed from his bed to a comfortable arm chair, with the idea that a sitting posture would be easier for him, and help him to regain his strength.

Both Cardinal Merry Del Val and Mgr. Bisleti were permitted to visit his Holiness.

For summer diarrhoea in children always give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil, and a speedy cure is certain. For sale by all dealers.

ONE LIFE LOST IN HOTEL FIRE

London, Aug. 10.—Search of the ruins of the Carlton Hotel to-day revealed that but one life was lost in last night's fire—that of James Lee Finney, a distinguished actor, whose remains were positively identified this morning. Finney evidently was in the bathroom when the fire reached him.

Many prominent Americans told to-day how they escaped in bare feet and attired only in bath robes or lounging gowns. Billie Burke, the actress, fled in her dressing gown. Both she and James R. Keene, the New York horseman, who had been ill at the hotel, lost all their baggage. Keene was the last guest to leave, insisting upon taking his time. John Wanamaker, jr., who had a suit on the fourth floor, rushed through the smoke to the floor above and rescued a woman, lowering her on a rope to R. M. Hunter and John P. McFadden, jr., who carried her down stairs.

Isadore Morse of New York, rescued three women overcome by smoke in the corridor on the fourth floor. Former Governor Frank Brown of Maryland and his son, who were on the second floor, were the only guests who succeeded in dragging out their baggage.

John Purroy Mitchell, president of the Board of Aldermen, of New York, with his wife, was among the last to get out.

It was stated by the manager of the Carlton while the fire was at its height that the register was still in the hotel. He said however, that the majority of the guests were Americans.

Many of the guests clad in dressing gowns, stood in the streets near the hotel watching the fire burn. All of their clothing was inside. Finally arrangements were made to care for them at other hotels in the neighborhood.

James Lee Finney, who perished in the Carlton Hotel fire last night, in London, was a widely known actor, who had appeared in many of the recent successful plays throughout the United States and Canada. He was born 47 years ago in St. Louis, and made his first stage appearance in Syracuse, N.Y., in 1881. He appeared for atime in various parts with the Booth-Barrett Company.

Damage Done by Yellow Curl and San Jose Scale Is Large.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 10.—Government Inspector Lewis, who has investigated conditions in the Niagara fruit belt, says that contrary to expectations, the fruit crop will be light this year as a result of the damage done by "yellow curl" and San Jose Scale.

BUY
ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest money makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.

Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.

Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.

A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—

"Porcupine, Ont., June 10, 1911.

"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.

(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."

Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.

A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

T. E. BRADBURN,
Member Parliament, Peterboro, Ontario; Private Banker.

ARCHIBALD L. ALLAN,
New York, Hiram Walker & Sons.

SYDNEY BERNHEIM,
New York, Bernheim & Loewenthal, Counsellors at Law.

JACOB RAPOPORT,
New York, Jacob Rapoport & Co., Merchants.

HAMILTON KILGOUR,
New York and London, England, Mining Engineer.

WARREN N. AKERS,
Wilmington, Del.

Remember, that our judgement on Hollinger, Dome Extension and Vipond was correct, and we believe that Royal Porcupine will prove one of our best investments.

The Hollinger stock was originally offered at $3.50 and now sells at round $15.50, and Dome Extension was first offered at 40c., and now sells at around 84c.

Royal Porcupine stock may be purchased through any member of the New York Curb Association, or we will be glad to execute your orders.

BATTLES IN THE AIR.

Flying Machines Will Be Great Factors in Future Wars

There is no doubt now that in the next great war there will be fighting in the air as well as on land and sea.

The warfare of the air will have something of the individuality of ancient warfare. The modern sea fight is a conflict of huge and costly machines rather than of men. Victory depends more upon the skill of the men in the shipyard than upon the prowess of the men on the ship.

In the air fight individual prowess and skill will count for almost as much if not quite as much as in the old days of hand to hand conflicts between the crews of small sailing ships. The flying machine can carry only a few men. It is not exorbitantly probably a thousand machines could be built and equipped for war at considerably less cost than one Dreadnought. Much will depend upon whether the guns of the great warship on the water can reach the small and cheap rival in the air.

Perhaps the first battle in the air took place the other day, when a well-known French aviator was attacked by an eagle and escaped with some difficulty. However, before this happened Hubert Latham had startled French sportsmen by shooting wild ducks from his monoplane, the Antoinette. Latham had taken his gun with him for the purpose of shooting from above at a game preserve, but sighting a flock of ducks about a mile over the ocean, he turned his flying machine seaward and started in pursuit. The following description of the hunt is given by a scientific writer: "The ducks flew their best, the flock dividing the two parts. Latham, however, was able to outfly them, to fly all around them in fact, and succeeded in bringing down one of the birds. The remarkable part of the feat is that the airship had to be guided without hands for the moment necessary to aim and fire. It is claimed that the Antoinette is the only airship which can be left without control of the aviator's hands for that purpose."

We may yet have to make laws to protect the birds against the airmen.

WISE IN THE FACE OF DEATH

Walter L. Smith was in a town in his district one night when a mob gathered about the jail for the purpose of lynching two colored men. Mr. Smith heard of what was going on, and mounting the jail steps, he made an impassioned plea to the mob to disperse and not bring discredit on the name of their town through lawlessness. His plea was effective and the negroes were spared.

A few weeks after that he revisited the town. At that time there was a movement to build an asylum for the blind. In opening his speech, which was the beginning of his joint debate with a Democratic orator, Mr. Smith said that the purpose to build the asylum was so wise and so humane that the Republicans of the county invited the Democrats to join with them in raising enough money to make the project feasible.

"I distrust Mr. Smith's remarks about the asylum," said the Democratic fulminator in answering Smith's speech. "He makes political capital out of everything. We Democrats might give our money for that building and wake up to find that the Republicans claimed all the credit for it.

"Why, look what Mr. Smith said in making his speech to save the lives of the two colored men from that mob a few weeks ago. His remarks were eloquent. They were great. They carried his point. But here is how he wound up:

"'Shoot — shoot, if you will, this bald head of mine: but save, oh, save those two black votes for the Republican party!'"

An Unconscious Joke.

"Mr. Lloyd George was once speaking at a Liberal meeting of the unfulfilled prophecies and promises of a certain statesman, and quite accidentally he stretched his arm right over the head of Sir Jeremiah Colman, one of the local pillars of Liberalism, who was sitting close to him on the platform. "We have had enough of these political Jeremiahs," he cried out. The audience rose to the joke, and laughed and clapped vociferously. And, perhaps for the first time in his life, the valiant Welshman stood completely nonplussed, for it was not until the meeting was over that he found out where the humour had come in."

The Dropped 'Aitch.

"A man who has once murdered the Queen's English always feels as if he'd got the body under the sofa. It's like homicidal mania; the poor wretch may be cured, but he lives in terror of an attack returning. He knows it doesn't matter what he is or what he does; he may live like a saint or write like an archangel; but one aitch omitted from his conversation will wreck him at the last."

A Black Man's Statue.

"In the beautiful city of Buenos Ayres is perhaps the only statue in the world erected by white men to a negro. This is the statue of Falcebo, a negro soldier who refused to haul down the Argentine flag at the bidding of the Spanish soldiery, during the first Argentine revolution, and was shot down by the Spanish."

Miniature Aeroplanes.

The production of miniature or model aeroplanes has now been carried to the point of furnishing them with actual motors not much larger than the palm of the hand and capable of driving the toy machines at high speed. One of these miniature aeroplanes which has a length of seven feet, a wing span of eight feet, and which weighs but 7 1-2 pounds, including its motor and gasoline, is driven by a gasoline engine whose dimensions are no more than six inches, by four inches, by two inches.

DEATH OF FENIAN RECALLS OUTRAGE.

Joe Casey, Center of a Gun Powder Plot, Passes Away in Paris.

Irishmen all over the world have heard of the Clerkenwell explosion that formed the climax of the Fenian outrages of 1867 in London. The story is recalled by the death in Paris of Joe Casey, who was a star actor in the terrible drama.

He and a fellow-Fenian named Burke were locked up in Clerkenwell prison, but the Fenians determined to liberate them. A barrel of gunpowder was placed against the wall of the jail by Michael Barrett, aided by Casey's two brothers, Pat and Andrew.

They planned to blow a hole in the wall at the time the prisoners were exercising and then help the pair to escape in the confusion. But the authorities smelled trouble and shifted the exercise to an inner yard.

Bang went the powder just before 4 in the afternoon, killing six bystanders outright and fatally injuring 11 others, while no less than 103 lost eyes or limbs. It cost $100,000 to repair the surrounding property.

A few weeks later Michael Barrett was denounced by another prisoner named Mullany, arrested and hanged. The Caseys got clear away to France under the name of Potter. Joe Casey and Burke were acquitted at their trial, and Joe joined his brothers in the French capital. They all fought for France in the seige of Paris in 1870 and Joe became almost as Parisian as a Frenchman.

SAFETY ON INDIAN RAILWAYS.

Immunity From Accidents Compares Favourably With English Railways.

Immunity from accidents is the first thing that strikes the reader of the annual statistics of Indian railways just published. They give the number of passengers killed from causes beyond their own control as 0.01 per million of passengers travelling, or an average of 1 in 4,478.28 millions of miles travelled, reassuring figures enough for even the most timid. During 1910 forty people were killed by accidents to trains, rolling-stock, or the permanent way, while 292 were injured. Accidents due to other causes such as carelessness on the part of the travellers, trespassing, or the like, swelled the totals of killed and injured to 1,857 and 1,664 respectively. The proportion of killed and injured is striking, but it is rendered more so on looking at the figures which apply to the United Kingdom, where we find that last year there were totals of 1,036 killed and 28,384 injured over a mileage of 23,380. India, with a length of track 10,000 miles more than the United Kingdom can, therefore, legitimately boast of comparative freedom from accident.

A Grand Steve.

A Georgia woman who moved to Philadelphia found she could not be contented without the colored mammy who had been her servant for many years. She sent for old mammy, and the servant arrived in due season. It so happened that the Georgia woman had to leave town the very day mammy arrived. Before departing she had just time to explain to mammy the modern conveniences with which her apartment was furnished. The gas stove was the contrivance which interested the colored woman most. After the mistress of the household had lighted the oven, the broiler and the other burners and felt certain the old servant understood its operations, the mistress hurried for her train.

She was absent two weeks and one of her first questions to mammy was how she had worried along.

"De fines' ever," was the reply. "And dat air gas stove — oh my! Why, do you know, Miss Fo'ence, dat fire ain't gon out yit."

A REVIVAL

William A. Sunday, quondam professional revivalist, closed the evangelistic season of 1910-11 the other day with $70,567.77 to the good as a result of his year's work "winning souls to Christ."

This return for about ten months' work, more than the president of the United States has drawn for the same time, is evidence that from a monetary standpoint evangelistic work is more profitable than playing professional baseball. The Rev. Mr. Sunday recently refused an offer to go back to the "majors" once more. The inducement was but $500 a month.

Seven thousand a month looks better to Billy. Besides he thinks he can do more good in the world preaching than playing ball!

During the past season Billy Sunday broke all evangelistic records for money earned.

The Side He Would Choose.

The wit of the Duc de Moray, who was believed to be half-brother to Napoleon III, and his chief assistant in the coup d'etat of 1851, was only equalled by his political sagacity. According to his most recent biographer, Frederic Loliee, he seems to have been an opportunist of the perfect dye. "It is said," a lady remarked to him at a time of political excitement, "it is said that a clean sweep is to be made of the Chamber of Deputies. What will you do, Monsieur de Morny?" "Madame," said the maker of the Second Empire, "if the broom is to be used, I shall try to place myself on the side of the handle."

The Eternal Feminine.

"A woman never feels good unless she loves someone."

"The difference between being fond of a woman and being really fond of her is not as easily explained to the woman as to oneself."

"The penalty for a mistake is heavier than the penalty for a sin."

"With life, as with fiction, a woman is always eager to peep at the last chapters first, but a man generally prefers to take the chapters in their order."

The prizes which are valued at over one hundred dollars will be on exhibition in J. C. T. Lang's window on George street, on Friday and Saturday.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

QUEER FISH OF A QUEER LAKE

Only One Place Where Black Bass Are Really Black.

"The only black bass water I know of where the black bass are really black," said D. W. Craft, who makes fishing tackle and tries it out on waters almost everywhere. "is Bear Lake, in the western corner of New York. It lies high among the hills of Chautauqua county, near the Pennsylvania line. It has no inlet and no visible outlet.

"A peculiarity of Bear Lake is that it has no shallows. There is no gradual slope from its shores into deep water, but they pitch off at angles so acute as to be almost perpendicular, giving the impression that the water of the lake fills an immense pit of great depth The lake is almost round and only a mile in diameter.

"Owing to its odd formation and unusual depth Bear Lake has the appearance of a vast pool of black ink. In those depths are black bass, which are said to be natural to that water, plentiful, large and full of fight. Black bass elsewhere are not black at all, but of a dark olive green, but those Bear Lake black bass are black.

"The natives of that district say that this blackness of the fish is due to the influence of the dark water of Bear Lake, but the water of the lake is really not dark at all. While it has the black, inky appearance as one looks at it, dipped out it is as clear as crystal and as light colored as sand spring water.

"The Bear Lake black bass are not only unique in that they are really black, but they won't as a rule take any bait save large angleworms, appropriately preferring those of a very dark color. This is not at all the habit of black bass of other waters.

"Besides the peculiar black bass Bear Lake has muskallonge of very large size, and they too are of a much darker color than those taken from Lake Ontario, not far away, or from any other muskallonge water. The angler going out after muskallonge elsewhere never wastes his time taking live bait to tempt his fish with but if he went to Bear Lake expecting to kill his fish with the troll as he would anywhere else he will have his labor for his pains. The Bear Lake muskallonge will consider the live bait before all the favorite lures of his kind in other waters."

Capt. Phillips-Wolley's articles on the navy show a complete grasp of the naval situation.

A WORLD IN THE MAKING.

The spots on the face of Jupiter have been engaging the attention of European astronomers since that planet has been in a favorable position for observation. It is hoped to gain more knowledge of the atmospheric conditions of Jupiter, and especially of the so-called great red spot, which is 37,000 miles long and 10,000 broad and lies between the twenty-fifth and thirtieth degrees of Jupiter's southern latitude. Some astronomers think that this spot is an opening in Jupiter's atmosphere through which the darker mass of the planet can be seen; but against this theory stands the fact that the movement of the spot does not correspond with the axial movement of the planet. Other astronomers believe that this supposed gap in Jupiter's atmosphere shifts its position for some reason from time to time. The latest opinion is that of M. Antoniadi, who in an article in L'Astronomie says that the great red spot is the first continent which is in course of formation on the big planet, the rest being still in an incandescent liquid state, as the earth was when the first continents were born.

Weighing the Earth.

During a recent reception of prominent residents in New York, by the college of that city, the earth was publicly weighed in the laboratory. According to Professor Wetzel, who conducted the experiment, the earth was found to weigh 7,000,000,000 tons. Professor Wetzel used a delicately-balanced instrument, resting on a pillar sunk into bedrock. He says this is the first time that the experiment has been made in America.

ROCKING CHILDREN TO SLEEP.

"All methods of putting children to sleep by monotonous sensation ought to be forbidden, including monotonous lullabies. It is undesirable either to interrupt or to prolong artificially the slumber of infants and young folks. As for the practice of rocking, Dr. Mansouine has found by experiment that swinging the body for only fifteen minutes produces in a healthy adult a lowering in temperature of from one to two and one-half degrees Fahrenheit, with more or less pronounced brain anemia (bloodlessness) and pain at the heart."

Australia has Tallest Tree.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but, while California trees are of gigantic dimensions, they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The Californians are noted not so much for their height as for their girth and diameter. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340ft high Australia's record gum tree can beat this by 140ft.

Offhand Definitions.

Alimony.—The price of peace.

Laughing stock.—An amateur actor making an attempt at high tragedy.

Political rainbows—The kind usually seen just before the November deluge.

Human nature—Something to blame your eccentricities on if you are not like other people.

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realised within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

Important Meeting Held in May's School House, August 3rd.

The North Monaghan Council held a meeting Aug. 3rd, at May's School House, with all the members present and the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Reeve reported on Lansdown and Lock street sidewalk petitions, as follows:

That the residents on the above-mentioned streets, who are in favour of having a cement sidewalk, are willing to build a walk in front of their own lots, at their own expense if the Township gives them permission to do so, and also allows them to take stone and gravel out of the Township pit free of charge, the residents to pay all charges for hauling, etc.

Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Braden called on the council regarding the culvert in front of their property, on the gravel road. They requested the Council to have the bottom of the culvert lowered so that the water could get away.

It was moved by Mr. Forster and seconded by Mr. May, that Mr. Morrow, Mr. May and Mr. Robson be a committee to inspect and, if necessary, repair the bottom of the culvert, as they think best.—Carried.

The Reeve presented a report from the Bank of Ottawa, as required by the Municipal Act. On June 30, the indebtedness of the Township was $424.70.

The Byersville sidewalk petition came up before the Council with the names of Frank Brown and Dr. Johnston in addition to the names already on the list.

The petition asked that the sidewalk extend as far south as, and in front of Mr. Frank Brown's residence —120 feet south of Brown street.

On motion of Messrs. May and Morrow this petition was granted.

The Council, not wishing to establish the custom of building crossings hereby agrees to grant road division No. 6 money sufficient to cover the cost of building the cement crossings.

This resolution was adopted on motion of Messrs. Forster and Robson.

The residents on Lock and Lansdown streets are hereby granted permission to build a cement sidewalk in front of their property; the Township also agrees to allow them to get stone and gravel out of the township pit for this purpose. The residents are to draw the same at their own expense and to pay all costs of building the sidewalk.

On motion of Messrs. May and Forster, the Reeve was instructed to procure an engineer to get out specification for the sidewalk at Byersville, and also advertise for tenders. The sidewalk is to be built on the outside of the tree line and to be five feet wide. The crossings are to be four feet wide. Mr. May, Mr. Forster and the Reeve being a committee to deal with the sidewalk construction as they think best.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned and the sidewalk committee is to meet on Saturday, Aug. 5, in the Township Treasurer's office, at 11 a.m.

On August 5th, 1911, the Byersville Sidewalk Committee of the North Monaghan Council met in the Township Treasurer's office, the Reeve, Mr. May and Mr. Forster, the Committee in charge, all being present.

A communication was read from residents at Byersville, asking the Township to allow them to take stone out of the gravel pit for the proposed sidewalk.

On motion of Messrs. May and Forster their request was granted.

It was moved by Mr. Forster and seconded by Mr. May, that Mr. Cameron be authorized to get out plans and specifications for the Byersville sidewalk.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned until the call of the Reeve.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoona River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

The combined townsite interests cover one thousand acres, of which five hundred are practically level alluvial soil with no rocks.

A fine water power from the Hoona River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoona River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island compiled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

LEGISLATED IN SHIRT SLEEVES

London, Aug. 9.—"Shirt sleeved" statesmen made an appearance for the first time in the House of Commons this afternoon. The heat was intense, 95 degrees Fahrenheit being recorded in the shade and 131 in the sun.

During the sitting of the Grand Committee a member suddenly threw off his coat and declared that he would not put it on again even if objection was made. His colleagues were momentarily appalled at the innovation but soon all were legislating in their shirt sleeves. In the law courts wigs and gowns were generally discarded.

WAGNER'S FIRST FAILURE

Famous Composer Tells of the Experience in His Autobiography.

The composer Wagner, in his autobiography, which has been translated into English, tells of his first failure in these words:

The first item on the programme was called by the exciting title, "New Overture" — nothing more.

I had surreptitiously listened to the rehearsal with some misgiving. I was very much impressed by the coolness with which Dorn fenced with the apparent confusion which the members of the orchestra showed with regard to this mysterious composition. The principal theme of the allegro was contained in four bars. After every fourth bar, however, a fifth bar had been inserted, which had nothing to do with the melody, and which was announced by a loud bang on the kettledrum on the second beat. As this drummer stood out alone, the drummer, who continually thought he was making a mistake, got confused and did not give the right sharpness to the accent as prescribed by the score.

Listening from my hidden corner and frightened at my original intention, this accidentally different rendering did not displease me. To my genuine annoyance, however, Dorn called the drummer to the front and insisted on his playing the accents with the prescribed sharpness. When, after the rehearsal, I told the musical director of my misgivings about this important fact, he stuck to it that the thing would sound very well as it was.

In spite of this assurance my restlessness grew, and I had not the courage to introduce myself to my friends in advance as the author of the "New Overture." I had forgotten to buy a ticket and was refused admission by the man at the door.

Suddenly the tuning up of the orchestra grew louder and louder, and I thought I should have to miss the beginning of my work. In my anxiety I revealed myself to the man at the door as the composer of the "New Overture," and in this way succeeded in passing without a ticket.

The overture began. After the theme of the "black" brass instruments had made itself heard with great emphasis, the "red" allegro theme started, in which, as I have already mentioned, every fifth bar was interrupted by the drum beat from the "black" world. The fatal drum beat, brutally hammered out, entirely deprived me of my senses.

I heard my neighbors calculating the return of this effect. Knowing the absolute correctness of their calculation, I suffered ten thousand torments and became almost unconscious. At last I awoke from my nightmare when the overture, to which I had disdained to give what I considered a trite ending, came to a standstill almost unexpectedly.

No phantom like those in Hoffman's "Tales" could have succeeded in producing the extraordinary state in which I came to my senses on noticing the astonishment of the audience at the end of the performance. I heard no exclamations of disapproval, no hissing, no remarks, not even laughter. All I saw was intense astonishment at such a strange occurrence, which impressed them as it did me, like a horrible nightmare. Nothing, however, equalled the pain of coming face to face with the man at the door. The strange look he gave me haunted me ever afterward, and for a considerable time I avoided the pit of the Leipsic Theatre.

ONE PERFORMANCE ONLY

He Dined With The Servants And He Entertained Them.

A well-known society entertainer had been engaged to give a performance at a country house. The hostess had "risen", and was of snobbish instincts. She left instructions that the entertainer was to dine with the servants. The butler, who knew better, apologised; but the entertainer was not easily disconcerted.

"Well, now, my good friends," said he, after he had dined well, "if we have all finished, and you are all agreeable, I will give you my little show."

The servants were delighted, and though there was no piano, the entertainer managed very well for half an hour without it. At ten o'clock a message came down asking Mr. Dash if he would kindly come into the drawing-room. He went, and found the company waiting.

"We are quite ready, Mr. Dash," said the hostess.

"Ready for what?" he demanded.

"Why, for your entertainment, to be sure," was the answer.

"But I have given it already," explained the entertainer; "and my engagement was for one performance only."

"Given it! Where? When?"

"Down-stairs; an hour ago."

"But this is nonsense," exclaimed the hostess.

"It seemed to me somewhat extraordinary," was the steady reply; "but it has always been my privilege to dine with the company I am asked to entertain. I took it you had arranged for a little treat for the servants."

Then he left to catch his train.

A Popular Interpreter.

The new member of the State Board of Control, addressed the students at the Deaf and Dumb School at Olathe the other day. The interpreter didn't treat Shukers as he did Henry J. Allen, a former member of the Board, when he made a speech. Henry rambled along in his usual entertaining fashion and frequently received applause.

"Well, I seemed to please the students all right," said he to the interpreter afterwards.

"Yes, they enjoyed it very much," replied the interpreter.

"But I wish you would explain why they frequently applauded at inopportune times," said Henry.

"That's easy," replied the interpreter. "You made one speech and I delivered them another."

Influx of Americans.

farmers are passing through Winnipeg on their way to land which they have purchased in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. A party of 200 went through one day this week and two other smaller parties followed on the heels of the first. One manager of a land company has brought in 400 farmers from the States this season.

An Immaculate Servant

He was an immaculate servant. To watch him serve a salad was to watch an artist at work. To hear his subdued accents was a lesson in the art of voice-production. He never slipped, he never smiled, and his nutmeg-shop whiskers marked him as one of the old and faithful stock. But one evening, to the surprise of his master, he showed unaccountable signs of nervousness. When the chicken came on he confused it with the pheasant. He served everything in the wrong order, made blunder after blunder, and put a final touch to his shame by upsetting salt over the only superstitious member of the party. Then, at last, when the ladies had retired to the drawing-room, he touched his master on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon, sir," he said in a respectful undertone, "but could you manage to spare me now? My house is on fire."

Couldn't Get the Scotchman.

There was an aged Scotchman who by native shrewdness made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking when the latter said to old Duncan: "Say, Duncan, you don't know nough to go in when it rains. Why you can't even spell bird." "B-u-r-d," said Duncan. "I tell you you dont know anything. Why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead years ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird." "I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan. After the money was put up Duncan said "B-i-r-d." "That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wanna bettin' them."

Neglecting His Business.

A country doctor was recently called upon to visit a patient some distance away. Driving to where the invalid tied his horse to a tree and started to walk across the field. It happened that work was in progress on a new well, of which the doctor knew nothing until he found himself sinking into the earth. He fell just far enough to be unable to get out of the hole unassisted, and loudly yelled for help. When he was finally pulled up, the hired man remarked to him:—

"I say, doc, you had no business down there."

"No, I don't think I had," replied the doctor.

"Don't you know," continued the hired man, "you ought to leave the well alone and take care of the sick?"

Not Worth Stopping For.

A party of four gentlemen were driving a motor-car along the road leading from Kilkenny to Clonmel. Seeing a fine stretch of level road in front the car was put at full speed, and they raced along for nearly four miles.

Presently speed was slackened, and the driver turned round to see how his two friends at the back had enjoyed the run. A look of scared astonishment overspread his countenance when he found that only one gentleman was seated there.

"Where's Jack?" he gasped, stopping the car.

"Jack?" replied the other, carelessly. "He blew off at the first milestone."

Fathers Work Too Long.

It is a mistake for fathers to toil all their lives in order that their children may escape toil all theirs. Suppose the calculation correct, and permanent fortunes secured for the next generation, what evidence is there that the boys and girls will be happier and better for it? The boys will be exposed to the devices of "sharks," and the girls to those of fortune hunters. Leave something for them also to do.

How Like Stagnant Ponds.

The great ocean is in a constant state of evaporation. It gives back what it receives, and sends up its waters in mists to gather into clouds; and so there is rain on the field and storm on the mountains, and greenness and beauty everywhere. But there are many men who do not believe in evaporation. They get all they can and keep all they get, and so are not fertilizers, but only stagnant miasmatic ponds.

A Heavy Smoke.

The editor of a certain periodical grew rash enough to remove a few lines from a poem which he had accepted, whereupon the author wrote him a letter which wound up thus—"And now, O slaughterer, vivisector, mangler, maimer, destroyer, disfigurer, deformer, debaser, cripplor, mutilator, good-bye! Put this in your pipe and smoke it!"

The Best Medium for Reaching Investors in Eastern Ontario

VOL. XXXIV NO. 184 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY AUGUST 11 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

HOW $100 GREW TO $31,620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking a good opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual work will be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WILL PASS HOME RULE

London, Aug. 9.—In the House of Commons yesterday Lord Hugh Cecil prominent among the "die hard" Unionists, moved that the Parliament or Veto Bill be delayed for three months. In an outspoken speech he declared that Premier Asquith had been guilty of high treason. He stated that the Government had captured the House of Commons and had wrested the sceptre from the hands of the Sovereign.

The Right Hon. Sir Edward Henry Carson, Unionist, and former Solicitor-General, seconded the motion. He asked whether, when King He asked whether, when the King was asked to give his guarantees for the creation of new peers, he (the King) was advised what effect it might have on the whole Home Rule controversy. "The Home Rule contest will be settled by Balfour, and not by Westminster," he said.

CAUSED AN UPROAR.

At one point Sir Henry Carson nearly caused an outbreak by referring to Mr. Asquith's communication to Mr. Balfour on the subject o the King's guarantees as a "black-mailing letter." The Ministerialists were on their feet in an instant, howling defiance and demanding that the words be withdrawn.

The Speaker, however, ruled that although Sir Henry Carson had sailed near the wind, the words were not unparliamentary.

Winston Churchill, the Home Secretary, who replied for the Premier, created a sensation by declaring that his Majesty was acquainted with all the matters in dispute, among which one of the most important was Home Rule. This statement was interpreted to mean that the Government intends to apply the King's guarantees for forcing the Home Rule Bill through the present session of Parliament.

The Opposition leader's speech was greeted with loud cheering by his partisans, but after some further debate Mr. Churchill applied closure and the amendment was rejected 321 to 215.

After the House had carried minor amendments dealing with the Government concessions, and commissions had been appointed to draw up the reasons for the Lower House disagreeing with the amendments of the Upper Chamber, an adjournment was taken.

THE KING EDWARD SCHOOL SEWER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was amazed on reading The Times the other morning to learn that there is no prospect of having the proper drainage for a year or more in connection with the King Edward School. I would like to ask who is to blame for this deplorable state of affairs? I believe there is blame to be attached to a former member of the Council, who was instrumental in getting things in their present shape.

There should be an investigation, and the ratepayers, who are the sufferers, should be told all about it.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

MR. SEXSMITH SAFE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice in a late issue of The Times a statement that the Liberal candidate in East Peterborough was meeting with great success in his canvas. One would be inclined to the conclusion from reading the article, that there was some doubt about Mr. Sexsmith's being returned. Now, let me say that Conservatives may make their minds easy on that score, for I only wish I was as sure of heaven as that Mr. Sexsmith will be re-elected. At the same time his friends must not sit idly by and take this for granted. I hope the majority will be away above normal, as I am sure it will be.

By publishing the above you will confer a favor on an old subscriber.

Claims $500 Damages.

A writ for $500 damages was issued by Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon against a local liveryman. It is claimed that the defendant hired a horse to the plaintiff in the caseMr. and Mrs. George Doig—knowing it to be a dangerous animal and liable to run away. The animal bolted, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Doig out, the latter sustaining a couple of broken ribs. Hence the suit.

Who May Register.

Persons who are or will be absent from the city, or who are unable through sickness, to attend for registration, may be registered through someone appearing on his behalf. A student cannot register in the city where he is attending school or college, if he is on the voters' list for his home, or could be put on there. If an applicant is refused registration, he may, within 24 hours, serve the registrar with a notice of appeal. If an applicant is wrongly registered, a notice of appeal may, within 24 hours, be served on the applicant and also on the registrar.

For bowel complaints in children always give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil. It is certain to effect a cure and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. No physician can prescribe a better remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers.

Doctors Condemn Oily Liniments

The Public Are Warned to be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating pain-subduing liniment, such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

Any good druggist or dealer can supply the large 25c bottles of Nerviline.

Court at Havelock.

County Magistrate Edmunson will go to Havelock this morning to try an assault case. Mr. Ghent, a prominent Havelock lawyer, vs. the Division Court Clerk. The assault consists of disorderly conduct and an attack on the street.

Many Going West.

The rush to the Canadian West continues, many going from Peterborough and surrounding country. About 50 have left here this week for points west of Winnipeg. Some of these intend to return in a month or two, but many will remain permanently.

Regatta at Chemong Park.

The members of the Chemong Park Yacht Club have decided to hold their annual regatta on Thursday, August 24th. As this is a local half-holiday, the event should draw well. No pains are being spared to make it a gigantic success, and the cottagers will hold their first meeting next Saturday night, at the Park Hotel.

The New Bank.

The Union Bank of Canada has arranged to open a branch in this city, in the premises lately occupied by Mr. George Hutchinson, stove dealer. The building is now being renovated and as soon as it is ready, it will be occupied. Mr. C. H. Penniefather will be the manager. The Union Bank is one of the strong banks of this country, and is sure to develop a large business.

A Delightful Outing.

The excursion yesterday afternoon under the auspices of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary to Jubilee Point per Steamer Stoney Lake, was a most enjoyable affair. On the return trip the excursionists took in the proceedings connected with the lift lock ceremonies, which added greatly to the pleasure of the party.

Many Are Camping.

On both sides of the river, between Lock No. 7 and Rice Lake, are dozens of white tents, occupied mostly by our own citizens, who are thus enjoying a holiday under canvas, with its exhilirating and health-giving accompaniments and fascination. Crawford's grove as well as the other side of the river, has quite a large population at the present time, all the best camping places being occupied. Quite a number of business men go down to "camp" every evening and return to business in the morning, and all appear to have the one story to the effect that they enjoy it very much.

A Capable Manager.

Mr. F. J. Young, manager of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, reports a large increase in the business this season over former years. The Stoney Lake, the flagship of the fleet, has not had a blank since the opening of navigation, handling by far the greater portion of the excursion business of Peterborough and the waters north. Mr. Young is a practical steamboat man and has the faculty of making friends wherever he goes. It is expected that his company will acquire several additional steamers next season, when a complete service, covering the entire Trent waterway will be inaugurated. Under Mr. Young's capable management, the company is sure to be a big success.

Frightened the Inmates.

It seems the police have been instructed to have an eye on certain houses, that are locked up on account of the absence of the owners, up the lakes or elsewhere. The other evening a policeman entered a yard on Macdonnell street, and no doubt thinking no member of the family was at home, peered through the window. It happened the mistress and a young girl were in the house at the time, and they were terrified on seeing a pair of gleaming eyes staring at them through the window. Of course, it was no doubt a mistake, the "arm of the law" evidently having got at the wrong house.

OBITUARY

The Late Miss Hourigan.

After a lingering illness, Miss Bessie Hourigan passed away in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday morning. Those left to mourn her demise are two brothers, James, East City; and Edward, Saginaw; and one sister, Miss Annie, East City.

The funeral will take place at nine o'clock to-morrow morning from 180 Dufferin street, to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Times will be pleased to receive notices of Weddings, Social Events, Personal Announcements, which will be published in this column free of charge.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Munro have returned from their honeymoon trip.

Miss Mary Gatherly, of Millbrook, is the guest of Miss Leona and Clara Dobbin, North Monaghan.

Mr. Percy Browning, of Toronto, is visiting his brother, Mr. E. F. B. Browning of this city.

Master Harry Sisson, Mount Pleasant, is visiting his cousin, Master Joe Batten, McDonnel street.

Mr. J. C. Shook, who is on a business trip to the Northwest, is expected home in a few days.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, our genial city clerk, and family, are stopping at Chemong Park.

Miss Nellie Gould of Bowmanville, is the guest of Miss V. Stevens, of George street.

Miss Mattie B. Robertson, B.A., who was the guest of friends in Kingston for the past fortnight, returned home last night.

Mr. Archie McBride, of the Peterborough Fire Department, leaves this week for Toronto, where he will spend a few days' holidays.

Miss Jessie Swinston of the city treasury department is spending a two weeks' vacation with Havelock friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kingan, son and daughter, motored to this city from Topeka, United States. They are visiting the old home, Brock street.

Mrs. M. M. Austin, of Theodore, Sask., is in the city for a few days, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Austin, at the Hedgelands, 548 Weller street.

Mr. Thomas White of Londonderry, has accepted a position in Mr. Jas. R. Bell's Hunter street grocery. Mr. White has had a lengthy experience, both in England and Ireland.

WEDDING BELLS.

Haylock—Fisher.

The residence of Miss Davis, North Monaghan, was the scene of a very interesting event on Wednesday evening, when Miss Hattie Fisher was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Haylock, both of this city. Rev. J. G. Brown officiated. Only the immediate friends of the young couple being present.

Cunningham—Simpson.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, when Miss Cecilia Simpson was united in marriage to Mr. John J. Cunningham. Rev. Mr. Brown of St. James' church officiated in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

LUCKY MISTAKE.

Grocer Sent Pkg. of Postum and Opened the Eyes of the Family.

A lady writes from Brookline, Mass.:

"A package of Postum was sent me one day by mistake.

"I notified the grocer, but finding that there was no tea or coffee for breakfast next morning, I prepared some of the Postum, following the directions very carefully.

"It was an immediate success in my family, and from that day we have used it constantly, parents and children, too—for my three rosy youngsters are allowed to drink it freely at breakfast and luncheon. They think it delicious, and I would have a mutiny on my hands should I omit the beloved beverage.

"My husband used to have a very delicate stomach while we were using tea and coffee but to our surprise his stomach has grown strong and entirely well since we quit tea and coffee and have been on Postum.

"Noting the good effects in my family I wrote to my sister, who was a coffee toper, and after much persuasion got her to try Postum.

"She was prejudiced against it at first, but when she presently found that all the ailments that coffee gave her left and she got well quickly she became and remains a thorough and enthusiastic Postum convert.

"Her nerves, which had become shattered by the use of coffee have grown healthy again, and to-day she is a new woman, thanks to Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co. Windsor, Ontario, and the "cause why" will be found in the great little book, "The Road to Wellville," which comes in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

EXCHANGE CHILDREN FOR VACATION TIME

Growing Custom in Europe Which Aides in Education of Youth.

Though only started five years ago, the system of exchanging children between families in Germany, France and England, has attained wonderful proportions. This year, in Berlin alone, 1500 children have enrolled themselves as applicants for reception as guests abroad. In the whole empire there are thousands of eager youngsters with the same ambition.

France and Germany, in spite of their traditional bitterness, are the greatest participators in this scheme, but the English, under the direction of Lord Weardale, are trying to extend their operations in the same direction. Curiously enough, however there is less activity in England in the pursuit of a foreign language than anywhere.

The working of the scheme entails no risks. Each country has a committee, which reports on the fitness of any family to receive a foreign guest. When a family is approved in this way it sends a little boy or girl at its own expense to a German or French family for the holidays, receiving in exchange a child from this family for the same period. In that way languages are made easier in acquirement and, incidentally, a better understanding among the nations is established.

ACCURATE BUT IRRITATING

The English Language Spoken by D'Orsay Not Understood By The Bartenders.

Lawrence D'Orsay, the English actor, who has an accent as English as they make 'em, does not like American bartenders in general, and for the bartenders in St. Louis he entertains a particular aversion.

"I went into a bar in St. Louis, deah boy," he said on one occasion, "and I ordered a bottle of beer. The bartendah, don't you know, did not hand me the beer. He dashed it down on the bar and slid it along for about ten or twelve feet, don't you know It stopped right in front of me. I looked at him with a stony stare, as was quite propah but he paid no attention to me.

"Then I gave him a quartah. He threw on the bar a coin, which rolled on the floor. Again I stared at him, as if to insult him, but he paid no attention to me whatevah — none whatevah. So I called a small black boy, and I said to him:

"'You will find a coin on the floor, and you can have it for your trouble.'

"Then I said to the bartendah:

"'If you will come from behind that bar, I will kick into your some knowledge of what is polite and propah on the part of a bartendah.'

"But he would not come from behind the bar. Then I gave him the numbah of my room, and told him I would be glad to see him there at any time and give him the kick which he deserved. But he never came to the room.

"So, you see, deah boy, your American bartendahs are impolite, and they won't be kicked. What is a gentleman to do?"

The Charm of Woman

Presumably the advance of "woman's rights" is playing the devil with the stereotyped form of compliment addressed to feminine graces. One learns that girls are commencing to jib at hearing pretty things about their hair and their eyes. "When a man tells you you are as beautiful as the morning, when you are only nice-looking with a sunburnt neck, either he believes it and then he's a fool, or he doesn't believe it, and then he's a liar." Dear, dear — what a charming prospect opens up before the young man doomed to carry on his love-making upon George Washington principles! The up-tilted nose of poetry will become a snub, and the cream and white complexion a mere messy compound of rouge and whiting. It is quite in accordance with the tenets of strict veracity to tell a girl she is "as beautiful as the morning." The only danger lies in under-stating the case. A sharp girl acquaintance of mine twigged this very readily. "As beautiful as the morning, am I?" asked she. "Yes, but what sort of a morning?"

Physicians See Human "Aura"

Twelve physicians and six nuns who looked through the Kilner glass at the undraped bodies of four female models at Mercy hospital, saw the human body enveloped by an "aura".

The experiments, under the direction of Dr. Patrick S. O'Donnell, followed the lines taken by Dr. Walter Kilner, of London. The instrument used was made of two pieces of oblong glass glued together, with a solution between. Women were used as subjects because the female is believed to have the stronger aura.

The observers saw faint, nebulous lights emanating from the subjects, like a "brush" discharge of electricity.

Dr. O'Donnell considers the scientific demonstration of the aura, so long maintained by theosophists, as equalling in importance the discovery of the X-ray or of radium.

All is the Viewpoint.

Mrs. Mary T. Metcalfe, discussing the pure food question at the Gotham Club's meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, smiled and said:

"I heard a food dealer once declare that chemicals in food must be all right, since salt itself was a chemical.

"A queer argument, eh? It depends you see, on the point of view. What won't we say under the influence of the point of view?

"Once, at Niagara, a gentleman said to his hotel proprietor, pointing toward the falls:

"'Glorious, isn't it?'

"'Ah, but it ain't what it used to be,' the proprietor sadly returned.

"'No? Why not?' said the guest.

"The hotel proprietor shook his head. 'Too many hotels,' he said."

Marriages.

HAYLOCK—FISHER—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, North Monaghan, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Fred Haylock and Miss Hattie Fisher were united in marriage. Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James' Church, officiated.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Bring up the little ones to chew "the beneficial confection."

They all want to chew this delicious gum. Let them chew all they want. It's fine for young teeth and fine for older teeth. It prevents trouble in well stomachs and drives away trouble in un-well stomachs.

It's a very dainty tidbit at a very little price. The more of it you chew, the better it is for you.

And the flavor of fresh crushed green mint leaves lasts and lasts and lasts.

GERMANY QUITE ACTIVE ALONG AFRICAN COAST

Berlin, Aug. 11.—Germany is acting vigorously in Africa at the present moment. The warships Berlin and Eber, technically stationed at Agadir, in reality are kept on the move between that port and Teneriffe, carrying information for transmission tothe Government. In addition, disquieting news has arrived from Paris regarding the German cameroons, bordering on French territory. The Provinces of Bombun, Bomones, and Kunamembes, bordering on French Congo in Equatorial Africa, are disturbed.

In the Dume region the Kakas lately have shown themselves hostile and it is necessary to proceed against them with arms. At Mesao and Banturi there was fighting, with many killed.

RELIGIOUS DIFFERENCES SAID TO HAVE LED TO COLD-BLOODED KILLING OF ORILLIA MAN

CONSTABLE AND FARMERS CAPTURE THE ORILLIA SLAYER.

A Number of Farmers Discovered His Hiding Place and Surrounded Him.

Orillia, Aug. 11.—Chief of Police Reid was notified about 12 o'clock that Sheridan had been captured in the bush about 10 miles north of Orillia near Washago.

A number of farmers had discovered his hiding place and surrounded him. Chief Reid left in an auto and brought Sheridan to Orillia at one o'clock, and he is now in the lock-up.

The prisoner has not said anything yet regarding the crime.

The coroner's inquest opened at 1.30.

The defence will most likely be that Sheridan was of unsound mind.

Considerable interest is taken in the case and there has been much discussion as to the motive of the crime It is persistently reported that the two men had quarreled on the 12th of July over religious topics. Some color is lent to this theory by the fact that Ford is an Orangeman and the fugitive a Roman Catholic. Another story is that Ford had a fight with four Catholics a few days ago, and managed to beat them, thereby arousing a spirit of vengeance in Sheridan.

THE RELIEF OF DERRY

Two Hundred and Twenty-One Years Ago To-day.

Two hundred and twenty-one years ago to-day, what is known in history as the "Relief of Derry," took place. The gates of Londonderry were closed on April 18, 1690, and the city was besieged by the force of King James II. until the 12th of August following, when the garrison was relieved. The event was one which did much to secure for Britain and the world the civil and religious liberty ever since enjoyed.

Last night a telephone message was received by The Times, that the event would be commemorated in Peterborough by the ringing of the Chimes from 8 to 8.30 p.m., when the following programme would be rendered:

1. No Surrender.
2. Boyne Water.
3. Protestant Boys.
4. Rise Sons of William.
5. Red, White and Blue.
6. Rule Britannia.
7. God Save the King.

The Prentice Boys, it is understood took the matter up and arranged for the ringing of the bells as above.

DOES EARLY CLOSING INCREASE DRUNKENNESS?

CHIEF CAMPEAU MAKES REPORT DEALING WITH QUESTION — SECRETARY ROBERTS OF DOMINION ALLIANCE EXPLAINS — 2,200,000 GERMS ON SINGLE GRAPE.

(Special to The Times.)

Montreal, Aug. 11—That the number of men arrested for drunkenness on Saturday nights since the early closing by-law went into force has been doubled, is the statement made by Chief Campeau in a report to the Board of Control. He points out, however, that arrests of all kinds have increased in number, and that many cases which formerly came up before local magistrates in adjoining municipalities are now tried in the Recorder's Court. In June, 1910, there were 164 arrests, and 74 of them for intoxication. Last month, June, 1911, there were 293 arrests, and 139 for intoxication.

Last year in June the arrests between seven o'clock and midnight on Saturdays numbered 27; this year it is 52. Between midnight Saturday and Monday morning in June, 1910, there were 49 arrests for inebriety, and this year 71.

"You will notice," says Chief Campeau, "that there is a noticeable increase in the number of arrests for intoxication from Saturday night to Sunday, but on the other hand, you will also observe that the number of arrests for other offences has gone up in about the same proportion.

Battles the Reason.

Claiming that the increase in Saturday night drunkenness following the inauguration of the early closing law is due to the sale of bottled liquor previous to seven o'clock, Mr. J. H. Roberts, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, declares that the Legislature will next session be asked to pass an amendment, taking away from hotels and restaurant-keepers the privilege of selling any bottled goods whatsoever.

Speaking of Chief Campeau's report Mr. Roberts says, "there is one statement of the chief's, which amply justifies all the criticism which temperance workers have passed on the assertions which Recorder Dupuis and other lesser lights have made as to the increase of drunkenness under early closing. This is it: "It is also to be considered that the police now begin to make arrests at seven p.m. on Saturdays, which was formerly done only after midnight, when the bars were closed."

This, it seems to me, is a confession of a two-fold character. First, it reveals that for years the police, who knew someone were open till midnight neglected their duty, and secondly, that the whole power of the police can, unwittingly or unwittingly, is used in such a way as to procure the inevitable result of discrediting the early closing law. Let the friends of temperance remember this and couple with it Chief Campeau's admission that the number of arrests should increase naturally because of the recent annexations to the city.

"My own conviction is that much of the present Saturday night drunkenness is due to the practice of bartenders thrusting bottles of liquor on their customers at seven o'clock, of which custom I have proof."

Germ Laden Fruit.

Dr. Louis Laberge, the chief medical health officer, is working on a by-law to prohibit showing of food exposed in front of stores, and to prohibit the sweeping out of groceries without sprinkling the floors. He points out that dry sweeping a shop stirs up clouds of dust, which just teem with microbes.

Fruit exposed in a shop for one day will show when washed 375,000 germs per tenth af an inch of water, on a second washing 21,000 germs, and on a third 7,000. This statement is the result of actual experiment. A single grape washed in water after being exposed in the dust, left in the water 3,200,000 microbes per tenth of an inch of water.

These provisions form a portion of the new board of health by-law which will be submitted to the Council this autumn.

THE LIBERAL CATHOLIC ENEMY OF HIS CHURCH

The Catholic Register, the organ of the Roman Church in Ontario, publishes the following in a late issue:

"The "liberal Catholic," said Pius IX., is a worse enemy of religion than even the infidel or the heretic. And years ago, Brownson, in his Quarterly Review, declared that it is the liberalism which has penetrated the Catholic camp that renders Catholics throughout Europe so imbecile in the defence of the rights and interests of their religion, and enables the enemies of God and society to usurp the government of once Catholic nations. It is accursed liberalism, so seductive in its tones, so sweet to the taste, yet so fatal in its effects on the system, that has brought the Catholic population of Europe into their present deplorable condition.

It is all the work of liberal Catholics, without whom Protestants and infidels would be reduced to impotency and become the laughing stock of the world."

MR. J. H. BURNHAM AND THE RECORD.

Editor Morning Times:

"But she had been sent to preach the gospel to the poor, and in her eyes king and peasant were alike her children. It would be well for some of our modern critics, gentlemen of th type of the J. H. Burnham's, to remember this.

"The Church is the friend of right democracy. But there is a democracy she will not have—the democracy that makes man omnipotent, that sets human law above divine, the democracy that is without God, and without any reference to God or Eternal Justice. Such a democracy is a tyrany. THERE IS A SOMETHING SUPERIOR TO THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE, A SOMETHING SUPERIOR TO ALL RULERS AND ALL LAW. THAT IS THE LAW OF ETERNAL RIGHT AND JUSTICE. AND WHEN DEMOCRACY, OR WHAT PASSES FOR IT, CLASHES WITH THAT LAW, THEN AND ONLY THEN IS THE CHURCH OPPOSED TO IT."—Columbia, in The Catholic Record.

Sir,—The above paragraph, taken from The Catholic Record is worthy of perusal. As it refers to me I feel called upon to reply to it. The one reply I make is that the Church regards itself as the judge of its own right to interfere in the government of the people. This paragraph clearly sets this out. It is, of course, the time-honored claim of the Church. Now, democracy, as I understand it and as I believe it understands itself, resents this claim of the Church. Democracy (or the people) claims that it is responsible to no earthly power but itself. This includes the Church of Rome and all other organizations whatsoever. It is a fair matter of argument and lies outside the domain of charity and those virtues which nobody denies the Church of Rome has given illustrious examples of. The fight is "on" beyond a doubt, and if the Church wins I am sport enough to take a licking, but I will not surrender my liberty as one of the people who think and act for ourselves so far as we can and as well as we can, so long as the Church has not the upper hand. As between the people and the Church the ideal relation is that of liberty within liberty—the freedom of the Church as allowed and sanctified by an enlightened people. The doctrine that any church or any organization other than the people is supreme I repudiate. The Catholic Record to the contrary notwithstanding. As the last paragraph of The Record's articles shows, the Church through its priests claims by reason of its God-given power, the right to stop any proceeding or measure, parliamentary, popular or otherwise, which it may see fit to stop. The common council of a village or city would not dare to resist the order of the local priest, even in the most trivial detail. The people as a whole would become actual servants of the few comprised in the priesthood. It means the giving up of all the pride of the people in their liberty, so hardly won after centuries of conflict. And yet, strange as it may seem, this is what the Church through its priests, is now actually demanding. The Pope's recent decrees are the cause of the present serious state of affairs. It is not a fight between Protestants and the Pope but of people perhaps who have never heard of Protestantism or King William, and of all those who value the right of democracy to settle its own fate, whether Catholic, Protestant, Hindu or infidel. Is the revival by the special command of the Pope of the famous Secret Councils of Vigilance in every diocese not a warning to the people that it should take notice of without delay?

EFFECT OF RECIPROCITY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see the columns of The Times are open for the discussion of public questions, I venture to write a few lines on the above subject.

In the first place let me say that the main contention of Liberal orators in favor of the Reciprocity pact is that twenty, thirty and forty years ago both parties in Canada were using every endeavor to secure such concession from the United States, and

GOVERNOR BARNARDO HOMES WILL VISIT PETERBOROUGH

Mr. J. W. Godfrey, of Ilford, Essex County, England, Governor of the Dr. Barnado Homes, will arrive in Peterborough this morning, on an official tour of inspection. Mr. Godfrey will remain in the city about a week, and will be the guest week and will be a guest at the Oriental. The object of his visit is to personally inspect the Homes in Canada, as well as the local conditions in connection with the great and noble work which was inaugurated by the late Dr. Barnardo, and which is now being carried on so successfully by those he left in charge. It is not improbable that increased facilities may be necessary for the handling of a larger number of children than the present Homes afford.

The Times would suggest that the Mayor and Council mark the visit of the Governor of the Homes by extending to him an official welcome. It would, we think, not be out of place for the Ministerial Association also to take official action in this consideration. On the occasion of Dr. Barnardo's visit to Peterborough some 10 or 15 years ago, it was regarded as quite an event by the Protestant clergymen of the town, who joined in honoring that truly great and good man.

KIDNAPPED BOY IN CONVENT

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—John King Stack, the eight year old son of Richard L. Stack, a millionaire lumberman of Escanaba, Mich., is believed to be in a convent at Quebec. A letter signed "W" was to-day received by Chief of Police Young in which the writer says a boy named John King Stack was placed in the convent a year and a half ago. This was about the time the boy was kidnapped from the home of his grandmother here. An investigation is being made.

The Stack kidnapping case created a sensation in St. Louis. It was alleged the wealthy lumberman took the son from the home of his divorced wife's mother, Mrs. J. W. Allen, and had taken him out of the city.

Stack's former wife married Roy Burbank, a real estate man of Los Angeles, Cal., and was on her honeymoon in Mexico when the child disappeared. She started on the trail and followed Stack to Montreal, and throughout the Eastern part of the United States, hiring private detectives to find her son. She was unsuccessful.

DOCTORS DISAPPOINTED AT THE POPE'S CONDITION

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN WAS NOT AS GREAT AS THEY HAD HOPED FOR.

They Feel Grateful, However, That He is No Worse—Had a Good Night's Rest, But Dislikes Food.

Rome, Aug. 11.—The improvement in the condition of Pope Pius today was not so great as had been hoped for. However, his physicians appeared grateful that their patient was no worse.

Dr. Petacci and Professor Marchiafava arrived at the Vatican at 6.45 o'clock this morning and remained with the Pontiff until 8.10 o'clock. They received a detailed report from Dr. Amici, who had been in the chamber throughout the night and made a chart of the various symptoms. After a talk with Dr. Amici the other physicians had a thorough examination of his Holiness and seemed satisfied that he had not failed during the night though they were seemingly disappointed that there had not been a marked change for the better.

HOT STUFF FROM THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

"The Catholic Register and Extension, of Toronto, is a disgrace to Canadian journalism. No paper in the country, with which we are acquainted, approaches it in low scurrility. Anyone who ventures to criticize the doctrine or practice of the Roman Catholic Church becomes at once the victim of some foul personality. Here is a thoroughly characteristic extract from last week's issue: 'Canon Cody is a great man! He is bold in imputation, but when his bluff is called he crawls into a hole, and when, like on the occasion of our recent challenge, it is a dirty hole indeed, he seems to fit into his surroundings admirably.'"—Canadian Presbyterian.

The poor old Presbyterian is hardly a judge. It is scarcely alive, and it is so narrow in the little mentality it possesses that nobody would consider it an authority on anything—much less journalism. Canon Cody deliberately misinterpreted Catholic theologians. We challenged him in the Star, which sacrifices space marvellously to every anti-Catholic ranter, and then poses as fair-minded and liberal, to prove his assertion or withdraw it. He could not prove it and he was not man enough to admit his error and repair the wrong he did or attempted to do the Old Church and its exponents. In other words, he got into a dirty hole—the one we so graphically describe above, and there he is; and there with him are such smug moralists and newspaper dilletanti as the Presbyterian. We willingly allow the public to judge between us.

The Eucharistic Congress of Madrid has done at least one thing—it has taught the enemies of the Church that that nation is not yet prepared to throw its Catholicity to the dogs, and go over to the infidels. The sects have nothing to hope from in Spain. They are a logical people, the Spaniards, and Protestantism would not satisfy the minds of even the weakest of them.

We understand that Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, in a moment of weakness let Atlas out on parole and is mighty sorry for it. But we need to have the reasons and the malign influences in the case disclosed and shall have them. It is a public scandal.

The Sheep Killer—Advt

PETERBOROUGH IS INTERESTED IN GEORGE M. ATLAS CASE

Considerable local interest is being taken in the case of the Rev. George M. Atlas, who was recently released from Kingston Penitentiary. The Times was yesterday asked to start a fund, with the object of assisting in the efforts now being made by Toronto Protestants to have the matter investigated. Mr. William Douglas, a well-known Toronto lawyer, who has the matter in hand, stated to The News the other day that the friends of Mr. Atlas intend to get at the bottom of the matter.

"We want to find—and we are determined not to stop until we do find—what became of the four witnesses who were to give evidence for Atlas at his trial. They disappeared. No one knows where or why." remarked Mr. Douglas to The News a few days ago.

"Have you any suspicions of some interested agency," asked The News.

"Now you are getting on dangerous ground," was all the solicitor would say.

It is, however, a fact that agents of Mr. Douglas and Atlas are working in Turkey at the present moment searching for the four missing men. That the four were paid off, threatened off, or physically detained by some persons or society interested in the conviction upon which the investigators are proceeding.

So far as starting a fund in Peterborough is concerned, to assist the investigation, it is hardly necessary at present. If more money is needed The Times will only be too pleased to do what it can in that direction.

MR. FRANK MONTGOMERY RETURNED FROM WEST

Is Enthusiastic Over the Splendid Outlook for Farmers.

Mr. Frank Montgomery, the well-known proprietor of the fine hotel that bears his name, returned on Thursday evening from a three weeks trip to the Canadian West, where he has considerable money invested. When seen by The Times yesterday, Mr. Montgomery had hardly recovered his "sea legs," after his long journey by train. He is most enthusiastic over the great future which the Western country is sure to develop. He says he never saw such crops, or such wealth in land and other natural resources as is to be found there. Mr. Montgomery spent most of his time at Vond, about 30 miles from Saskatoon, where he has about 700 acres of as fine a land as there is on the top of the earth. While there he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Staples, formerly of Cavan, and well-known in Peterborough. Mr. Staples is meeting with great success in the West, having 300 acres of wheat, 100 acres of oats, and 60 of flax. The wheat will average about 40 bushels to the acre, while the oats and flax will also yield big crops. This will mean about 12,000 bushels of wheat, which is worth about 90 cents per bushel.

Mr. Montgomery spent a very pleasant time with Mr. Staples, and feels grateful to him for his kind hospitality while in the neighborhood. He says that Mr. Staples is sure to become one of the strong men of the West, being a thorough master of the art of farming. Another man in the same neighborhood works 600 acres, 400 of wheat and 100 in oats besides a large acreage of flax.

These are only sample instances. There are hundreds throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta who are equally successful.

Mr. Montgomery thinks young farmers who are in a position to start for themselves, are only losing time remaining in Ontario.

ROYAL PORCUPINE
Quoted at 32 to 33 Cents

The stock of the Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co., we believe, will prove to be one of the greatest mone makers in the wonderful Porcupine district.
Every day brings forth further evidence that the Porcupine Camp is destined to become the richest gold region in the world, and Royal Porcupine should soon take its place at the head of the great producing mines in this section.
Porcupine has the indorsement of the world's greatest authorities in gold mining, who concur in the opinion that never before have such rich showings been seen covering so great an area.

The Property

is located in the township of Tisdale and consists of eight full claims, embracing 320 acres. It is particularly well located, being only one-quarter mile south of the Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd., and one-half mile south of the Hollinger mine, for which it is claimed there is $10,000,000 in sight. Engineers report that the Royal Porcupine property is in the famous ore zone, being on the same ledge as Hollinger and having the same formation.
A telegram from the engineer in charge of the property bears out this statement. It is as follows:—
"Porcupine, Ont., June 19, 1911.
"Vein uncovered twelve feet in width. Excellent ore body. Shaft being sunk on this vein. Property in every way most favorable.
(Signed) "JULIUS MESSER, M. E.,
"Engineer in charge of property."
Thirty men are now employed, and work on the shaft will be pushed as rapidly as possible.
Four veins, varying from 12 to 100 feet in width, have already been uncovered. Assays have been made which show $50 a ton.

Royal Porcupine Gold Mines Co.

is capitalized for $3,000,000; par value of shares $1.00. Full paid and non-assessable. No personal liability.
A glance at the list of directors will show the class of men who are putting in their money and time to make this one of the greatest mines in the Porcupine Camp. The directors are:—

JAMES KENDRY,
Peterboro, Ontario; ex-Member of Parliament, President Auburn Woollen Mills.

WATER AN OLD ANAESTHETIC

Found to Be As Useful Today as Ever.

The use of lukewarm water as the sole anaesthetic in operations for appendicitis at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, reported in The Times, was declared by surgeons here to be quite possible and in line with the use of water anaesthetic, first tried in this city years ago.
One surgeon who has performed successfully more than 5,000 operations with no other anaesthetic than an injection of water into the skin, declared, however, that the use of this simplest of all anaesthetics would probably never come into general use, and that, while it was applicable in many major abdominal operations, it was not applicable in a majority of such cases, especially where inflammation or an abscess had formed.
As long ago as 1856 Dr. J. Leonard Corning of this city, pointed out in his book of "Local Anaesthesia," the value of heating the anaesthesia before injecting it. The use of water as an anaesthesia in a certain class of operations was explained by Dr. Samuel G. Gant in a paper before the Medical Association of the city in 1903. Dr. Gant mentioned Burney, Yeo, and Griffith, of England, as among the pioneers to suggest in 1848 the relief of pain by the subcutaneous injection of water.
The theory on which water so used is believed to act according to Dr. Gant, is that the water provides a pressure of the nerve ending, which blocks all sensation or pain so long as the water continues unabsorbed or unscattered. Dr. Gant said recently he had found that any other fluid that gave pressure and was not absorbed would have the same anaesthetic effect. The method was applicable, he said, in nearly all skin operation, and he had tried it successfully in some operations for laparotomy, colostomy and appendicostomy all of which necessitate the opening of the abdomen.
"Water anaesthesia, however, is no good at all for operations where an abscess has formed or inflammation sets in, as, for example, in cancer or in case of a ruptured appendix" said Dr. Gant. "To be successful, the water anaesthetic must be applied to the whole part where the operation is to be made, and in the majority of such abdominal operations as I have mentioned there is in the first place, uncertainty as to where to operate, and in the second place the tissues refuse to hold the water and allow it instead to scatter."
Dr. Gant, at the last meeting of the Maryland Medical Society, read a paper telling of some 2,000 skin and muscle operations he had performed with water anaesthesia in the last eight or ten years, and it is thought he may have suggested the most recent application of water anaesthesia now reported in operations for appendicitis at Johns Hopkins.

THE KING AND THE TAR

How The Seaman Became An Understudy.

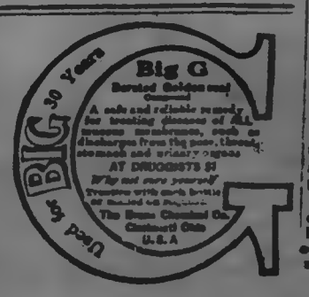
The manager of a third-rate theatrical touring company was desperate. At the critical moment the baggage man, who undertook the walking-on parts, was missing, and there was none to take his place. The small town was searched for an understudy, and at last an ex-seaman, who was glad of any berth, was unearthed. The manager told him he would give him a handsome salary provided that in time he acquitted himself satisfactorily in the part in question. He had one line to say.
Thus encouraged, the hopeful tar rehearsed his one line until he was word perfect.
He had been at sea in terrible gales, but had never known fear till in armor clad he stood at the "wings" and waited for his cue. How his heart beat and how terribly nervous he was when he faced the footlights! His throat went dry and his voice seemed to fail him. But he made a supreme effort, and stammered out:
"Me lord — me king! me cap'n — I mean me liege! Methought I saw an army on yonder hill."
"Liar!" thundered the king, affecting a terrible passion and giving full vent to his acting powers.
This completely unnerved the tar.
"Shiver me timbers, cap'n!" he remonstrated, "that's wot the lubber told me to tell 'ee!"

Mapping Africa.

The British colony of the Gold Coast with Ashanti is about as large as Ontario. A map of more than forty sheets in four colors has now been finished. The Gold Coast is the first of the British tropical African colonies to have a complete and modern map on a scale large enough to show a great deal of detail. The surveys and map have cost $340,000 and nine years of work. The map was necessary as a basis for economic development. Gold is the chief product, and the mining companies are exporting more than $500,000 worth of it a month. Disputes over the boundaries of minging claims and other property were incessant, but even African colonies that have little or no gold find that it is worth all it costs to produce good maps of the new possessions. Nowhere in the world are surveys and map making being pushed more rapidly than in Africa. The German tensheet maps of Togo and large parts of German East and Southwest Africa and the Camerons are among the best maps of the kind ever made in new lands. The French, English and Belgarians are almost equally active, and the hundreds of map sheets now before the public give a far more accurate idea of the regions they represent than could have been derived from any map of Alaska published twenty-five years ago.

Relations.

"Relations have a wonderful natural gift of being rude to each other and taking undue liberties with each others' purses, time and temperament."



THE FLEA.

How to Knock the Gizzards Out of Him.

Fleas are wingless flies, and they are supposed to have lost their wings through long disuse, living as they do among the hair, wool or clothing of other animals. As in all other flies, the mouth is formed for sucking, and has no teeth. How does a flea bite? The feet are furnished with long double claws, sharper than needles, and mounted in such a way as to be just right for digging. When his fleaship desires a feast he selects a spot on the bare skin, sits down on his haunches like a dog digging for a rat, and deliberately burrows a hole into his victim. Having penetrated to the vein, he drops his proboscis into the cavity and sucks up the precious blood, much after the fashion of an elephant drinking from a trough.
While digging, the claws are manipulated so rapidly as to feel to the victim like one continuous push of a tooth.
Besides losing their wings their bodies have become flattened transversely from living in close quarters, and they have become possessed of exceedingly stiff bristles or hairs, all pointing backward, so that in struggling every movement pushes them forward. That is why it is so difficult to catch them even when there is no room for them to jump. "When you put your finger on him, he isn't there."
When a house become infested with fleas the family dog or cat should be washed every other day with carbolic soap to kill the adult fleas, and if the animals are allowed to run about the house, they will in a few days attract all the fleas to themselves, where they can be destroyed as above indicated. If dogs or cats are not available as traps, gasoline should be applied after a thorough cleaning of the invested quarters. Pour the gasoline into cracks in the floor and along the baseboards, etc., taking care not to pour it near a fire. Gasoline will kill both larvae and adults as soon as it touches them.

Russian Up-to-date.

A special despatch from St. Petersburg gives the following account of the meeting between the Czar and the newly-appointed Ambassador to the Court of Russia: —
The Ambassador (with a courtly bow): "Howdidoski?"
H. I. M. the Czar (most graciously extending his hand): "Fineski. And youski?"
The Ambassador (seizing the hand warmly): "Greatski!"
H. I. M. the Czar (waving his hand towards the Imperial sideboard): "Havanipski?"
The Ambassador (a pleased smile wreathing his face): "Don'tcareifidoski."
H. I. M. the Czar (inspecting the supply): "What'llitbeski?"
The Ambassador (contentedly): "Sameoldthingski."
H. I. M. the Czar (inquiringly): "What'sthatski? Danvilliski?"
The Ambassador (shaking his head): "Nitski. Scotchwhiski."

When Is a Man Old.

Very amusing replies have been elicited as the result of a competition promoted by a Madrid newspaper on the subject, "Until what age can a man be called young?"
The readers of the journal were the judges, and 28,256 votes were given to the competitor who sent in this reply, which won the prize: —
"A man is young so long as he can make women jealous."
Another competitor thought that a man was old when he could no longer stoop down and tie a beautiful woman contended that all men were young until they thought of marriage.
"The man is old," wrote another competitor, "when a young woman kisses him with cold lips"; and it was the opinion of a newly-married man that a man began to age a week after marriage.

FORESTRY IN JAPAN.

Authorities Believe in Conservation—Been planting for 1200 years.

Japan has longer than any other country practiced technical forestry. With extraordinary skill and absolute success the authorities have for 1,200 years planted and cared for the forest trees. "The results," writes a correspondent, "have been really wonderful, for through the extremely sedulous management and the knowledge of skill by degrees attained the financial gains have been very large, indeed. Not a twig is ever wasted. The trees are regarded as almost sacred property, and not a particle of any one of them is regarded as rubbish, so close is the utilisation. Thinning and all departments of arboreal culture are very carefully conducted. At the end of 12 years from planting a wood lot is thinned by experts, and then every five years the process is repeated for 120 years, the average period of the cultivation of a set of trees.

Pneumonia Serum Found by Savant

The germ of pneumonia is vanquished, according to Dr. Preston Kyes of the University of Chicago, who has published the results of a series of experiment in the Journal of the American Medical association. Chickens were inoculated with germs from a human victim of pneumonia, and serums prepared. The results obtained were surprising. Dr. Kyes tabulated his experiments, showing that mice, poisoned with pneumonia germs and then treated with the serum, showed immediate improvement, and in proportion as the serum was injected with greater frequency, recovered.

The prizes which are valued at over one hundred dollars will be on exhibition in J. C. T. Lang's window on George street, on Friday and Saturday.

THE SPIDER'S SECRET

A Great Scientist Says It Would Take Four Million Compleded Threads To Make a Silk Thread The Size of a Hair.

For a long time the web of the spider was supposed to be a simple thread of many silk, but later it was found that such was far from being the case.

Under the microscope we can get at the secret of the spinning very nicely. We see that there are either four or six teats on the spider near the lower part of the abdomen, almost exactly similar to the teats of a cow. From these issue four or six strands as the case may be, but these strands themselves are not simple, but are composed of at least a thousand fibers each, for it has been proven that in each teat there is a sieve of at least a thousand holes through which the silky matter is strained. Thus we see that fine as is a spider's web it is yet composed of from four to six thousand fibers. Leeuwenhoeck states that it would take at least four million of the completed threads to make a thread as strong as a silk thread of the size of a hair.

However, there are some tropical spiders that spin threads known to be very strong; so strong, in fact, as to be able to catch and hold humming birds.

As to the color of the thread, our ordinary spiders spin one of a uniform gray color; but in the tropics there are found spiders that spin vari-colored webs. One particularly produces red, yellow, and black threads which it binds together with a pleasing color effect.

In the thread of the spider lies dormant a great industry once it is properly studied. Numerous attempts have been made to utilize the threads for cloth to make clothes, etc. All have been so far doomed to failure — maybee, as a financial proposition. It is related that Louis XIV had a dress made from spiders' web, but which was so fragile that he became disgusted with it. The entomologist D'Orbigny had made for himself a pair of trousers from the webs of tropical spiders which lasted for a long time.

It would seem that even if the web was too fragile to make the fabric entirely from, it could be mixed with silk or something equally strong and produce a new and gorgeous material for our present-day goddesses.

A Contest of Wits.

"Goethe was so often intruded upon by the curious in his house in Weimar that one day, made impatient by the determination of an unknown Englishman to force an entrance, he suddenly ordered his servant to show him in. The Englishman entered. Goethe planted himself erect in the centre of the room, his arms crossed, his eyes on the ceiling, motionless like a statue. Surprised for the moment the stranger soon comprehended the situation, and, without being in the least disconcerted, he put on his glasses, walked slowly around Goethe, inspected him from head to foot, and went out."

The Indian.

That the Indian marries more often for love than the white man; that the only difference between so-called civilized men and the so-called uncivilized is a difference in their explanations; that Indian women as a whole are better treated than the white women, and that the wife of a college professor has a harder time than an Indian squaw; that no woman reaches the pinacle of her art until she has married and borne a child; that to be an Indian maid is infinitely better than to be a wage slave in the inferno of commercialism — these and other things are the ideas of Mrs. Henry Hunter Austin who has spent a number of years amongst the Indian Reserves in Canada.

We Eat Too Much

Canadian men and women eat and drink too much. I see nightly men and women drinking fiery liquors and eating great quantities of rich food for dinner. And after the show I see them eating and drinking as heartily as if they had had not a bite all day. Is it any wonder that your men and women of wealth are so gross of figure and so heavy of feature?" — Mlle Marthe Lenglud, Parisian star.

Butler Will Try For Diamond Sculls

Butler, the crack Toronto Argonaut sculler, will compete in the Diamond Sculls at the Henley regatta, and so good an authority as "Joe" Wright says he has an excellent chance of winning. Butler sailed in June from Quebec. The Ottawa eight sail by the same boat.

Butler has a new cedar shell, which was built by Sims, the famous English boat builder. It weighs 24 pounds, and Butler is delighted with it. He is having another shell built by Sims, which will be ready for use on arrival at Henley.

SHACKLETON'S EMPHATIC STYLE

The great explorer not always choice in his Words.

When Sir Ernest Shackleton was in the depths of the Antarctic regions, on his trip toward the South Pole, he kept a diary describing the adventures he had every day, the kind of country he traversed, the weather, and all the details of the journey. He wrote his notes in a free and emphatic style, using the adjectives and phrases which seemed best suited to impress his meaning on those who might read the volume at a later time.

After he had just missed reaching the pole and had returned to civilization as the man who had gone "farthest south," he was asked to print a book about his experiences. He hurriedly edited his diary and turned it over to the publishers. A few days after the book appeared in the shops he began to get letters from religious folks, upbraiding him for a sentence he had used in describing a certain stretch of country over which he had traveled.

Shackleton looked it up and found he had not edited out all the emphatic language he had used in the original. The sentence, to which objection had been made, read as follows: "The surface of this section plays hell with the feet."

Prince Arthur as Footman.

Prince Arthur of Connaught who will probaly come out to Canada with his father, or "young Arthur," as he is usually known about the Court and to his intimate friends, was once stationed at Aldershot, where some engagement had prevented him from changing into the prescribed uniform before going to a State ball.

Consequently he turned up in a suit of ordinary dress-clothes. One of the ladies — she is fairly well known in society — was departing, when she saw what she took to be one of the Court footmen, and ordered him, in none too polite terms, to find her carriage for her.

His Royal Highness fell into the spirit of the joke, and promptly did as he was told. The lady's carriage was summond, when, to his utter astonishment, she pressed half a sovereign into his palm, remarking, "I know I am quite wrong in doing this, but don't say a word about it; I hope you will shortly improve your position!"

Ended Her Life While En Route to Her Old Home.

New York, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Sarah Sautek, of Hibbing, Minn, succeeded in ending her life, and that of her six-year-old son, Leo, to-day, in a room in a Broadway hotel. Mrs Sautek had registered yesterday, and she was to have sailed this morning for her old home in Austria.

By inhaling gas the woman killed her son and herself.

Boosting.

Things may be coming your way but be careful that they do not come with such force as to carry you away with them. There are tides and tides. Some are natural, some are supernatural and some are dangerous, because they move with a force which is too strong for our character and will. "Beware of uncontrolable circumstances". This was an expression which first fell from the lips of Wellington. The editor of a periodical remarks: —

"Old salts, who are forever yarning about wrecks and their causes, have a theory that what is called a "boosting" sea accounts for more than one of the disasters that have occurred in the long history of shipping. A "boosting" sea is a sea that runs heavily after a steamer, and, it it does not actually "poop" the vessel, yet, by the roll of billow after billow, accelerates its speed to a degree unguessed by the navigator, until finally the ship, having unconsciously overrun its course, brings up upon a rock or hidden reef, and is reported at Lloyds' as "lost."

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are Monuments in all sorts of out-of-the-way places but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory of the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

The Emperor Gorges Himself.

The "Hoei Pao" says that an American doctor recently visited the palace at Peking to examine the baby Emperor, who, it was found, had gorged himself with a meal of swallows' nests (a sort of glutinous material), and thus provoked a raging thirst. The indisposition yielded easily to the doctor's treatment. The Emperor sleeps in a gigantic bed, big enough for six people! he rises at six, at once has a meal of rice-gruel or rice, and then goes to pay his respects to the Dowager Lung-yu.

A sculptor recently produced the likeness of a celebrated personage in whose biography it was mentioned that he regarded architecture as a very secondary art. The son of this personage visited the artist's studio for the purpose of examining the bust, when, after considering it with the air of a connoisseur, he inquired, "Could you not express more clearly his contempt for architecture?"

Small Investment

—in—

Manhattan Estates

Cuba's Grape Fruit Garden of Wealth

Will provide you with an income that will make you independent for life.

Begin right now---do something for yourself. Provide for a time when your earning capacity will be reduced to a minimum. You can make a start by purchasing one or two shares.

Our booklet beautifully illustrated, tells the story--contains interesting facts regarding the Grape Fruit Industry.

The figures are startling but true

When three years old grape-fruit trees begin to bear, the crop continues to increase until the seventh year when the average amounts to between seven and twenty boxes of fruit. Grape-Fruit is usually sold on the trees at a price ranging not less than $1.00 per box. On the Manhattan Estates we will have a grove of over 40,000 trees, and our yearly crop, once maturity is reached, should average 280,000 crates annually. Between the trees we intend cultivating tobacco and pineapples from which a substantial profit will be realized within one year from the time of planting. The British-owned Western Railways run through the Estates, insuring splendid shipping facilities. The officers and directors of this company have implicit faith in this enterprise, and have agreed that no one shall receive one cent of salary until after 25 per cent. dividends have been earned and declared. They are quite willing to wait for their dividends, knowing that their investments will amply repay them.

One Hundred Dollars is enough to insure ease and comfort. Why not inqure today about our special offer.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 12, 1911.

A BISHOP'S IMPERIALISM.

So many vicious and discreditable brands of national sentiment are being preached by various classes and in various parts of Canada that it inspires one with fresh courage to hear above the confused babel of petty voices the clear ringing tones of a robust imperialist. When the trumpeter is a Roman Catholic bishop the relief is all the more welcome, says the Ottawa Journal.

A sinister idea has been spread broadcast that the Catholic clergy are in the main, if not entirely, opposed to the aspirations of a closer imperial relation between Britain and the Dominion. How much or how little ground there is for such a grave allegation is not easy to determine. The fact that Mr. Bourassa's propaganda appears to have captured a considerable wing of the French-Canadian church has given color to much more sweeping claims.

In the midst of so much doubt and disquietude, the straight-flung words of Bishop Fallon, of London, should be echoed and re-echoed from one coast to the other. He is not only an imperialist of the Briton-ever school, but he is ardent in his zeal, and equipped with a host of reasons for the faith that is in him.

He is a devoted imperialist, he tells us, "because I firmly believe that England dispenses more freedom more liberty, and more God-fearing justice than any power that ever held the board of history. Fair play is the inheritance of every man who lives beneath the flag."

Bishop Fallon has another reason which he may or may not have added for the benefit of those French-speaking clerics who stand sponsor for the scintillating vagaries of Bourassa's fertile imagination. How any thinking Canadian, so long as he chooses for Canada a decent, let alone an illustrious, future, can regard complacently the shadowy path pointed out by Bourassa—complete independence of all imperial obligations while yet receiving the free blessings of British protection and dignity—how anyone can occupy so equivocal a position taxes ordinary comprehension. And if, as Bourassa boasts, many French-speaking clergy are tainted with his spurious nationalism, let them hearken to the London bishop:

"I am also an imperialist because I am a Catholic, for nowhere under the sun does the Catholic receive justice as he receives it from England and the United States."

Few are better qualified to express a settled conviction on the prospects and dangers fronting Canada than he, for in every province has he labored, as well as in every state of the union to the south of us. We should expect the voice of the prophet to be heard in a bishop's address. Bishop Fallon's concluding words, as delivered to the Sault Ste. Marie Canadian Club are well worth quoting:

"Bright as is the outlook, Canada with other nations faces a danger. Man dies in his limbs first, and is not dead until his heart ceases to beat. Not so with a nation. It died in its heart first, and the people might continue to move about in ignorance for years before they realized that death had gripped them. There was danger for the permanence of the empire. England cannot alone much longer carry the burden of empire, and its individual members must carry fire to the furnace if the fires are to be kept alight. If I am receiving benefits from the charter of British citizenship I must make some return for that benefit. That prompts my imperialism. It may be a strange brand, but it is mine.

"It is a benefit to belong to the British Empire, and so I feel that it is my bounden duty to help send the life blood of imperialism bounding from the heart of the nation to its members.

"I want to see Britain as the earth's most powerful political organism, political in the sense which I trust you understand. I want to see it a world force that does no man wrong, that gives all men freedom of thought and conscience. That is my outlook, my hope and the principles that I am ready to stand up for."

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

INVENTOR EDISON WAS FORCED TO BALK.

New York, Aug. 10.—A London cable to the World says:

On reaching London by motor Tuesday evening Thomas A. Edison was met by his European agent, Sir Croydon Marks, M.P., who after dinner escorted him to the House of Commons. By the special order of Speaker Lowther, Mr. Edison occupied a place in the distinguished strangers' gallery, where he witnessed the scene but could not hear the speeches made on the floor. Sir Croydon told the correspondent that the great inventor was intensely curious about the personalities of the leaders on both sides. He declared that Arthur Balfour, the Unionist leader, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George, and Home Secretary Churchill all have striking intellectual heads. He said the whole fight between the two houses is Lusitanian epic, and he thought it strange that people out of arbitration committee or board could not be appointed to settle it. Evidently Mr. Edison is not much of a politician.

He felt the heat greatly in the House, and expressed surprise that some cooling invention has not been applied so that the members may work in comfort. When the cooling system in use was explained—Sprays of ice water are played outside the windows and ice air is forced up through the matting on the floor—Mr. Edison opened his eyes in amazement, exclaiming incredulously:—"Well, do you tell me so? I could not have believed anything so stupid."

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.
